Mr. A. L. Davis is the lay representative to the Conference from the Charlotte street church. He leaves to attend early next week.

Mrs. Bertram Orde has returned home from Chicago, with her daughter, Miss Julia. They are staying at Mr. H. Calcutt's.

Mrs. J. L. O'Brien and children have returned home from Lindsay, after an enjoyable visit with the former's mother, Mrs. Corkery.

Mr. J. H. Hudson, formerly teller of the Bank of Montreal here, who went to Wallaceburg from Peterborough, has been transferred to Perth.

Peterborough friends will be pleased to hear of the recent marriage of Miss Matie Owens and Mr. Fred Smith, of Campbellford, both of whom are well known in town.

For the last few days Mr. H. O. Fisk, of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, has been attending the annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association at Niagara Falls.

Mayor Yelland is in Bowmanville attending the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church, as one of the lay representatives of the George street church. Mr. Thos. Morrow is also a delegate.

The marriage of Mr. C. L. Benedict, formerly accountant of the Bank of Montreal, is announced. The lady is Miss McLaren, daughter of Senator McLaren, of Perth. Mr. Benedict is now in the Amherst, N.S. branch of the bank.

The results of the recent examinations at the Law School, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, are published, and the name of Mr. R. F. McWilliams appears in the first year honour list. Mr. McWilliams is a son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, of town, and is to be heartily congratulated on the high standing which he has taken in the examination, averaging as he did over 80 per cent. in each of the light subjects.

The Alliston Herald refers as follows to Rev. Wm. Buchanan, who is widely known throughout the district: "At an official meeting of the quarterly board of the Methodist church here recently, an invitation was extended to the pastor, Rev. Wm. Buchanan, to remain another year. Through his able and eloquent sermons the church has been filled to its utmost capacity. Spiritually the year has been a decided success, and the church has not been in a better financial position for many years. The Herald congratulates the Board on securing such an efficient pastor."

—According to the report of the Minister of Railways and Canals for the year ending June 30, 1896, the number of passengers carried was 14,810,407. Of this large number, the accident returns show but eleven passengers killed, of which only one was due to collision or derailment.

—One reason why people never pay any attention to signs and ads daubed on old fences, stables, bridges, etc., is because they do not know whether they are reading the advertisement of some firm that is still in business, or one that has been dead for years. When people read the advertisements in a newspaper that is up to date, they know the advertiser is alive and doing business.

GRAND TRUNK'S NEW ROUTE TO LAKEFIELD.

THE ROADBED BEING IMPROVED ON THE BLYTHE MILLS BRANCH.

The Grade Just North of Smith Street to be Reduced—The Trestlework Has Been Removed From the Gully in the Rear of Mr. H. Donne's Residence and it is to be Filled in with Earth.

Extensive alterations are being made to the roadbed of the Grand Trunk Railway in preparing the spur line running to the Blythe Mills for conversion into the main line to Lakefield.

A very heavy grade has always existed just North of Smith street at the point where the Chemong line and the spur branched off from one another and heavy freight trains going up to the Blythe Mills had often to be divided, as it was found impossible to get up the grade and still conform to the town's regulations forbidding a speed of more than six miles an hour to be attained. Not being able to get under a full head of steam, consequently made the grade difficult to ascend at times.

The rails have now been torn up for a distance of several hundred yards on both branches, and the grade is being lowered five feet. The earth is being used to fill in the big gully extending from the rear of Mr. Henry Donne's residence, George street, to that of Mr. F. J. Rogers. This gully, it will be remembered, has been hitherto spanned by a long piece of trestle work. This has already been removed and a big gang of men are at work with teams and scrapers transferring the earth from the grade to the gully and traffic on both the Chemong and Blythe Mills branches is suspended until such time as the work may be completed.

The old trestle work which has been torn down would, it is said, never have been able to stand the wear and tear of constant traffic, as the timbers were old, having been at one time a portion of a bridge at Hastings.

The present alterations are being made under the superintendence of Mr. David Conroy and he has a big contract ahead of him, as the gully to be filled in is a deep one, as is well known by those who have had occasion to cross the trestle work at times.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44, 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

Death's face is not a pleasant thing to look upon, yet thousands of men and women go about daily with the reflection of death in their faces. The dull eyes, the sallow complexion, the sunken cheeks, the emaciated form, all tell the story of the insidious advances of that implacable foe—consumption. Doctors have declared that consumption is incurable. It is not. Thousands of consumptives have testified to their complete recovery after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. It is simply a matter of going to the seat of the trouble which is imperfect and improper nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does this. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It invigorates the liver. It makes assimilation perfect. It fills the blood with the elements that build new healthy tissue in every organ of the body. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All good druggists sell it.

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in 1885 with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could not sleep only by being propped in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I saw the 'Golden Medical Discovery' recommended for a cough. I tried a bottle of it and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me sound and well, so I recommend it to everybody. It saved my life."

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

With the Happy Household Before Prince Albert Died.

Nine children blessed the marriage of the royal Victoria and Prince Albert. In all respects their family was a model one, while the children were under the care of their parents. The little princes and princesses were taught to wait on themselves, to eat simple, wholesome food and wear plain gingham frocks. A story is told of an occasion when they were riding with their royal mother, attended by a governess. This person had picked up the handkerchief of one of the princesses when it had been dropped on the floor of the carriage, and was preparing to do so a second time, when the Queen placed her foot upon it and bade the royal child to pick it up herself.

At another time she overheard the princesses calling their tutor by his first name, "Brown." Calling them to her the Queen told them that the next time they addressed him without the prefix "Mr." they should be sent to bed. The children semed to think it rather in the light of a farce, for the following day they were heard saying to him, "Good-morning, Brown," and "good-night, Brown, for we are going to bed."

A photograph of Her Majesty at breakfast with her family on the lawn at Osborne House shows a less pretentious entourage than that of many an ordinary householder, except for the oriental garb of her two Hindoostan servants. The male members of the family kept on their hats at table with a greater fear of neuralgia than of royalty, and the daughters of the Prince of Wales wore sailor hats and jackets like any Canadian schoolgirl. Several small children crowded about their grandmother, who wore on this occasion a garden hat of unbecoming dimensions, and a black and white striped breakfast sacque. The only one of the company who bore a resemblance to aristocracy was the elegant and dignified elderly butler.

Before she is a Queen, Victoria is a woman; a healthful, wholesouled sympathizer with human needs. She is the mother of many children and the painstaking solicitude for their welfare has never been sacrificed to the great affairs of state. Her home is her domestic kingdom as her nation is her public one.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

THE WINDOW GARDEN

HOW TO MAKE IT GROW AND HOW TO DECORATE IT.

How Windows May Be Made Beautiful and Effective in Summer—An English Sample—How Charming Vines May Make a Bower of Beauty.

In no way can a few even commonplace plants be made so effective as when grown in a box outside the window, and if the window be protected by a little balcony, it is desirable to have them growing there. The most ordinary blossoms seem to take on a rarified aspect under such conditions, and give a charm to the plainest dwelling, while vines clothe it with absolute beauty. In London, where houses of moderate value are noticeably dismal and unattractive, the most unpretending of window boxes, filled with riotous bloomers and trailing vines of brightest verdure seem fairly to blot out the dingy walls and narrow streets with overpowering life and beauty. It is not a costly improvement, for examination shows that the result has been attained on a very small outlay.

Take, for instance, the box at the one window of the lower floor in that prim little bandbox of a house on South Kensington—and what is there in it? Nothing more than a dwarf wall-flower as a background—could any gardening be done over there without the wall-flower? With white candytuft and anemones, as there is always a preponderance of white blossoms, yellow alyssum, scillas, snowdrops and crocuses.

This is the very first collection thrust into the open air; and the box will renew its youth for mid-summer bloom, and again for early autumn. None of the plants, however, are wasted—being planted in the garden to rest from the strain of window blossoming, and used again the next season.

A very charming window box is arranged with a background of thick wire, quick growing vines are trained to obliterate all traces of its presence. Scarlet and white blossoms against such a background are very effective, and the absence of mixed coloring lends a charm of its own.

Clusters of double pink geraniums have the effect of roses at this little distance, and are far more easy to cultivate: and the foliage of the ivy-leaf geranium is decorative wherever it may be placed. Fuchsias, too, may peep to advantage through the wire screen and droop their graceful, slender shoots of vivid green, while coboa scandens and tropeolum—the one with its purple bells and the other tricking itself out in scarlet and canary blossoms—climb amiably up the house front from each end of the box and twine about the window frames with an indescribably fresh and cool effect.

No householder is too poor for such a garden, while it need not be despised by those who are not obliged to consider expense.

Signs of worms are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the best worm expeller.

LIFE IS WORTH LIVING.

Is life worth living? Yes, so long
As spring revives the year,
And hails us with the cuckoo song,
To show that she is here;
So long as May of April takes,
In smiles and tears farewell,
And wildflowers dapple all the brakes,
And primroses the dell;
While children in the woodlawns yet
Adorn their little laps
With ladysmock and violet,
And daisy charm their caps;
While over orchard daffodils
Cloud-shadows float and fleet,
And cused pipes and leverock trills,
And young lambs buck and bleat;
So long as that which bursts the bud,
And swells and tunes the rill
Makes springtime in the maiden's blood,
Life is worth living still.

—Alfred Austin.

LIVING RIVALS OF THE QUEEN.

Four Famous Women Who Are Older Than Queen Victoria.

The lady famed in story who was present at the ball on the eve of Waterloo, and is still living, hale and hearty, at the truly noble age of 93, is Lady Louisa Tighe. She has a perfect memory, and remembers the incidents of the ball; the figure of Wellington; the fatal sound which called the men to arms.

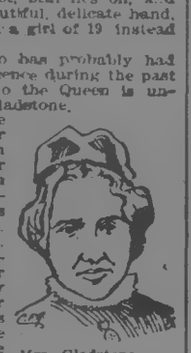
Lady Louisa Tighe.

It was at her father's house, the Duke of Richmond's, in Brussels, that the historic ball took place.

In 1825, says London Answers, she was married to Colonel the Hon. William Tighe. He died in 1878, but the dear old lady, one of England's noblest links with the past, still lies on, and writes a most beautiful, delicate hand, as if she were still a girl of 19 instead of 90.

The woman who has probably had most political influence during the past fifty years next to the Queen is undoubtedly Mrs. Gladstone.

Catherine Glynne was the daughter of Sir Stephen Glynne, the owner of the Hawarden and other large estates, and of his wife the Hon. Mary Braybrooke. The late Sir Stephen Glynne was her brother, and Lady Lyttelton was her sister. Thus it is through his wife that Mr. Gladstone came into possession of the famous Hawarden Castle in Flintshire, now well known all over the world as his residence. Their marriage took place on July 25, 1839, about six months before that of Her Majesty. She is now considerably over 80 years of age.



Mrs. Gladstone.

The most remarkable member of the aristocracy is probably the aged Duchess of Cleveland, famous by her own individuality and still more famous in the person of her celebrated son, Lord Rosebery. Though the Duchess is well over eighty years of age, she is more juvenile in some things than many women fifty years younger. Her Grace always dresses in white, whenever it is at all possible, and she has a perfect passion for traveling. Half her life is spent on the Continent, or at the Cape; in fact, she has lately gone there again on a voyage. She perfectly revels in knocking about the world.

Duchess of Cleveland.

She was first married, three years after the Queen, to Archibald, Lord Dalmeny, and so became the mother of Lord Rosebery, and on the death of her husband she married a second time, thus becoming Duchess of Cleveland by her marriage to George, the fourth and last Duke. He died a few years ago. Her Grace was a daughter of Philip Henry, fourth Earl Stanhope.

Is there anyone in London (or out of it), who has not heard the name of Angelina, Baroness Burdett-Coutts? This noble woman was born on April 25, 1814, five years before the Queen, and was the daughter of Sir Francis Burdett. On the death of her grandfather's widow, Harriet, Duchess of St. Albans (who had in early life graced the stage), Miss Burdett succeeded to the vast fortune of the Coutts family, and took that name in addition to her own.

It would be impossible to tell one-tenth of what she has done and given, not only to the London poor, but for England.

Every good society, every charitable scheme, every devoted cause had in her its certain helper with purse, work and, until lately, voice. The Baroness has given up to a quarter of a million of money at once in furtherance of schemes for aiding the London poor.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

The Queen created her a Baroness in her own right in 1871, and in 1881 she married Mr. W. L. Ashmead-Bartlett, who took the surname of Coutts. She still goes on at eighty-three with her noble work of relieving the needy; and London's wish is "Long may she yet live!"

The workman often eats his lunch on the same bench where he does his work. The office man turns his desk into a dining table. Neither gets the out of doors exercise he needs, neither takes the proper time for eating. It is small wonder that the digestion of both gets out of order. In such cases Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come to their assistance by aiding nature in taking care of the food.

The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is constipation. From this cause come indigestion; disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; biliousness, headaches, flatulence, heartburn, impurity of the blood and the serious complication that follow. To begin with, constipation is a little thing, and a little thing will cure it. The Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated granules. They will perfectly cure the worst case of constipation and indigestion. If the druggist tries to sell you some other pill that pays him greater profit, just think of what will best pay you.

A Simple Indoor Gown.

As a simple indoor gown one of smoke-blue silk may be recommended. The only ornament is a bolero of black satin striped with broad iridescent passementerie in the same smoke-blue shades as the dress. A single black band of passementerie down the front of the bodice hints at the return of the flat plait so fashionable two seasons ago, and is finished at the waist by a natty bow of silk.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia Lyman Sons & Co. Genealogy.

Queen Victoria, who was born in Kensington Palace, is the daughter and only child of Edward, Duke of Kent, fourth son of George III. Her mother was Victoria Louisa, the fourth daughter of Francis, Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld and sister of Leopold I., King of the Belgians. The Queen married Francis Albert Augustus Charles Emanuel, Prince of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, second son of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Queen Victoria is lineally descended from Egbert, King of the Anglo-Saxons (800-836). Omitting the Normans, we come to Henry II. (1154), whose mother was the wife of Geoffrey Plantagenet Maud's mother was Matilda, wife of Henry I. of England (1100). Matilda's mother was Margaret, wife of Malcom II. of Scotland (1057). Margaret's father was Prince Edward, son of Edmund (1016). King Edmund was the son of Ethelred (1014), and Ethelred of Edgar (958). Edgar of Edmund (940), Edmund of Edward the Elder (901), he of Alfred (871), Alfred of Ethelwolf (837) and Ethelwolf of Egbert (827).

From Henry II. the Plantagenets continue to the Tudors. Henry VII. descended from John of Gaunt, fourth son of Edward III. (1327), and he married Elizabeth of York, daughter of Edward IV. (1461). Henry VII.'s daughter, Margaret Tudor, maried James IV. of Scotland (1488), and their son was James V. of Scotland (1513). The daughter of James V. was Mary, Queen of Scots (1542), whose son was James I. (1603), who was King of England. Elizabeth, daughter of James I., married Frederick, King of Bohemia, whose daughter was Sophia, the wife of Augustus, Duke of Brunswick, and their son was George I. (1714). She is the thirty-seventh in descent from Egbert the first sole monarch of England.

Parental Diplomacy.

"Father, did not Mr. Bithers ask you for my hand last week?"

"He did."

"And I have not heard from him since. Did you insult him?"

"Me? Great Scott, no! I shook his hand and told him I was highly pleased with your choice, as I was getting tired of working for my own living."—Indianapolis Journal.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is at present building 100 refrigerator cars and 400 box cars at the workshops at Perth. Most of the refrigerator cars are to be used in the carriage of fruit, and will be ready this summer.

When General-Manager Hays, of the G.T.R., returns to Montreal from Toronto, it is probable that a circular will be issued announcing some important changes in the engineering department of the railway. While it is possible that some of the present engineering staff may be affected, the expectation is that the entire engineering staff, with the exception of the chief engineer, Mr. Jos. Hobson, may be placed under the control of the general superintendent, Mr. F. H. McGuigan. At the present time the chief engineer has charge of all the work along the system, including the repairs, and his supervision over the assistant engineers and track foremen. The system on the Canadian Pacific and on all the American railways is thatthe divisional superintendents look after all the repairs in their respective districts, the assistant engineers being responsible to the divisional superintendents. It is expected that the system will be adopted by the Grand Trunk, and in this event Mr. Hobson will act as consulting engineer and have charge of all new work done on the road.

HARVEY

From Our Own Correspondent.

Harvey council met at the town hall, Lakehurst, May 31st. Members all present. The members made required affadavits and formed o Court of Revision for hearing appeals against the assessment. Only one appeal, from Canada Company, to have Chas. E. Hall assessed for east half of lot 5, con. 10, which was entered as requested, after a few minor amendments. On motion the roll as revised was passed, and the members resumed in council on general business. A communication was read from Mrs. Stephen Mollmoyl, for nursing John Lancefield, which was laid over for next meeting. Accounts read and orders drawn for payment as follows: Dr. Baker, attending John Lancefield, $8; R. Ventress, prescriptions filled for Lancefield, $3; J. T. Robinson, suit of clothing and hat for Lancefield, $14.85; Matthew Mollmoyl, moving Lancefield to depot, $1; Wm. G. Oliver, for hauling drowned horse out of the lake and cremating carcase, $2; Robert Renwick, health officer, preventing spread of scarlatina, $1.00; James Richmond, salary and postage as assessor for 1897, $41.00; A. G. Shearer, expenses on T. V. Canal deputation, $7.00; Wm. J. Mollmoyle, thirty loads of gravel, $1.50. On motion the clerk was instructed to notify the county treasurer to remove from his books all the taxes charged against lot 24, con. 8, and lot 10, con. 2, Harvey. On motion the sum of $200 was granted for roads and bridges, as follows: $95 for North Harvey, $95 for South, and $90 for East Harvey; commissioners for expending the same: John Smith for south, Wm. and James Oliver for north, and Thomas Flynn for east Harvey. On motion the collector was instructed to return the roll at the next meeting of the council. James and Wm. Oliver are to examine the Old Squaw River road and report. The reeve was instructed to order a road scraper from Thomas Nichols for Jas. Humphries' road beat. On motion the council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office on Monday, July 5th, 1897.

WINNIPEG NOTES.

Dauphin Road to be Pushed—Mgr. Del Val's Visit—Petition to Unseat Mr. Lauzon Thrown Out

Winnipeg, June 3.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been made for the extension of the Dauphin Railroad to Mossi River, on Lake Winnipegosis, a distance of 25 miles. Work will be commenced at once.

Monsigneur Del Val is expected to arrive here on Saturday. He will proceed at once to St. Boniface, where addresses in French and English will be presented on Sunday. A procession with a band will be formed, which will parade the principal streets, winding up at St. Mary's Church, where the school children will present an address and render a program of music.

The petition to unseat Mr. Lauzon in St. Boniface was thrown out by Judge Killam this morning.

Two thousand eight hundred and forty-two immigrants registered at the Immigration Hall last month. One thousand eight hundred and seventy-four of these were Galicians, 500 Russians or Ruthenians, 126 British, 96 French, 78 Germans, 78 Scandinavians and 28 Russians. Seven hundred and sixteen registered as farmers, 137 as farm laborers and 19 as farm servants: 2290 were destined for points in Manitoba, 526 for the Territories and 25 for British Columbia.

The Premier's Send Off.

Montreal, June 3.—(Special.)—The Premier of Canada and Madame Laurier were escorted to the depot this evening by a great number of friends, and as the train moved out the police band, which was present, played "God Save the Queen" and "Vive La Canadienne." The party leaving for New York were the Premier and Madame Laurier, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. B. Casgrain, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bate and Miss Claudia Bate.

RACING IN THE MUD.

It Was a Day for the Favorites at Hamilton, and the Crowd Was Small Owing to the Bad Weather.

About 500 attended the races of the Hamilton Jockey Club yesterday afternoon and half of these were speculators from Toronto, who went down by special train at noon. The day was cloudy and the track heavy after the rain. The card was a meagre one and fortunately suffered very little from scratches. The races went to two odds-on favorites, an even money favorite, and two second choices. South Africa won the opening selling event after a race all the way with Her Excellency. McGlone outriding Dyment at the finish. Mr. Henshall backed his mare heavily and was so disappointed at the result that he forced Mr. Beck to bid his winner in at $700. South Africa was entered at $400. As a return for this favor the London turfman claimed the second horse. As a result of the manipulation Mr. Henshall secured $650 for his mare and she will hereafter race in the gold and purple. The three first horses were all backed to win, and imposition was supposed to be a good thing to shew.

First race, selling, $200, for 3-year-olds and up. 5½ furlongs—South Africa 1, Her Excellency 2, Mamie Callan 3. Time 1.14½.

Second race, $180, for maidens 2-year-olds, ½ mile—Julia Flynn 1, Wink 2, Dingle Bey 3. Time .53½.

Third race, selling, $200, 3-year-olds, 1 1-16 miles—Lady Doleful 1, Barth 2, Beaumont 3. Time 2.03¼.

Fourth race, $300, 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile—Forfett 1, Disturbance 2, Lordam 3. Time 1.53½.

Fifth race, $280, handicap steeplechase, 2⅛ miles—Dom Pedro 1, Thackeray 2, Obrolst 3. Time 5.12½.

A FEARFUL FATE.

Daniel Gillies, a Tunnel Brakeman Who Lived in Sarnia, Mangled Under the Wheels.

Sarnia, Ont., June 3.—A very sad accident happened at the Port Huron end of the St. Clair tunnel this morning, by which Daniel Gillies, a tunnel brakeman, who resides in Sarnia, was terribly mangled. Gillies is employed as a brakeman through the tunnel. At the time of the accident he was making what railway men call a drop cut. He was standing on the bumpers of a freight car, ready to pull the pin from the draw head and let the tunnel van loose from the train. He pulled the pin and the train and the van parted, but, unknown to him, his coat had become tangled with the brake rod, and when he attempted to jump from the freight car he was jerked backwards and fell on the track in front of the van, which was following the train. He could not get out of the way, and the wheels of the car passed over him, severing his left leg and left arm from his body and otherwise bruising him. The unfortunate man was picked up and conveyed back through the tunnel, and removed to the General Hospital here, where his injuries were attended to. Gillies is a young married man, and resides here on Samuel-street.

DURRANT GETS A RESPITE.

His Lawyers Will Save His Life for the Next Six Months.

San Francisco, June 3.—The attorneys for Theodore Durrant again appeared before Judge Gilbert in the United States Circuit Court to-day, and applied for a writ of supersedeas for the purpose of staying the execution of sentence, but this was denied by the court. An application for leave to appeal from this decision to the Supreme Court of the United States was then granted. Attorney-General Fitzgerald told Warden Hale to take no action in the premises pending the appeal. As the United States Supreme Court does not meet again until October next, this virtually means a respite for six months at least.

Shot and Fatally Wounded

Buffalo, June 3.—Charles Linke shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Ida Strohaur this afternoon. Linke is a constable, and was sent to the Strohaur residence to remove a sewing machine, upon an attachment. The woman declares that the shooting was deliberate, while Linke says it was accidental. Linke has been locked up. The hospital surgeons say the woman cannot recover.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

THE MAIL CONTRACTS

Mr. Mulock Makes Some Great Revelations.

EXTRAORDINARY WASTE OF MONEY

Political Favorites Employed at Their Own Figures by the Late Conservative Government—The Jubilee Colonels Depart for the Old Country—Ottawa News.

From The Globe.

Ottawa, June 4.—(Special.)—A charge frequently made by the Liberals while in Opposition was that the Administration of the public business was conducted on a scale of the most reckless extravagance and that this would be proved when the day of reckoning came. The day of reckoning has come in another department, and the story of waste of the public money in the postoffice service is scarcely less startling than that published a few weeks ago as a result of the investigation into the affairs of the Kingston Penitentiary. The Postmaster-General has had a return prepared giving particulars of the letting of a large number of mail contracts under the late Administration, and containing much interesting correspondence from Conservative members to the department, regarding these contracts. In his message transmitting the report to the House, Mr. Mulock says: "In explanation of this supplementary report it may be proper to state the circumstances which call for it. Shortly after entering upon my duties as Postmaster-General information reached me from persons who had tendered for mail services, but who had not been awarded the contracts, to the effect that their lower tenders had been passed over and the contracts awarded at higher prices, and I accordingly called upon the officers of the department to produce and enter in a register all tenders so passed over. This was accordingly done, when it appeared that tenders for 330 services had not been considered when the contracts were awarded, and in upwards of 100 instances the department at the time of awarding the contracts had received tenders to perform the services at lower rates than those at which the contracts have been awarded. Most of such contracts were renewals of existing contracts. In numerous cases contracts were renewed many months in advance of the time when they would in ordinary course expire. These various methods prevailed to a great extent in the year 1895-96. As these investigations appeared instructive as illustrating the serious extent of the loss to the treasury by the renewal of contracts without tender, a statement was prepared showing the dealings of the department with the mail contracts during the last year of the administration of the late Government from which it appears that 1416 contracts had been made during that year, and that of these 508 had been let without tender. That is 42 1-4 per cent. in number of all the contracts entered into during such year were let without tender. In looking at the aggregate of the amounts at which these contracts had been made the results are even more striking. The total of these amounts was $856,963.14, and of this sum the contracts let without tender amounted to $457,952.70, or 53 1-2 per cent. of the whole."

Sir Richard Cartwright gives notice of motion to-night that after Tuesday next there shall be two distinct sittings of the House on each sitting day until the end of the session, one from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and the other from 3 p.m. until adjournment. Government business to have precedence.

The Jubilee M.P.'s, Lieut.-Colo. Prior, Tucker, Domville and Tyrwhitt, left this afternoon for Montreal, where they will board the Vancouver for England. Senator Boulton, who is the only military gentleman from the Upper Chamber on the staff, leaves to-morrow. Col. Domville is joined with Col. Prior, and Col. Tucker with Col. Tyrwhitt for any divisions which may occur in the Commons during their absence.

Quite a number of friends saw the soldiers off at the station.

There was an interesting discussion at the meeting of the Committee on Agriculture this morning in reference to the feeding of corn exclusively to hogs, and in other localities the feeding of whey to hogs. In this connection, a letter was read from the William Davies Company, Ltd., of Toronto, urging hog raisers not to feed exclusively on corn. Mr. Cargill and Mr. Maclaren read letters from Ingersoll and London packers denying the statement that they bought corn-fed hogs from Kent and Essex. They maintain that good bacon could not be produced from corn-fattened pork, and if Canadians wished to maintain the high standard of their bacon in the British market, they must feed with mixed grains. In their letter to Mr. Cargill the Canadian Pork Packing Company of London said they had no objection to corn being imported duty free, as it was a good feed for cattle, horses and other farm stock, but it should not be fed to hogs. It would spoil the reputation of Canadian bacon, which was superior to American. The committee decided to recommend to the farmers of Canada that it is undesirable to feed their hogs exclusively on Indian corn, as it has the tendency of injuring the reputation of Canadian bacon.

Mr. Bedford, superintendent of Brandon Farm, delivered an instructive address to the committee.

Vigorous opposition was again offered to the K. & P. Railway Bill this morning, which asked power for the receivers to sell the road. At the last meeting of the committee there were the greatest allegations of collusion among the parties who wish to sell the line to make a pot of money out of the deal, and a good deal of heat was developed in short order. Mr. D. C. Fraser moved for a reference to the High Court of Justice as to whether the road may be sold or not, and also deciding the claims within two months from the passage of the bill. Various interests were heard, after which the bill was adopted.

HAMILTON RACES—FOURTH DAY.

Quack Quack, Seagram's Only Starter Was Beaten Five Favorites in Front

The track was slow and the weather cloudy for the fourth day of the Hamilton Jockey Club's meet yesterday. The card was made out for five races, and when the time came only six books weighed in. The others kicked at the short program, and the committee decided to add an extra race.

It was favorites' day, and they all went through with the single exception of the second event, when Mr. Seagram's only starter of the meet was beaten in a three-horse race.

First race, ¾ mile, Barton Purse $250, for all ages—Zeal 1, Mamie Callan 2, Hurns 3. Time 1.22.

Second race, 1⅛ miles, Wentworth Plate $500, for 3-year-olds—Snap Shot 1, Quack Quack 2, Stray Step 3. Time 2.22¾.

Third race, ⅝ mile, Cradle Handicap, purse $250, for 2-year-olds—My Maryland 1, Marplot 2, Laverock 3. Time 1.03½.

Fourth race, 2 1-3 miles, Walker Cup Steeplechase—Lion Heart 1, Colonist 2. Time 4.48. King Harry fell at the second jump and was out of it.

Fifth race, 5½ furlongs, $250—Giveaway 1, Chiquita 2, Her Excellency 3. Time 1.31½.

Sixth race, ⅝ mile, an extra event—Forfeit 1, Disturbance III. 2, Belair 3. Time 1.07½.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto defeated Wilkesbarre in easy fashion yesterday again. Williams and Sheehan were the opposing twirlers, and the victory of Manager Irwin's team was won by superior play all round.

Toronto	0 0 1 1 0 0 2 0 1—11

At Syracuse: Springfield's hits and the Stars' errors combined to give the Ponies their first victory of the season over the home team. Scheibeck was hit on the arm with a pitched ball in the fifth, and had to retire in favor of Ryan. Score:

STILL ON THE TARIFF

The Commoners Discussed the Corn Duty Yesterday.

FINALLY THE ITEM WAS HELD OVER

Wheat and Flour Passed and Then the Coal Oil Duty Was Thrashed Out—Fears of the Standard Monopoly Expressed and the Duty Stands as at Present

Ottawa, June 4.—(Special.)—Sir Charles Tupper brought up the matter of the Alaska boundary at the opening of the House this afternoon. He said that as the United States Senate had made important changes in the convention for the delimitation of the boundary, he had felt it necessary to get the very best opinion on the subject. Major-General Cameron, who was formerly deputed by the Imperial authorities to report on the question of the boundary, had communicated his opinions to Sir Charles Tupper, and he would hand these to the Minister of the Interior with a request that he should have all the documents printed for the information of the House.

Mr. Sifton expressed his obligations to the Opposition leader for calling his attention to this matter, and for the information handed to him. He admitted the subject was one of great importance. There was a wide divergence of opinion between the British and American contentions. The settlement of the boundary involved the location of valuable gold mines in that locality. He promised to have the information printed for the use of the House.

The House went into Committee of Ways and Means on tariff.

The item of Indian corn for distillation, 7 1-2 cents per bushel, was taken up.

Mr. Foster suggested that the general discussion of the corn question should be deferred until the free list was reached, as it was the intention of the Opposition to move an amendment.

Mr. Fielding assented to this suggestion.

Mr. Foster asked if the Controller had yet telegraphed any instructions to Collectors to govern the importation of corn for distillation purposes.

Mr. Paterson replied in the negative.

Mr. Foster again strongly condemned the Government for their neglect. There might be great loss of revenue as a result.

Mr. Fielding said there was no danger of loss of revenue. The excise officers in distilleries would effectually prevent the loss of revenue.

Mr. Foster claimed that this would not be the case, that unless the greatest care were taken there would be serious loss of revenue. It seemed to him that the Controller, in this matter, had shown either incapacity or neglect.

Mr. Taylor mentioned the case of a Canadian merchant living along the frontier buying corn from American or Canadian farmers, mixing it together, and then selling to a distiller. In a case of that kind, which might happen at any frontier town, how could the excise officers protect the revenue?

Sir Henri Joly replied that he would count upon the merchant to assist the department. If he caught anyone defrauding the revenue in such a manner he would like to get his fingers upon him.

Mr. Paterson warmly resented Mr. Foster's attack upon himself. When corn for ensilage purposes was put on the free list it took the Minister, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, two months and three days in order to prepare his regulations, and then the council held the report nearly a month before giving effect to them. He admitted that in this particular clause difficulties might arise, and thought it was possible that it might be made clearer.

Sir Charles Tupper said that in view of the last statement the item should be allowed to stand. He believed when the Government looked into the matter they would come to the conclusion that the difficulties in the way were so great it would be better to leave the duty on corn.

Mr. Davies suggested that the difficulty might be got over by requiring the distiller to pay the duty on all imported corn, as it would be readily distinguished by the excise officers from the Canadian-grown article.

Mr. Taylor challenged the latter's statement. He offered to bring down to the House three samples of corn and would guarantee that no member on either side would venture to stake his opinion as to which was Canadian and which American.

Mr. Wallace pointed out that at the standard rate of three gallons of spirits to a bushel of corn, it would not take more than a million and a half bushels to make all the whiskey turned out—the four million gallons distilled in Canada. The Counties of Essex and Kent would, therefore, produce four times the quantity required for distillation in Canada.

The Controller read from a departmental report that since the new duties went into effect there had been imported for distillation 523 bushels in Hamilton, 8487 in Belleville and 10,597 in Prescott.

After some further discussion it was decided to allow the item to stand.

Then the items, wheat, 12 cents per bushel, and flour, 60 cents per barrel, were reached. Mr. Rutherford (Liberal, Macdonald) charged that the duty on wheat and flour was simply to the benefit of the Lake of the Woods Company, the Ogilvie Milling Company and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. These firms controlled the market, purchased a whole season's supply of wheat at low prices, and then put up the price on the smaller millers, who could not afford to buy large stocks ahead. These firms had paid canvassers all over the country to get signatures to a petition. The farmers did not want the duty.

Mr. Taylor named an Ontario firm who had buyers all over Manitoba, from the very opening of the market; besides there was the fact that since the imposition of the duty, flour from Manitoba and Ontario wheat had gone into the Maritime Provinces to the extent of a couple of million barrels yearly. Without the duty this would all come from the States.

Mr. Richardson read a statement from Secretary-Treasurer Leach of the Manitoba Farmers' Institute, setting forth that all sorts and conditions of men, not interested at all in farming, had been induced to sign the petition in favor of the retention of the duty.

In the course of further discussion, Messrs. Kloepfer and Sproule pointed LAURIER'S LEAVING.

To-day is the first time Hon. Wilfred Laurier leaves the shores of this continent for the Motherland, where he will be the official representative of Canada at the great demonstration in celebration of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee. Never before, either as statesman or citizen, has a more worthy representative gone to the centre of the Empire. Never before did a colonial premier visit the world's metropolis with a grander prestige, and never before has a colonial premier had an opportunity of visiting London on so grand an occasion. We can entertain no doubt of the nature of the reception Mr. Laurier will be accorded. He will be doubly welcome—in his personal capacity, and as the representative of a colony which has made the most conspicuous overtures of practical loyalty ever presented by a colony. The London Times of yesterday says:

"It has been the merit and privilege of Canada during this happy jubilee year to remind us by a great practical legislative measure that the Empire may be united more closely upon commercial lines. This achievement, and the spirit in which it has been performed, will assuredly be borne in mind when Mr. Laurier arrives."

John Bull has a strong, rugged common sense, but is still able to discriminate nicely between empty loyalty, wrapped in ornate phraseology, and nothing more, and a practical demonstration of community of effort in the extension and consolidation of Imperial interests, added to Mr. Laurier's personal worth and ability will incline the British to receive opened armed the colonial premier responsible for the inauguration of a policy involving these conditions.

With a less loyal and devoted following than has Mr. Laurier, his departure during the session of Parliament might be considered dangerous to the public interests, but he has left an able locum tenems in his place. Sir Richard Cartwright is the interim leader of the Government; no stronger and more capable incumbent of the position could be chosen, and the remaining business of the session will doubtless under his direction, be conducted in the interests of the country. The present Cabinet is not like that of former years, a one-man Cabinet. Sir John A. Macdonald was accustomed to select a Cabinet with a view of emphasizing his own personal pre-eminence—the rest of the ministers being largely foils to his superior ability. Mr. Laurier has been happy in following other lines. While he is conspicuously the ablest member of the Government, he is after all to a great degree, primus inter pares—his colleagues are, as a rule, men of unusual administrative ability. Thus in the temporary absence of the Premier, with several important questions in which he has more or less a personal interest, in abeyance, the loss of his presence will be less felt and will be amply compensated by the increased glory he will bring to Canada, by the inspiration of contact with the greatest of living statesman, and by the renewed strength and refreshed spirit with which he will return, bearing with his wonted modesty the honours of imperial favour, and proud only to have been the instrument of uniting his beloved Canada by closer ties to the great empire to which his devotion is, next to his beloved Canada, so unreservedly given.

Drawing Together.

From the Mail and Empire, Saturday, May 29.

The assembling for legislative purposes of the parliaments of so many of the great religious bodies during the coming month directs attention once more to the relations these churches bear one towards the other. There is every reason to believe that in recent years, and in Canada more particularly, there has been a sympathetic drawing together of the various organizations. Of the magnetic attraction we had practical exemplification in the Presbyterian and Methodist bodies. Branches of these churches, originating elsewhere under varying circumstances, and transplanted to Canada, found that separation was useless and weakening, and as a consequence combined to form united and strong bodies under one form of government. Thus we have here one Methodist church and one Presbyterian church, instead of many divisions of both churches. More recently there has been a rapproachment on the part of the Presbyterians and Methodists in respect of the mission field. It seems to be recognized that into the ordinary mission work, at least, the sharp questions of doctrine which distinguish the two bodies are not and ought not to be made prominent. Therefore, for a scattered population such as is found in our Northwest, the desire to advance the interests or strength of a church gives way before the more immediate mission question of providing, with the means each church has at its command, adequate and frequent ministrations.

Some years ago the growth of Christian fellowship resulted in a proposition looking to the organic union of all the Protestant churches in Canada. We believe this proposal originated with the Church of England. It was taken up in a kindly way by the other churches, and although it did not succeed it bore good fruit, in that it promoted mutual esteem and mutual toleration. It is a curious circumstance, yet it is absolutely true, that in the religious movements looking toward union and strength Canada leads the Mother Land. We embarked on the general proposition for Christian union before the matter was discussed at all seriously in England. Possibly in the old home of the various divisions, with all its historical associations and its modern distinctions, the idea has less to commend it, or to assist it, than it finds on the new soil of Canada. Yet, since the Canadians have spoken, we have had the Lambeth deliverance inviting an understanding, and the Swiss Conferences, at which leading churchmen and leading Nonconformist clergymen have seriously discussed the same question.

A writer in the London Times adduces facts indicating the points in which the Nonconformist bodies are drawing together. He mentions in the first place a remarkable modification in thought on theological questions. The Nonconformists now evince a marked indisposition to attach importance to the doctrines which formerly distinguished them. The Calvinism held to in varying degrees by the Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Baptists, is not to-day the creed denounced by the old Arminians, while the Arminianism of the Methodists has come to express the more explicit recognition of the sovereignty of God which was the strength of Calvinism. There are still groups of strict Baptists; but even Spurgeon admitted unimmersed Christians to communion, and in a great many Baptist churches to-day such Christians are allowed the full rights of the church. Some Baptist ministers, it is added, go so far as to perform a dedication of infants, a practice analagous to infant baptism. There have been startling changes towards the adoption of a liturgical form of worship. These, strangely enough, have been effected in the more marked degree in Scotland. At Paisley there is a Baptist cathedral, with a surpliced choir of both sexes. A Glasgow Congregational church has a liturgy with choral responses, the regular reading of the Ten Commandments, chanted Psalms, lessons read from a lectern, and a gilt cross upon the altar or communion table. In the English Non-conformist churches chants and anthems are now almost universal, and a choral "Amen" follows the benediction. The Church service is used in a few churches, and in many the minister borrows collects from the Prayer Book, and the congregation chants the Lord's Prayer. The Presbyterians have a prayer book for special occasions, and hymns now share the honours with the Psalms, which were formerly exclusively used. In the matter of polity the churches seem to be approximating to the practices of their neighbours. Among Methodists there is a desire to extend the itinerating system by making the ministerial term longer, and Presbyterians are moving towards its adoption in much the same form as it will take in the Methodist church if the extended system should be decided upon. There is, further, a moderate though not openly asserted trend towards something akin to Episcopacy, arising from a desire for more efficient government. The Methodist general superintendency in Canada in Canada is cited as an illustration. While these denominations are drawing together the old aversion to the Church of England, although the question of the establishment remains, has been mitigated. Thus we are told that the Baptists regard the Church of England with kindlier feelings and the Presbyterians have ceased to regard Episcopacy as "black prelacy." What is still objected to, however, is the Episcopal claim to be regarded as "the Church." The net result is a species of assimilation among Nonconformist bodies, with the possibility, as the Times correspondent says, that "when the Church of England is ready for religious co-operation the Nonconformist half of English Christianity will be found strong, well-equipped, and in every way worthy of so dignified an alliance."

Thus it would appear that out of the confusion of many years there is emerging a degree of order and unity, the result, not of legislative action, but of the changes in the mode of thought with regard to doctrinal subjects, practice and government. A gradual approach on the part of the separate bodies seems to be more rational solution of Christian diversity than a corporate union summarily determined upon. For one thing, an approach with an ultimate alliance is a growth of a sturdier and firmer character than a legislative solution could possibly be. Perhaps it is too much to expect corporate union, although, of course, it would not be wise to say that it will never come. Corporate union contemplates unanimity on so many things, a like view of which by minds cast in different moulds seems now to be an impossibility. Nor, if it were once secured, is there any probability that it could be continued, for no guarantee can be given that the men of the future may not, under special or unexpected circumstances, act as their fathers did. But whatever may be said of union, unity is by no means chimerical, nor possibly is it so very distant.

TO SEE EACH OTHER'S FACE.

The following paragraph, which is clipped from the Toronto Mail, will be quite in order in Bowmanville this week, where the Bay of Quinte Conference is in session, and we give it a place:—"It is a custom among the Methodist preachers to open their annual Conference with the cheerful hymn:—

"And are we yet alive
To see each other's face?"

In a town where the annual Conference was once held the preachers were treated with extraordinary hospitality. Every housekeeper had the table groaning with fried chicken and yellow gravy. All the choice fowls were killed to satisfy the white-cravated epicures. The day after adjournment the evening paper of the town had a picture showing two scrawny-looking chickens peeping at each other out from under the barn, and then crossing their necks, saying:—

"And are we yet alive
To see each other's face?"

STILL ON THE TARIFF.

out the advantages to the western farmers of the duty.

Mr. Ellis (Liberal, St. John) remarked that this advantage to the Manitoba wheat grower and western miller meant a tax of $800,000 to $1,000,000 a year to the people of the Maritime Provinces, and if the Manitoba farmer did not want the duty, by all means let it be abolished.

Mr. Fielding thought the disposition of the farmers who met the Tariff Commission in Winnipeg—and he paid them a high compliment—was that there should be tariff reductions all round, and they would not complain if to effect this it became necessary to make a reduction in the duty on wheat. But the tariff was a matter of compromise all round, and so the duty was not abolished.

Dr. Roche (Conservative, Marquette) thought the Manitoba farmers would feel gratified at the taffy the Finance Minister had lavished on them, for that was about all they got from him. [Laughter.] As to whether those delegates whose expenses to Winnipeg had been generously paid by Mr. Greenway altogether represented the independent agriculturists of the province, the House would gather from the observations of one of them that "for the first year the Manitoba farmer lived on faith, the second on hope, and the third on charity." It was not true that the Manitoba farmer wanted the duty taken off wheat and flour; he had too intelligent an appreciation of the value of the home market.

During the hour after recess reserved for private bills, Mr. Bennett took up the debate on the bill to incorporate the American Bank Note Company and urged that it be withdrawn to have the name changed. He raised also the question as to the printing of the Jubilee stamps.

The Postmaster-General assured him they were being printed in Ottawa. The engraving, he intimated, had been done abroad, but it really only amounted to about three weeks' work for one man. The manager informed him that henceforth the engraving of notes for a large number of Canadian banks would be done in Ottawa.

Mr. Bennett suggested to Mr. Belcourt the propriety of subsequently changing the name of the company, and with that the bill received its third reading.

The House resumed consideration of the tariff.

On the book duty, Mr. J. Ross Robertson called attention to the present condition of the copyright question. He urged that the Liberal party, some of whose leaders when in Opposition had stood by the printers and publishers of Canada in this matter of copyright, would not desert them now in their fight for justice. He spoke warmly of the support given by Sir John Thompson to the printing trades. Sir John was strong in the belief that the Canadian Parliament had the right to legislate on this question. He (Mr. Robertson) urged the Government to grapple with this question during recess and bring down a bill next session.

Mr. Fielding agreed that the question was a complicated one. He was inclined to think this was one of the subjects that would receive the attention of the Prime Minister in England, and he hoped before next session a clearer understanding on this question would have been reached.

Mr. Robertson then called attention to the lack of clearness in item 122, governing the importation of works of fiction in loose sheets, dutiable at 20 per cent. His objection was met by the Finance Minister, who amended the section so as to include loose sheets.

Mr. Robertson asked if Canadian importers of foreign reprints of British copyright works were exempt from penalties by paying the customs duties.

Mr. Fielding replied that if the importers found themselves liable to penalties it would be under the Imperial Act of 1842, not under any Canadian Act. The Customs Department did not assume any responsibility in the matter and was not now collecting the royalty.

Mr. Martin pressed for an increase in duty on novels.

The item as amended passed.

Item 123—advertising and printing matter, 15 cents per lb.

Mr. Erb urged that oil paintings, which are free, should be made dutiable, like cheap reprints, under this particular item.

Mr. Fielding said that oil paintings were of an educational value, and, when brought into the country were only for a private individual alone. For that reason they were put on the free list.

Mr. Oliver supported Mr. Erb's views. Mr. Rogers rose to do likewise, but was pulled down by a neighbor.

The item then passed.

Item 148—Surgical and dental instruments, 10 per cent.; free after Jan. 1 next.

Mr. Rogers (Patron) strongly urged that this class of instruments should be made to pay duty.

Sir Charles Tupper reminded Mr. Rogers that there was no class of the community which worked more for which they never received any pay than the medical profession. [Hear, hear.]

Mr. Fielding said his object in making these instruments free was to encourage young practitioners in the country—[hear, hear]—many of whom had barely any means when commencing practice.

The item then passed.

Item 158—Oils, coal and kerosene, five cents per gallon: Mr. Richardson moved that coal oil be placed on the free list. The amendment was declared lost.

Mr. Ellis then moved that the duty be reduced to three cents per gallon, claiming that the coal oil duty was a severe burden on the Maritime Provinces.

Messrs. Rogers and Talbot supported the amendment.

Sir Charles Tupper said he was afraid he would be compelled to support the Government on this item. [Laughter.] A reduction to three cents a gallon would completely wipe out the oil industry in Canada, and enable a gigantic monopoly to get possession of the Canadian market, which meant eventually an increase in the price of oil in Canada.

Dr. McDonald (Huron) opposed the amendment.

Rev. Mr. Douglas said this question in the Northwest was not so much one of duty as of transportation. The Northwest did not want to injure the oil industry, but they wanted the freight rates reduced.

Mr. Fielding said the Government had a bill in preparation with the intention of removing some of the restrictions to which Mr. Douglas had referred.

Mr. Davin strongly supported the amendment, quoting Mr. Davies in favor of reducing the duties on coal oil. He also read an extract from a speech of Sir Richard Cartwright, but raised a great laugh against himself when it turned out that the extract referred to coal, not coal oil.

Mr. Fraser (East Lambton) spoke strongly against the amendment, as calculated to let in a gigantic monopoly, the Standard Oil Company, which paid in dividends last year $44,000,000 by its control of all the oil wells in the States. That company was trying to get its grip on Canada, and was already operating in Toronto as the Queen City Oil Company. All that the Petrolea refiners got for their product was 8 1-2 cents a gallon, and if in some parts of the country the consumer had to pay 50 cents a gallon for it the refiner was not to blame. He trusted the House would not do anything to kill this industry.

Mr. Oliver thought too much was being said about this monopoly, which would throttle the oil industry of Canada.

A Voice: The Globe says so.

Mr. Oliver: The Globe does not always tell the truth.

Mr. Ganong supported the amendment, the present duty being a great hardship to New Brunswick.

Mr. Ellis' amendment was defeated, as also other amendments to make the duty four cents a gallon and one cent a gallon.

The item then passed.

The House adjourned at midnight.

A HUNTER'S STORY.

EXPOSURE BROUGHT ON AN ATTACK OF RHEUMATISM.

Nervousness and Stomach Troubles Followed—Sleep at Times Was Impossible — Health Again Restored.

From the Amherst, N. S., Sentinel.

The little village of Petitcodiac is situated in the south-easterly part of New Brunswick, on the line of the Intercolonial Railway. Mr. Herbert Yeomans, who resides there, follows the occupation of a hunter and trapper. His occupation requires him to endure a great deal of exposure and hardship, more especially when the snow lies thick and deep on the ground in our cold winters. A few years ago Mr. Yeomans tells our correspondent that he was seized with a severe bilious attack and a complication of diseases, such as sour stomach, sick headache and rheumatism. Mr. Yeoman's version of the facts are: "I became very ill and suffered the most excruciating pains in my arms, legs and shoulders, so much so that I could not rest in any position. I frequently could not sleep nights, and when I did I awoke with a tired feeling and very much depressed. My appetite was very poor, and if I ate anything at all—no matter how light the food was—it gave me, a dull, heavy feeling in my stomach, which would be followed by vomiting. I suffered so intensely with pains in my arms and shoulders that I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I tried different remedies but all to no purpose. A neighbor came in one evening and asked: "Have you tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" I had not but then determined to try them, and procured a box, and before the pills were all gone, I began to improve. This encouraged me to purchase more and in a few weeks the pains in my shoulders and arms were all gone and I was able to get a good night's rest. My appetite came back and the dull, listless feeling left me. I could eat a hearty meal and have no bad after effects and I felt strong and well enough as though I had taken a new lease of life. My old occupation became a pleasure to me and I think nothing of tramping eighteen or twenty miles a day. I know from experience and I fully appreciate the wonderful results of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a safe and sure cure and I would urge all those afflicted with rheumatism or any other ailment, to try Pink Pills as they create new vigour, build up the shattered nervous system and make a new being of you." The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

Criticising the Sermon.

"Here is something which I would like to see adopted by our local preachers," said a churchgoer the other day. "It would fill the vacant pews. In a newspaper I received recently from Melbourne, Australia, it says that Rev. Dr. Bevan, pastor of the Richmond street Congregational Church, had introduced a startling innovation in his church services. After pronouncing the benediction he invites any one who pleases to come up on the rostrum and criticise the sermon just delivered by him. He then descends and takes his seat among the congregation to await developments. Only one or two venturesome hearers have so far responded, but it is expected that others will gain courage and air their views in the course of time. During the last few Sundays the church had been crowded to the doors."—Detroit Journal.

"I HAD NO FAITH."

But my Wife Persuaded me to Try the Great South American Rheumatic Cure, and my Agonizing Pain was Gone in 12 Hours and Gone for Good.

J. D. McLeod of Leith, Ont., says: "I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years—confined to my bed for months at a time, unable to turn myself. Have been treated by many physicians without any benefit. I had no faith in rheumatic cures I saw advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. Taylor, druggist in Owen Sound. At that time I was in agony with pain. Inside of twelve hours after I had taken the first dose the pain had all left me. I continued until I had used three bottles, and I now consider myself completely cured."

Two Bottles Cure Pimples.

GENTLEMEN—For a long time I had pimples breaking out all over my face. I was told about B. B. B., and started its use. After taking one bottle I was much better, and the second bottle made a complete cure. I have recommended it to others of my friends, and they have found it uniformly satisfactory.

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. The Young Women's Christian Association will, in honour of our Queen, show their loyalty on the evening of the 15th of June, by taking a prominent part in the Jubilee celebration, which part will be a jubilee garden party at "Castleknock," the grounds of Mr. Max Dennistoun, Water street. The beautiful grounds, the use of which has been granted to the ladies by Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, will be beautifully decorated with flags, Union Jacks, Chinese lanterns, and everything that will go to make the grounds attractive. A very enjoyable evening is anticipated, and we ask on behalf of the ladies, a most liberal patronage of the people of the town. Further announcements later.

CORDIAL RECEPTION TO REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME OF THE PARISHIONERS.

Received on His Return From His Wedding Tour—The Welcome of the Volunteers—The 1st Reception at St. John's School House—Address Presented—The Rector's Reply — Personal Greetings of the People.

The contemplated enlargement of St. John's school house should have been effected before last night, when it might have more comfortably accommodated the crush of the congregation that assembled to tender a loyal reception to Rev. J. C. Davidson, their well-beloved pastor, and Mrs. Davidson on the occasion of their return from an extended European wedding tour. The formal reception was the culmination of the continuous reception or rather ovation they enjoyed from time to time of the their arrival from Montreal on the 4.40 C. P. R. Express.

They were met at the station with carriages by the church wardens, Messrs. J.E. Belcher and Harry Long and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, ex-rector's warden. A large number of other members of the congregation was also present to unite in the initial welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson were conveyed directly to the rectory, which by the thoughtfulness and labour of the Ladies' Aid Society had been placed in the best of order for their occupancy. The entire interior had been brightened and put to rights and in the dining room was the magnificent equipment of dining room furniture in oak, the wedding gift of the congregation to the rector and his bride, and even the larder had, by the kindness of a few members of the congregation, been liberally provisioned. Mr. Davidson, it need hardly be stated, was surprised and delighted and said he could not find language to express his thankfulness. If he and Mrs. Davidson had been particularly consulted, nothing more suitable and pleasing than the beautiful and useful gift of the congregation could not have been selected.

THE CHAPLAIN CONGRATULATED.

Next in order of events was the attack of the military. During his absence in Europe Rev. Mr. Davidson was gazetted Chaplain of the Fifty-seventh Battalion, in which he has taken a very warm interest, shown by many acts, and the non-com's. mess have been the objects of Mr. Davidson's especial kindness. In recognition of this circumstance at seven o'clock a deputation composed of Sgts. Green and Raby, and Corporals Might and Sherwood, representing the non-commissioned officers mess of the 57th Battalion, waited on Rev. Mr. Davidson at the rectory, where Sergt. Green read the following

ADDRESS:

Rev. J. C. Davidson, M.A., Rector of Peterborough, Chaplain of the 57th Battalion, "Peterborough Rangers":—

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—On behalf of the Non. Coms. mess of the 57th Battalion we desire to take this the first opportunity of tendering you our respectful congratulations and cordial good wishes on the occasion of your marriage and to be permitted to join your parishoners and the citizens generally in their welcome to Peterborough of yourself and Mrs. Davidson.

We would also congratulate you on your appointment to the honourable position of chaplain to our beloved Battalion, though, at the same time, we are free to confess that we ourselves are the real subjects of congratulation in this connection, on account of having as our chaplain a gentleman who has in the past evinced, even without a semblance of official obligation, a warm and practical interest, not only in the battalion as a whole, but in our branch of the regiment in particular. And we feel that we should be greatly lacking in gratitude if we failed to acknowledge, as we wish now to do most emphatically, the obligations under which your kindly attitude and interest have placed us.

Again offering you a cordial welcome home, we beg to extend our best wishes for the future happiness of yourself and Mrs. Davidson.

On behalf of the Non. Coms. Mess,

SERGT. GREEN,
SERGT. RABY.

June 4th.

The Chaplain of the Battalion, who had received the deputation with his accustomed cordiality, was genuinely taken by surprise, stating that he never dreamed of the kind and thoughtful act of which he was deeply appreciative. He felt now that he was indeed a part of the 57th. It came natural to him to feel proud of the Battalion and the boys composing it. It was with very great pleasure that he had the office of Chaplain so kindly offered to him. As he had been informed of the fact of his being gazetted whilst in England, he had taken advantage of the opportunity and procured a uniform, so that he might consider himself a member of the battalion—one of the themselves—and not merely hold the position as a nominal one.

On behalf of Mrs. Davidson the rector also thanked the non-coms. for their kind expressions of esteem and reminded them that the hinges on the doors of the Rectory would be always in good working order for them.

A THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

The usual Friday evening service in the church was largely attended. The services were of a thanksgiving character and consisted of the shorter Litany and special Thanksgiving office for the safe return of the Rector and Mrs. Davidson, who were present.

Directly after the service the Rector received a mysterious summons to his residence and was presently delightfully surprised by the arrival of the Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England band, who serenaded him, performing in fine style and spirit several selections, including "Home Sweet Home," "Rule Brittania," "The Red, White and Blue," and other patriotic and national airs.

The chief reception of the evening took place in the school room which was magnificently decorated for the interesting occasion. It was literally a bower of beauty. The decorations were chiefly floral and were the united work of the Decoration Guild and the King's Daughters, and the signal success that attended their efforts in the regard to the decorations contributed a claim to the reception being styled a royal welcome. The "chancel" curtain of the school room was a literal tapestry of flowers and foliage. The body of the curtain was covered with the bloom of the lonicera, the scarlet petals gleaming delightfully among the deep green of the leaves. The front of the platform was a balustrade of flowers, with here and there a potted pelargonium and plumy palm. The window spaces were completely filled with a banking of bloom of the purple and white lilac intermingled. The triple windows, however, that occupy the centre of both sides of the room, were decked with rich lace curtains, the draping held in place with beautiful bouquets. The gasaliers were swathed in bloom, indeed every conceivable point was bright with bloom, and the air of the room was literally "oppressed with perfume." In addition to the floral decorations, the drapery of national colours, flags, bunting, etc., done by Mr. Alf Kingscotte, was elaborate and tasteful. Over the chancel was a streamer bearing the word:

WELCOME!

On the wall over the entrance door was a trophy of flags enclosing a portrait of Her Majesty, and under it the words of the world-wide prayer, "God Save the Queen." Festoons of red, white and blue bunting drooped above the chancel arch, coreless of the same stretched from the four corners to a central point, and the walls, where not occupied by flowers, were brilliant with flags, among which the Jubilee flag, bearing the picture of the Queen, was in conspicuous evidence.

Shortly after eight o'clock the crush attendance was condensed at the sides of the room and up the living aisle thus formed Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, escorted by the churchwardens, passed to the platform, to the enthusiastic applause of the gathering, and Mr. Henry Long, people's churchwarden, read the following

ADDRESS.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—Your churchwardens, on behalf of your parishioners, wish to give you a most hearty welcome home and to offer you again their most sincere and cordial congratulations upon the happy event that gave occasion to your absence. All are rejoiced to know that you enjoyed a delightful tour and return in good health, and renewed physical fitness for the discharge of the important duties to which your unremitting devotion was so earnestly given as to render a period of rest and relaxation necessary. We hardly need assure you that we very greatly missed you in your absence, but we are certain you will be glad to know that the representatives you left behind in charge of the interests of the Church and parish, in the persons of Rev. E. V. Stevenson and Rev. W. L. Armitage have faithfully and, so far as we can judge, efficiently acquitted themselves of their great responsibility.

We may be allowed to repeat that we are glad and happy to have you with us again; and we feel that we are safe in saying that the feeling is not only shared by your parishioners to many of whom your personal presence means benefaction and comfort, which they can from past experience, expect from no other source, but the citizens of the town generally are glad to welcome home to the ampler exercise of citizenship a gentleman who at all times has shown an earnest interest in the discharge of the duties that pertain to that relation, and who has, during his residence in Peterborough, been most intelligently active in promoting the good of the citizens at large, irrespective of limits of creed. So that you have the assurance of popular as well as parochial interest in, and gratification at, your return.

We would also desire to include unreservedly in our felicitations and welcome Mrs. Davidson, who is no stranger to us, but returns to revive the pleasant memories of her graceful personal presence and of her faithful and fruitful work for the welfare of the Church, that so conspicuously fit her to be the wife of one of its ministers.

In conclusion, we ask your acceptance of these tokens of the substantial interest of the congregation of St. John's in both yourself and Mrs. Davidson, and we pray Almighty God that both may long be spared to years of happiness and usefulness in the sphere to which your lives are devoted.

On behalf of the parishioners,

Very faithfully,
JOHN E. BELCHER,
HARRY LONG, } Churchwardens.

Rev. Mr. Davidson, who was greeted with another outburst of cordial applause, in reply said he felt in his heart the truth of the saying, "There's no place like home," but he never so fully realized its truth, as he had since his arrival in town, which had immensely emphasized his appreciation of the sentiment. This was due to the hearty welcome he had received. His welcome began before he left the train which the church wardens boarded to extend their greetings and this welcome had been continued from various sources up to the present. In travelling he had met kindness, but it was attention that was paid for and only had a corresponding value and was a striking contrast to the earnest, warm and hearty reception he had received, prompted by the kind hearts of his parishioners and friends. He returned his warmest thanks for all that had been done and to all who had done it. Referring to the sentiments of the address, he mentioned the pleasant surprise that awaited him at the Rectory and complimented the congregation on the taste displayed. On behalf of his wife and himself he returned his most hearty thanks, but how could he thank them for the welcome shown in this beautiful building. He felt that he could only do so by passing on the kindness, to some others, that he had experienced to-night. He did not take the address literally, for there was a cause behind it, and the circumstances of the occasion and the reception that had been given him, was a stimulus and encouragement. He felt strengthened thereby, and his aim would be to justify it. The trouble taken by the congregation though great, was, to his mind, worth the encouragement it afforded, and he would renew his work amongst the people with the strongest feelings of encouragement. He was glad as a clergyman to be again with his flock, and to receive their welcome, but he was glad to be home again in connection with other relations. He with the welcome of the non-commissioned officers. He was proud of being Chaplain of the Battalion. His appointment was an honour to himself and the church. He was also glad to be back again to assist in his humble way in advancing the interests of the town of Peterborough, and he would derive the greatest pleasure in co-operating in making the town more beautiful in all ways and in keeping it in the position it now held of being the best town in the Dominion. (Cheers.) He was delighted to see on the walls of the room evidences of the patriotism of the people. The British Isles throbbed with enthusiasm over the Jubilee year of the Queen, and the same spirit was awake in Canada. The 22nd of June would do more than anything else to bind the Great Empire together, and he was sure that Canada would do her full share in doing justice to the celebration of Jubilee day. The rector concluded a brief, graceful and earnest address by collectively thanking all who had contributed to his welcome, and especially thanking the church officers and the clergy who, during his absence, had worked so harmoniously and successfully for the advancement of the Church that the absence of the rector was only personally felt. The rector concluded his brief remarks amidst most hearty applause.

The rector and Mrs. Davidson then mingled with the audience and all present had an opportunity, which was very much prized, of personally presenting their greetings and welcome.

THE MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

The company now resolved itself into a social gathering. While the excellent refreshments that had been furnished by the Ladies' Aid Society were being served a little music was presented.

The Misses Bellegham (Clara and Annie) sang the beautiful duet "Where is Heaven?" with good taste and effect and were most cordially rewarded with applause.

Rev. W. Armitage sang with fine effect the solo by C. A. White, "Only Tired," and later on took the solo in the trio, "Victoria the Rose of England," Rev. E. V. Stevenson and Mr. Alf Kingscote completing the trio. This beautiful song is entirely new and derives a local significance from the fact that it is the composition of Mrs. Roberta Geddes Harvey, organist of St. George's church, Guelph, and neice of Mrs. G. A. Smith, town. It is a strong patriotic composition, full of fire and feeling, and was capitally presented by the trio, especially in view of the fact that the music was only received yesterday. The song has only been published a month and is a very creditable contribution to the patriotic music of the Jubilee year.

The spirit of the gathering was excellent and both the Rector and his amiable wife must have been delighted with the evident enthusiasm with which they were received.

The proceedings of the evening concluded with the enthusiastic singing of "God Save the Queen," and prayers by the Rector.

Mrs. S. James, Seaforth, suffered for years with what is called old people's rash. She was treated by many physicians without any result. Mr. Fear, the local druggist, recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment, which relieved the irritation at once and speedily effected a permanent cure of the skin eruption. Mrs. James also says Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her of Itching Piles which she had been troubled with for years.

SATURDAY JUNE 5, 1897.

THE "BLUES" COME OUT VICTORIOUS.

A TOTAL OF $541.13 COLLECTED BY THE BLUES AND REDS.

The Gymnasium Fund Contest Closes with an Enthusiastic Mass Meeting—The Musical Programme Presented.

The contest which has been going on in connection with the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of securing funds to furnish the new gymnasium, closed last night. The Blue side, led by Mr. H. D. Kennedy, has emerged from the contest with a plurality of 10 over their opponents, the Redmen.

It is doubtful if, in the whole history of the Y.M.C.A. work here, the public interest has been so intensely centred in it as during the last ten days.

The new general secretary, Mr. G. H. Williamson, who came here a total stranger three weeks ago, is to be congratulated on the success of the scheme which was set in motion by him, and which was so ably sustained by the thirty men comprising the Blue and Reds, led respectively by Mr. H. D. Kennedy and Mr. T. H. Martin.

The appeal was made to the young men of the town, and they deserve the heartiest thanks of the association, and all interested, for their hearty response. It must be borne in mind that this amount contributed had no connection with the membership fee, but a pure expression of sympathy with the work.

It was also understood that those who contributed yearly to the general support of the work were not to be canvassed for the contest, but left until the time when the yearly budget would be brought down, and they would be given an opportunity of showing their appreciation of the work and of the handsome gift to the young men by the generous donor, the late Mrs. Nicholls, of the new building.

THE MASS MEETING.

The Y.M.C.A. hall and gallery was packed with an enthusiastic audience, who came to hear the result of the contest. The Blues received returns at the Association office and the Reds in the parlour. All was a buzz of excitement, and everbody was looking for indications in the faces of the contestants, foreshadowing the result. The telephone girl even had a busy time of it—asking for the benefit of others who were detained.

Mr. A. Parker, the President of the Association, occupied the chair, and beside him on the platform was Mr. Knapman, the treasurer for the contest.

A select musical programme was rendered while the returns were made up. The Sons of England Band was present and gave a number of lively selections. Miss Pascoe sang as did Miss Hendren, of Lakefield. Both ladies acquitted themselves well. Ivy Hall, who can make music out of anything, gave several selections on the bones. The Misses Belleghem also rendered several numbers.

Then came the closing campaign speeches. Mr. H. P. Kennedy made the final appeal for the Reds, and Mr. H. D. Kennedy for the Blues. Both were masterly efforts, but the latter certainly carried off the palm by the stories he told.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Knapman arose amidst great applause and made his report, which was as follows:

Total, $541.13. Of this the Reds secured $265.50, and the Blues $275.63, as per detailed statement below:

The following is the report in detail giving the numbers of points for each man:

After the report was given there was a storm of applause on all sides. Mr. Martin then gave a short address expressing thanks and commenting on the good feeling that prevailed amongst those who were in the contest.

Mr. Williamson followed and in feeling terms thanked all for the assistance given. He was confident that the success that had been made apparent to-night augured well for the future of the Association along financial and other lines. He hoped the interest and enthusiasm would continue for three hundred and sixty-five days to come, and long after.

The gathering dispersed at a later hour by the singing of God Save the Queen.

THE "BLUE" POET'S PÆAN.

Up, up to the towering mast-head run
The beautiful banner of "Blue,"
Let its azure folds in triumph wave
To the town's delighted view.

The "Red"-men were certain of victory
As the crisis nearer drew,
But, alack! they were smitten hip and thigh
By an ambushed "bolt from the 'Blue.'"

The Red"-men's vaunt was of "points up-sleeve,"
But the "Blues" had a laugh in theirs;
They knew the "Reds" in boasting success
Said very much more than their prayers.

In the "poet's corner" they promised a place
For the bard who sang for the "Blue."—
The "poet" still lives, with the cause he espoused,
And both are very live, too.

Yet the "Red" men put up a plucky fight
With their dodges of all descriptions;
All things were lawful to them it seemed
For the "spoiling of the Egyptians."

But vain their "Red" boxes like baby banks,
Vain their valour, vain their vim,
For "steady and sure" was the watchword "Blue"
In their gallant fight for the gym.

But to claim the credit for victory won
From the "Blues" be it afar;
The praise they give to the noble friends
Who furnished the "sinews of war."

Nor yet o'er the vanquished "Reds" would they Indulge in exultant boast—
With pitying spirits they mingle tears
O'er the slain of the routed host.

For, after all, tho' in ranks opposed,
The goal of the two was one,
In the cause of the muscle-making "gym"
The work of the two was done.

Then up with the "Blue" and up with the "Red!"—
The latter some "points" underneath—
Blend the sanguine "Red" and the faithful "Blue"
In a grand harmonious wreath.

We may struggle and fight over minor "points,"
But we're one in the object high—
The genial "Red" of the flaming sun,
Is at home in the bright "Blue" sky.

Then, hurrah for the "Red!" hurrah for the "Blue!"
Let nobody say you nay;
For together a noble work they wrought,
For the noble Y.M.C.A.

Physicians Failed. Cure-alls Failed—But the Great South American Kidney Cure, a Specific Remedy for a Specific Trouble. Cured Mrs A. E Young, of Barnston, P.Q., Quickly and Permanently.

This is her testimony: "I was taken sick in January, 1893. I employed several of the best local physicians and was treated by them for kidney disease until the autumn of the same year without receiving much benefit. I then began using your South American Kidney Cure, and derived great benefit almost immediately. I feel now that I am quite cured. I have taken no medicine for some length of time and have not had a return of the slightest symptom of the disease." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 23 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Lots of Hilarious Fun.

The wonderful graphophone on exhibition at LeGros' tobacco store, is drawing crowds every day to hear the new songs and farces of the period. It is a whole musical farce company in itself. It brings out to perfection the humorous productions and comicalities of popular singers and clever artists. The high-class chorus singing is one of the best features of the machine. Everything is bright, spicy and sparkling. Some of Peterborough's local amateurs have lately been talking into the machine and their well known voices are reproduced to perfection. Go and hear it. Mr. LeGros gives free exhibitions every day. It is the funniest thing that has been here for a long time. dtf

JUBILEE CELEBRATION IN PETERBOROUGH.

The Day to be Observed.

ARRANGEMENTS TO BE COMPLETED IMMEDIATELY.

A Large Meeting of Citizens Decide That the Occasion Cannot be Allowed to Pass Without a Demonstration Such as Will Fittingly Mark the Day—Though Late in the Field an Attractive Programme Will be Arranged.

There was a large assemblage of citizens in the council chamber last night, called there by the Mayor's proclamation to the effect that the question of holding a demonstration on Jubilee Day was to be considered. Amongst those in attendance were the following:

Messrs. Richard Hall, James Stevenson T. E. Bradburn, Robt. Neill, H. LeBrun, J. D. Collins, Fred Foote, Adam Melrose, J. J. Turner, W. H. Moore, Hampden Burnham, Geo. Edmison, T. A. S. Hay, Maclarlane Wilson, T. E. Boddy, J. B. McWilliams, J. M. White, Jas. Graham, P. Clunan, S. R. Armstrong, Wm. Rudkins, D. Elliott, L. Felcher, W. J. English, Peter Campbell, A. McCallum, F. E. Jones, J. H. Cobb, R. M. Roy, Adam Dawson, Wm. Friedenburg, Sidney Weir, Jno. Brown, H. Carveth, T. Hooper, Chas. B. Robertson, Robt. Fair, Wm. Taylor, H. Morgan.

MR. JAS. STEVENSON

was asked to take the chair, and briefly stated the object of the meeting, saying that this was the greatest opportunity Peterborough would ever have of holding a great demonstration. It would be too bad if such an occasion was allowed to pass without being fittingly observed in the town. Some steps should be taken immediately and the day not allowed to go by default.

MR. HAMPDEN BURNHAM,

as representing the Historical Society, stated that the society was about to inaugurate a museum which would be dedicated on the morning of the 22nd as the Victoria Museum. He thought that the County Council, Town Council and the Board of Trade should go up and assist in the opening of the building.

On the suggestion of Mr. Geo. Edmison, Mr. S. R. Armstrong was asked to act as secretary.

Mr. W. H. Moore expressed his desire to make some explanations regarding the criticisms that had been made on the action or rather inaction of the first Citizens' Committee, which had been organized. Some severe criticism had been made concerning the matter. The citizens were called together, and Mr. Burnham at the time attended the meeting and made a speech concerning loyalty, etc., and immediately afterwards

LEFT THE MEETING.

Subsequently a chairman was appointed and a committee selected to wait on the council to obtain a grant. As a member of the committee he attended the council meeting and addressed it, asking for a grant of about $300. No action was taken. Mr. Dumble attended another meeting of the council, and at a committee of the whole council it was resolved that the day be celebrated, yet no action was afterwards taken by that body, which was to blame for allowing the affair to fall through. A committee of the Board of Trade also waited on the council, but the members had sat quietly with their hands in their pockets and done nothing, although Col. Bell had attended and urged immediate action in order that the Battalion might know whether to go to Montreal or not. Nothing had been done by the members of the council since that time. He was greatly disappointed at the action of the council in this matter, as in consequence of it the Battalion had decided to go to Montreal. The blame for the failure of the celebration as at first planned should be laid at the doors of the council with Mayor Yelland at its head.

MR. J. B. MCWILLIAMS, representing the council, rose to reply to Mr. Moore's attack on that body. The fault, he stated, for the failure which attended the efforts of the first citizens' committee rested entirely with Mr. Moore himself. The first meeting held had been "packed" with the express purpose of trying to insult the mayor and in consequence if the arrangements for the celebration had gone on the members of the three largest societies in town would not have turned out with the parade which was to have been held. The committee had not done the first thing towards making a success of the demonstration, but had come begging to the council to have the responsibility taken off their shoulders. One of the most prominent members of the committee had even gone so far as to say that he would not even be in town on Jubilee day, but would be away fishing. Such remarks threw a damper on the proceedings naturally. Mr. Moore had charged that the council had done nothing. Mr. McWilliams pointed out that in response to an appeal from the Historical Society the council had agreed to give a grant of $200 for the Victoria Museum, which was to be formally dedicated on Jubilee Day. This was something and the council was even prepared to go further, but it was apparent that the demonstration could not be a success under the management of such a committee as had been appointed. Under the new arrangements which were now being made, however, the speaker was in a position to state that he thought the council would furnish a band and the the town, giving as well a guarantee in case of rain, towards the running off of a programme of sports in the afternoon. (Applause.) Mr. Moore was entirely wrong in his statements regarding Col. Bell and the Battalion. The fact of the matter was that Colonel Bell had waited on the Council and stated that he hoped that the Council would place no obstruction in the way of the men going to Montreal, as many of them would not re-enlist unless some such inducement was held out. He promised the Council to do his best to assist with the Battalion any demonstration which might be held on July 1st. The Board of Trade had waited on a Committee of the Whole Council on Wednesday evening, and on their representations the Mayor had fallen in with their suggestions regarding the calling of a public meeting, with the result that Peterborough would probably have big demonstrations on both June 22nd and July 1st, as on the latter date several thousand excursionists were coming down from Toronto.

Mr. Moore, replying to Mr. McWilliams, stated that the remark that the first meeting was packed, was entirely without foundation.

Mr. John Carnegie asked that by-gones be allowed to be by-gones and suggested that the meeting decide at once whether it was advisable or not to on June 22nd. In case it was decided to observe the day, Mr. Burnham's proposition would do capitally for the morning's programme, and a committee should be appointed to see to the details. Committees should also be appointed to look after

ST. JOHN'S CONGREGATION'S GIFT

To Rev. J. C. and Mrs. Davidson.

"The tokens of substantial interest" referred to in the address presented to Rev. J. C. Davidson at the reception in St. John's school house consisted of the complete furnishings of the dining room, including a dinner set of 120 pieces and other articles necessary. The furniture especially, which was furnished by Mr. A. Comstock, is beautiful.

The sideboard is a beautiful creation of polished antibue quartered oak and is very artistic in design. It is hand carved and fitted with a large British bevelled plate mirror and a china closet at the top. This has clear cent bevelled glass ands. The lower part has a large drawer for table linen, three doors elegantly carved and three small drawers, one of which is divided into three compartments and lined with felt. The inside of all the cupboards and drawers are oiled and varnished.

The table is also made of antique quartered oak. It is four feet square when closed and extends to ten feet. It has six legs six inches in diameter and is finely carved.

The chairs are of the same material and finish and are fitted with Spanish sole leather cobbler seats.

GIGANTIC PURCHASE

Of Ready-Made Clothing by Gough Bros.—How This Firm Holds Its Leadership.

Nothing has been done along the line of clothing transactions in many a day that will create anything like the sensation which Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, have in store for the people of Peterborough. The embarassed manufacturer has made another opening for this live and energetic firm to get in their special work of snapping up the big snaps as they crop up in the clothing market. And, although a loss of hundreds of dollars may be figured up by the manufacturer, all the benefits will go to Gough Bros'. customers. The Montreal Star has the following regarding this recent extraordinary purchase:

"Messrs. Gough Bros., Peterborough, B. J. Gough, Lindsay, and R. F. Day, of the Gough-Day Clothing Co., Port Hope, left for home last night. This big clothing syndicate attended the underwriters' sale of the E. A. Small & Co. stock. They were the largest purchasers at the sale, and their purchases ran up into the thousands."

There are successes in government, and successes in other walks of life. In the commercial annals of Canada Gough Bros'. success is one of the interesting events of history. In this Jubilee year of Her Majesty's reign, this firm evidently means to attain its greatest success.

On Wednesday next the boxes and bales containing this extraordinary purchase will begin to arrive. In view of the gigantic nature of the purchase, it will be a sight to see the piles of goods to be delivered in front of their two mammoth stores. It will be remembered that at the time Gough Bros. secured the pick and cream of the great John O'Brien stock, the packages were piled up on the sidewalk in front of their premises and covered the frontage of a number of other stores on both sides of their premises. The present purchase is still larger, and will necessarily cause quite a stir along this portion of George street.

This immense stock of clothing is absolutely free from old goods of any kind or description, and every garment is perfect in sewing, in shape, and in quality of material employed.

But it is the price at which the stock was secured that will make the biggest commotion. The figure paid does not cover the cost of production. By the end of next week when the goods are unpacked and ready for buyers, look out for bargains that will plainly explain how Gough Bros. hold their leadership.

LACROSSE.

The Millbrook team declines to come up and give the Peterboroughs a practice game before the Tecumseh match on June 11th.

The Peterboroughs are now in splendid condition for the big game on Friday next and can stand plenty of hard work. The Tecumsehs will have to play their prettiest to get ahead of the combination which the local boys are working so well.

The next game after the Tecumseh match will be with Port Hope.

The team will practice on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week.

Tweed writes inviting Peterborough to go there on the first of July. This is a game the Juniors may probably take if they turn out to practice.

Orillia is very anxious for the Peterboroughs to go to that town on Dominion Day. The secretary writes conveying the best wishes of the club for the game with the Tecumsehs on the 11th.

BASEBALL.

Lindsay is unable to come to Peterborough for a game next week, but on the 14th the Park Nine will go to Lindsay for a match.

On Wednesday the Park Nine will play a practise game against a picked nine from the town. The match will begin at 4 p.m.

Oshawa will probably come up for a game on the morning of the 22nd.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL is CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 81 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 57; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy in for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.60. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

LESSONS IN ELOCUTION.

MISS LILY SIMONS

(Gold Medallist of Ottawa College of Oratory)

There is no prettier sight in the world than that of a healthy, happy mother at play with her robust and rollicking baby. It is a sight entirely too infrequent. Too often the baby is puny and peevish and the mother sickly, fretful, and nervous. The woman who neglects to take proper care of herself and who therefore suffers from weakness and disease of the organs of womanhood cannot be healthy and amiable. Her children will be puny and ailing and happiness will pass by on the other side. There is no reason why every woman should not be the healthy, happy mother of robust and playful children if she will take the proper care of herself. Proper care means, first of all, proper medicine for her ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make any woman strong and well in a womanly way. It cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It insures the health of the baby. It makes parturition easy and nearly painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its virtues, in writing. Druggists sell it and have no substitute "just as good." The druggist who tries to force something else upon you is not an honest man. He is trifling with your life and happiness for the sake of a greater profit to himself.

Mrs. F. E. Forgey, of Carns, Keyapaha, Co., Neb., writes: "I write to you again concerning my daughter, Mrs. D. Billings. She has taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She thinks the medicines did her a world of good. She was confined the 19th of February. Was sick about three hours, and now has a ten pound daughter. She got along nicely afterward. She says she never felt so well. She looks well and her complexion is clear."

The modern business world won't stand still or loiter to wait for the man who suffers from headaches, biliousness and dyspepsia, caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Of druggists.

HORRORS OF BRAZIL.

Mr. Thomas Williams Gets Back to Canada Alive and Tells a Horrible Tale of Torture

Montreal, June 3.—Mr. Thomas Williams, his wife and child have arrived in Montreal, back from the tortures of Brazil; ill and heartbroken. They were of the number of Canadians who sailed from Montreal on the Moravian in September last, and are among the last to get back to these shores. Speaking to a reporter this morning, Mr. Williams told a tale of suffering that is in keeping with that of others who returned before him. They had scarcely arrived at Santos when it became evident that all the bright promises made to induce people to go to Brazil were without a chance of being kept, and that, in fact, the Government of the coffee country knew nothing of the coming of the Canadians. After a weary journey from Santos to San Paulo the people found themselves all but starving.

To make matters worse the awful beauchue (a Brazilian insect) early made its appearance, and many of the Canadians suffered intense pain. These insects get into the flesh and leave their eggs, which in turn hatch and blood poisoning follows. Quite a number of those who left Montreal died of this plague, and Mr. Williams' child is now in a serious condition as a result of the beauchues.

Mr. Williams speaks harshly of the British Consuls at Santos and San Paulo. He says they both declined assistance when it was badly needed.

The most serious part of the story is that several Canadian families are still there, and are being beaten to death. Some of their members died before Williams got away, and he is confident that had he and his not made the fearful struggle which they did they would now be dead or dying with the remaining unfortunates.

Premier Laurier and party left here by the Delaware & Hudson express this evening for New York, whence they sail by the Lucania for London. The Premier was escorted to the depot by the police band and was given a hearty send-off by a large number of citizens.

MANY WOMEN DECEIVED.

At the present time many manufacturers of crude and adulterated package dyes are making lively efforts to induce the wholesale and retail druggists and grocers to buy ther dyes.

These common dyes are quoted at such low prices that some profit-loving dealers are tempted to buy them. The profit-loving dealers then take care to sell these adulterated dyes to the inexperienced and careless at the same price as the popular and reliable Diamond Dyes are sold for.

This iniquitous and deceptive work has caused a vast amount of loss and trouble to many in Canada, and will continue as long as women are foolish enough to take anything that is offered them.

If home dyeing work is to be a successful and money-saving work, every woman should see that she gets the Diamond Dyes, as they are the only guaranteed package dyes in the world.

THE MATTER OF SAUCES.

A Very Important Branch of the Culinary Art.

One of the most important branches in cooking, and perhaps the one most neglected by the average cook, is the sauces. Good sauces add much to the delicacy of food. A delicious dish may be ruined by the use of a poor or inappropriate sauce, and, on the other hand, many plain dishes may be made palatable if served with a suitable dressing. The French give a great deal of care and attention to this branch of culinary art, and are noted for making the most nutritious and delicious of sauces.

The foundation for most sauces and gravies is the same as for soups—the stock pot; but sauces being served in small quantities, bits of material may be used in making them that would otherwise be thrown aside as worthless. A famous artist was asked by one of his admirers how he mixed his colors. His reply was: "According to my taste." In most sauces a cook must strive to find out what special seasoning will please those she has to cater for and flavor according to taste; but a few of the general rules for sauces that are easily made may assist the young housekeeper.

For a white sauce: Put three tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan and place it over the fire. When the butter is melted add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until it is smooth and frothy. Draw the pan to one side of the range and gradually stir in two cups of white stock or part stock and part milk; add a few drops of onion juice and season with salt and paprika, and cook ten minutes longer. Chopped parsley may be added when desired for seasoning.

To make a good brown sauce: Put two tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan over the back of the fire and add to it a sliced onion, one small carrot, and half a turnip chopped fine, and one bay leaf. Cover the pan and let the contents steam for fifteen minutes. Then place the pan where the vegetables will take on a color; stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour and keep stirring until the flour is well browned. Then gradually add two cups of stock, three cloves, a blade of mace, half a dozen pepper corns, and some salt. Again cover the pan and let the contents simmer twenty minutes; then strain; and the sauce is ready for serving. This sauce may be varied by adding wine, lemon juice or mushrooms, thus making different sauces with the same foundation.

To make a hot mint sauce for serving with spring lamb: Put into a saucepan four sprigs of fresh mint, a bay leaf, a quarter of an onion, one tablespoonful of canned tomatoes or one slice of a fresh tomato, one teaspoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of vinegar, the beaten white of one egg, and one cup of rich, clear stock. Place the pan over the fire, and when the contents come to the boiling point draw it to the cooler part of the fire and let the sauce simmer ten minutes. Strain it through a sieve into a clean pan and again place it over the fire. To a teaspoonful of cornstarch add two tablespoonfuls of sherry and stir it into the sauce, continuing to stir until the sauce is again boiling. Meanwhile chop fine a few fresh mint leaves, add them to the sauce and serve.

For a cold mint sauce: To two tablespoonfuls of washed and finely chopped mint add a little white pepper and a gill of vinegar in which two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar have been dissolved, and let the sauce stand half an hour before serving. If this sauce is prepared hot the vinegar and sugar may be heated to boiling, and just before serving stir in the chopped mint.

Tomato sauce is quite a favorite for croquettes, chops and many entrees. Put into a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, two slices of carrot, and a small onion cut into quarters. When they commence to brown stir in a heaping tablespoonful of flour and cook five minutes; add half a can of tomatoes, a gill of stock two cloves, a blade of mace, and salt and pepper. Let this sauce simmer twenty minutes, then strain through a sieve and serve.

A German sauce for serving with boiled trout or small fish is made thus: Soak a hard biscuit or piece of zwieback in a cup of wine until it can be mashed to a pulp. Add the juice of half a lemon, a small spoonful of butter and a generous cup of strained liquid in which the fish was boiled, which should have been seasoned with a bay leaf, pepper corns, salt and a little vinegar. Mash fine and yolks of two hard boiled eggs and add them to the other ingredients with a teaspoonful of sugar. Let the sauce simmer over the fire until it is of the desired thickness; then pour it over the fish, which should have been kept in a hot place.

"Only nervous" is a sure indication that the blood is not pure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and cures nervousness.

Sharp Traders.

In business the Chinese is known as one of the sharpest traders, as keen and as sure to get the better of his competitor as a Yankee; but even his enemies admit that he is "square." What the Chinese agrees to do he will do to the letter, though you have only a verbal contract with him, and he will supply you with the exact quality of goods of which he shows you a sample. It is the failure to adopt the same course with him that has cost so many California merchants valuable trade, for the Chinaman never forgives the white man for an intentional deceit in business. Speculation, embezzlement, fraudulent bankruptcy, all are unknown to the Chinese merchant. He looks forward to his New Year's festival as the yearly accounting time and he strains every nerve to settle his affairs and pay all obligations. It is regarded as the deepest disgrace to be unable to present a clean balance sheet at that time.—George Hamlin Fitch.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Chesterville, June 3.—At a meeting of the Cheese Board here this evening 988 boxes of cheese were boarded; 236 were white, balance colored; 8½c offered for colored and white; none sold.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

Telegraph operators are usually reminiscent fellows and the veterans among them delight in telling their experiences. Of course, some of their stories may be a trifle exaggerated, but they generally possess at least one unique feature—they are based on something that happened over a stretch of wire perhaps 100 or 200 miles in length. Occasionally one reads of an extraordinary adventure of an operator at a small and lonely railway station, out west, or of perilous experiences in war times, and the impression has become quite common that telegraphers stationed this side of the Rocky mountains seldom have other than the most commonplace, routine experience, with nothing in it of more than passing interest. As regards the operators for railroad companies, that supposition is wrong. Within 12 hours' ride of this city there are scores of railroad telegraph offices where an operator is employed day and night to look after both the telegraph and the station. On many of the roads in New England the night stations are a dozen or fifteen miles apart and some of them are a quarter or a half of a mile from the nearest dwelling house. At these places a night operator is on duty from seven in the evening till seven in next morning. A Sun reporter chanced to meet recently a veteran "key twister" who was for several years in the employ of a railroad running through Maine and New Hampshire and up into the White mountains. This operator sometimes found himself in a pretty tight box, and his account of the experience illustrates the close shave that railroad telegraphers have now and then.

"Station H——, where I worked," he said, "is a night station on a single track railroad in New Hampshire. G——, the nearest night telegraph station north of it, was eight miles away, and N——, the nearest one south, was 12. My duty in summer was solely that of operator; in winter I also looked after the fires in the waiting-rooms. There was seldom much operating to do at night, and it was always easy to keep awake until one o'clock, when I usually ate lunch. Even at that hour the time didn't pass very slowly in summer, but on cold and stormy nights in winter, when I had to stay constantly indoors, the greatest effort was needed to keep from falling asleep. After nine o'clock all the trains that passed were freights, and there were half a dozen north-bound and as many more south-bound in the course of the night. It was was part of my duty to note the time that each of the trains passed my station and report it at once to headquarters at A—— 'the same rule applying to all the operators on the line. That was one of the customs which made it dangerous for an operator to fall asleep, if only for five minutes. Another thing that annoyed him, and often made him swear, was the roll call. This consisted in the train dispatcher at A—— office (50 miles south of H——, calling each office on the line every half hour, beginning with the one nearest his own. The station that failed to answer a roll call had a black mark placed against it at A——, with a record of the time when the call was given. At first the roll call made all the boys look sharp and toe the line, but they soon found a way to cheat it.

"The main wire running through H—— was considerably more than 100 miles long; and on a wire of that length it is quite impossible for an operator at its terminus to tell by the sound which of two or more offices not more than 25 miles apart is doing the telegraphing unless the sending operator signs his station call. Knowing this, several of the 'owls' on the line arranged to take turns with each other in answering the roll. For example, the operator at G—— would answer my calls between the hours of one and three, and I would attend to his from three to five. What a cracking good way this was to baffle the train dispatcher, we thought, and the exchange of duty between us was kept up for a long time; in fact, almost too long, so far as my own case was concerned. I refer to an incident that took place during the winter of '85, which for a few hours nearly froze the marrow in my bones. It happened like this:

"Through freight No. 241, north bound, was due at my station at 1.35, and was scheduled to meet south bound freight No. 284 at P——, 15 miles further up the road. No. 241 was scarcely ever behind time, and the two trains usually met at P—— without requiring telegraphic orders. The night in question was very cold and stormy; fully three feet of snow had fallen, and it was still coming down very fast, while a high wind was piling it in big drifts across the track. On a night like that the incessant humming of the wires outside of the station is enough, of itself, to put a sentinel to sleep, and that, coupled with the hour, 1.15, and an office temperature of 80 degrees, was more than my weary frame could resist. I fell asleep, knowing, of course, that G—— would, according to our arrangement, look after my roll calls. After what seemed to me about like 20 minutes, but what was really more than two hours, I was awakened by the sounding click, click of the telegraph instrument near my hand.

"'Ok 12,' was being made with great rapidity, the call of my office preceding it. I knew it was the train dispatcher, the abbreviation meaning 'Quick! we want you to hold a train.'

"I answered the call and the command came back quick and sharp:

"'Hold No. 241 for orders.'

"'O. K.,' said I, and immediately hung the proper signal, a red lantern, outside the door.

"Then I came to my senses and looked at my watch.

"Twenty-five minutes past three! And I had heard no train in almost three hours. Had No. 241 got past? I wondered. I found that it had left N—— at 12.40, and the run from N—— to H—— usually took about 80 minutes. I knew the storm would probably delay the train somewhat, but two whole hours? It wasn't likely. Then I heard No. 284 reported from P——, and knew she had received orders to meet No. 241 somewhere between P—— and H——.

"What if No. 241 had got by me and was trying to reach P—— for the down freight? In that case the two trains were bound to crash together in the storm; there was no help for it. My excitement was increased by the repeated calls of the train dispatcher to ask if No. 241 was in sight.

"'Not yet,' I answered, trembling lest my hopes were in vain.

"Three thirty-five, and no train. I went out on the platform and listened. Not a sound could be heard above that of the wind, and an engine's headlight wouldn't have been visible ten rods away.

I went back, 'grounded' one of the wires, so as to cut out A office, and called G, hoping to find whether No. 241 had reached there. No answer. Then I remembered that from three to five was G's time to 'bunk off,' and knew it was useless trying to get him.

"Ten minutes more, and the freight had not arrived.

"'Sure it hasn't gone?' asked the train dispatcher, excitedly, as though doubting me.

"'Sure,' said I.

"'For God's sake, don't let it get by you!' he urged.

"Well, four o'clock came, and my courage was giving way. I could see how two hours or so might be needed for a freight to go 12 miles on such a night. But three hours and over. So slow a run had never been known on the road.

"What was to be done? To admit my uncertainty meant the loss of my job, and to brave it out any longer seemed almost criminal. In my despair I finally decided to tell the train dispatcher the plain truth—that I had been asleep at my post, and that No. 241 probably went by more than an hour ago. The fact would be known in a few hours, anyway, I argued, and I would then be arrested for causing death, convicted of criminal negligence and sent to prison.

"It was then 4.15. I drew a long breath and went over to the telegraph desk. Headquarters was again calling to ask if the train had arrived, and I broke in abruptly:

"'You may as well know that'—but the sentence was never finished. I heard a faint puffing and grating, and looking out, saw the engine of the belated train opposite my office window. My heart leaped up about a foot, and taking a firm grasp on the key of my instrument, I announced:

"'No. 241 h-e-r-e!'

"Deep snow, a terrific wind and the blowing out of the cylinder head on the engine had caused the delay.

"Maybe all's well that ends well, but that experience put an end then and there to my practice of sleeping while on duty."—New York Sun.

The Quarrelsome Robin.

The robin, that "pious" bird, is very quarrelsome, and it exasperates one to watch him wasting the precious hours of food in hunting another hungry robin up and down, and round and round, till the sparrows have cleared the board. The blackbirds, too, are very annoying in the way that they snatch up a lump of bread and fly off with it, only to be chased about for the rest of the morning by other blackbirds, while a sparrow makes a square meal off the morsel fallen meanwhile under a shrub. But relentless as they are in pursuit, the curious fact is that they seldom fight. If the pursued turns, the pursuer stops, perks up his tail, and being promptly charged by the other, becomes in his turn the pursued. But woe to both when the missel thrush comes. He is pitiless in pursuit, and I have seen them pass my window time after time in the course of a morning, the storm-cock hard on the "heels" of the blackbird. And when they overtake them what happens? For myself, as I have often said before, I believe the missel thrush is a cannibal. At any rate, I attribute some of the dead blackbirds and thrushes that one finds about the grounds to his cruel beak. He watches for birds for hours at a time, like a bird of prey, and attacks them like one. I have often stopped a chase which I knew could only end one way.—Contemporary Review.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away.

THE PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN.

Col. Watterson Draws a Picture of a Familiar Character.

To give him his deserts, nor do him intentional wrong, the professional politician, as he is known to us, is neither a very sinister nor a very dangerous creature. Indeed, Jack-in-office is hardly so pestiferous as Jack-out-of-office. Grant him his little place, surround him with his creature comforts, and, for all his bluster, he becomes in reality as amiable a piece of flabby worthlessness as one might meet on a summer's day. Ignorant and conceited, he is seldom very hard to please. To strut, and yawp, and yeowl, at Washington—to strut, and yawp, and yeowl in the state capitals—is the height of his ambition, and he comes and goes like the billows of the sea, generation upon generation, each much like Corbett and Fitzsimmons, without the self-denial they practice in the training, or their endurance in the fight. Though poorly paid, he has not the courage to put his wages at a living figure, because, perhaps, he has the consciousness of earning no more than the law allows. Uncertain of tenure, he makes up the deficiency in bombast and affectation of dignity; a great man everywhere except at home. In short, like Ben Jonson's pig:

"Whilst he lives, he lives in clover;
When he dies, he dies all over."

He has come to believe that he owns the government—that he is the government. During easy times this is but a harmless vanity. Indeed, it has a slight foundation in fact. Somebody must wash the dirty linen of the political parties; and hew the wood and draw the water for the official fabric, and, since better men are engaged in useful pursuits, the men who are good for nothing else are left to rattle around as statesmen. But there is a time for all things and there must be an end of dilly-dallying and shilly-shallying even in politics. There come periods in the public life when the state cannot afford to be complacent, when imbecility, however imposing, must yield to capacity and merit, and when men must supplant the imitations of men whom Dame Fortune in her dishabille, allows to go to Washington. That time has at length arrived.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Gowns for Warm Days.

The present is undoubtedly a season of lace, ribbons and fluffy effects.

A favorite style shows a skirt formed by two full knife plaitings worn over a silk slip. The greater number of bodices show the bolero idea, and the variety of these little additions to the toilet is almost bewildering.

Women of wealth who have stores of costly lace are having priceless shawls made over, or draped, into the popular style. Less fortunate ones have the opportunity to buy lovely garnitures ready made for a small sum.

Ribbons are seen in profusion. Long sash ends fall over the skirts and bows adorn the belts in a most fascinating fashion. Coquettish one-sided effects are noticeable and allow an opportunity for personal skill and preference.

My baby had Eczema in its worst form. The top of her head was as raw as a piece of beef, the hair eaten down to the scalp by applying tar poultices, and I thought if she ever got well she would be bald. The best physician in the city attended her, but she continued to get worse all the time, and he finally admitted "it was the most obstinate case he had ever seen," and that he was "at his wits' end." Some one suggested CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I purchased and tried. In a few days I noticed a great change. She continued to improve, and to-day is entirely cured, has a nice head of hair, is lively and hearty, and the disease shows no signs of returning. I send you her photograph to show her as she is to-day.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION IN PETERBOROUGH.

the programme of sports, the decorating and the illuminating and fire works. All these sub committees should act under the direction of a central committee.

Seconded by Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Mr. Carnegie then moved in accordance with his remarks, that the Diamond Jubilee be fittingly commemorated in Peterborough.

The motion was carried unanimously and with great applause.

Messrs. George Edmison and J. D. Collins then moved that the Mayor and town council, together with such of the citizens as they may name, be the Central Committee for the purpose of carrying out the celebration.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn asked if the members of the council were willing to take the responsibility of carrying out the programme.

Councillor Neill thought any member of the council would be perfectly willing to take an active part in the matter.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams thought that if thirteen of the citizens were appointed to and they be given power to add to their numbers, then the sub-committees to take charge of the different parts of the programme could be named.

Mr. Geo. Edmison amended his resolution in accordance with the last speaker's suggestion and the motion was then carried.

Messrs. McWilliams and Cobb named the following gentlemen as a committee to select the personnel of the committee of 13 to act with the council—Messrs. R. Neill, John Carnegie, C. B. Robertson, T. E. Bradburn, R. M. Roy and H. Burnham.

After a short consultation the following committee was named, embracing, as nearly as possible, representatives from every society:—Messrs. James Stevenson, Thos. Cahill, Peter Campbell, Richard Hall, T. A. S. Hay, H. LeBrun, R. M. Roy, Robt. Fair, Wm. Taylor, Alex Gibson, F. J. Rogers, J. D. Craig and F. J. Jameson.

This committee proved satisfactory to the meeting.

On motion of Messrs. McWilliams and Graham the members of the County Council and of the Ashburnham Council were asked to act with the committee.

The committee will meet at 7 o'clock Monday evening to arrange certain details before the meeting of the council.

Messrs. W. H. Moore and J. J. Turner moved:

"That this meeting extremely regrets to learn that it is the purpose of the 57th Battalion and band to accept an invitation to go to Montreal on the 22nd of June, and this meeting would earnestly urge on the officers of the Battalion to reconsider their intention and instead to remain in town and participate in the demonstration to be held here, as it is recognized that the absence of the battalion would very greatly detract from the success of Peterborough's effort to fittingly commemorate Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee."

The motion caused considerable excitement, and half a dozen speakers were on their feet in an instant to speak against the advisability of passing such a resolution.

Mr. Hampden Burnham explained that Lieut.-Col. Bell had pleaded with the council to postpone the celebration until July 1st, as the time of fully 150 members of the battalion had expired, and unless some strong inducement was held out, these men would be irrevocably lost to the ranks and the battalion demoralized. The trip to Montreal was just such an incentive as was needed to induce them to re-enlist for another three years, and he was therefore most anxious to be able to accept the invitation to go to that city. This surely should be sufficient as an explanation. There was no disloyalty in leaving town, because if the battalion suffered it would be indeed a most regrettable calamity.

Councillors McWilliams, Graham, White and Neill made remarks of a like nature, and upon being pressed by Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Moore consented to WITHDRAW HIS MOTION.

Messrs. Geo. Edmison and Wm. Taylor moved that the council be asked for a sufficient grant to assist in commemorating the Jubilee in a fitting manner.

The motion carried, after which the meeting adjourned.

The members of the Central Committee who were present were then called together.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and Graham the mayor was chosen chairman of the Joint Committee.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams was asked to act as chairman in the absence of the mayor.

The following sub-committees were then struck:—

Sports—Messrs. R. M. Roy, Alex. Gibson, F. J. Rogers, J. D. Craig, W. B. Bamford, H. LeBrun, G. W. Hatton and Peter Campbell.

Morning Demonstration—Messrs. J. M. White, Wm. Taylor, Jas. Graham, Robt. Neill, T. A. S. Hay, J. D. Craig, W. H. Meldrum and F. J. Jameson.

Decoration—Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, R. M. Roy, Robt. Fair, J. H. Cobb, R. Neill and Jas. Stevenson.

Illumination and Fireworks—Messrs. A. L. Davis, Adam Dawson, Thos. Cahill, P. Campbell, N. T. Leplante, Henry Best, T. E. Bradburn, A. Stevenson and H. O. Fiske.

Music—Members of town council.

Every committee has power to add to its numbers.

THE DEMONSTRATION COMMITTEE is expected to arrange for a parade in the morning of the different societies and civic bodies.

Councillor Robertson suggested that the local Scotchmen be seen, and asked to arrange for having big bonfires at night on the four hills.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay stated that the Scotch societies were making arrangements to have bonfires in almost every municipality from Halifax to Vancouver, so that this suggestion would be just in line.

The commitee to urge the Scots to action is Messrs. Jas. Graham, Alex. Gibson, John Carnegie, C. B. Robertson and Richard Hall.

Mr. Hay urged that the Mayor issue a proclamation to the citizens inviting them to illuminate their houses and places of business at a given hour.

Mr. R. M. Roy thought it would be a wilful waste of money to purchase fireworks.

Mr. Fair was of the opinion that if every citizen purchased his own fireworks the display would be much prettier, rockets being sent off in every part of the town.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson stated that the caretaker of the Court House Park thought that he could decorate the trees very prettily with Chinese lanterns, etc., at an expense of not more than $25.

Messrs. Robertson and LeBrun favoured the purchase of fireworks, urging that they would pay for themselves, as they had often done before, when an admission fee was charged to see them.

The matter was left in the hands of the committee appointed to report upon it.

TRAVELLED HALF THE GLOBE TO FIND HEALTH, WITHOUT SUCCESS.

Took the Advice of a Friend and Now Proclaims it From the Housetop—'South American Nervine Saved My Life."

Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, writes: "I have been very much troubled for years—since 1878—with nervous debility and dyspepsia. Had been treated in Canada and England by some of the best physicians without permanent relief. I was advised about three months ago to take South American Nervine, and I firmly believe I owe my life to it to-day. I can truthfully say that I have derived more benefit from it than any treatment I ever had. I can strongly recommend it, and will never be without it myself." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—A short time ago a man left his wife and four children and went to the U. S. He parted on bad terms with his wife and left her to carry on the grim battle of life as best she might with her dependent children, the eldest being thirteen and the youngest three.

Shortly afterwards she became ill and now lies at death's door from peritonitis, in the Nicholls Hospital. The Children's Aid Society was urgently asked to take care of the children for the mother until she got well. The society took three. One of the children is ill with scarlet fever. The society's funds are low. Children boarded out in this way have to be paid for. The work of rescue and shelter is growing rapidly. Old men and women and young men and women have nice quarters, but children have to get along without the abundant care of the countless organizations of young and old. The society wants money and it thinks, too, that some of these organizations might pause in their enthusiasm and reflect upon a sad, serious and neglected work, the rescue of children.

Paine's Celery Compound Brings New Life to a Roxton Pond Lady.

The medicine that can rescue and save a human being after the best efforts of medical men prove unavailing should merit the careful consideration of every sick and diseased man and woman. Such a medicine is a boon to the world, an anchor of hope, protection and joy to those who have been told that they are in a hopeless condition and incurable.

Up to the present, medical science has devised but one remedy that fully meets the wants and desires of all sufferers. This wonderful medicine is Paine's Celery Compound, to which thousands in Canada to-day owe life and good health.

Here is a statement from a lady, Miss Marilla A. Bullock, of Roxton Pond, P.Q., a sufferer from liver trouble, that is in every way sufficiently strong to convince the despairing, despondent and doubtful. She says:

"I think it a duty and a pleasure to write and tell you what your Paine's Celery Compound has done for me, a sufferer from liver trouble.

"Two years ago I had a very bad attack of it, and called in a doctor who relieved me of the trouble, but I still remained weak and ailing, and had another and more severe attack. I was under the doctor's care four months, and received very little relief.

"I was very weak, not able to sit up more than a few minutes at a time. A little milk taken at meals would distress me, and I was nervous and could get but little sleep.

"Hearing what Paine's Celery Compound had done for a friend, I gave up doctoring and used your medicine. I have taken six bottles and have received much good. I am able to eat a good meal, I sleep well, seldom lie down during the day, and can drive six miles over rough roads without getting tired."

A Good Thing.

One of the really good things now on this market and in great demand is a hot food drink known as Cereal. It is a combination of grains. It has every appearance of coffee, but possesses a fragrance and flavour unknown in coffee. One striking feature in Cereal is that after using it for a time the liking for it becomes so strong that nothing else seems to satisfy. It has valuable medical properties and it is said that stomach and nervous troubles are unknown by those who drink Madden Cereal. It is less than half the price of coffee and can be had from any grocer. 1d

The results of the recent examinations at the Law School, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, are published, and the name of Mr. R. F. McWilliams appears in the first year honour list. Mr. McWilliams is a son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, of town, and is to be heartily congratulated on the high standing which he has taken in the examination, averaging as he did over 80 per cent. in each of the eight subjects.

The results of the recent examinations at the Toronto University for the degree of Bachelor of Pharmacy are announced to-day, and the name of Mr. H. H. Edmison, son of Mr. Geo. Edmison, of town, stands high in the list. The difficult nature of the papers may be surmised when it is stated that not fifty per cent. of the candidates were successful in securing the degree.

THE SALE OF

WASH GOODS

Which we have inaugurated in order to make a sweeping clearance, will be continued during the month of June. These Goods embrace some of our choicest lines of

Fancy Wash Goods
Swiss Embroidered Organdies
Printed Organdies
Lappit Muslins
Scotch Chambrays
American Ginghams

Nobody need expect to pay anything like regular prices for these goods. Values such as these will help to do it:

FOR 8c Your choice of 20 pieces of New Ginghams, formerly sold for 10c and 12½c.

FOR 10c Your choice of 25 pieces Printed Organdies, formerly sold for 12c to 25c.

FOR 10c Your choice of 15 pieces Fancy Printed Crinkled Stripes, formerly sold for 15c.

FOR 10c Your choice of 15 pieces of Scotch Chambrays and Ginghams, formerly sold at 15c to 20c.

FOR 25c Your choice of this season's importation of Swiss Embroidered Organdies, in Lines, Nile, Pink, Navy, Sky and White Effects, formerly sold for 45c to 60c.

If Quality, Novelty and Values have anything to do with it, we are going to have a most successful sale of these Fancy Wash Fabrics. Watch the display and price tickets in our window.

P. S.—Special offerings in Carpets and Housefurnishings during this Sale.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

THE GREAT JUBILEE.

Nothing Else is Talked About In England.

FABULOUS PRICES FOR SEATS.

The Rothschild Family Have Rented a Building for $150,000 for the Day—Swindlers Making Money by Selling Seats Which Have No Existence—Crank Requests.

London, June 5.—It is impossible to everything is turning upon that celebration, dress, decoration and entertainments, while there is a shrieking chorus from the press, warning everybody against all imaginable disasters, which, it is claimed, are likely to ensue. It is even pointed out that the proposed bonfires are likely to set the whole country in a blaze, while other correspondents are so impressed with the importance of the Jubilee that they are not satisfied with the name of England or Britain, and want England to be re-christened Wiseland, the first four letters being the initials of Wales, Ireland, Scotland and England. This is capped by another correspondent, who wants the empire to be called Enwiscolia, so as to bring in the colonies of England, and that all subjects of the Queen be called Enwiscolians.

What looks like a record price for Jubilee seats appears now to have been reached. One building near to St. Paul's is reported to have been let for a total of £28,974 15s. for the day. This is not a fancy price which is being asked for the building. It has been paid, and most, if not all, of the seats have been taken by the Rothschild family. For the first floor 13,100 guineas have been paid, for the second floor 6850 guineas, for the third 5705 guineas, and for the fourth floor 1880 guineas, which makes a grand total of 27,595 guineas. This includes the use of the building, but not the shop on the ground floor. The total number of seats obtained for this enormous sum is only 308, which gives an average of £94 for each seat. Wines and light refreshments are included. Some escape the Jubilee echoes. Already people are rapidly acquiring fortunes out of the Queen's Day procession, towards which they will scarcely be asked to contribute one penny.

Jubilee seat swindling is rampant. Sharpers are meeting the incoming steamers at Port Said, Brindisi and Queenstown, and are selling to unsuspicious passengers unexisting seats to view the Jubilee procession. Many Americans have been victimised in this manner at Queenstown.

Complications in regard to the special Embassy of Mr. Whitelaw Reid, proprietor of The New York Tribune, are already on the horizon. The Queen will receive Mr. Reid alone, following the same precedent with the other special embassies. The foreign office is prepared to provide quarters for Mr. Reid and his suite, embracing in the latter General Nelson A. Miles, U.S.A. and Rear-Admiral J. M. Miller, U.S.N. Mr. Reid, however, proposes to do credit to the United States and Mr. Ogden Mills, his brother-in-law, is already here seeking a large house for the accommodation of the special embassy. The Foreign Office officials are glad to have Mr. Reid do this; but, they say they cannot separate General Miles and Admiral Miller from the rest of his suite, and they must provide their own quarters.

Upwards of 35,000 signatures have already been obtained for the Scottish national memorial to the Queen, praying that in State documents the words "Great Britain" and "British" should always be substituted for "England" and "English." Among the signers of the memorial are the Duke of Sutherland, many peers, many members of Parliament and more than eight hundred provosts and other members of the municipal corporations of Scotland.

Mr. John Erskine, a merchant of Belfast, Ireland, has offered the Lords of the Treasury, for the Queen's acceptance, a magnificent freehold overlooking Belfast Lough, as the site of a royal residence in Ireland. The latter country, it is claimed in some quarters, has always fretted over the fact that the Queen does not visit that portion of her dominions, and it has been asserted that her failure to do so is the result of the refusal of Dublin, in the sixties, to grant a site in Phoenix Park for a monument to the late Prince Consort.

The Duchess of Devonshire's historical costume ball on July 2 promises to be a magnificent affair. It is understood that the Duchess of Marlborough, will appear in the character of Columbia, and the Duke of Marlborough has ordered a Louis XVI. costume with wonderful jeweled embroideries. The Prince of Wales will represent one of his ancestors. The young Duchess of Marlborough took a prominent part at the Duchess of Albany's bazaar at the Imperial Institute, on Tuesday and Wednesday, at which the Prince and Princess of Wales and many other members of the royal family were present. The Duchess of Marlborough wore a very French frock of white embroidered muslin, over pale green, with a big black picture hat. She did a roaring trade in the various knick-knacks displayed at her stall.

The Prince and Princess of Wales returned to Sandringham this morning, where they will remain for six days. A large party are invited to Sandringham for their Royal Highnesses' stay. The Prince's sale of hackneys is to take place at the Wolferton stud farm next Thursday, and His Royal Highness is to preside at the luncheon.

Mrs. Charles Stewart Parnell, widow of the late Irish leader, is about to take up her residence at Tremarton Castle near Plymouth. Tremarton Castle was formerly one of the great houses of Cornwall. Only the ruins of the thirteenth century castle remain, the present house being of quite recent construction.

The Iago of "Othello," now being played by Wilson Barrett at the Lyric Theatre, is Franklin McLeay, a native of Canada, and formerly master of modern languages at the Woodstock Collegiate Institute. While there he made the acquaintance of James E. Murdock, whom he accompanied to Boston, where he attended the school of oratory and afterwards, adopted the stage as a profession. He attributes to Murdock's instruction his excellence in the delivery of blank verse, which is attracting much favorable comment from the London critics.

UNITED STATES LUMBER TARIFF.

Boom Sticks and Chains Go in the Same Category as Logs—Duty on Lath and Shingles Goes Up.

Washington, June 5.—The consideration of the Tariff bill was resumed in the Senate to-day. The first paragraph of the wood schedule, relating to hewn timber, etc., was agreed to at 1-2 cents per cubic foot, the new rate proposed by the committee. Then the next paragraph, planks, sawn boards, deals, etc., was reached. Mr. Vest said he would later move to place these articles of this paragraph and those of the previous one on the free list.

Mr. Allison then perfected the proviso relating to the addition of the export duty upon saw logs coming from countries having an export duty, so that the proviso will apply also to boom sticks and chains used in towing logs. This amendment was agreed to. Mr. Jones (Ark.) spoke against additional tax on lumber, referring to the heavy burden it imposed on the people of the west.

Mr. Vest said there was not a single item in the bill so utterly indefensible as the increasing the rate on white pine, taking it from the free list and placing it at $2 per 1000 feet. White pine was justly called the king of "coniferous woods," and yet the clear intent of the framers of this bill was to make the rates absolutely prohibitory on this wood.

It was due to some extent to a combination between the lumber interests of the west and the south and he had been confronted by this combination during his last canvass.

Mr. Vest declared that the proposed rate on white pine was in the interest of the "Lumber Barons," who have accumulated millions upon millions at the expense of the people.

Mr. Jones (Ark.) warned his Southern associates against the argument that the lumber interests of the South would be benefited by the exclusion of Canadian lumber. He read a letter from an American lumberman on the border, saying the rise of rates would be to compel the Canadians to reduce the price of their lumber, and eventually it would come into the United States cheaper than at present.

Mr. Vest moved an amendment excepting white pine from the operation of the paragraph.

Mr. Pettigrew (South Dakota) said he favored Mr. Vest's amendment omitting white pine from the paragraph. He asked, however, that the paragraph be passed for the present. Mr. Allison assented.

On paragraph 199 (laths), Mr. Allison proposed an amendment increasing the rate from 15 to 25 cents per thousand. Agreed to.

Paragraphs 197 and 201 (clapboards and shingles) went over.

On paragraph 204 (toothpicks), at the request of Mr. Allison, the House rate of 2 cents per thousand was retained.

This concluded the wood schedule, and the bill was laid aside.

CANADA WON EASILY.

The Toronto Kilties Disposed of Their Australian Competitors at the Military Tournament in London.

London, June 5.—At the military tournament at the Agricultural Hall today, Sergt. Williams and Privates Wasson, Stewart and McLean of Canada, competed in the "bayonet v. bayonet" bouts against four members of the New South Wales Mounted Rifles.

The Canadian team won easily, Stewart tossing his antagonist's bayonet over his shoulder, and calling forth great applause.

Williams and McLean subsequently withdrew from the competition, leaving Stewart and Wasson to compete for first place and the prize of £5.

Next week the Canadians are entered for the bayonet v. sword competition.

They are all in the best of spirits and good health.

Woman Trapezist Had a Bad Fall.

Boston, June 5.—Mrs. Minnie Donnette, who with her husband has been performing trapeze feats at the Howard, met with an accident to-night. In one of their acts in mid-air her husband is supposed to catch her by the ankle, but he misjudged the distance and the woman shot downward, landing heavily upon her neck and head on the stage. She was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where it was found that she had a bad scalp wound and injuries to her back.

COOL KING GEORGE

Says If the Greeks Want Him to Go He'll Go.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS NONPLUSSED.

Princes Constantine and Nicholas Also Assume a Defiant Attitude, and George, the Sailor Prince, is Not To Be Found—Latest News by Cable.

London, June 6.—A fortnight ago everybody awaited with confidence news of the revolution in Athens and the flight of the royal family. Now, confidence is equally strong the other way. The fact is that King George's philosophic attitude has completely upset the schemes of the revolutionists and disarmed opposition.

"Here I am," he has been saying in effect, "and here I shall remain if you want me. If you don't, I am quite willing to clear out, bag and baggage. Only say the word and I will go aboard a foreign warship, and you can go to the devil or wherever your childish folly may lead you."

This kind of attitude simply non-plussed the Greeks, who expected the king to flee in despair or appeal to them, cap in hand, to spare the royal feelings.

The Crown Prince and his brother Nicholas have taken a similar line. The former takes no pains to placate either the officers or soldiers. He quarrels with the former with much apparent enjoyment, and bullies the latter. He openly expresses the ardent hope that the negotiations will quickly terminate in a treaty of peace, and announces his intention to follow his usual course of spending the summer on his country estate, as though he had been taking part in military manoeuvres instead of war.

Prince Nicholas, when seen by a correspondent at Thermopylae, the other day, was going about moodily in a dirty tunic and torn trousers. His chief desire was to ascertain why destiny had taken him from his books and made him a colonel of artillery. The only man of action in the family, the sailor, Prince George, has disappeared from view, but his friends say that he does nothing but fume and rage at the hidden forces which tied his hands at the critical period and reduced the Greek fleet to ignoble inaction. Rumor says that he has quarrelled with his father, and would have no compunction in taking over the throne.

The last Garibaldians have left Athens and the air of the capital no longer throbs with their wailings. On their way from the front, they did little but shout about their shameful betrayal by the Greek commanders. When they reached Athens they screamed that they had been robbed. Many of them are young fellows of good families, whose fond parents loaded them with fine raiment and jewelry. They had to exchange their finery for uniforms before proceeding to the front. What was their indignation upon returning to fine their finery gone! The completeness of the loot would have justified the belief that the Turks had been in charge of the warehouses. The military authorities at Athens protested that there was some hideous mistake. The things must have been mistaken for war stores and sent to the front, or served out to reservists when the stock of uniforms was exhausted. Anyhow, they were not where they ought to be. Letters with remittances also were gone.

The Meeting of Ambassadors.

Constantinople, June 5.—At the meeting between the Ambassadors of the powers and the Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs, Tewfik Pasha, on Thursday last, at the Tophano Palace, Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador; M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, and Signor Pansa, the Italian Ambassador, it now appears, made a distinct declaration against the retrocession of Thessaly to Turkey. This attitude of the three Ambassadors named is regarded as being of the highest political importance in view of the fact that since the Czar's telegram to the Sultan, there has been a marked rapprochement between Russia and Germany. Here the opinion is expressed that the indications point to a resuscitation of the league of the three Emperors, if that league is not already an accomplished fact.

CANOVAS REINSTALLED.

The Old Cabinet Will Remain in Office in Spain Just as It Was.

Madrid, June 5.—The Queen Regent has confirmed Senor Canovas, the Premier, in his Ministerial powers, and the Cabinet will remain in office, with personnel and policy unchanged.

All the leading members of the Senate and of the Chamber of Deputies who were consulted by Her Majesty, as well as three marshals, have advised the recall of Captain-General Weyler from Cuba.

The Irish National League.

Manchester, Eng., June 5.—At the annual meeting of the Irish National League of Great Britain here to-day, Mr. T. P. O'Connor, member of Parliament for the Scotland Division of Liverpool, and President of the League, made a speech urging that the present is no time for recrimination and that the members of the league should devote their energies to living issues. There was a large attendance.

A resolution calling upon the Irish to abstain from taking part in the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria was presented and carried, Mr. T. P. O'Connor remarking that nothing could induce him to attend the Jubilee festivities or to be numbered among those who rejoiced over a reign which had been most disastrous to Ireland.

An amendment to the resolution, declaring that the condition of Ireland was due, not to Queen Victoria, but to the legislation of the men selected to make the laws, was rejected.

Collision in the Channel.

London, June 5.—A collision occurred to-day in the English Channel between the British steamer Roecliffe, from Odessa, and the British steamer Port Victor, bound for Jamaica. The Roecliffe was sunk and the Port Victor was badly damaged, and is being towed back to this port. Part of the crew of the Roecliffe are on board the Port Victor; the remainder are supposed to have been landed by one of the Port Victor's boats.

JUSTIFIED BY RESULTS.

THE Montreal Star in discussing Sir Richard Cartwright's interim leadership of the House of Commons, says:

"Sir Richard Cartwright has now a chance to introduce himself to the country as the "different man" he is said to be. Office and success and power have, we are told, fallen upon him like the rays of the summer sun, and he no longer sees the future through spectacles of indigo or regards the majority of his fellow countrymen as lacking in intelligence. He has flung aside the pessimist's yellow cloak and stands forth the patriotic statesman and brilliant Parliamentarian it has always been quite within the range of his abilities to be."

The Star simply echoes the charges of pessimism that has been brought against Sir Richard. He was a pessimist on the same principle that a shareholder who would assert that repeated burglarious assaults on his bank by the managers and officials would ruin it could be regarded as a pessimist. Sir Richard exposed, denounced and deplored the corrupt mis-government, "stealing" and reign of extravagance that were threatening to bankrupt the country. Any organ supporting the party of the late Government should blush to refer to Sir Richard's criticism as pessimistic, in view of the revelations that have been, and are being, made by the investigations instituted by the present Government into the manner in which the affairs of the country were mis-conducted. The revelations of the penitentiary boodling and waste, and the monstrous favouritism and crookedness in the matter of mail contracts, alone show how the public service was demoralized and the public money wasted. In the fiscal year 1895-96 alone, out of the 1,416 contracts let for carrying mails, there were 598 contracts, involving $457,952.70, let and renewed without tender to political favourites, and at figures greatly in excess of the figures put in by others, and aggregating tens of thousands of dollars in excess of the figures at which the present Government have re-let the cancelled crooked contracts. Now a man who deplored this sort of thing and who pointed out that the late government's evil administration and unnatural trade policy threatened to ruin a country of even as great natural resources of Canada, is dubbed a "pessimist," and the political prestidigitateurs whom he denounced are acclaimed—heaven save the mark!—as "statesmen." Sir Richard Cartwright's "pessimism" has had optimistic effects.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

NEXT year Mr. Laurier can visit England on our own fast line.

THE Waterous nail works writes to the city council, of Brantford, indicating their intention of doubling the number of employees. This is one of the industries the Conservative journals said was destroyed by the new tariff.

ONE of the noteworthy achievements of the Jubilee year is the discovery of Canada by the London Times. Heretofore the Thunderer hardly seems to have known that there was such a place as Canada, but now, thanks to the prominence given the country by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's statesmanlike offer of trade preference to the Mother Land, the Times has found out that there is a great majority of the people of Canada who do not translate their love, veneration and gratitude to Great Britain by empty words, but by acts. We are grateful to the Times that even at this late day it has discovered that Canada is something in the composition of the Empire and for the "Thundering" boom it is giving this country.

A BOBCAYGEON INVESTIGATION.

The Lockmaster Charged With Offensive Partisanship.

The Lindsay Post says: An investigation was held yesterday at Bobcaygeon into the charges of offensive partisanship preferred against Mr. Blewitt, the lockmaster at Bobcaygeon, before the Commissioner appointed by the Dominion Government, Mr. W. B. Gilleland, barrister, and mayor of St. Catharines. Mr. G.H. Hopkins appeared in support of the charges, and Mr. Steers acted for Mr. Blewitt. The charges consisted of charge of active partisanship in attending Dr. Vrooman's committee rooms, drawing votes to the polls on election day, the use of offensive expressions in reference to Geo. McHugh, M.P., and Reformers in general; the use of offensive expressions in reference to Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, when in Bobcaygeon in October last, inspecting the Trent Valley Canal system, and expressing a wish sink with him. Several witnesses gave evidence, swearing to the truth of the charges, but Mr. Blewitt tried to deny most of them. An attempt was made to show that Mr. W. J. Read's store, where the Conservative committee meetings were held, was not a committee room, but after several witnessed had been cross-examined by Mr. Hopkins, the secretary of the association, seeing that it was no further use, finally admitted it was the committee room. Some amusement was created as to what the uncertain voters should be called. One witness objected to Mr. Hopkins calling them "kickers" but seemed rather pleased at the floating vote being called "floaters." Another witness on being asked if he was a Reformer or a Conservative said he guessed he was one of the "floaters." The commissioners will report the evidence, and the result will be announced later on. The opinion is, however, freely expressed by those who ought to know, that in view of the evidence Mr. Blewitt will have to go.

THAT THE BOAT WOULD

Council Meeting.

Council met May 27th. All the members present; Reeve Johnston in the chair. Andrew Bowie's statute labour was commuted for three years to repair the road on the 9th line, opposite lot 17. A. Bryce applied for a grant for erecting a wire fence along the road allowance north of the Keene Pine Grove cemetery.—Not granted. On motion Jas. Douglas was allowed to perform sufficient labour on the streets to meet his 1896 taxes. Moved by Messrs. Dayell and Weir that any person making a delaration before the clerk or a justice of the that if the dogs or bitches assessed to them in 1897 has been killed or permanently removed out of the township on or before the 27th of May, they will be erased from the roll. The following accounts were passed: James Lavell, assessing, $30; Joseph Laroch, jr., caretaker of drain at Black Ash swale, $1; Wm. Wedlock, 3 cords wood for town hall, $7.50; Wm. McFarlane, cutting above wood, $1.20; J. M. Drummond, ½ cord light wood for Hall, $1.20; Mrs. R. Speir, cleaning J. Armstrong's house, $3.31. Council adjourned to 21st June.

The Court of Revision met when the following business was transacted. William Cleary assessed as tenant for lot 5, con. , and reduced $500. Wm. Hathe ly, s h l 7, con. 11, assessed for $2,200, reduced $100. Samual Deyell applied to be assessed as tenant for n w q lot 18, con. 14, granted. Samuel Hatherly, against over assessment, assessment confirmed. Application of Geo. Helson that his and Mrs. R. Henderson's name be erased from the roll as occupant of w h lot 13, con. 9, assessment confirmed. Emma Lane against over assessment on house in Keene, assessed for $500 instead of $600. D. H. Moore against over assessment reduced $200, on $3,700 assessment. James Steel, against over assessment on part of lot 20, con. 3, reduced $100. R. A. Deyell applied to be assessed as owner for lot 11, con. 17, instead of George Hunter, granted. Court of Revision adjourned to 21st June.

AN OTTAWA LADY

SUBJECT TO VERY SEVERE NERVOUS HEADACHES

Gives an account of her rescue from the constant torture.

Mrs. A. E. Enright, 454 Llegar street, Ottawa, Ont., spoke as follows to our reporter. "I have for a long time been subject to very severe nervous headaches, and was also affected by general nervous prostration. My rest at night was much broken, and I arose in the morning almost as tired as when I went to bed.

I have taken a number of medicines which did not help me to any great extent. I am thankful to say, however, that I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using them for a few days became very much better.

Now I am free from nervousness; the headaches have disappeared; I sleep well, and arise in the morning refreshed and reinvigorated for the duties of the day. I am better in every way, and think that aside from being the best heart and nerve remedy I ever used, that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as a general systematic tonic excel any other medicine in existence.

LINES

TO MR. AND MRS. MCCALL, ON THE DEATH OF THEIR LITTLE SON WHO WAS DROWNED ON MAY 21ST.

We sympathise with the sorrow
That has caused your hearts to weep,
For God has called away one child
From its parents' love so deep.

Grieve not as those who have no hope,
But let the dear one be given,
For God has told us in His Word,
"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Dear friends be not disheartened,
Though sorrows dark may fall,
And the children all around us
Go home at the Saviour's call.

They are given us to cheer our way,
But we must try to guide
Their little feet in the way of life,
That God may be glorified.

And to our home in heaven
Let us all seek to rise,
For in our Father's kingdom
There are no more good-byes.

Cast all your care upon Him,
For in His Word He shows,
We have no earthly sorrow
But the loving Saviour knows.

He'll bind the broken-hearted,
And give the weary rest;
Then try to be resigned to Him,
And say "His will is best."

A FRIEND.

Burleigh, June 2nd, 1897.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Revenue and Expenditure for the Month of May.

ALSO FOR THE ELEVEN MONTHS.

Decreases in Some Lines and Increases in Others, and An Increase in the Aggregate—Methodists and the Plebiscite—The Royal Society Meeting at Halifax.

Ottawa, June 6. — (Special.) — The statement of revenue and expenditure for the month of May appears in The Canada Gazette of yesterday. It is the first full month under the new tariff, and customs show a revenue of $1,367,000, as against $1,500,000 in the same month last year, a decrease of about $200,000. From all sources, however, the revenue falls off $350,000. The total customs revenue for the 11 months of the year, ending May 31, amounts to $17,833,000, as compared with $18,160,000 for the same period the year before. The total increase in excise for the same period is $1,740,000. Then the total revenue from all sources of the consolidated fund for the 11 months is $34,557,705, compared with $32,952,000 for the same period the year before, or an increase of the tidy sum of $2,500,000.

The increase in the expenditure in the same period is $735,000. The expenditure on capital account totals less than $3,000,000, while the expenditure for the same period the year before was $5,300,000. The total net debt on May 31 was $254,824,000, an increase in the month of $619,226.

The Temperance Committee of the Methodist Conference has been granted an interview with the Dominion Government, represented by Sir Richard Cartwright, and Hon. Messrs. Fisher and Sifton, to consider the plebiscite.

The Canada Printing Ink Company of Toronto, consisting of J. W. Corcoran, A. W. Lee and others of Toronto, with a capaital of $40,000, is applying for incorporation under letters patent, as well as the Calumet Mica Mining Company of Ottawa, with a capital of $100,000. Messrs. R. T. Hopper, F. Fairman, E. B. Greenshields and others of Montreal, are applying for incorporation as the Tam O' Shanter Mining Company, with a capital of $600,000, to work a mine in British Columbia, with headquarters at Montreal.

Six probationers of the Methodist ministry were received into full connexion and ordained in the Dominion Methodist Church this morning. Rev. Dr. Saunders, president of the conference, conducted the ceremony and Rev. A. C. Courtice of Toronto preached the ordination sermon.

The Supreme Court delivers judgments to-morrow.

The Ottawa Fire Department has rejected 2000 feet of hose supplied by a Boston firm, as not complying with the guarantee given to the corporation.

The Royal Society meeting at Halifax this year, from June 21 to 25, coming during Jubilee week, and having the Cabot celebration dovetailed into its program, promises to be of unusual interest. The meetings are to be held in the Legislative Council chamber. The Cabot celebration is fixed for June 24, when the Governor-General will unveil a tablet erected by the Royal Society in the provincial building, commemorating the landing of Cabot. Ex-Mayor Barker and Davies of Bristol, Eng., are to attend as delegates of the corporation of that city. Among the papers to be read, probably the most important is that promised by Dr. Bourinot on "Canada During the Victorian Era; 60 Years of Progress." Dr. Dawson (Queen's printer) will give the latest conclusions about the voyages of Cabot, while W. Wilfrid Campbell contributes a poem on Cabot, and A. Lampman, "Ingir and Alf; an Ode to the Hills."

DR. F. W. STRANGE DEAD.

Brilliant Career Closed by Hemorrhage of the Brain — Sketch of the Doctor's Life.

Toronto, June 6.

After but three hours' illness, Dr. Frederick W. Strange died at his residence, 218 Simcoe-street, on Saturday morning. The news came as a great shock to a large circle of friends, for the deceased was one of the most respected and best-known citizens.

Deceased arose early in the morning, about 6 o'clock and commenced packing his baggage, as he had in the way of duty to embark that morning with "C" School en route for Niagara for their annual drill. This preparatory work achieved, the accoutrements were handed to the waiting expressmen.

A few minutes later the housekeeper heard a fall against the wall and hastened to the room. The doctor complained of dizziness and of a pain in the head. He was not alarmed and thought it was a bilious attack. He was assisted to bed, but declined any medical aid, stating he would be all right in a short time. As no improvement in his condition ensued Drs. Lesslie, Temple and Nesbitt were summoned.

Dr. Lesslie was the first to arrive, and Dr. Strange died in a few minutes, apparently without any pain, at ten minutes after 9 o'clock. The medical men attributed death to failure of the heart. No inquest is considered necessary.

The funeral will be one of the most imposing held in Toronto for a long time. The commanders of the Queen's Own, Royal Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders have issued regimental orders for a parade at the Armouries in review order, at 2.30 o'clock. The Governor-General's Body Guard will also turn out, and the Toronto Field Battery will supply a gun carriage and five horses. As is customary at military funerals, the dead soldier's headgear and sword will be placed on top of the casket, and his riderless charger will follow the remains to their last resting place. The firing party, consisting of 300 men, will be from the Queen's Own Rifles.

Frederick William Strange, M.D., F.R.C.S., Deputy Surgeon-General of the Canadian forces, was a son of Thomas Strange of Sulhamshead Abbots, Berkshire, England, and was educated at Bath and Winchester, and took his medical course in Liverpool and at the University College, London. He was created a Fellow of the Obstetrical Society of the British metropolis. For three years, commencing with 1866, he was Assistant Surgeon of the London Surgical Home and the Hospital for Women. He resigned these positions to come to Canada, which he did in 1869.

Upon coming to Canada Dr. Strange took up his residence here, and very soon was recognized as one of the cleverest practitioner in these parts. He was appointed coroner for the County of York.

For many years he was prominent in politics. He was an early president of the Liberal-Conservative Association in North York, and sat in the Dominion Parliament, representing North York from 1878 to 1882. In the last election he contested the seat in North York with Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General, but was defeated.

Dr. Strange was one of the most prominent military officers in Canada. He was an ex-Captain of the 12th Battalion in York, and of the Queen's Own Rifles, and was surgeon to "C" Company, School of Infantry. In the latter capacity he served in the Northwest Expeditionary Force, and during the second Riel rebellion was in the field.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

BEAT THE CHAMPIONS.

Toronto, June 7.

Charlie Maddock's Canadian Leaguers beat the Guelph champions on Saturday over the Don in a runaway game, before a small attendance. The Torontos fielded well, and MacGemwell kept the Leafs' hits well scattered. O'Brien was also in good form, but, aided by errors of the visitors, the locals scored 9 runs.

HAMILTON 10, LONDON 2.

Hamilton, June 5.—Against the counter attraction of the closing day of the races the London-Hamilton ball game here to-day drew 1700 people, and Hamilton broke the twelve-inning tie of Thursday by winning easily. Henley pitched his first winning game for Hamilton. He was very steady and the hitting was scattered except in the ninth, when London got three singles. Hamilton hit heavily in the fourth and fifth innings, and a bunch of errors by the London outfielders resulted in nine runs in the two innings. But for Hoffner's error in the seventh London would have been shut out. The score was:

EASTERN LEAGUE.

Toronto, June 7.—Saturday's game at the Island between Toronto and Scranton was a splendid exhibition of ball playing. The coal heavers took a strong lead and the home team pulled the game out of the hole by some of the best base-running and fielding ever shown on a ball field. Third Baseman Smith was particularly brilliant. Lush's batting was a feature.

LONDON ELECTION CASE.

First of the Charges Against Major Beattie Dismissed on Saturday—Final Decision June 26.

Toronto, June 7.

On Saturday at Osgoode Hall, Mr. Justice Ferguson and Mr. Justice Robertson gave their joint judgment in the London election case.

E. B. Osler, Q.C., appeared for the petitioner, George Fewings, and A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., and T. F. Helmuth for Major Beattie, the Conservative member-elect.

Judgment was given for the respondent in reference to the club house charges. A number of the charges were not mentioned.

The court then proceeded to hear the argument of counsel upon the questions involved in what are known as Boyd-Haynes charges.

At 4 o'clock an adjournment was made till Saturday, June 26, when the decision will be given upon the question simply as to whether the act of Herbert Boyd, an agent of Major Beattie, in paying Thomas Haynes money and promising him employment if he would vote for the Conservative candidate, is sufficient to unsit the election.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Revenue and Expenditure for the Month of May.

ALSO FOR THE ELEVEN MONTHS.

Decreases in Some Lines and Increases in Others, and An Increase in the Aggregate—Methodists and the Plebiscite—The Royal Society Meeting at Halifax.

Ottawa, June 6. — (Special.) — The statement of revenue and expenditure for the month of May appears in The Canada Gazette of yesterday. It is the first full month under the new tariff, and customs show a revenue of $1,367,000, as against $1,5[illegible]0,000 in the same month last year, a decrease of about $200,000. From all sources, however, the revenue falls off $350,000. The total customs revenue for the 11 months of the year, ending May 31, amounts to $17,933,000, as compared with $18,-[illegible]60,000 for the same period the year before. The total increase in excise for the same period is $1,740,000. Then the total revenue from all sources of the consolidated fund for the 11 months is $34,527,706, compared with $32,952,000 for the same period the year before, or an increase of the tidy sum of $2,500,-000.

The increase in the expenditure in the same period is $735,000. The expenditure on capital account totals less than $3,000,000, while the expenditure for the same period the year before was $5,300,000. The total net debt on May 31 was $254,824,000, an increase in the month of $619,226.

The Temperance Committee of the Methodist Conference has been granted an interview with the Dominion Government, represented by Sir Richard Cartwright, and Hon. Messrs. Fisher and Sifton, to consider the plebiscite.

The Canada Printing Ink Company of Toronto, consisting of J. W. Corcoran, A. W. Lee and others of Toronto, with a capital of $40,000, is applying for incorporation under letters patent, as well as the Calumet Mica Mining Company of Ottawa, with a capital of $100,000.

Messrs. R. T. Hopper, F. Fairman, E. B. Greenshields and others of Montreal, are applying for incorporation as the Tam O' Shanter Mining Company, with a capital of $600,000, to work a mine in British Columbia, with headquarters at Montreal.

Six probationers of the Methodist ministry were received into full connexion and ordained in the Dominion Methodist Church this morning. Rev. Dr. Saunders, president of the conference, conducted the ceremony, and Rev. A. C. Courtice of Toronto preached the ordination sermon.

The Supreme Court delivers judgments to-morrow.

The Ottawa Fire Department has rejected 2000 feet of hose supplied by a Boston firm, as not complying with the guarantee given to the corporation.

The Royal Society meeting at Halifax this year, from June 21 to 25, coming during Jubilee week, and having the Cabot celebration dovetailed into its program, promises to be of unusual interest. The meetings are to be held in the Legislative Council chamber. The Cabot celebration is fixed for June 24, when the Governor-General will unveil a tablet erected by the Royal Society in the provincial building, commemorating the landing of Cabot. Ex-Mayor Barker and Davies of Bristol, Eng., are to attend as delegates of the corporation of that city. Among the papers to be read, probably the most important is that promised by Dr. Bourinot on "Canada During the Victorian Era:; 60 Years of Progress." Dr. Dawson (Queen's printer) will give the latest conclusions about the voyages of Cabot, while W. Wilfrid Campbell contributes a poem on Cabot, and A. Lampman, "Ingir and Alf; an Ode to the Hills."

DR. F. W. STRANGE DEAD.

Brilliant Career Closed by Hemorrhage of the Brain—Sketch of the Doctor's Life.

Toronto, June 6.

After but three hours' illness, Dr. Frederick W. Strange died at his residence, 218 Simcoe-street, on Saturday morning. The news came as a great shock to a large circle of friends, for the deceased was one of the most respected and best-known citizens.

Deceased arose early in the morning, about 6 o'clock and commenced packing his baggage, as he had in the way of duty to embark that morning with "C" School en route for Niagara for their annual drill. This preparatory work achieved, the accoutrements were handed to the waiting expressmen.

A few minutes later the housekeeper heard a fall against the wall and hastened to the room. The doctor complained of dizziness and of a pain in the head. He was not alarmed and thought it was a bilious attack. He was assisted to bed, but declined any medical aid, stating he would be all right in a short time. As no improvement in his condition ensued Drs. Lesslie, Temple and Nesbitt were summoned.

Dr. Lesslie was the first to arrive, and Dr. Strange died in a few minutes, apparently without any pain, at ten minutes after 9 o'clock. The medical men attributed death to failure of the heart. No inquest is considered necessary.

The funeral will be one of the most imposing held in Toronto for a long time. The commanders of the Queen's Own, Royal Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders have issued regimental orders for a parade at the Armouries in review order, at 2.30 o'clock. The Governor-General's Body Guard will also turn out, and the Toronto Field Battery will supply a gun carriage and five horses. As is customary at military funerals, the dead soldier's headgear and sword will be placed on top of the casket, and his riderless charger will follow the remains to their last resting place. The firing party, consisting of 300 men, will be from the Queen's Own Rifles.

Frederick William Strange, M.D., F.R.C.S., Deputy Surgeon-General of the Canadian forces, was a son of Thomas Strange of Sulhamshead Abbots, Berkshire, England, and was educated at Bath and Winchester, and took his medical course in Liverpool and at the University College, London. He was created a Fellow of the Obstetrical Society of the British metropolis. For three years, commencing with 1860, he was Assistant Surgeon of the London Surgical Home and the Hospital for Women. He resigned these positions to come to Canada, which he did in 1860.

Upon coming to Canada Dr. Strange took up his residence here, and very soon was recognized as one of the cleverest practitioner in these parts. He was appointed coroner for the County of York.

For many years he was prominent in politics. He was an early president of the Liberal-Conservative Association in North York, and sat in the Dominion Parliament, representing North York from 1878 to 1882. In the last election he contested the seat in North York with Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General, but was defeated.

Dr. Strange was one of the most prominent military officers in Canada. He was an ex-Captain of the 12th Battalion in York, and of the Queen's Own Rifles, and was surgeon to "C" Company, School of Infantry. In the latter capacity he served in the Northwest Expeditionary Force, and during the second Riel rebellion was in the field.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

BEAT THE CHAMPIONS.

Toronto, June 7.

Charlie Maddock's Canadian Leaguers beat the Guelph champions on Saturday over the Don in a runaway game, before a small attendance. The Torontos fielded well, and MacGemwell kept the Leafs' hits well scattered. O'Brien was also in good form, but, aided by errors of the visitors, the locals scored 9 runs.

HAMILTON 10, LONDON 2.

Hamilton, June 5.—Against the counter attraction of the closing day of the races the London-Hamilton ball game here to-day drew 1700 people, and Hamilton broke the twelve-inning tie of Thursday by winning easily. Henley pitched his first winning game for Hamilton. He was very steady and the hitting was scattered except in the ninth, when London got three singles. Hamilton hit heavily in the fourth and fifth innings, and a bunch of errors by the London outfielders resulted in nine runs in the two innings. But for Hoffner's error in the seventh London would have been shut out. The score was:

London	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0—	2	9 7

EASTERN LEAGUE.

Toronto, June 7.—Saturday's game at the Island between Toronto and Scranton was a splendid exhibition of ball playing. The coal heavers took a strong lead and the home team pulled the game out of the hole by some of the best base-running and fielding ever shown on a ball field. Third Baseman Smith was particularly brilliant. Lush's batting was a feature.

LONDON ELECTION CASE.

First of the Charges Against Major Beattie Dismissed on Saturday—Final Decision June 26.

Toronto, June 7.

On Saturday at Osgoode Hall, Mr. Justice Ferguson and Mr. Justice Robertson gave their joint judgment in the London election case.

E. B. Osler, Q.C., appeared for the petitioner, George Fewings, and A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., and T. F. Helmuth for Major Beattie, the Conservative member-elect.

Judgment was given for the respondent in reference to the club house charges. A number of the charges were not mentioned.

The court then proceeded to hear the argument of counsel upon the questions involved in what are known as Boyd-Haynes charges.

At 4 o'clock an adjournment was made till Saturday, June 26, when the decision will be given upon the question simply as to whether the act of Herbert Boyd, an agent of Major Beattie, in paying Thomas Haynes money and promising him employment if he would vote for the Conservative candidate, is sufficient to annul the election.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Secres of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headache, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Burdock Blood Bitters

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

Cures all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, reliable and beneficial. 25c.

Local Live Stock Notes.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy shipped on Saturday five carloads of stock to Buffalo, including quite a number of fat cattle and veal calves, as well as stockers. Prices continue about the same and Mr. Kennedy would like any person having stock to offer to leave word in his store. Mr. Dan. Roseborough took the stock to Buffalo.

There's Money in it for You

And we help you to get it by following our advice. You might just as well have it and it's easy to get. When you want to get full value for every dollar you spend in house-keeping, don't forget that Alex. Elliott, 353 George street, will give you more for your money than any other house in town, and you get quality as well as quantity. Have you tried that 25 cent tea? If not you're missing a good thing. Special for Saturday: A box of toilet soap for 9 cents, worth 25 cents; lemons, 10 cents a dozen.

Thirteen Houses for Sale.

In another column will be found a list of thirteen houses advertised to be sold at public auction on Wednesday, 16th June, at the Morgan House at three o'clock in the afternoon by Mr. John Haggart, auctioneer. It will be observed that this list of property includes properties in the central part and in the northern part of the town, and includes small, medium and large houses, rough cast and brick. Any person who desires to buy one of those houses may obtain full particulars from Messrs. Stratton & Hall, Vendor's Solicitors, or Mr. John Haggart, auctioneer. 5d

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $200. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Young Women's Christian Association Notes.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Myles Henry, of Peterborough, and Miss Irene Kelly, of Toronto Junction.

The wedding of Mr. Myles Henry, of town, took place at half-past nine o'clock, this morning, to Miss Irene Kelly, only daughter of Mr. Charles E. Kelly, of Toronto Junction.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Bergin, in St. Cecilia's church, at the Junction, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the family.

The bridesmaid was Miss Tessie Powers, of Toronto, and the groom was assisted by Mr. E. B. Clegg, of Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where the wedding breakfast was served and a reception held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Henry left for a bridal trip which will embrace Chicago and other western cities. On their return to Peterborough residence will be taken up at Chemong Park for the summer.

Misses Brophy and Annie Henry, sisters of the groom, were in attendance at the wedding.

Mr. Henry is one of Peterborough's rising young business men, whose integrity and affability have won for him the esteem of the entire community. His young bride, having visited in town on several occasions, also has many friends in Peterborough.

CAUSED A RUNAWAY.

Four Bicyclists Frighten a Horse on the Warsaw Road.

Messrs. F. G. Code, W. Mackie, L. Goeger and W. A. Eaton, of Norwood rode up to town yesterday on their bicycles, coming by way of Warsaw.

Shortly after leaving the latter village, the wheelmen met a horse and buggy on the road, and although they dismounted, the animal was so badly frightened as to run away. Both the man who was driving and his wife were thrown out with such force as to deprive them of consciousness for some time, and it was at first thought that the man's neck was broken and that he had been killed outright.

Dr. Couch was summoned by the wheelmen, who did all in his power for the injured couple who, under the doctor's care, recovered sufficiently to show that their injuries were not serious.

The Norwood boys were naturally greatly concerned over the accident, which marred the pleasure of their trip to a great extent.

AFTER THE POACHERS.

Inspector McMartin Nearly Captures a Couple of Them.

Mr. James McMartin, Fishery Inspector, had a somewhat exciting experience on his return trip up the river from Rice Lake on Friday night last.

As he was paddling along close inshore he heard voices coming from the direction of Donaldson's Creek, and waited to see who was out at such a time of the night. Presently a couple of men came paddling out of the creek in a canoe, and the Inspector "held them up" until he searched the canoe. There was nothing unlawful in it, however, and he allowed them to depart and proceeded on his way up the river.

In a few minutes he came across a net seventy-five feet long and seven feet deep set near the bank. He immediately turned his canoe and gave chase to the men whom he had just left, but they had profited by the opportunity afforded and made good their escape, having landed on the shore and carried their canoe off into the woods with them.

Mr. McMartin seized the net and brought it to town with him.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENING.

Spent by the Members of City Lodge and Their Friends.

An At Home under the auspices of City Lodge No. 404, I.O.G.T., was held Friday evening at the residence of Mr. James Stubbs, 231 Dublin street, and proved to be a most enjoyable and successful affair. There was a good attendance of members and their friends. The evening was enlivened by games and music. Mr. Wm. Job was on hand, and was kept busy making taffy for those present. The gathering broke up shortly after 11 o'clock, each one voting it to have been a very pleasant evening.

OUR SHADE TREES.

A Citizen Points out That They are not Properly Pruned.

This is the month for tree-trimming—the growing month—and it is pointed out that if the pruning is done now the wounds will heal more quickly than in any other month in the year.

The shade trees in Peterborough are allowed to grow branches too low and the sooner these lower branches are trimmed out the better, as in time they will grow so large that the tree will be badly lacerated in having them removed.

A citizen who is deeply interested in the shade trees of Peterborough urges that the municipal authorities assume the responsibility of the trimming in order that it can be done uniformly and systematically.

PERSONAL.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson is in Toronto attending the Synod.

Mr. Thomas Mimms of Lindsay spent Sunday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Judge Weller has been visiting his sister Mrs. G. M. Clark, in Cobourg, for the last few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Binch, of Boston, formerly of town, are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. F. J. Daly, of Orillia, formerly proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, has been in town since Saturday.

Mrs. Fairweather and Miss Jessie Fairweather, who have been spending the winter in Belton, Texas, returned home to-day.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Cowie who is in a Detroit hospital, will be pleased to learn that his eye is steadily improving.

Mr. Alfred Johnston, of St. Paul's church, left this morning for Winnipeg to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

The Cobourg Post says: Mrs. C. E. Ewing has rented her residence on Durham street for the months of July and August to a Peterborough lady.

Rev. Mr. Davidson and Mrs. Davidson will be in Toronto this week, as the rector is attending the meeting of the Synod. In consequence Mrs. Davidson will not receive until next week.

Mrs. Eden, of Peterborough, who has taken Mrs. Henry Allen's residence, Cobourg, for the summer, left town last Wednesday. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Beatty, and Miss Strickland.

CANADIAN FORESTERS ATTENDED CHURCH.

THE ANNUAL SERMON PREACHED IN ST. JOHN'S.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson, a Member of the Order, Addresses the Members of Courts Peterborough, Langton, Littlejohn, Forest Queen and Young Peterborough.

Yesterday was Forestry Sunday and throughout the Dominion the members of the Canadian Order attended divine worship.

The day was fittingly observed in Peterborough, and the members of Courts Peterborough, Langton, Littlejohn, Forest Queen and Young Peterborough, assembled in the Foresters Hall, and marched in a body to St. John's church, where they were addressed by Rev. E. V. Stevenson, who is a member of the Order.

On behalf of the clergy and officers of the church, Mr. Stevenson welcomed the Foresters to St. John's, stating that he esteemed it a great privilege to have the pleasure of addressing them.

On looking about the world he thought a most hopeful aspect of conditions was apparent, for although there were influences at work yet never before were there such a power in existence which had the tendency to make them live more for one another—the power of practical charity and benevolence which induced us to look beyond self and think more deeply of the wants and necessities of those with whom we are associated. This spirit which is abroad is destined to unite us closer and closer together as we journey onward and brings more forcibly to our notice the turth that man is not born to live by himself.

A certain class appears to think that the world is growing no better and that men are drifting farther and farther away from each other, but it is noticeable that this class is composed of those who make no effort whatever to rectify such a condition of affairs.

The speaker did not believe in the existence of such a state as mentioned. He thought that, viewing life from the social side, men were daily growing to have more consideration for one another and less for themselves.

In business there were many mean and indefensible practices, but if this phase of life were overlooked, we would find that on the whole, humanity was improving, and as an illustration he might mention the many societies and brotherhoods which had been formed to assist man in rising to a higher plane in life, and to aspirations to higher motives in leading them to stretch out the helping hand to the brother in infirmity or distress.

SELF-THOUGHT

for self advantage is that which drives man from man, but unselfishness is that which creates the feeling of brotherhood. The attitude of our lives showed by which of the purposes our actions were governed. You know full well what our noble order inculcates regarding unselfishness and benevolence. There is no room in it for those who seek self-aggrandisement. What we give to the order is not done in the hope of reaping a bountiful return, but it is rather that we desire to band ourselves together that we may provide for the difficulties which may come upon our brethren. This is the spirit in which we should be banded together.

There can be no nobler object than the thought of benevolence towards others. The speaker hoped this thought as exercised towards others would govern the lives of all the members.

If when in the turmoil of business or the whirl of social life we had halted a moment to think of others and the effect which our actions would have upon them, many of the sins which are committed would not have taken place and there would be more honesty between man and man.

If we were to have constantly before our minds the suffering occasioned to others through that dreadful influence—the drink custom, which brings so much ruin and degradation in its wake, we would be able to trample the enemy under our feet.

If the thought of others was was with us always, there would be many less deeds of immorality, the name of which makes us blush, as men.

IF THOROUGHLY IMBUED with the spirit of unselfishness, as the days march on, we would become more and more like the God whom we worship.

Consider from Whom we obtained this sweet spirit of charity. It was not always in the world, and it is something on which modern society can congratulate itself. Tracing it back through the centuries for nineteen hundred years and we find that it was ushered into the world by that great life—the Carpenter of Nazareth. To that Great Samaritan we owe this power of love which has had such an influence in the world.

Surely, said the speaker, I am doing no discredit to our society when I say that all benevolence is simply the crystallization of the Gospel, where we are taught the duty of doing good to our neighbours.

While we are prudent to make provision for those who come after us in this life, should we not also be provident regarding that Home to which we are certainly advancing? Why should we not lay up treasures in Heaven where moth and rust doth not corrupt or thieves break through and steal?

At the conclusion of the service the Foresters again re-formed into line and marched back to their hall accompanied by Rev. Mr. Stevenson and Rev. W. L. Armitage, both being members of the order.

On re-assembling in the Court room votes of thanks were passed to Rev. Mr. Stevenson for his practical address; to the church wardens and officials for the use of the church, and to the choir for the excellent music furnished.

In reply Rev. Mr. Stevenson thanked the members for their kindly expression of appreciation and expressed the hope that some lesson had been conveyed by his words. He then introduced Rev. W. L. Armitage, also a Canadian Forester, to the members present. Mr. Armitage made a few remarks concerning the objects of the order and what they taught, after which the Foresters dispersed.

TO FIRE THE HEATHER.

Sons of Scotland to Boom the Jubilee Bonfire Blaze.

All "Sons of Scotland" and all sons of Scotia, whether "Sons of Scotland" or not, are requested to attend a meeting to be held in the council chamber on Thursday night to make arrangements for Diamond Jubilee bonfires on the night of June 22nd. Scotchmen who have, to use the language of their cousins, the Irish, a "strong weakness" for bonfires, are going to paint the sky that covers Scotland, with the reflected glare of thousands of fires on Jubilee night. Scotchmen from Halifax to Vancouver are preparing the same sort of thing in Canada, and Peterborough should not be behind nor hide its bonfire under a bushel. The town is girdled with stately hills and the crests of these blazing with beacons on Jubilee night would be a beautiful and inspiring sight.

COUNTY COURT.

One Criminal Case—One With Jury and one Without.

The County Court opens to-morrow morning before Judge Weller. One criminal case will be tried, viz., The Queen vs. Samuel Smily, for the theft of marsh hay, in which a true bill was found at the last assizes. The civil cases are as follows:—

NON-JURY.

Ashe vs. Wilson.—Suit brought by F. W. Ashe, assignee of the estate of John Boakin, of the township of Walliston, county of Hastings, lumber dealer, insolvent, against S. I. Wilson & Co., to recover the sum of $105 and interest thereon from the first of March, 1896, and the costs of this action.

W. A. F. Campbell, of Norwood, for plaintiff; Holmes & Irving, of Toronto, for defendant.

JURY.

Melrose vs. Craig—Suit brought by Adam Melrose against John Craig, charging that the defendant advertised his business for sale in Peterborough, and that after the stock had been examined by plaintiff, the defendant removed a large quantity of groceries, etc. Plaintiff subsequently purchased the business for $800, and now brings suit to recover the value of the articles removed.

Dumble & Johnston for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

The case of Moncrief vs. Peterborough, has been set down for June 24th.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church will hold their closing meeting of this season next Thursday afternoon.

The Young Women's Chapter of the Guild enjoyed a very pleasant evening at Mr. John Burnham's last Tuesday, and on Thursday evening the Miss Mills hospitably entertained the members of the recent confirmation class. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

A new chapter of the Guild to be known as the Men's Chapter has been formed. Amongst other things this Chapter will promote sociable intercourse amongst the men, by monthly meetings when discussions will be held upon the matters affecting the church. The following are the officers:

President—Mr. R. B. Rogers.
Vice-President—Mr. W. H. Nesbitt.
Secretary—Mr. E. A. Peck.
Treasurer—Mr. F. Adams.
Board of Management—Messrs. T. H. Adams, G. F. Warde, R. A. Wilson and J. J. Turner, jr.

Mr. W. S. Cocks has taken the contract for the decoration of the chancel of the church. The walls will be retinted and the ceiling freshly grained so as to harmonize with the oak work of Mr. Hamilton's memorial. Mr. Cocks commenced work this morning.

The Women's Auxiliary and the Young Women's Chapter of Guild will give a garden party on the grounds of Mr. R. B. Rogers, on Wednesday, June 16th.

Lawn mowers, $3.25, garden hose, lawn sprinklers at 25, 45 and 95c., nozzles, couplings, menders, washers, lawn rakes. GEORGE STETHEM & SON, next the Post Office. 2dw-w

LORD ROSEBERY ON GOLF.

The ceremony in connection with the opening of the new club-house of the Edinburgh Burgess Golfing Society took place on the 11th ult., at Barnton, Lord Rosebery taking a chief part in the proceedings.

Lord Rosebery in declaring the house open delivered a humourous speech, in which he said he had hitherto believed he was the only Scotchman who did not play golf, but he had just heard that the Rev. Dr. Boyd, of St. Andrews, who was in the very heart and home of golf, was in the same position. (Applause.) After the ceremony a luncheon took place in the club-house, when Lord Rosebery, in replying to the toast of health, and in accepting a gold hand-book and a set of clubs, said: "I do see one special recommendation of golf—a recommendation which will increase on me as I grow older—that it is a game that can be pursued in advanced period of life. (Applause.) Scotland once conquered the world with her game of golf. (Applause.) There is no common in England which is so lonely or so deserted as not to expose to view two gentlemen followed by a couple of boys with a bundle of clubs. (Laughter.) In my own neighbourhood of Surrey, where I am quite certain that golf was never heard of till 10 or 12 years ago, our walks abroad are rendered almost as dangerous as the facing of a battery in the time of war by the numbers of Metropolitan golfers who hurry down to enjoy their favourite pursuit. My dread of learning it, my dread of coming among you as an actual member, is this—that it is far too engrossing and absorbing. (Laughter and applause.) When a man is once seriously inoculated with the love of golf he is of very little use for other pursuits of society. (Loud laughter.) I know one gentleman at least of considerable possessions and large business transactions who declines to open his letters on the morning on which he is going to play golf for fear anything in them should distract his attention. (Loud laughter.) And a short time ago, without trenching on the strict barrier that divides us happily from politics today, I saw it stated as a charge against a distinguished statesman, that he gave too much time to golf and not enough to the House of Commons. (Laughter and applause.) Well, I say then, when a man in middle life makes a deliberate choice of golf as his amusement, knowing these facts, and viewing the infatuation of his friends, he is taking a choice second only in gravity to the choice of a wife.

CRICKET.

The rain on Saturday interrupted the cricket match which promised to be one of the most interesting of the season. It was the annual fixture of married vs. single, and the benedicts turned out in force to uphold their dignity. The game would without doubt have been a very close one if the rain had not suddenly dampened the ardour and the skins of the cricketers. The grand old game is going to flourish this year, and the enthusiasts are much pleased with the prospects, which they declare are brighter than they have been for years.

THE TENT CATERPILLAR.

Their Work of Destruction Upon our Trees.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

MR. EDITOR,—In your issue of Friday, inst., I noticed a short communication from Anti-Caterpillar, who, for aught we know, might have spelled himself or herself Aunty Caterpillar, judging from the tenderly cautious manner in which the subject of the destruction of our beautiful shade and fruit trees was dealt with. Anti-Caterpillar chooses to touch up the Natural Science with an insinuated neglect of duty, whereas the writer can see only a reason to be thankful that Anti-Caterpillars may be put in possession of a knowledge of the nature and habits of caterpillars through connection with this very commendable society if they have any desire to preserve the tree of our town and country. Now to come to the point there is only one party responsible for the present neglect of the trees on our streets and in the parks. That party is the municipal authorities, and they can reasonably claim that they have no reason to believe that the individual citizen has any interest in trees, either fruit or shade trees, public or private. Let any unprejudiced person take a walk today along any of our streets, and he will have ample opportunity to see the proof of my assertion.

Yesterday the writer took a short walk about the town and was more than ever impressed with the popular disregard for the trees. Many hundreds of fruit and shade trees are ruined hopelessly already, and unless something is done at once hundreds more will suffer this week from the ravages of this nuisance.

Our town council should this evening, before they do anything else, pass a resolution requiring every citizen to destroy, within two days, the caterpillars infesting the trees on his own premises, and direct the Street Inspector to set every man under his control, and as many more as can be secured, to remove from the public parks and streets every visible nest of caterpillars possible, and the caretakers and employees in charge of the public parks should be required to prepare suitable torches—cloths tied on poles and saturated with kerosene—to do the work with, and also to aid in the work of destroying the pests.

The writer of this article called the attention of the public to the same condition of things last spring and can to-day count dozens of trees which a year ago were stripped of their foliage and are today dead in consequence. This being a very wet season will tend very materially to aid in rescuing our trees from the result of the destructive work already done by this abominable pest, and it is to be hoped that a bylaw will be passed to compel individual citizens to destroy the worms on their own premises or be under the penalty of paying some public officer to look after it for them.

I do not wish to be personal in any way, but certainly think that many of our wealthy and otherwise respectable citizens deserve to be censured for the disregard shown in this matter, for there is little use of the small property owners trying to keep his few fruit and ornamental trees clean if his neighbour lets his much more numerous trees and shrubs become breeding places for the pests.

Let us begin operation at once and see what a week's work will do to save a few of the lovely and valuable trees that have cost somebody years of care and attention to bring to their present state of growth.

Let our motto be "Up and at them!" and let the crusade begin at once.

Hoping that I have not exceeded my privilege, as I am sure I have met the necessity of the case in question.

I remain, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,

ARBOR.

FROM ANOTHER CONTRIBUTOR.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There seems to be reason to fear the destruction of our magnificent avenues of shade trees throughout the town by the caterpillars. We have allowed ourselves to be surprised; the enemy has stolen upon us and is entrenched and carrying on the work of destruction. Every citizen should take charge of his own trees on and in front of his premises, and let the watchword be, kill! kill! kill! by a torch composed of rags saturated with coal oil tied on a pole, or by crushing. I notice that at certain times the worms cluster on the trunks of trees like a swarm of bees. They can then be crushed or destroyed by hundreds. The apple and the choke cherry trees are the favourite breeding grounds of these pests. They breed in these trees by millions, and when they have devoured the leaves march on to other trees to continue the work of destruction. These are the trees to watch, especially the worthless seedling apples, and cherry trees that crop up in by corners. They are not considered worth saving, and are therefore permitted to be breeding places for the caterpillars and to supply enough worms to destroy all the other trees in the vicinity. Some systematic and concerted action should be set afoot to preserve our beautiful shade trees.

Thanking you for your space,

Yours truly,

RESIDENT.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

WEDDING BELLS.

The Marriage of Norwood's Reeve to Miss M. L. Reynolds.

The following particulars additional to those received from our Norwood correspondent have been received concerning the recent marriage of Reeve Buck, of Norwood.

"Ruby Hall," the palatial residence of Mr. P. W. Reynolds, Norwood's merchant prince, was the scene of a very interesting and joyous event on Tuesday afternoon, when his daughter, Miss Mary Lillian, was married to Mr. H. G. Buck, Reeve of Norwood.

The ceremony was performed at 1.30 p. m., by the Rev. J. A. McCamus, pastor of the Methodist church, in the present of the relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties.

As the piano, under the skilful hand of Miss Blanche Pearce, pealed forth the Wedding March the bridal party entered the parlour and took their places before the altar, under an arch draped with cream silk, from the centre of which was gracefully suspended a bell, beautifully arranged and composed of smilax and white lilac, while the altar—on which stood a vase of trailing ferns with wreath of smilax around the bast—was tastefully draped with coloured silk.

The bride looked charming in a cream faille silk dress, trimmed with cream satin ribbon and chiffon lace, with Mechlin veil and the usual wreath of blossoms, and carrying a handsome bouquet of white roses, tied with white satin ribbon. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Maud Dunnigan, of Warkworth, who was neatly attired in white Organdy, over blue, trimmed with white lace and blue satin ribbon, also carrying a bouquet of roses. The maids of honour were Miss Grace Reynolds, sister of the bride, and Miss Annie Birt, niece of the groom, who were dressed in white Organdy trimmed with lace and ribbon, each carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. M. E. Knox.

After the nuptial vows were taken, prayers said, and they were pronounced man and wife, a joyous march was played while the friends showered their congratulations upon the happy couple.

The company then passed into the dining room, where their eyes rested upon another pleasing scene. The tables were decorated with bouquets of roses and Bermuda lilies, vases of narcissus and lily of the valley, and asparagus ferns were entwined about in profusion. The bridal party and officiating clergyman occupied seats opposite the centre of the table under an arch decorated with smilax, from the centre of which was suspended a basket of fragrant flowers. The refreshments were elegant and, needless to say, this part of the proceedings was enjoyed to the full.

The presents were handsome and all of them were of the most costly nature, among which might be mentioned a beautiful silver tea service and a pretty silver water set.

At 4 p.m. the company took cabs to the station where the newly wedded couple took their departure by the west bound train on an extended tour. They will be absent nearly a month and will visit Montreal, Quebec, New York, Portland and other important places. May their wedded life be rich in happiness.

The flowers for the decorations were supplied by Mr. B. B. Baker, florist, Norwood.

A report was given to each pupil on, or soon after, the first school day in each month. Parents please insist on seeing these, sign them and return them at once to the teachers.

When a pupil fails to present a report soon after the first of the month, his parent or guardian will confer a favour on the pupil and the teacher if he will report this fact at once to the teacher of the pupil or to the Principal, and ascertain the reason.

The average attendance for May is higher than for many months past. The new truant officer deserves some of the credit for this.

When a pupil is kept at home by his parent or guardian for part of a day or longer, a note stating how long his absence was justifiable must be presented to the teacher by the pupil when he returns. Attention to these few points would save a great deal of trouble.

The annual promotion examinations will begin on Wednesday, June 23rd. Any pupil missing part or all of the examination cannot expect promotion. Those who have been irregular in attendance and careless about their work may also expect remain in their present classes.

A DESERVING CASE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

An industrious and steady farmer, with a family of five or six children, in the poor district north of Apsley, has recently lost two good cows. Those who know this part of Ontario know how serious is such a loss. In some places no doubt a petition for aid to repair it would be circulated in the neighbourhood, but this would be useless where all are so poor. At the present time cows are not dear, and I venture to appeal to some of our charitably disposed citizens in Peterborough, town and county, for assistance. The smallest sums will be gratefully received, and may be left for me at the EXAMINER Office.

Yours, etc.,

HERBERT SYMONDS.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1891 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

WIFE BEATER IN COURT.

The Fenella Affair Brought Before the Judge on Wednesday.

Gilbert Smith, whose brutal attempt to kill his wife near Fenella last week was described in these columns, appeared before Judge Benson at Cobourg on Wednesday to elect whether he would be tried by a judge and jury or by the County Judge. He had not fully made up his mind which course to adopt, so declined to elect at that time.

Smith was badly scared on Tuesday, when a rumour went abroad that his wife had died from the injuries he had inflicted on her.

The sheriff heard the story and immediately notified the gaol officials to keep a special watch on the prisoner, as he would be tried for murder. When informed of his wife's death, Smith became very much excited and turned deathly pale and sick. His anxiety was relieved shortly after, when the rumour turned out to be untrue. Smith is said to be a religious crank, and his reason for half killing his wife was that she was not converted. It would not be a bad idea if he would make an angel of himself, rather than persist in a desire to compel others to wear white robes.

STONY LAKE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Death has once more been amongst us, and has taken away a young lad of fourteen in the person of Willie McClure, the youngest son of the late John McClure. The deceased was a smart, healty boy, and was only one week sick. He lived with a sister and an elder brother, and was a general favourite as he was always pleasant and agreeable. His mother, sisters and brothers will miss him much. The friends have the sympathy of the neighbourhood.

High Class Cash Tailors. 355 George Street

People shudder at the tales of Monte Carlo suicides, but look on with perfect equanimity while friends and loved ones commit just as certain suicide by neglecting their health. Trifling disorders of the digestion persistently neglected lead to impurity of the blood, the tissues of the body are imperfectly nourished, and emaciation and debility follow. In the case of that dread disease, consumption, imperfectly nourished tissue is built up in the lungs, forming a suitable soil for the germs of that deadly disease. One-seventh of all the deaths each year are due to consumption. This fearful death rate could be easily avoided if the proper remedy was resorted to.

A sure preventive and cure of consumption is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases. It corrects all disorders of digestion, invigorates the liver, and makes the blood pure and plentiful. It is the great blood maker, flesh builder, and nerve invigorator It gets into the blood and acts directly upon the lungs, building up healthy tissue and driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its wonderful merits. Druggists sell it.

"I feel that I must write you telling you of the great benefits derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa. "Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors before with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me altogether with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me. I cannot say enough in praise of the medicine, and have done much to induce others to use it."

WILL THE TURK GO?

And Will Greece Gather the Harvest in Thessaly?

DIFFERENT OPINIONS ABOUT IT

Count Muravieff Expresses Sympathy With Greece Turks, However, Have Apparently No Intention of Getting —Conditions on Which Greece Will Call Off Her Fleet.

London, June 5.—It is officially stated that Count Muravieff, the Russian Foreign Minister, has expressed to the Greek Minister at St. Petersburg, his persolan sympathy and his hope that Greece will be able to save the harvest in Thessaly. It is also understood that Germany now advocates the Turkish evacuation of Thessaly, provided Greece gives a satisfactory assurance of the payment of indemnity. But, there is still every indication that Turkey means to remain in Thessaly. Several Turkish officials, accompanied by their harems, have arrived in Thessaly from Constantinople. Edhem Pasha has ordered granaries to be prepared for the storage of the harvest and is using every inducement to get the peasants to return and to accept Turkish rule.

Terms of the Sea Armistice.

Athens, June 4.—The Cabinet decided this evening to sign a sea armistice on the following conditions:

"The Greek fleet will quit Ottoman waters. Vessels under Turkish or neutral flags, bound to or returning from Turkish ports, and vessels north of the armistice line, will not be examined. Vessels carrying troops and munitions for the Turkish army will not be allowed to enter ports north of the line. The Turkish fleet must not leave the Dardanelles. The despatch of reinforcements to garrison towns in the Archipelago is prohibited."

Attempt to Horsewhip Labby.

London, June 4.—While Mr. Henry Labouchere, the editor of Truth, and member of Parliament for Northampton, was on his way from his residence to the House of Commons to-day, a young man accosted him and attempted to assault the editor with a horsewhip. It developed that the assailant was the son of the Rev. George Brooks, otherwise known as the "Prince of Begging Letter Writers," whose doings were exposed in the columns of Truth. Brooks, who was formerly a Methodist parson, is said to have obtained the sum of $40,000 within a period of five years by sending begging letters to Cabinet Ministers, Dukes, Archbishops, directors of the Bank of England, generals, admirals and, it is said, to William Waldorf Astor.

Can't Stop the Rinderpest.

Cape Town, June 4.—In the Legislative Assembly to-day, the Secretary for Agriculture, P. H. Faure, announced that the shooting of cattle had been stopped as being a useless attempt to maintain a clean belt. He added that it was impossible to prevent the rinderpest from reaching Cape Colony.

South Africa Committee Adjourned.

London, June 4.—The Parliamentary Committee enquiring into the Transvaal raid adjourned to-day, after hearing a statement of the Parliamentary Secretary for the Colonial Office, the Earl of Selborne, to the effect that the Colonial Office had absolutely no hint of Dr. Jameson's plans, which statement was followed by brief speeches from counsel.

Vesuvius in Eruption.

PAST YOUR PRIME.

Perhaps not in years, but in energy. Your health is not good, yet you hardly know what is the matter with you. Your business, too, is on the decline. People miss the old elastic spirit you showed in former years. The secret of all this is that your constitution is worn out and your blood is bad. Set both right by the use of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One box will cure you.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were in all about 90 car loads of live stock on the market yesterday. They comprised 1645 cattle, largely export; 1000 hogs, 455 sheep and lambs, 125 calves and about 50 milch cows. There was quite a large number of export cattle, but owing to unfavorable market reports from England, prices were not so good. They ranged from $4 to $4.35, and a few extra choice might reach $4.50 per cwt. There were quite a large number left unsold. Heavy bulls, for export, were worth $3.40 to $3.90. The demand for butchers' cattle was good and nearly all were sold at from $3.60 to $3.80, and a few picked cattle brought $4 to $4.10. Good stockers for Buffalo were worth $3.25. Choice heavy feeders brought $3.60 to $4.

Milch cows sold from $20 to $35, but extra good ones would bring $40.

The demand for sheep was good and good lambs would be worth from $3 to $4.75, but poor ones are not wanted at any price.

The hog market remains firm at our last quotations.

J. & J. W. Dunn shipped 15 cars, W. H. Dean two, and S. Halligan one, on Thursday by C.P.R., all for export. M. Vincent and A. Montreuil shipped yesterday two cars each of butchers' cattle to Montreal. J. Ironside, A. M. Buck, W. Dulmage one car each, and S. Halligan four cars, all for export, per C.P.R.

Mr. Harris and Mr. Carey shipped one load each of hogs to Montreal, per G.T.R.

The Empress of Austria.

The Empress of Austria is not in good health, and is obliged to forego the long early morning walks which have been her delight and a trial to the ladies in waiting. She has worn black ever since the death of her son, the Crown Prince Rudolph, and has given away all of her jewels except the crown jewels. The Princess Rudolph is a gifted, handsome woman, but she and the Empress are not the best of friends. The Princess Elizabeth, her little daughter, is a very interesting child, and as fond of mountain climbing as her mother.

The Oldest Love Letter.

The oldest love letter in the world is in the British Museum. It is a proposal of marriage for the hand of an Egyptian princess and it was made 3500 years ago. It is in the form of an inscribed brick.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Strawberry Shortcake.

Place in the basin six ounces of butter, with ten ounces of sugar. Beat both well together until a creamy preparation is obtained. Then add three eggs, one at a time, two gills of milk and vanilla flavoring. After the whole is well mixed pour in a pound of sifted flour, into which has been added a coffeespoonful of baking powder.

Have round, flat moulds, seven and one-half inches in diameter, with the edges raised three-eighths of an inch thick. Butter and flour them well and fill them to the top with the mixture. Bake in a brisk oven, then unmould on a grate as soon as they are done and leave them until cold. Cover each layer of cake with vanilla pastry cream, and on it a ring of very fine ripe strawberries, one next to the other, strewn with sugar, and lay two of these garnished cakes one on top of the other. Put them on a dish and cover the cake with sweetened whipped cream flavored with vanilla, pushed through a pastry bag.—By Charles Ranhofer, chef of Delmonico's, New York.

Things We Ought to Know.

That fewer dishes will be broken if a small wooden tub is provided instead of the ordinary tin dishpan.

That all dish cloths and towels should be washed and scalded each day, and thoroughly dried before they are again used.

That a little borax or ammonia dissolved in the water in which silver is washed will keep the silver bright.

That silver should be thoroughly dried, then polished with chamois, if it is to retain its brightness.

That knives should be scoured regularly every time they are used.

That drops of water should never be allowed to dry on the steel blade of a knife, as the mark made is almost permanent.

That the flour barrel should be raised fro mthe floor to prevent dampness.

That food should be kept hot for late comers by standing the dish in a pan of hot water, keeping the food closely covered with a lid.

That oranges often prove an efficient substitute for liquors (alcoholic).

Remedy for Household Insects.

Many a housewife is disheartened when she finds that the house into which she has just moved was inhabited before she arrived, and that already her nicely cleaned beds are being occupied. A sure death for such invaders is benzine. It will at once destroy all insect life, and does not injure carpets or furniture. Fill a long-necked can with this fluid and apply it thoroughly in all cracks and crevices where the bugs or their eggs may be. Leave the doors and windows open and the odor will quickly evaporate. Benzine should be used only in daylight, as it is very inflammable, and must not be carried near an open fire or light.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away.

DOROTHY DREW.

Mr. Gladstone's Favorite Grandchild Breakfasts With the Queen.

The Queen did a graceful thing on Thursday, May 6, and delighted Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone by summoning their granddaughter, Dorothy Drew, to Windsor Castle. Her Majesty was anxious to see the child who has figured so prominently in Mr. Gladstone's domestic life. Dorothy left Hawarden on the Wednesday, accompanied by her mother, and from London to Windsor travelled with the Princess Louise. On arriving at Windsor they were met by Colonel the Hon. William H. P. Carington, one of the equerries in ordinary, with a royal carriage, to take them to the castle. Dorothy wore an olive green costume. After luncheon with the Queen Miss Drew returned to town.

On the 10th the Prince and Princess of Wales drove to Hawarden and lunched with Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone. Each member of the royal family planted a tree at Hawarden as a memorial of the occasion.

It Recommends Itself.

When using cabbage for cold slaw, cut it into ribbons an hour or more before it is to be used and let it stand in ice water until the last moment; then drain it upon a soft cloth to remove the water and pour a French dressing over it. If once tried thus it will always be treated in this manner.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE MEETING.

IT IS STILL IN SESSION IN BOWMANVILLE.

Reports of the Proceedings on Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Young Men Who Will be Sent to College—The Probationers.

Bowmanville, June 7th—At the Thursday proceedings of the Conference, Rev. Dr. J. C. Antliff, M.A., presented a report from the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, showing ten students taking a full arts course; 15 in Divinity, leading to the licentiate's degree; 21 for the degree of B. D., and 18 for the Conference course. Total enrolled, 64. The endowment fund is now $75,000; current expenditure about $6,500; total debt, $4,000. Enlargement of buildings is urgently needed.

He said the year had been fairly prosperous. One death had occurred on the Senate, that of Rev. A. M. Phillips, B.D., whose place had been filled by a member of this conference, Rev. W. J. Joliffe, B.C.L., of Picton. The aim of the college was not merely to train men as Biblical scholars and in the higher criticism, but to make them earnest, devoted Christian ministers, filled with love for God. On motion of Rev. T. M. Campbell, seconded by Rev. F. B. Stratton, this report was adopted.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION.

A resolution was carried moved by Rev. O. R. Lambly, D. D., seconded by Rev. J. C. Wilson, expressing the appreciation of the conference in reference to the efficient services of the retiring President, Rev. T. M. Campbell, which was fittingly responded to.

A motion was also carried expressing appreciation of the services of Rev. W. J. Young as secretary for the past year. Prof. A. H. Reynar, M.A., LL.D., of Victoria College, read an address from Prof. Burwash who was attending conference in another part of the Province. A resolution moved by Rev. S. T. Bartlett, Cobourg, and seconded by Rev. W. G. Clarke, Yarker, was passed thanking Rev. D. S. Houck, Journal Secretary, for services rendered during the past year.

The Conference then adjourned to meet in committees for the remainder of the afternoon.

The public session opened last evening as an educational meeting. Rev. J. J. Hare, M.D., principal of Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, read the directors' report of this institution, which was very gratifying to all interested. Rev. Dr. Dyer, principal of Albert College, Belleville, delivered an address on "Why Educate?" in which he dealt with this subject in a most instructive and common-sense way that was well received by all those who heard it. Rev. W. R. Young, Peterborough, gave a fine address on the social, political and religious life of the future generation, and the great need of education to bring about the desired result. Dr. S. P. Ford, Norwood, addressed the Conference on the power there is in knowledge when properly conducted and controlled, and the good men may do with proper education.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

This morning after devotional exercises, a committee, composed of Revs. R. Duke, E. A. Sanderson, J. J. Rice and Messrs. W. F. Hall and Geo. Wilson, were appointed to prepare a suitable address in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee.

The following ministers have died during the year: Revs Wm Bird, R W Marsh, Alex Wright, Wm Scales.

The following young men were recommended to go to college: Messrs R S Anderson, C E Knight, S H P Anderson, J P Berry, H T Lewis, H E Curts, E A W Dove, Robt Emberson, C E Cragg, W P Rogers, W J Cragg, S T Tucker, Arthur W Coon, Enoch B Cook, R F Stillman, S H Neville, D J Green, D G Harrison, T W Puffer, Geo A McConnell.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, General Missionary Secretary, was present and gave an excellent report of the workings of that important society and the state of the funds, the expenditure, etc., for the home and foreign missions. He urged that until men held their property like the early Christians the missionary cause could not flourish and do the work it should do. A hearty resolution approving of Dr. Sutherland's address, moved by Rev. J. J. Rice and seconded by Rev. R. Cade, D. D., was passed.

Mrs. Gibson, of Napanee, representative of the branch of Bay of Quinte Woman's Missionary Society, and Mrs. J. M. Jones, of the Bowmanville Auxiliary, were introduced. Mrs. Gibson gave a splendidly prepared address dealing with the workings of the society and the grand work done by these devoted women in the various place, and the persons interested in this work. A resolution moved by Rev. Jas. McFarlane, seconded by Rev. S. J. Shorey, expressed hearty approval of the society and promised help and sympathy from this Conference.

Dr. Dyer presented the annual report of Albert College; Mr. W. H. Gordon read the report of the finances, and Rev. E. Roberts made a very happy appeal for the funds, obtaining in a few minutes about $1,185 in promises.

BOOK ROOM REPORT.

Rev. Dr. Briggs, book steward, presented a report of the year's business of the Book Room, showing gratifying progress in every department. The circulation of the various periodicals published by the house had been increased on the previous year nearly 10,000 copies. A marked increase in the sale of books and stationery was also reported. During the year it was found necessary to enlarge the press room and add three new presses. That these had ample employment may be gathered from the fact that the number of books, pamphlets and tracts printed and handled by the house was reported as aggregating nearly two million copies, which number, we understand, does not include the great number of pamphlets, catalogues, etc., printed for outside customers, which would probably amount to a half million more.

Dr. Briggs reported that from the net profits of the year the sum of $8,000 had been appropriated by the committee to the superannuation fund.

At the layman's convention in St. Paul's church Judge Dean, of Lindsay, was re-elected President and Mr. R. W. Clarke, of Millbrook re-elected Secretary; R. Moment, P.M., Orono, First Vice-President; Dr. S. P. Ford, Norwood, Second Vice-President; W. F. Hall, Napanee; George Wilson, Port Hope; Dr. Jury, Picton; Mayor Yelland, Peterborough; Uriah Wilson, M. P., Napanee, and E. S. Rowse, Oshawa, member of the executive.

Discussion was carried on with much spirit, lay delegation on Stationing Committee, admission of children to the church fellowship and the Dominion plebiscite receiving much consideration.

NEW MINISTERS.

This evening the large church was filled to overflowing, every available space being taken. After devotional exercises, prayer being offered by Rev. Jas. Kines, the Secretary read the names of the young men to be received into the ministry—Messrs. W. S. P. Boyce, B.A., and John W. Bunner.

Rev. J. C. Wilson, Chairman of Madoc District, moved the resolution that these young men be received into the work of Christian ministry and be ordained on the coming Sabbath.

A unanimous vote was given by the ministers that these young men be received, and President McDermid conveyed to them this expression of the brethren in a few earnest words.

SATURDAY'S SESSION.

Rev. A. J. H. Strike, of Murray, in a very concise and pleasing address, expressed the thanks of the Conference to Mr. R. W. Clarke, Millbrook, associate Secretary, for his services, and Rev. D. S. Houck presented him with a handsome gold-headed cane. Mr. Clarke suitably acknowledged the gift in a few well-chosen words.

Moved by Rev. W. R. Young and seconded by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe and resolved: "That we have learned with regret of the transfer of Revs. Dr. Badgley, W. C. Beer, and W. B. Tucker, Ph.D., from the Conference, and we desire to assure these brethren of our continued interest in their welfare and would express the hope that in their new fields of labour they may be successful.—Carried.

The afternoon session was opened at 2 p.m. After devotional exercises Rev. G. H. H. Davis, who has been tranferred to this Conference, was introduced.

A notice of motion on the plebiscite given by Rev. N. Hill, was on motion referred to the Committee on Temperance.

The Theological Union held a meeting at 4 p. m. in the Queen street church, when Dr. Galbraith, Kingston, delivered an exceedingly fine address on the "Influence of the Bible on the Education of the World." A resolution thanking Dr. Galbraith for his lecture was moved by Dr. Cade, seconded by Rev. W. J. Joliffe, D. C. L. Rev. J. A. McCamus, President of the union, occupied the chair. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:—Rev. J. A. McCamus, President (re-elected); Rev. H. T. Lewis, Secretary (re-elected). Rev. Dr. Crothers, Port Hope, was appointed to prepare the lecture for next year.

ECHOES OF THE GYMNASIUM CONTEST.

Giving Full Credit for Good Work Done.

There were several errors in the report of the contest on Saturday. Mr. H. Godwin was credited with 50c, when it should have been $5.50. Mr. Zegiri's name should have appeared beside Mr. C. Hendrick's in the report.

All parties who subscribed and whose subscriptions were not paid on Friday, will remember that the men on the sides paid these amounts in view of same being handed to them this week by subscribers.

There are four of the young men in the contest who deserve special mention—Walter Brooks on the Reds and H. Froude, S. Hall and E. Hall on the Blues. These young hustlers collected nearly $110 in all.

The banquet will take place on Thursday evening. The ladies who have the matter in hand regret that the present condition of affairs will not admit of their making the invitation general. However, in the new building at a later date they hope to royally entertain all who assisted in any way with the contest.

CLOTHED FOR $7.00

People take pride in telling of some of the Bargains they get at Gough Bros. The ordinary man would consider it clever buying if he spent no more than $25 for an entire outfit, including Suit, Shoes, Hat, Underwear, &c. But we make it possible to secure a serviceable outfit for less than $7.00, and this is not figuring on the cheapest goods either. The following bill of goods shows the possiblities which await bargain-seekers at our two big stores:—

All-Wool Halifax Tweed Suit	$3.75
Serviceable Pair of Shoes	1.00
Stiff or Soft Felt Hat	.50
Undershirt	.20
Drawers	.20
Sox	.08
Suspenders	.10
Shirt	.20
Collar	.07
Tie	.08
Handkerchief	.05
	$6.23

Although these prices may seem ridiculous, they are the minimum price of the goods enumerated. A man with this outfit would be fairly well dressed.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. Here you can depend on getting anything and everything your heart desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remnants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

MR. WHITNEY'S TOUR

Conservative Leader Opens Out at London.

ATTACKS THE HARDY GOVERNMENT

A Fairly Well Attended Meeting in the New Celebrated Conservative Club—Mining Policy and Educational Department Criticised—Direct Taxation Prophesied.

London, June 7.—(Special.)—Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Local Legislature, opened his promised political tour throughout Western Ontario by a grand rally this evening in London. He arrived in company with several of his ablest lieutenants in the House, Messrs. Miscampbell, St. John, Dr. Willoughby, Col. Matheson and Thomas Magwood, and during the afternoon these gentlemen held a lengthy consultation in the Tecumseh House. Considerable preparation was made for the event by the Conservative party of this city, and the auditorium of the Conservative Club, the building which has become historic during the last Dominion election, was decorated and placed in condition for the evening meeting. One large sheet of white cotton, which was spread under the first gallery, bore the inscription, "Welcome to Whitney, Ontario's Next Premier," while another above the platform read, "London's Favorite, Major Beattie." The meeting was well attended, but by no means crowded, and with the exception of two occasions during its progress, once when Mr. Whitney was introduced by the chairman, and again at the close of the proceedings, little enthusiasm was manifested.

Major Beattie, M. P., spoke briefly in opening the meeting. They were all gratified, he said, and should be so that Mr. Whitney had come to London to deliver the opening address of the campaign. Mr. Whitney, though not as well known to the people of London as Sir William Meredith, was well liked and respected by them, and he could assure them that he was held in the highest esteem by the people in the eastern portion of the province. In his opinion, Mr. Beattie continued, the elections in Ontario were not far off, and every Conservative should be ready for the contest.

Mr. Magwood expressed the most lively gratification that Mr. Whitney had decided to begin his campaign in London, because the London Conservatives were good fighters, as they had shown in the last election held in the city. Mr. Magwood then referred to the coming into the Premiership of Mr. Hardy, and said that, notwithstanding all promises, the affairs of the country were being conducted on the same old objectionable plan. He was present to-night as a farmer, and the Government had claimed to have done much for the farmers; but he found that whenever they did anything for the public it was with a purpose of helping some friend by making an office for him. This had always been the case with all grants for helping the agricultural interests. There was the Agricultural College at Guelph. The Conservatives did not object to this college, but they contended that the amount of money spent on this institution was very greatly in excess of the benefit obtained from it.

Lieut.-Col. Matheson followed Mr. Magwood. He paid a pleasant compliment to London, which he compared to Kingston as a historic Conservative stronghold. He then spoke of the power and importance of the Provincial Legislature, and how necessary it was that the Administration should be well and honestly conducted. The present Government claimed to be an economical one, but he thought that their record for the past few years was enough to damn any Administration in this respect. He then entered into an exhaustive consideration of the public accounts of the province, which, he said, had been mixed and muddled until the bottom of them could hardly be arrived at.

Mr. Miscampbell, who was the next called upon to address the meeting, devoted his time chiefly to censuring the Government for its policy in regard to the timber assets of the province. He charged that the claim that we had unlimited timber resources here was not founded on fact. He had proved in the House that we had not half of what was claimed. The last return of the Commissioner of Crown Lands proved this. He appealed to every workingman, to every merchant and to every citizen of the city of London to consider these matters carefully and vote for the election of a Government which would administer the affairs of the province with due regard to economy.

Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition, rose to speak at 9.45 o'clock. He was introduced in some complimentary words by the chairman, and was well received by the meeting, the gentlemen on the platform and the large proportion of the audience rising to cheer him. Some of the younger men in the hall, presumably Young Conservatives, started the couplet, "He's a Daisy," and "We'll Meet Him Just Now." When the burst of enthusiasm had subsided an address was presented him by the chairman:

Mr. Whitney said that this was the best evidence of friendship to himself and to those who with him were fighting the battle of good government in the Legislature. He would not, however, make any separate remarks in regard to the address, but would confine himself to what he had intended saying about the position of affairs in the country. He might be allowed to say, however, that to any man in his position the opportunity of addressing a London audience—of making before them the opening speech of his campaign—was a distinct pleasure, because it was their city which had sent to the House the illustrious man who had been more than once mentioned to-night (Sir William Meredith).

Mr. Whitney spoke of the relation of the provinces to the Dominion, and said that the intention of those who had given us the Act of Confederation was that in each of the provinces there should be an economical, stable and efficient government, which would take care that the expenditure did not exceed the revenue, so that the province should not run into debt.

Referring to the audit account, he said that an audit should be of great service and should be properly furnished or it was worth nothing at all. In Federal affairs there was an Auditor-General, before whom every, even the smallest, item of public expenditure came. There was no such officer in Ontario. There was, indeed, an auditor, but he had simply to say that the amounts given him were properly added up. His services, therefore, were practically worthless.

Mr. Whitney then turned his attention to the educational system of the province. He said that The Globe, which had always treated him fairly, had said a few days ago that the Conservative members, if not himself, were opposed to High Schools. This was an old, exploded falsehood. The fact was that he had always spoken in favor of High Schools. What they wanted, however, was to do a little more for the common schools of the province. There were 93 per cent. of the pupils of the province who began and ended their education in the Public Schools. The Public Schools were thus the university of the masses, and it was right that we should now consider them, having all we needed for higher education, and see if the people who composed the 93 per cent. could not get some little increased quality in the education furnished to them. His efforts together with the agitation throughout the country had been fruitful of some results, and they now had what were called continuation classes in the Public Schools. Mr. Whitney said that there was widespread dissatisfaction with the educational system throughout the province. The Minister had chosen to make himself an autocrat. The Administration of this department, Mr. Whitney said, was rotten at the top and was affected throughout every branch. He stated that unnecessary money was expended on examinations by the people—examinations which were unnecessary from every point of view. The Minister had at length recognized this, and had announced in a letter to the Toronto papers that some of these examinations need not be taken. The whole educational system, Mr. Whitney said, ought to be changed.

As to the mining bill he said that it was contrary to the principle which the Conservatives stood by, that every facility should be given to the individual prospector.

Mr. Whitney dealt at some length with the license bill, ridiculing it and stating that the Cabinet were divided upon it. The Opposition had been asked to state its position but had declined. It was the Government's fault, and the Opposition did not propose to help the Government out of the hole into which they had tumbled.

The Eagledue deal, which the speaker called their Eagledue steal, was referred to at length. He accused Premier Hardy of swallowing his principles, as Mr. Hardy had previously announced that large tracts of mineral lands should not be locked up. It was a shameful and iniquitous transaction. All stories of landlordism and tyranny fell flat beside this act, which took from the people of Ontario their gold-bearing lands, of which they needed all, and gave them to a syndicate from "God knows where."

Mr. Whitney concluded by outlining the policy of the Opposition. It pledged itself to husband Provincial resources, to stop the erection of new offices, to curtail expenditures, that direct taxation might be avoided, to introduce a system of auditing which would be a protection instead of a detriment to the Treasury, to formulate a liberal mining law, by which the interests of the individual settler and miner would be considered before those of syndicates and corporations, to improve the facilities and enlarge the scope of the Public schools and maintain the high standard of the Collegiate Institutes, to sever the Toronto University from Government control, to expend more care and watchfulness in the expenditure for agriculture, to have the license laws in line with common sense and public opinion, and not shirk the responsibilities thrust upon them, and to investigate the timber limits with a view to their protection.

Cheers were given for Mr. Whitney and other speakers, and the Queen, after which the meeting broke up.

ABOUT PROHIBITION.

Methodist Deputation Waits on the Government.

REV. A. C. COURTICE AS SPOKESMAN

The Views of the Methodists Presented Clearly and Forcibly by the Editor of The Guardian—Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. Davies and Fisher Reply.

Ottawa, June 7.—(Special.)—Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. L. H. Davies and Hon. Sydney A. Fisher were the Ministers who received the delegation of the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church this evening, who met them in Mr. Laurier's room at 8, to tackle the Government on the prohibition question. The deputation was composed of clerical and lay delegates to the conference, headed by Mr. W. H. Lambly of Inverness, Que., and including Revs. Dr. Saunders, Manly Benson, M. H. Byckman, F. Chisholm, G. O. Huxtable, T. G. Williams, Thomas Griffith, William Blair, J. E. Waverly, A. Lee Holmes, John Gibson, John Wilson, John Grenfell, John Scanlon and several lay delegates.

Mr. Lambly, by way of introducing the deputation, read the resolution passed by conference in the forenoon, setting forth the pledges of the Government on the question, and the desires of the conference as to the submission of the matter to the people as a single and distinct issue. Rev. A. C. Courtice, editor of The Christian Guardian, set forth the position of the conference upon the question in a terse and pointed address. In the past, he said, people had looked upon Government dealings with prohibition as designed to shelve the question. Even the Royal Commission had been so regarded by some, and he would not like the people to fall into the habit of charging the present Government with such intentions. Sir John Thompson, during his Premiership, however, said that the Government had no intention of enacting prohibition, and it would be useless for them to ask for it. That was rather shocking to the temperance people, yet they could not but admire his manly frankness. So, if this Government had no intention of submitting a prohibition bill, let them say so, and let the temperance people know what to expect. But if the Government did believe that prohibition of the liquor traffic was a higher plane of national life than licensing it for purposes of revenue, then they should say so and introduce as soon as possible a law that would carry that out. It had been hinted that the result of the Ontario plebiscite was merely the expression of a theoretical opinion. If the Government held that view they had better throw the thing overboard. But the announcements of the Premier led the temperance people to expect better things.

He acknowledged that they felt disappointed that the plebiscite bill had not been put through this session, as promised in the speech from the throne. But they were told that the absence of the Premier and the exigencies of the occasion required its postponement, and they were disposed to agree that it was, perhaps, wiser, under such circumstances, to delay it, and condone the delay. Yet, while temperance people accepted the situation, he would say that too many such disappointments would not be so happily received. [Hear, hear.] As to the form in which the question was to be submitted to the people, he would assure the Government the temperance interests would not favor its being incorporated with the issue of direct taxation. That would impose on them the burden of a double campaign. The utterances of the public men of this country was calculated to lead public opinion away from direct taxation."

"Not all of them," interrupted Sir Richard Cartwright.

Well, perhaps Sir Richard was one exception, continued Mr. Courtice, but there were not many public men in Canada who had the strength to stand up on the public platform and advocate direct taxation. Thus being so, it was not fair to oblige the temperance element to assume the responsibility of educating people the other way, indeed, these were those who claimed it was making them play with loaded dice. On the simple issue of destroying the liquor traffic they were, however, prepared to go to the country. They preferred the vote should be taken on the new franchise, on which the next Dominion House would be elected; either that, or on the Provincial or municipal list, but worst of all would it be to fall back on the antiquated lists on which the last Dominion elections were fought. If it was to be held that prohibition should be enforced by the Provincial authorities, then let the Provincial lists be used. Apart from that the municipal lists, representing the sober, solid thought of the people, were preferable. What carried the Sunday car issue in Toronto, he said, was the 8000 registered voters, representing the young men who were anxious for a fast life.

After some remarks by Mr. Hilliard, Rev. Manly Benson spoke. He assured the Ministers they had no desire to embarrass the Government. They were satisfied to let it go over till next session, but they did not want the question loaded down with anything else. That issue of direct taxation would divide the temperance vote and frighten the poorer classes.

"Now," said spokesman Lambly, "these men, Sir Richard, vote as they pray," and he added there were 1500 people in the Methodist Church awaiting the Government's reply, and the delegates wanted to take them a straight answer.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in response to this appeal, complimented the delegation on their patience in putting up with a postponement. He blamed the Opposition, who threatened to keep the House sitting till September if the Government attempted to pass the Franchise Bill before a plebiscite was held. Besides, there was Mr. Laurier's absence, not only because he wanted to attend the Queen's jubilee, but because he had been invited to England to confer with the Imperial authorities on matters of great moment. However, the plebiscite bill would be passed early next session, and the House would be called again in a few months. The Government recognized the importance of this question being presented on a franchise that would give a full and free expression of public opinion. "As to the other point," said Sir Richard, "I don't think direct taxation is an unmixed evil. But that is merely my individual opinion and my colleagues are not to be bound by it."

He agreed that the temperance people should not be obliged to make a double campaign, and the question should not be brought up at a time when other political questions would likely be mixed with it.

"Then we go away with the assurance the matter will be kept down to the one question?" suggested Mr. Lambly earnestly.

"I cannot, of course, discuss details," replied Sir Richard.

He went on at once to say that if it were the will of the people to adopt prohibition the Government would carry it out. [Hear, hear.] As to the loss of revenue involved, well, if the people lay upon the Government the burden of meeting it, the Government would divert it to the best of their ability. For the rest, he fully recognized the force of their arguments and would take care that they were very fully brought before his colleagues.

Hon. Mr. Fisher assured the deputation

COLDSPRINGS, OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

"A complete success" properly describes the ninth anniversary of Coldsprings Union Sunday school, held on May 30th and 31st.

On Sunday Rev. J. G. Potter gave an interesting address to those assembled, and Mr. J. Herman Beer, formerly assistant superintendent, added a few words of greeting.

Tea was served by the ladies on Monday evening in their usual excellent style, after which a programme of addresses, music, etc., was rendered. Miss Anderson, Miss Robertson, Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, Mr. Anderson, Mr. T. Petrie and others assisted in the musical line.

Addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Potter, Mr. Glover and Mr. H. P. Kennedy. A letter of greeting was read from Mr. R. A. Ward. Through illness Mr. M. W. Matchett was unable to be present.

A very enjoyable time was spent by all, and a handsome sum was added to the treasury.

OMEMEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

There has not been such a backward wet season for years.

There was an unusually large attendance at our churches on Sunday. It was communion day at the Rev. Mr. McCann's Episcopal church.

Meeting of the township council to-day, when reports will be heard regarding a path for the village and Agricultural Society.

Mr. Spellman, Manager of the Omemee House, is keeping up the popularity of this hotel and patrons of the House say that Calcutt's excellent lager beer is a fine substitute for the advance on whiskey and tobacco, and less injurious effects follow and very few cases of drunkenness.

Rev. Mr. McDermaid is to be the pastor of the Methodist church here. Rev. Newton Hill, the former pastor, goes to Belleville, and Mr. Garbutt assistant to Columbus. Both these places are to be congratulated on getting such able pastors.

John Kincaid, a former resident of here, mill owner and lumber dealer, is entreated by his numerous friends to return and embark in the same enterprise.

The Downeyville church picnic proved a grand success, netting $460 clear—to be devoted towards the recent improvements on the church. Mr. Austin, of Kinmount, the coming member for East Victoria, and John Flavelle, of Lindsay, were noticed on the grounds.

The coming 12th of July celebration promises to draw a large crowd. Jos. Beatty will give all information.

BENGFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Sunday school excursion proved a greater success than was expected from the appearance of the weather in the morning. A very pleasant day was spent. The proceeds amounted to $17 after all expenses were paid, leaving a nice little margin in the funds of the school.

The Wildcats, like the mosquitoes, have again made their appearance with the warm weather. They are practicing twice a week, and will play any team which may happen to challenge them. A match game is likely to be arranged between them and Gore's Landing some time in the near future. In a "scratch" game the Wildcats should win hands down.

ABOUT PROHIBITION.

that the Government had no desire to push fast and loose with the question.

Then Mr. Davies assured the delegates that Mr. Laurier's strong personality in this matter rendered his presence indispensable in dealing with it. Mr. Laurier, as they knew, represented in such a great measure the people of Quebec, who in this, as in other questions so largely confided in him. "Even the bishops," interjected the spokesman at which the whole company laughed. Having put their hands to the plow, said Mr. Davies, the Government was not going to look back.

"Then we hope you will put it before the public in a shape that it will be a winning ticket," remarked Mr. Lumbly, with which observation from its spokesman the deputation withdrew.

Mr. Fielding gives notice of motion to-night that the Governor-in-Council may, from the School Fund of the Province of Manitoba, pay over from time to time to the Government of that province, at the request of said Government, such sum or sums as the Governor-in-Council deems proper, not exceeding altogether $300,000, to be spent by the Government of Manitoba in support and maintenance of the Public Schools of that province. This is quite a departure from the usual practice, hitherto interest on money derived from the sale of school lands having been paid to the province.

Vice-President Shaughnessy of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Judge Clark, the company's solicitor, were here to-day on business with the Government. In the course of conversation he said that if the Crow's Nest Pass Railway agreement goes through this session, he anticipated the company would have the line completed to the summit of the Rockies this year, and to Kootenay Lake by the end of next year. Until such time as the Columbia was bridged there would be a ferry car service on the Kootenay Lake to Nelson.

The Special Committee on the bills of Messrs. Casey and Maclean to promote the safety of railway employes met this morning to consider their report to the House. It was decided that the automatic device to be attached to the air brake, to notify the engineer if anything went wrong, should not be made obligatory until after two years from the time it appears to the Railway Committee of the Privy Council that an effective device exists. It was decided to drop the uniform room height, but a uniform draw bar height was adopted. Companies are to equip cars with both outside and end ladders. The arch iron hall asked for by the men was dropped. The compensation clause was amended so as to grant sixty per cent. of the current rate of wages for not more than one year for injury; three years' salary for total disability and four years' salary, not exceeding $4000, for death. Any employe who accepts this shall be debarred from any further claim.

Mr. Ridley's bill now before the British Parliament is the basis of these compensation clauses.

Mr. Powell protested against the practice in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, under which an employer is not held liable for damages arising out of accidents caused to one employe by the fault of a fellow-employe. At his motion a clause was added to the bill to be reported to the House prohibiting railway companies from pleading this non-liability.

Mr. Maclean's bill was approved of. It provides for all trains being equipped with air brakes and automatic couplers. A locomotive engineer must have been a fireman for three years on a locomotive engine before being an engineer, and a conductor must have first served three years as a brakesman. Railway companies must furnish employes with a certificate specifying the time and nature of service by such employes. Penalties are provided for the enforcement of the Act. An effort was made to get the bills through the House to-night, but Sir Charles Tupper's objection that the amendments were not printed was fatal to them under the rules, hence the bills will have to go over until next session.

There are at least three more Government measures to be introduced this session. One of these is to permit the sawmill owners along the Ottawa River to deposit sawdust in the river for a season longer.

In 1895 a bill became law by which the practice of choking up the streams with sawdust was to cease, but due time was provided under the statute for the lumbermen to change the system by which their refuse material is disposed of. The bill will be presented to Parliament this week. Mr. Davies gave notice of it to-night.

Mr. Mulock gives notice of a bill to amend the Postoffice Act, legalizing the creation of the new branch—the railway mail clerks' branch.

There is a probability that the Dragoons, the Grenade and the 43rd Rifles may all go to Montreal for the 22nd June, and take part in the Jubilee celebration, which will be held in that city on that date. All these corps have been invited.

As the season advances, immigration returns furnished to the Interior Department give indication of a healthy flow of population to Canada. The results so far received are encouraging. There are many people coming in from the United States and from Europe than at any time during recent years.

Senator D. Ferguson received word to-day that his son, Mr. W. S. Ferguson, has been elected a fellow of Cornell University. Besides the honour, there goes with it a grant of $500 per annum, good for two years.

Hon. W. Jennings Bryan, the great Democratic orator, addressed a thousand people in Bidwell Rink to-night on bimetallism. Several members of the Government were present, and a large representation from both Houses. Mr. Bryan visited the Houses of Parliament this afternoon, and was cordially received.

Mr. Fielding also gives notice for power to the Governor-in-Council to repay to any person dismissed from the public service the amount contributed by such person to the superannuation fund, with interest to date, to be determined by the House.

Members of both Houses are to be allowed the usual 12 days' absence, so that the regular deduction of $8 a day will not be made for this period of absence.

The Methodist Conference passed a congratulatory address to the Queen this afternoon.

The Triennial Council of Orangeism meets in Glasgow about the middle of July. There will be delegates from Canada, as well as from Australia and the United States. Hon. Charles Wallace, grand sovereign, will preside over the affairs of the council.

Major Sam Hughes, M.P., leaves for England to-morrow. He will be the guest of Sir Donald Smith while in London.

Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen has received a cable from Sir Donald Smith, giving $2000 to the Victorian Order of Nurses, and offers another $3000 as soon as $100,000 has been contributed in donations of from one to five thousand each.

STRONGLY RECOMMENDS IT.

Like scores of other clergymen who have been made vigourous and strong by the use of Paine's Celery Compound the Rev. J. D. Leishman, of Angus, Ont., with all honesty and candor, acknowledges the blessings that the great medicine confers on those who make use of it.

Such testimony as the following should prove helpful and encouraging to every weak, ailing and broken-down man and woman.

Rev. Mr. Leishman says:—

"I have always found Paine's Celery Compound an excellent nerve tonic, and have frequently recommended it to persons suffering from nervous debility and sleeplessness. I believe it to be a most powerful medicine. It also purifies the blood and revives the system. Give it a fair trial and it will in these cases be found helpful."

BILLS CROWDED OUT.

A Number of Measures Have to Go Over.

MR. CASEY'S BICYCLE BILL PASSED

Mr. Davies, As Leader of the House, Replies to a Question Regarding the Alaska Boundary — Other Questions Replied to by Ministers—House Proceedings.

Ottawa, June 7.—(Special.)—At the opening of the House Mr. Casey presented the report of the special committee to which was referred the bills providing for the safety of railway employes, and moved to place these bills on the order paper.

Mr. McMullen put in a plea for other public bills, which he did not wish crowded out. This brought up the whole question of time to be given to public bills. Mr. Davies, who was leading the House in the temporary absence of Sir Richard Cartwright, said the Government were in the hands of the House. Their hope was to get through before June 21, but if the House was to go on with all the orders on the paper they might have to sit here all through July. Some members pointed out that some of the bills had been delayed for three sessions. One session Mr. Davin said the House had to be adjourned because a certain exalted personage wanted to go fishing; there were cries of "name," but Mr. Davin would not name.

"He just meant fishing," said Mr. Foster, smiling.

Mr. Casey's motion finally carried, Mr. Foster pointing out that the Government had already intimated its policy to take away all private members' days after this. Mr. Casey suggested that the Government might change its mind, and another member spoke of putting these bills on the Government's orders.

In reply to Mr. Roche, the Controller of Customs said that J. F. Tennant, sub-collector at Gretna, Man., had been dismissed on the recommendation of Mr. Richardson, M. P., on the charge of offensive partisanship. He was notified of the charge and his reply was received. Mr. McDougall was informed that Michael McNeil, preventive officer at Grand Narrows, C. B., had been dismissed for taking a partisan part in the elections, on the recommendation of Dr. Kendall of Sydney and Mr. S. C. Campbell. An investigation was made by Capt. Bloomfield Douglas. The report could be brought down.

Sir Hibbert Tupper was told that the appointment of a keeper for the marine hospital at Bunker Island was made in January, 1897, but Mrs. John L. Cain, who had been allowed to remain there since the death of her husband, the former keeper, in 1892, was to be compensated for her expenditure on building and fences and for furniture, $133 in all.

Mr. Davies said that the Premier's compulsory absence from Parliament attending the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty will necessitate the postponement of several measures which it was the intention of the Government to recommend to Parliament this session. Amongst these are the franchise and plebiscite bills. [Opposition laughter.] The Government has concluded that as the former bill ought to determine the franchise on which the plebiscite should be taken, and as the Premier was personally desirous of being present when they were under consideration by the House, it was necessary to postpone further action with respect to them until next session. The details of the plebiscite bill will be announced on its introduction. [Opposition, hear, hear.]

Replying to a question by Mr. Morrison, Mr. Davies said that according to the report the amendment proposed by the United States Senate to the Alaska boundary treaty, in effect, is that their agreeing to the terms of the treaty in this form (accepting Mount St. Elias as an initial part of the 141st meridian boundary) was not to be understood as involving a concession of anything on their part that might be deemed advisable to make to a proper boundary.

Mr. Morrison, later, secured the adoption of a motion for a return of correspondence, reports and papers in connection with the demarcation of the Alaskan frontier. Mr. Morrison will take an opportunity to express his view that Canada should insist upon being consulted previous to ratification of the treaty in its amended form.

Mr. Davies told Mr. Lemieux that the question of appointing an immigration agent at New York is under consideration by the Government. The department has appointed agents at the following places in the United States: One each at Detroit and Reed City, Mich.; Watertown, South Dakota; St. Paul, Minn., and Salina, Kansas. There are four traveling immigration agents and 10 salaried agents in all, and 61 agents employed in Michigan and Dakota, who are paid by results.

Mr. Lemieux was informed that the Government had decided to take part in the Paris Exposition of 1900, and that the Minister of the Interior is now arranging for space.

Mr. Tarte informed Mr. Lemieux that the Government would call for competitive tenders for the erection of a monument commemorative of the Jubilee of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, as soon as the necessary funds were provided by Parliament. The competition for the monument is not to be limited to Canadian artists. On motion of Mr. Casey to have his and Mr. Maclean's bills for protection of railway employes, which were reported on by a special committee, put on the order paper announcing public bills, Mr. McMullen protested vigorously against any bills being now given precedence over some pet measures of his own, which were being ruthlessly slaughtered.

Mr. Davies pointed out that Mr. Casey's bills would only come in at the foot of the list.

Mr. Ingram suggested that Mr. Casey's bills be made Government measures, as otherwise they would never be reached.

Mr. Davies said if the House wanted to prorogue by Jubilee Day, it would be impossible to deal with the private bills, but, of course, the Government was in the hands of the House.

Mr. Foster retorted that the House had disposed of this matter by deciding that after to-day every day would be a Government day, which means that for the balance no private bills could be dealt with, but simply Government measures. It might gratify Mr. Casey to have his bill to appear in print on the order paper. It would look very pretty, but no useful object would be served.

Mr. Oliver moved the following resolution: That the Calgary and Edmonton Railway Company, the Regina, Long Lake and Qu'Appelle Railway Company, the Manitoba Northwestern Railway Company and the Alberta Railway and Coal Company have become entitled to large areas of land in the Northwest Territories;

That only a part of these lands have as yet been scheduled as the property of the companies, and only a much smaller part has been patented;

That only the part which has been patented is taxable; that no intent was expressed by Parliament, in the Act under which these companies became entitled to these lands, that they should be exempt from taxation for municipal and educational purposes; that by failing to patent to the railway companies their lands as soon as earned, the Government has given them an exemption from taxation contrary to the intent of Parliament, and greatly to the detriment of the settlers of the Northwest, who are thereby compelled to bear that share of the necessary municipal and school taxation which should be borne by these railway companies; therefore, in the opinion of this House, measures should forthwith be taken by the Government to issue patents to those companies for all the lands to which they are entitled, so that these lands may become taxable at the earliest possible date, according to the intent of Parliament when the Act granting the lands was passed.

Mr. Oliver supported his resolution in a brief speech.

Messrs. Davin, Davis and Rutherford endorsed the resolution.

Sir Charles Tupper urged that it would be wise to proceed cautiously, and to ascertain the intent of the Act on this matter. If agreements with the railway companies were broken, it might give rise to a charge of bad faith, and, moreover, might lead to difficulties in connection with railway companies making their financial arrangements.

After a few observations from Mr. McMullen, Hon. Mr. Davies said Mr. Oliver had rendered good service in bringing this subject to the attention of Parliament. He could inform him, however, that the matter was receiving attention at the hands of the Minister.

Mr. Oliver, in withdrawing his motion, said the Northwest did not want any more railways at the price they had paid for those mentioned in his motion. The money stolen in connection with the Calgary and Edmonton and Regina and Long Lake Railways had bought up the Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg street railways.

Mr. Britton moved for correspondence between this Government and the Government of the United States in reference to an equalization or re-adjustment of the coasting laws, rules and regulations in force in the two countries, and in reference to any arrangement or proposal for any arrangement under which Canadian vessels shall be granted by the American Government and officials the same privileges as those accorded to American vessels by the Canadian authorities under the laws, rules and regulations now in force. He pointed out that the reciprocal wrecking law prevailed in theory, but not in fact. American steamers were not subject to inspection in Canadian waters, but the United States authorities would not accept the Canadian certificate of equipment. Then, with regard to coasting, the Americans would not permit a Canadian vessel to carry passengers from one American port to another, notwithstanding the fact that the vessels had called at an intermediate Canadian port. The Canadian law imposed no such restrictions on American vessels. He gave several instances of unfair discrimination against Canadian vessels.

Hon. Mr. Davies said since he took charge of the Marine Department his attention had not been called to this matter. If, as Mr. Britton had shown, Canadian vessels had grievances, the matter was one which the Government might fairly deal with. He would call the attention of his officers to the matter.

The motion passed.

Mr. Davis (Liberal, Saskatchewan) moved for copies of all petitions, letters and other papers respecting scrip for the half-breeds in the Northwest Territories, and to approve of claims of half-breeds born in the Northwest Territories between July 1, 1870 and July 1, 1885.

Mr. Davin pointed out that the Premier had already promised to deal with this matter during recess.

Accordingly Mr. Davis withdrew his motion.

After recess, consideration in committee of Dr. Guay's bill to incorporate the St. Lawrence pilots was deferred, pending the printing of the amendments thereto.

Mr. Britton's bill respecting the Kingston and Pembroke Railway was read a third time.

Sir Charles Tupper asked for promised papers in reference to the extension of the I.C.R. to Montreal and the Kingston Military College changes. As to the latter it might be worth while considering the usefulness of an institution which was to be practically in competition with other educational institutions.

Sir Richard Cartwright gave assurances that the military character of the institution would not be impaired.

The House having gone into committee on Mr. Taylor's Alien Labor bill, the promoter protested that it had been emasculated out of all usefulness.

Mr. Davies held that the provision of the original bill, enabling anyone to institute proceedings, was most objectionable.

Mr. Ross Robertson thought the act should be guarded against indiscriminate use, else the dignity of Canada was at stake. He thought the time had come, however, to apply the old maxim of an eye for an eye.

After some further protests against the colorless character of the bill, it was reported and read a third time.

Sir Charles Tupper protested against consideration in committee of Mr. Casey's bill affecting the safety of railway employes, on the ground that the bill had not been re-printed with amendments.

Mr. Casey pleaded in vain for assurances of further opportunity to consider the bill, so progress was reported.

Mr. Casey's bicycle bill was read a third time and passed.

Mr. McMullen's bill, providing for the appointment of inspectors to settle disputes between cheese buyers and factorymen, was laid on the shelf till next session. It was strongly opposed, among others by Mr. Maclaren, as a practical manufacturer and dealer in cheese. The House adjourned at 11.30 p.m.

This compact, neat, safe, secure and sanitary contrivance which can be attached to some convenient place outside the dwelling, consists of a nicely japanned metal case, properly ventilated, containing a portable vessel for receiving the daily supply of milk; the cover of the outer case has a ticket holder attached to it; the housekeeper places the vessel in the Delivery Box and a ticket in the holder; the milkman coming on his rounds lifts the cover, takes out the ticket, puts in the required quantity of milk, closes the box and departs, without disturbing the inmates of the house in any way, a very great convenience especially on Sunday mornings.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

WARDEN'S ANNUAL ADDRESS PRESENTED.

Referred to Committee of the Whole Council—An Invitation to Attend the Farmers' Institute Picnic.

June 8th, 1897.

The County Council met in regular session at the Council Chamber this afternoon.

There were present the Warden, Mr. Anderson, in the chair, and Messrs. Moloney, Casement, Middleton, Brown, Fitzgerald, Shaw, Eastland, Pearse and Burnham.

After routine, Mr. Anderson read as follows the WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

To the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—This year is of special interest to us as the year of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, who has presided over the councils of the Empire during the longest reign in British history.

Not only is it the longest reign, but it is the best, and from one end of her dominions to the other her subjects are testifying their love and loyalty. On such an occasion the members of the County Council of the County of Peterborough no doubt have been looking forward to expressing their united loyalty to her person and her crown.

It will be fitting therefore for us to adopt means to carry out our wishes, and I would suggest that an address expressive of our sentiment be drawn up and duly forwarded to Her Majesty.

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society proposes, with the consent of the county, to commemorate to some extent our Queen's Jubilee by naming the Court House Park "Victoria Park" hereafter. I recommend that this proposition be acceded to.

You will remember that in January the Road and Bridge Committee, in their report, referred the consideration of certain matters to a special meeting of the council to be called by me in April. When we met in connection with the Trent Valley Canal deputation, we had an opportunity of discussing and deciding on matters requiring immediate attention and, therefore, after consulting with some of the members of this council, felt that it was not necessary that the council should meet in April.

COUNTY VALUATION.

In June, 1889, the county council appointed Wm. Drummond and Samuel McKibbin county valuators for the purpose of valuating the real property within the county. They made their report in June, 1890, and the valuators' report was used as the basis of the calculation of the real property for the following five years. As it is now seven years since the valuation was made you might perhaps deem it advisable that a new valuation be made this year.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

I have been informed by the clerk of the township of Asphodel, that the township has agreed with Mr. Tudhope for the right of way, 80 feet wide from the concession line between the 2nd and 3rd concessions of Asphodel, on lot 6, north of the river Ouse, to the present traveled road westward on the line between lots 5 and 6, con. 2.

MUD LAKE BRIDGE.

Owing to the heavy gale on the 19th April, the ice caused a jam which separated the bridge into five or six pieces, removing it some distance out of its position. The County Engineer having notified me that the bridge had given away, together with him I visited the bridge and saw that men were at work repairing it. The repairs were made and traffic resumed with as little delay as possible notwithstanding the very rough weather. Considering the fact that every year this bridge breaks away through action of the ice and and wind and that the bridge to be of any use requires to be practically rebuilt, I would suggest to the council the advisability of giving the question of the further maintenance of the bridge their serious consideration.

WALLACE POINT BRIDGE.

I have been notified that those in charge of scows passing through the bridge, through carelessness allow their scows to run up against the glance piers and booms with such force as to damage them. To such an extent has this been the practice that recently repairs which cost about $10.00 had to be made to the piers, etc., and since the repairs have been made the piers, etc., have been again damaged.

PRESTON BRIDGE, BELMONT.

Your Engineer has prepared plans and specifications for a new structure to replace the present bridge. When I visited it I found it in a very dilapidated condition.

PAINTING OF BRIDGES.

In compliance with your instructions tenders were invited for the repainting of the several bridges referred to in the general report of the Road and Bridge Committee. The bridges are being cleaned and repainted. The paint was furnished by the council, and by buying for all the bridges in one lot, an extra quality of paint was obtained at about wholesale prices. The work of cleaning and painting was let by tender at, I think, reasonable rates.

KINMOUNT AND BENSFORT BRIDGES.

During the recent session of the Ontario Legislature a bill was introduced by the member for East Victoria, which apparently had for its object the placing of the burden upon this county of the maintenance of a bridge across the Burnt river at Kinmount. After discussion in the Legislature the bill was defeated, the members for East and West Peterborough strenuously and successfully opposing the measure. A bill was also introduced, the effect of which would have been to make Bensfort Bridge a boundary bridge, and to be maintained by the united counties of Northumberland and Durham and the County of Peterborough. I had arranged with the Wardens of the united counties for joint action in opposing the bill if necessary, but owing to the objections on the part of the United Counties and Peterborough, the bill was withdrawn.

COUNTY BUILDING.

Some necessary repairs have been made to the jail yard walls, jailor's residence and Court House chimneys.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION.

In compliance with the resolution adopted by you, the council as a body joined a deputation to Ottawa to urge upon the Government the necessity of a further grant for the continuation of the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. The deputation was the largest and most influential that has ever appeared before the Government at Ottawa, which shows the interest evinced by the county at large, there being representatives from all along the line of the canal, from the Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte. No committee room in the House being found of sufficient size to hold so large a deputation, the deputation was received on the floor of the House of Commons, in a most gracious manner by the Premier, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. Mr. Mulock, Post Master General, who were so impressed by the arguments and reasons advanced by the deputation for the necessity of the early completion of the canal from a national point of view, that they all expressed themselves satisfied as to its necessity, and promised the completion of the work as speedily as the finances of the country would admit.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. ANDERSON, Warden.

June 8th, 1897.

On motion of Mr. J. B. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Burnham, the Warden's address was referred to the Committee of the Whole Council.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC.

Mr. Wm. Collins, president of the West Riding Farmers' Institute, was heard, and on behalf of the Farmers' Institute, extended a cordial invitation to the members of the county council to unite with the members in their annual picnic at Jubilee Point.

Referred on motion of Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

The council adjourned.

OFF FOR CAMP.

The Third Regiment, Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, Leaves for Kingston.

The platform at the local Grand Trunk depot was bright with scarlet uniforms and burnished accoutrements this morning as "C" Squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons assembled there to embark with their horses for camp.

The local squadron is composed of forty-two mounted troopers and seven unmounted men, besides the officers. Four passenger coaches, four horse cars and a baggage car composed the special train, which left at about 9 o'clock for the Kingston camp ground. The Durham Squadron of fifty more troopers and their officers, joined the regiment at Millbrook, and the Northumberland Squadron was taken on at Colborne, the Prince Edward county men going down by boat.

The special train was due to arrive at Kingston at two o'clock in the afternoon and the men are expected to put in 12 days' drill. On June 15th the camp will be joined by four batteries, including the Durham Field battery. On the 22nd another brigade will occupy the camp ground, the 3rd regiment leaving for home on the 26th, after being inspected by General Gascoigne.

Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, of Peterborough, is the Commanding Officer of the 3rd Regiment, which, by special privileges conferred by the Prince of Wales when in Canada in 1860, is allowed to term itself "The Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons." By the request of General Herbert the regiment has adopted the scarlet uniform with yellow facings and consequently their appearance is especially brilliant.

The other staff officers from Peterborough are Major Greenwood, Adjutant Cockburn, Quarter-Master Stapleton, Vet. Surgeon Johnston and Chaplain Rev. H. Symonds.

The officers of the local squadron are Capt. Johnston, Otonabee; Lt. W. H. Bradburn, Peterborough; Lt. E. Tait, Lakefield, and Lt. Geo. Hall, Otonabee.

The arrangements made by the Grand Trunk for the transportation of the troops was admirable. The special train which was to leave Peterborough at 9 o'clock was actually sent off five minutes ahead of time.

LAUNCH OF THE ECLIPSE.

The New Steamer is Modelled on Very Graceful Lines.

Commodore Calcutt's new steamer, the "Eclipse," was launched this morning at half past nine o'clock, and as she gently slipped from the ways into the waters of the Little Lake, Miss Maggie Calcutt broke a bottle of the Commodore's sparkling Jubilee lager on the bow, and christened the new boat.

As the "Eclipse" rode upon the waves her lines were greatly admired for their gracefulness, and the model is certainly one of the prettiest which has been launched from the Ashburnham dock yards.

The hull is 65 feet long, with a beam of 12 feet. It is painted black, and the upper works will be white. She will draw about three feet of water, will be driven by a screw, and is expected to have a speed of about thirteen miles an hour. Accommodation can be provided for about 200 passengers.

The steamer will be in charge of Capt. Charles Calcutt, and will run from the Otonabee and Rice Lake ports to Peterborough.

Mr. Hickey of Port Hope, was the builder, and his work speaks for itself.

THE BRAKE SLIPPED.

And it was Only by one Chance in a Thousand That Edward Edwards Escaped With his Life.

Mr. Edward Edwards, of Longford, a stone cutter who is employed at the new C.P.R. bridge which is being built over the canal, had a very narrow escape from instant death this morning.

A huge block of granite was being swung into position by the crane when the brake slipped and the handles of the cranks were spun around with terrific velocity as the stone fell to the earth. Mr. Edwards was operating the windlass at the time and was struck beneath the arm by one of the handles. He was hurled to the ground, but escaped with only a slight injury to his arm.

Other workmen who witnessed the occurrence state that it was only by one chance in a thousand that Edwards escaped without being killed or having his arm torn off.

COUNTY COURT.

No Criminal Cases for the Grand Jury Pronounce Upon.

The County Court opened to-day at one o'clock before Judge Weller.

The Grand Jury is composed as follows: Matthew Coaker, A. L. Grover, P. H. Green, Peterborough; Alexander Davidson, Isaac Elliott, Smith; Robert Esson, Otonabee; Albert J. Fife, Asphodel; A. Mathieson, Havelock; G. A. Newberry, Chandos; George Scott, Belmont; Jno. N. Telford, Ennismore.

Mr. A. L. Grover was chosen foreman.

In addressing the Grand Jury, Judge Weller remarked that there seemed to be absolutely nothing for them to do at the sittings of this court in the way of criminal investigation. He then referred to the number of vagrants who were confined in the county gaol, and mentioned the fact that there was no House of Refuge for those who were in such reduced circumstances as to be unable to earn a livelihood. Cases were cited from the list furnished by the sheriff of vagrants at present in the gaol at the advanced ages of 77 and 78 years.

The only duty, the Judge remarked, which devolved upon the Grand Jury was to visit the inmates of the gaol and inspect the premises. The members were also at liberty to visit and report upon the condition of all local institutions which received the public money.

The first case taken up was that of the Queen vs. Samuel Smiley, in which the prisoner is charged with the theft of marsh hay. The prosecution was conducted by County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood, and Kerr, Gladman & Kerr appeared for the defendant.

THE VICTORIA BICYCLE CLUB.

A SUCCESSFUL MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT.

The Club Will Heartily Join With the Citizens in Celebrating the Diamond Jubilee—The District Race Meet Accepted.

A well-attended special meeting of the Victoria Bicycle club was held in their handsome new parlours last night, the president, Mr. A. H. Stratton, in the chair.

After routine there was an informal discussion over the proposition of the Royal Canadian Bicycle Club for the local club to organize a road race for July 19th. It was finally decided to decline to undertake the responsibility of organizing the race, nearly all the expense and responsibility and a minimum of advantage being at the Peterborough end.

A communication was received from Rev. E. V. Stevenson, stating that his numerous duties compelled him to decline the honour of accepting the position of chaplain. The secretary was instructed to write Rev. Mr. Stevenson, regretting his inability to occupy the position, and accepting his resignation.

A communication was received from Mr. A. L. Campbell, chief consul, asking the club to nominate a district consul and in accordance therewith, the club nominated Mr. F. J. Rogers as district consul and he accepted the position.

A communication was received from Mr. R. J. Wilson, Belleville, chairman of the District Racing Board, in reference to a district race meet circuit, and asking that the Victoria Club be included and also submitting a schedule of dates as follows:

Lindsay	July 29
Campbellford and Hastings	July 30
Belleville	July 31
Oshawa	August 2
Cobourg	August 3
Port Hope	August 4
Peterborough	August 5
Trenton	August 6
Picton	August 7
Kingston	August 9
Napanee	August 10

The club decided to enter the circuit and accept the date assigned Peterborough; and the Racing Board Committe of the Club was empowered to make the necessary arrangements for the local meet, and to wait upon the Peterborough Bicycle club and ask their co-operation.

The matter of the formal opening of the club rooms and arrangements for a smoker in connection, were discussed, and the date was fixed for Friday evening next, the admission fee to be 15 cents.

A motion was unanimously adopted that the Victoria Bicycle Club heartily unite with the Citizens Diamond Jubilee Committee, in the celebration of Her Majesty's Jubilee on June 25nd, and that the wheels of members for the occasion of the procession be decorated with the colours of the club, royal purple, gold and white.

Mr. Arthur McNee was appointed to the vacancy on the club's racing board.

The matter of the selection and procuring of a distinctive club badge was left with the executive committee.

After the consideration of some matters of internal economy the club adjourned to meet in regular meeting the first Monday in July.

TUESDAY JUNE 8, 1897.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION IN WORKING SHAPE.

THE PRELIMINARY DETAILS ARE NOW COMPLETE.

All of the Sub-Committees Have Prepared Their Reports and the Day's Programme has been Completed—The Matter of Society Badges Fully Discussed.

The Jubilee Demonstration meeting last evening was very large'y attended. In the absence of the mayor, Mr. J. S. McWilliams took the chair and called for the reports of the committees appointed at the last meeting.

Mr. J. M. White, chairman, submitted the report of the Morning Demonstration Committee as appended :

MORNING DEMONSTRATION.

1. That the societies' demonstration be held at nine o'clock in the morning. Your committee has written to the societies in town asking them to take part and also asking them to have representatives present this evening.

2. That a Jubilee souvenir badge be procured that can be sold to those taking part in the procession at a small figure and that these badges be the only regalia worn. Also that badges be furnished free to the members of the Boys' Brigades in the procession.

3. Your committee has given an invitation to Capt. Johnston and his troop of cavalry to take part and have reason to believe that they will do so.

4. That Mr. J. B. McWilliams be asked to act as Chief Marshall and that he select his assistants.

The report was taken up clause by clause and discussed and finally adopted.

Mr. H. LeBrun thought that, as was the case in Montreal, some feeling might be created if distinctive society badges were worn. All should wear the same badge, he thought.

Mr. Wm. Taylor was anxious to see the societies turn out in full regalia. The spectacle he thought would be more pleasing.

Mr. J. P. Bryson expressed himself as thinking that if all the societies wore the same badge there would be too much sameness in the procession. Each should wear its own badge, but the only banner carried should be the old Union Jack.

Dr. Ross was of the opinion that if the societies were allowed to wear their own badges a larger representation would turn out.

Mr. E. A. Kemp took the Doctor's view of the matter.

Mr. Richard Hall thought the matter should be left to the societies to decide for themselves.

Mr. H. Nesbitt would like to see the societies wear their own badges, but was willing to abide by the general decision.

Mr. James Stubbs urged that all should be willing to wear the same badge.

Mr. LeBrun again spoke, stating that on Jubilee day all should be as one, with no differences.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams thought that the Orangemen and the Roman Catholics could walk side by side on such an occasion, with nothing but harmony between them.

Mr. Cahill was positive that there would be no hard feeling evinced on Jubilee Day, but urged that nothing be done at which the most ignorant could take offence.

A vote was taken on the matter and a majority of those present were found to be in favour of the societies being simply adorned with a jubilee badge.

A meeting of society representatives is called for Saturday evening when the matter will be definitely settled.

The restriction does not apply to the bicycle clubs, the members of which be allowed to use any decorations which they see fit.

THE ILLUMINATION COMMITTEE, through its chairman, Mr. A. L. Davis, submitted the following report :

1. That this committee be allowed $100 for the purpose of illuminating in the evening.

2. That the Mayor be asked to request all citizens to illuminate their place of business and residences on the evening of the celebration.

The report was adopted.

THE DECORATION COMMITTEE,

through its Chairman, Councillor Cobb, reported as follows :

1. That $65 be appropriated for decoration, and that of this sum $20 be expended on the street intersections in the central part of the town, and that the balance be given in prizes for the best decorated and illuminated places of business and residences as follows : For business places two prizes, one of $10 and a second of $5, and for residences a first prize of $6 and a second prize of $4 ; also that Messrs. Peter Hamilton, Dr. George Burnham and Rev. H. Symonds be asked to act as judges and award the prizes.

2. That Messrs. Neil and Fair be a sub-committee to look after the decorations put up by the committee on George street, and Messrs. James Stevenson and R. M. Roy those on Water street.

The report was adopted.

A Printing Committee was appointed, composed of Messrs. J. H. Cobb, F. J. Jameson, F. Dobbin and T. E. Bradburn.

THE SPORTS COMMITTEE.

through Mr. H. LeBrun, reported as follows :

We, your Sports Committee, beg leave to report that we recommend the following as a list of sports to be carried out on Jubilee day, and which would necessitate an expenditure of $725 :

Races (horse)	$400 00
" (bicycle)	50 00
" (foot)	10 00
Lacrosse	75 00
Balloon	60 00
Special police	15 00
Incidentals	75 00
Grounds	40 00
	$725 00

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS.

2,000 people	$500 00
Entries	142 00
Grand stand	30 00
Privileges	20 00
	$692 00

Your Committee ask to be guaranteed against loss in event of bad weather or other causes.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. LEBRUN, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The joint committee of the town council and Messrs. Thos. Cahill, Richard Hall, Peter Campbell, Robt. Fair, T. E. Bradburn and H. LeBrun were appointed to wait on the county council and solicit a grant for the occasion. The committee will meet the council at 4 p.m. to day.

The next meeting of the general committee will be held on Monday evening next.

The secretary was instructed to send an invitation to both the Public and Separate School Boards to join the demonstration.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum was elected to the position of vice-chairman.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. R. R. Hall leaves this afternoon on a visit to her brother and mother at Traverse City, Michigan. The rumours of Mr. Theodore Ludgate's illness are incorrect. Mrs. Hall will be absent about a month.

One of the rising university men in America is Dr. W. H. Scofield, son of Mrs. J. C. Sherin, Lakefield. He graduated from Victoria University, located at Cobourg in 1889. After teaching a couple of years in the Collegiate Institute at Hamilton he went to Harvard, where he took his degree of doctor of philosophy. For the past two years he has been studying at Paris and Christiana, under the direction of Harvard. He now returns to take a position on the Harvard staff, and will this fall give a course of lectures on old French literature and old Norse, selections from the Sagas and the Elder Edda, etc.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

It is evident that the biggest crowd of the season will witness the match between the famous Tecumsehs, of Toronto, and the Peterboroughs on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Friday afternoon. The match will last over two hours actual play, so that those arriving on the grounds at five o'clock will see the best half of the match, as the Peterboroughs are great finishers and are in such perfect condition that they will play all the harder after the preliminary skirmishes.

The Tecumsehs won from every team in Canada last year, but the Capitals of Ottawa, and as the Peterboroughs were never beaten on their own grounds the match will be a close and intensely interesting one.

CRICKET.

The big practice net has arrived from Toronto for the Cricket Club. It is 7 x 45 feet in size and will save lots of back-stopping. In the same package a number of bats were recived for the juniors.

A few choice Jubilee Novelties arrived at Mrs. Appleby's. Also Perforated Patterns for stamping Jubilee designs. Water street Fancy Goods Store.

The Dining Room.

This is the room the average man sees the most of—make it pleasing to the eye and comfortable. It will not cost you much, and we will help to make it cost as little as possible by giving you dining room furniture at the closest prices. Then we have such a range of these goods that we are sure to please you. Call and see our extension tables, sideboards and dining chairs. They are worth seeing now even if you do not buy. Clegg's Furniture Warerooms, 425 and 427 George street.

Jubilee Garden Party.

The Young Women's Christian Association will, in honour of our Queen, show their loyalty on the evening of the 15th of June, by taking a prominent part in the Jubilee celebration, which part will be a jubilee garden party at "Castleknock," the grounds of Mr. Max Dennistoun, Water street. The beautiful grounds, the use of which has been granted to the ladies by Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, will be beautifully decorated with flags, Union Jacks, Chinese lanterns, and everything that will go to make the grounds attractive. A very enjoyable evening is anticipated, and we ask on behalf of the ladies, a most liberal patronage of the people of the town. Further announcements later.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S MIDNIGHT SESSION.

NO TIME FOR TALK—IT WAS ALL BUSINESS.

The File Cleared of a Heavy Budget—Grants Made to the Sub-Committees for the Jubilee Celebration.

In the absence of the Mayor, the chair at the regular meeting of the Council last night was taken by Councillor Best. The members present were Councillors Denne, LePlante, Robertson, Neill, Davis, Dawson, Cobb, McWilliams, Meldrum, Graham and White.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

We beg to submit the following report of the work performed on the streets during the past month, which consists almost entirely of water tabling of the streets and repairs to sidewalks. The streets on which such repairs have been made are as follows :—George, Water, McDonel, London, Waterford, Harvey, College, Brock, Dickson, Hunter, Simcoe, Charlotte, Rubidge, Stewart, Reid, Downie, Homewood, Walton, Gilmour, Park, Dalhousie, Townsend, Lake, Perry, Parnell and Romaine streets.

The walks and grades of the roadway vary very much, in many cases necessitating approaches, which take a great deal of lumber, there never being any regard paid to drainage either in the streets or walks. Many of the walks are four or five feet above the graded connections of the streets. Our idea of improving the streets is to first drain them before any grading or macadding is done upon them. The weather has been very unfavourable for improving the streets, which will necessitate a good deal more rolling before the metal is placed upon them. We would like the council to direct which streets are to be metalled first.

The Sherbrooke and Dalhousie street bridges will require repairs to considerable extent. They have been tadded up for the present, but have to be re-

STREET WORK.

Moved by Councillors Johnston and Smith that a new culvert be placed on Dufferin street, and the old ones there at present be removed, and that all the material that is good in them be utilized in building new one.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Smith and Morgan that the street inspector be authorized to spend the sum of about $20 in conjunction with the township of Otonabee, which will spend a like amount, in repairing the Otonabee road.

The clerk was instructed to frame a by-law prohibiting bicycle riding on the sidewalk, to have same ready for next meeting.

It was moved by Councillors Morgan and Smith, that Court of Revision be further adjourned at the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

It was moved by Councillors Johnston and Smith, that posters be posted in the village to enforce bylaw prohibiting cattle running at large. Clerk to see about procuring them and having them posted—Carried.

Councillor Smith made a few remarks on the governing of wages on street work, especially on laying sidewalks. Considerable discussion took place on the matter.

It was moved by Councillors Morgan and Smith, that the scale of wages for corporation men be from $1 to $1.25, at discretion of Street Inspector—Carried.

It was moved by Councillors Johnston and Morgan, that council agree to pay the sum of $150 for one year, dating June 1st, 1897, to June 1st, 1898, to Peterborough for fire protection—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60 ; 1889 at 53 ; 1890 at 75 ; 1891 at $1.00 ; 1892 at 44 ; 1893 at 59 ; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 90. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the yast two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

People shudder at the tales of Monte Carlo suicides, but look on with perfect equanimity while friends and loved ones commit just as certain suicide by neglecting their health. Trifling disorders of the digestion persistently neglected lead to impurity of the blood, the tissues of the body are imperfectly nourished, and emaciation and debility follow. In the case of that dread disease, consumption, imperfectly nourished tissue is built up in the lungs, forming a suitable soil for the germs of that deadly disease. One-seventh of all the deaths each year are due to consumption. This fearful death rate could be easily avoided if the proper remedy was resorted to.

A sure preventive and cure of consumption is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases. It corrects all disorders of digestion, invigorates the liver, and makes the blood pure and plentiful. It is the great blood maker, flesh-builder, and nerve invigorator It gets into the blood and acts directly upon the lungs, building up healthy tissue and driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its wonderful merits. Druggists sell it.

"I feel that I must write you telling you of the great benefits derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Miss Laura Pierrel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa. "Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors before with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me altogether with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me. I cannot say enough in praise of the medicine, and have done much to induce others to use it."

PROBABLY A MURDER.

Desperate Shooting Affray at Wiarton — A Man Shot at Four Times and Seriously Wounded.

Wiarton, Ont., June 5.—Yesterday G. Boen was charged before C. V. Parke, J.P., with shooting with intent one W. Liversiz of Albemarle.

The first witness was the complainant, Liversiz, who said that on Thursday, May 27, about noon, he, A. Douglass and D. Post were on the road near his place, talking on farm business, when he saw Boen coming. On reaching them prisoner said: "Hold on, you killed my colt." He then fired a shot at witness, but missed. He fired a second time, and hit witness. He shot at witness four times. Douglass told Boen twice to stop firing, but he said: "If you take his part I will give you one, too." Douglass then ordered witness off his wagon Witness ran down the road and Boen followed over the best part of two lots. Cross-examined by Mr. Spotton, witness said he left home on Monday and when he returned found his wife had left and he had not seen her since. He had not spoken to Boen since Wednesday and did not threaten him. The shooting took place between 12 and 1 p.m. Witness was walking towards the house with his back to Boen, when he fired. He did not have a revolver in his pocket at the time.

Dr. Wigle said that the complainant came to him and stated that he had been shot. He found a wound in the front part of the right shoulder, below the edge of the collar bone. Blood was oozing from the wound. He probed the wound, but could not find the ball. He dressed the wound, which was not dangerous. He judged that the wound was made by a large-calibre ball.

Constable D Parker said that he arrested prisoner in Wiarton on Saturday. He asked him if he had any firearms. He said "Yes," and gave up a horse-pistol. Prisoner said he was going to give the pistol to Glee and then intended to surrender himself.

The magistrate committed prisoner to stand his trial at the assizes at Walkerton, which commenced yesterday.

A later report says that Liversiz's wound has taken a bad turn. Dr. Wigle thinks the ball turned down into the lungs. The wounded man is vomiting blood and will probably die. The charge will then be changed to murder.

Five English Fishermen Drowned.

Hamburg, June 5.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Fuerst Bismarck, Captain Albert, from New York, May 27, which arrived here to-day, ran down an English fishing boat in the North Sea yesterday morning while in the midst of a thick fog. Five occupants of the boat were drowned.

THE ABLEGATE AT WINNIPEG.

Mgr. Merry Del Val Replies Guardedly to the Addresses Presented—Saunders Must Come Up for Sentence.

Winnipeg, June 6.—(Special.)—Questions arising out of the election trials at Portage la Prairie were put to the full court here on Saturday. The conviction of Saunders rested upon evidence given by a man as to how he had voted. The questions were: (1) On the trial of an indictment such as in this case, can witness, a voter, be asked for whom he recorded his vote at the election, and be required or allowed to answer that question? (2) Is the answer given by witness, a voter, stating for whom he recorded his vote, secondary evidence only and not admissible? Judgments were delivered by Mr. Justice Dubuc, Mr. Justice Killam and Mr. Justice Bain, all agreeing that the evidence received was properly admissible and that the conviction of Saunders should be affirmed. He will, therefore, have to come up for sentence at the next assizes.

Mgr. Merry del Val arrived in the city yesterday and was met at the station by hundreds of people. To-day he preached in St. Boniface in the morning, and in the afternoon the Catholic school children presented him with flowers and an address in St. Mary's Church, which was packed with people. In thanking the children he said that the Pope would second the efforts of their parents to secure for them a good Catholic education.

In replying to an address presented in St. Boniface on Saturday, he said he did not see why, in a country of such broad-minded people, all should not enjoy the same privileges, and a small and weak minority enjoy the rights granted them by the constitution. He would tell the Holy Father how the Catholics in Manitoba were struggling to maintain their education according to this principle.

A public meeting was held in Regina on Thursday evening, at which strong resolutions protesting against the removal of the Indian Commissioner's office from Regina and the reduction of Northwest Mounted Police were passed.

Judge Prendergast was sworn in on Saturday morning before Chief Justice Taylor. Large numbers were present, including Judge Walker, Mr. C. Graburn, clerk of the executive council, who presented the roll for signature, and many members of the legal fraternity and citizens of St. Boniface. Judge Prendergast read the oath of allegiance, and the oath of office in a clear voice, and the signatures on the roll was witnessed by the Chief Justice.

Winnipeg defeated Rat Portage at lacrosse yesterday by six goals to five.

CLOSING DAY AT HAMILTON.

South Africa, Thorncliffe, Flying Bess, Skate, Rideau and Kapanga Colt Were Winners.

The Hamilton Jockey Club had fine weather for their closing day, and Saturday saw the biggest crowd of the meeting. Toronto sent down about 1200 excursionists and it was the daily exodus from this city that kept away the frost.

The six events on Saturday went to five favorites and the 7 to 1 shot Rideau. The books made a barrel on the downfall of Wordsworth in the third race, while in three of the other events at least they dropped considerable to public and talent.

South Africa was first to show in the opening event, and was almost overhauled by Rideau in a drive at the finish. Kenosha was five lengths away and only a neck ahead of Master Fred. Forfeit was backed to show, but ran disappointingly.

Flying Bess was the last of the bunch to get away in the second race, but easily went to the front, winning in a gallop. Violent was supported by her owner to show, and more than warranted the good Deacon's support by landing second money. Allegretto was backed to win, but went to the post a sick colt and finished last.

Thorncliffe showed himself to be a marvel at the jumps and shouldered Dr. Campbell's 175 pounds without an effort. Clark threw Mr. Stone at the west jump, knocking him out. Chappie Crocker remounted and kept third place away from Valentine, who performed badly. Do Do looked dangerous for a mile and won a lot of easy place money for her backers at even money. Mr. Stone soon recovered.

Skate outclassed Karth in the duel. The betting was about the time and the guessers were away out on account of the gallop.

Wordsworth and Odd Genius were strongly played to win the fifth race on account of their previous victories at the meeting. Rideau went out at fling fall and never was in trouble. Odd Genius beat the favorite two lengths for the place. Mamie Callan was supported to show and finished away back.

Kapanga Colt ran his best race of the year and landed the closing event of the meeting easily after getting off back of the bunch. McGlone came out on the inside at the betting ring and galloped home ahead of Chiquita, who ran well and landed a lot of place money for her supporters. Disturbance and Bonnifield were disappointments. The 16 pencillers laid all sorts of extravagant prices against the dead ones and a fat man who had a $500 to $2 ticket on Test yelled like a madman when his pick was ahead at the half.

Most of the horses left Hamilton Saturday night, the majority of them for Windsor and Detroit.

First race, ¾ mile, selling, $250, for 3-year-olds and up—South Africa 1, Rideau 2, Kenosha 3. Time 1.30¾.

Second race ½ mile, Knowsley Plate, for 2-year-olds, $300—Flying Bess 1, Violent 2, Manton 3. Time 50¾.

Third race, 2 miles, Red Coat Steeplechase, $300—Thorncliffe 1, Dodo 2, Clark 3. Time 4.40¾.

Fourth race, 1½ miles, Hamilton Handicap, $450—Skate 1, Earth 2. Time 2.49¾. Only two started.

Fifth race, ⅝ mile, for 3-year-olds, $300—Rideau 1, Odd Genius 2, Wordsworth 3. Time 1.17⅗.

Sixth race, 6½ furlongs, $250, for non-winners at Toronto or Hamilton—Kapanga colt 1, Chiquita 2, The Duchess 3. Time 1.23¾.

BICYCLE ACCIDENT.

William Howlett Wheeled Against a Buggy at Pickering and Was Badly Hurt.

Pickering, Ont., June 6.—Last night about 9 o'clock, while Mr. William Howlett, an employe of the Spink Mills, was wheeling along King-street, he collided with a vehicle driven by George Stoner. Howlett was knocked down, and it is thought the horse stepped on him. He is hurt internally. The doctors have no hope of his recovery. The wheel was badly smashed.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

RARE DELFT PIECES.

EARLY SPECIMENS BROUGHT FROM THEIR HIDING PLACES.

What Is the Earliest Example of the Ware in the United States?—Two Curious Ancient Plates—An Interesting Historical Piece.

Many interesting examples of delftware, of undoubted antiquity, have recently been brought from their hiding places, says The New York Sun. The earliest dated piece so far unearthed in this country, says the paper, was a specimen of Dutch manufacture, in the shape of a candle urn, bearing date 1678, owned by a gentleman in Philadelphia. This statement, made in 1896, is still believed to be true and yet it is probable that there are older pieces which do not bear the dates of manufacture, but whose age can be fixed at least approximately by the identification of the marks which are found on them. Several such pieces are owned by C. J. Oakes of Albany, N.Y., among which are two blue and white plates embellished with rudely painted flower and dragon designs, in imitation of early Chinese porcelain. These curious examples of tin-glazed ware bear the mark of Albrecht de Keyser, who was a potter at Delft, Holland, in 1642. Three vases of the same ware in the possession of Mr.

DELFT PLATE IN IMITATION OF CHINESE: ABOUT 1642.

Oakes are supposed to be even older than these plates, since they are decorated with still cruder designs and emblems which were copied from early Chinese work. The earliest potters of the town of Delft and other places sought to imitate the Oriental wares in color and design, and they frequently succeeded to such an extent that at a distance their opaque products could scarcely be distinguished from the translucent porcelain which they had copied. The dragon plate here figured is an excellent example of the imitated Oriental works of that period.

In the same collection are two very interesting dishes of a somewhat more recent date, belonging to the latter part of the seventeenth century and produced in commemoration of the accession of William and Mary to the throne of England in 1688. The one here shown bears a rudely painted head of William alone, in a central space formed by a wreath of tulip plants, and above are the letters "W.R." The companion piece is similar in design, but shows the head of Mary beneath the letter "M.R." That these are of Dutch instead of English origin is shown in the border design, as well as in the central device, in which the tulip occurs, a favorite subject with the old Dutch artists for decorative treatment. The tulip craze reached its height in Holland during the seventeenth century and left its impress on the arts as practised then.

An early dated piece of Holland delft is owned by Francis M. Brooke of Philadelphia, and its history is set forth in Hazard's Register of Pennsylvania of December, 1835 (p. 399), as follows:

"Samuel Urian of Darby township has in his possession a dinner plate, bearing date, 1710, on the back of which is the following inscription: 'God Save King George.' Mr. Urian informs us that it has been in the family of which he is a member for the last sixty years, and that during the Revolutionary war a number of British officers dined at the house of his father, on which occasion it happened to be on the table, when the eye of one of the officers caught the title; he read it to his companions, all of whom indulged in much merriment at the expense of their worthy host. It is rare indeed that such relics of antiquity remain in the hands of private families."

It is singular that so few pieces of early English Delft ware have been found in this country, for it was made in great quantities at Lambeth, Liverpool, Bristol and other places in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. By far the greater proportion of examples discovered prove to be of Dutch workmanship, and seldom, except occasionally in some parts of New England, are English pieces picked up.

There are many modern imitations of old Delft ware on the market, and enterprising Dutch potters seem to be on the lookout constantly for subjects which will appeal to American purchasers. During the Chicago Fair the supply of Columbus designs in Delft was fully equal to the demand, and some pieces even went so far as to depict events relating to the discovery of America. These were confidently claimed to be genuine examples of Dutch enterprise made 400 years ago to celebrate the great navigator's arrival in American waters. The dealers, however, neglect to explain how these designs could have been produced in such brilliant colors a century or more before polychrome decoration was employed. Nor do they enlighten us as to the purchasers of such utensils so long ago.

WOMEN MANAGE IT.

A Township of Russia Is Entirely in Feminine Hands.

The woman question has been on trial for years in a country the conditions and tendencies of which seem more outspokenly opposed to progress in that particular direction than those of any other land. It may sound strange, yet Russia is the empire referred to.

In Central Russia is the Township of Resjukovschtschina. There, in 1861, after an epidemic that reduced the peasants to starvation, the women, led by Saschka, ordered the men to leave and go to the city to find work. The women remained alone and began to till the farms. The men were allowed to return only for the holidays.

The woman state comprises a territory of ten square miles, and is divided into seven villages. Saschka and seven other women, the wives of the exiled elders, administer all publish affairs, such as the levying of taxes, the allotment of acres to the various families, the keeping up of the churches, the paying of shepherds, etc. They also assume the recruiting officer's duties by sending those men who have attained the proper age to town in order to submit to medical examination.

In the summer the fields of the district afford a peculiar aspect. One may ride over the Resjukovschtschina district from morn till night without encountering a single male being. All the work, the hardest as well as the lighter manipulations, is executed by women and girls of different ages. With naked feet and arms, they trot behind the plow, throw out seeds and gather fruit. Here we observe a dozen or more sturdy members of the weaker sex engaged in lifting a mighty rock. Again, we see others cutting down trees or subduing a bucking horse or a wild bull. Toward evening all hands assemble in the church squares of the seven villages to hear reports of common interest, the women acting mayors being the speechmakers, who discuss public questions in a decisive and business-like manner. This done, the women go home to attend to their own affairs.

Besides cultivating the fields they keep the roads in order, and occasionally set up a new cottage or stable. When on the occasion of his coronation, the Czar released some 20,000 communities of the obligation to discharge their back taxes, Resjukovsetschina, not being in arrears, like the rest, was not benefitted, and that is likely the only regretful incident Saschka's administration has so far developed in the eyes of her partners.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away.

A Possibility.

Pure, rich blood feeds the nerves. That is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, cures nervousness.

Bilious ness and liver complaint, headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

If we told you that your baby was starving, that it actually didn't get enough to eat, you might resent it. And yet there are thousands of babies who never get the fat they should in their food or who are not able to digest the fat that they do get. Fat is a necessity to your baby. It is baby life and baby beauty. A few drops of Scott's Emulsion for all little ones one, two and three years of age is better than cream for them. They thrive and grow on it.

A GREAT SEND-OFF.

The Jubilee Contingent Left Quebec Yesterday on Board the Vancouver for the Queen's Jubilee.

Quebec, June 6.—That the Jubilee regiment received an enthusiastic send-off this morning is to put it very mildly. It is doubtful if Quebec ever witnessed such a popular demonstration. From about 7 o'clock thousands of people flocked from all sections of the city and lined the streets through which the departing troops were to pass on their way to the Louise embankment, where the steamer Vancouver lay ready to receive them. The 8th Battalion and Queen's Own Canadian Hussars assembled at the drill hall at 7.15, and shortly afterwards marched down to the wharf, where they waited on the others.

Sharply at 8 o'clock the Jubilee contingent, headed by the band of the Royal Canadian Artillery, wended its way down Citadel Hill and proceeded down St. Louise-street, followed by the 9th Battalion and Quebec Garrison Artillery. Fully 10,000 people were assembled on the embankment and other wharves in the vicinity. Dufferin Terrace and the Grand Battery were also lined with thousands of enthusiastic spectators.

As the steamer shoved off from the wharf the four bands of the different regiments immediately struck up "Auld Lang Syne," while the immense throng sent up cheer after cheer. This was responded to from the ship by the contingent, who were massed on the deck singing "The Maple Leaf" and cheering lustily. As the steamer wended its way down the river a number of rockets were fired off. The troops seemed to appreciate their immense send-off, and were in the very best of spirits. While about to board the vessel the units of the 9th Battalion of Quebec were presented with $250 in gold. There were over a thousand passengers on board. The Vancouver passed out at Rimouski at 9.30 to-night, reporting all well.

Barn Burned With Contents.

Pickering, Ont., June 6.—A large frame barn at Pickering harbor was totally destroyed by fire to-night at 10 o'clock. A self-binder, about sixty bushels of oats and a number of fowl were burned. The building was owned by Mrs. Gardner, and occupied by Mr. Simonds. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The building was nearly new. The previous one was burned in the same place about three years ago. The amount of insurance, if any, unknown.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

paired or mostly renewed before winter. Some protection is necessary to the George street embankment at Spaulding's Bay bridge.

The new sidewalks built are on Smith street from Water street to Dennistoun avenue, 80 feet on Cedar street, 37 feet on Park street, Hunter street from Reid street to Rubidge, and on the north side of the Montreal Bank. The repairs have been extensive and will increase yearly until some other mode of construction is adopted.

We would advise the council to come to some understanding with the Street Railway Company in relation to the grading and maintaining of the streets which they occupy.

4. That the sum of $50 be given to the Sons of England Band on condition that they play in the parks of the town and furnish free music to the committee on June 23rd.

5. That the sum of $100 be granted to the Citizens' Committee for illuminating, decorating, printing, etc.

6. That the council does guarantee to the amount of $300 in case of unfavourable weather the Jubilee Committee, so that the said committee will not have a total loss.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. H. G. DIXON,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Graham and White the account of Geo. Sloan was referred back to the Finance Committee.

The report was then adopted.

Mr. R. E. Layfield was heard, and asked that the sum which was expended by the Foresters in preparing for the Jubilee demonstration be repaid them.

The matter was left over until the Mayor's return.

STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. We recommend that the Street Inspector be instructed to do the following work:

Crossing at the corner of McDonel and George streets.

Grade Murray street west of George street.

Repairs on Aylmer street north of London street.

New sidewalk on Hunter street between Rubidge and Reid streets and grade the same street.

Water table Reid street between Brock and Hall streets.

Widen the crossings at the intersections of Hunter and Rubidge and Hunter and Reid streets.

Water table Hunter street from Reid street to Belmont avenue, and Belmont avenue and Homewood avenue to Babb's lane.

Water table Walton street.

Grade Downie street from Hunter to Brock streets.

Grade Homewood avenue to Monaghan boundary, and build necessary sidewalk.

Repair the Monaghan boundary from Charlotte street to Chamberlain street.

2. As the two lowest tenderers for the street watering in the northern district did not execute the necessary papers, your committee gave the contract to the next lowest tenderer, Ernest Mann, at $192, and recommend that this action be approved.

3. Your Committee recommend that all companies putting in poles on the streets be required to clear away all refuse and leave the boulevards and streets in as good a condition as before they put in the poles.

4. Your Committee also recommend that all persons having boat houses on any street be required to pay $1 per year rent for the privilege, and that those who have applied for the privilege be granted it on the same condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. MCWILLIAMS,
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Neil the fourth clause was struck out and no more boat houses will be allowed to be erected on town property.

The report was adopted as amended.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the Light and Power Company be instructed to make the following changes in the location of electric lights:—The light at the corner of Water and Charlotte streets to be moved to the east side of Water street; the light on Sherbrooke street, west of Park street, to be moved west to a line with John street; the one at the corner of Lake an Aylmer streets to be moved a few feet west so as to be in a line with Aylmer street; the one on Dalhousie street west of the bridge to be moved out a few feet and raised ten feet; the one on the corner of McDonel and Reid streets to be moved to the south-east corner; the one at McDonel and Bethune streets to be moved to the south side of McDonel street and placed on a lower pole; the one on Benson street to be moved west to Manning avenue, and the one on Dennistoun avenue to be moved to the corner of Smith and Harvey streets.

2. That the Light and Power Company be instructed to place a new electric light at the corner of Aylmer and Perry streets and one at the corner of Antrim and Aylmer streets.

3. That the request for electric lights on Romaine street and at the corner of Dublin and Donegal streets be not granted at present.

4. That the Peterborough Water Company be instructed to place a hydrant at the corner of Weller street and Mercer avenue, and one on Benson street near Manning avenue.

5. That the town offer to give the village of Ashburnham the services of the Fire Brigade and steamer until June 1st next for $200 00, payable quarterly, provided the village accept this offer at once.

6. That a new wire rope be procured for the town clock.

7. That the clerk be instructed to reply to the letter from the clerk of Gravenhurst and say that this town would favour petitioning the Legislature to establish government inspection of fire appliances and rating of municipalities into the various fire standards.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. M. WHITE,
Chairman.

Councillor McWilliams wanted to have the lamp on the corner of Dublin and George street moved to the corner of Dublin and Division streets.

Councillor Leplante asked for a lamp on Wescott street, stating it might be moved from Dalhousie street.

Councillor Robertson wanted a hydrant placed on Romaine street.

Councillor Leplante's request was granted and the report was adopted with this addition.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Your Committee of the Whole Council, to which the application of the Historical Society and the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebration were referred, beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the council give a grant of $200 to the Peterborough Historical Society towards fitting up a museum in the building in the Nicholls Park, given by the Trustees of the Nicholls Estate for that purpose, as a memorial of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, on condition that the society raise $100 and that the County Council give not less than $100 for the same purpose, and that the necessary work be done under the management of a committee composed of members of the Society and of the Town and County Councils.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. YELLAND,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

SEWERAGE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen.—Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report, and recommend as follows:

1. That a meeting of the Court of Revision be held on the evening of Tuesday, the 29th day of June next, to hear any appeals that may be entered against the special assessment for the payment of the construction of sewers on George street, from Townsend to McDonel streets; on Water street, from King to McDonel streets; on Charlotte street, from George to Louis streets; on Simcoe street, from George street to the creek; on Hunter street from George street to the Creek; on Brock street, from George street to the westerly limit of lot 4 west of George street; and that the clerk be instructed to send out the necessary notices.

2. That a cheque for $150 be issued to Mr. Samuel Belcher, town Engineer, on account of sewer work.

3. That this committee be instructed to ask for tenders for the construction of sewers on the following streets: Stewart, from Rink to Brock streets; Aylmer, from Rink to Dublin; Water, from McDonel to Dublin; Charlotte, from Louis to Aylmer; Simcoe from the creek to Aylmer; Hunter from the creek to Aylmer; Brock, from the present manhole to Aylmer; Murray, from George to Aylmer, and from Water to Dickson; McDonel, from George to Aylmer; George, from McDonel to Dublin; McDonel, from Water to Dickson.

HENRY BENT,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Councillor Meldrum suggested that the work be let in sections in order that more men might be employed at the same time, and the work carried on faster. Councillors McWilliams and Neill both endorsed the idea.

Mr. E. A. Peck was present on behalf of the Little Lake Cemetery Co. He stated that the Water Co. would not agree to put in the extra hydrant on Crescent street for $30 a year. As the Cemetery Co. was interested in having this hydrant put in, they offered to pay the extra five dollars if the town would order the hydrant put in.

This was agreed to on motion of Councillors Meldrum and Denne.

SOME BYLAWS.

Councillor McWilliams introduced the bylaw to authorize the execution of a further contract with the Street Railway Co., the particulars of which were published some time ago, requiring the extension of the system to Jackson Park, etc. The bylaw received its several readings and was passed.

A bylaw governing the construction of boulevards in order that they be not built in such a manner as to prevent the circulation of air beneath the sidewalks was also introduced by Councillor McWilliams and passed.

No action was taken in regard to C. B. Stone's letter requesting the privilege of riding on the sidewalks.

On motion of Councillors Meldrum and Graham, the question of giving notice regarding the introduction of a bylaw regulating the width of waggon tires was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

A warm discussion took place regarding the alleged unwillingness of the town teamsters to work after five o'clock. Special regulations will be prepared for them.

The council adjourned at twelve o'clock.

Red Hair in All Ages.

Since time immemorial red hair has been the object of ill-humored jokes—just why, no one seems to know, unless it be that Judas Iscarot was thus endowed. And yet, despite the popular prejudice against auburn locks, there are few things more beautiful than a woman with red hair.

Red-headed woman have played prominent parts in the world's history and have caused many a kingdom to tremble, and even to fall. Helen of Troy was red-haired, and she certainly caused trouble enough for one woman. Catherine I. of Russia, Joan of Arc, Elizabeth of England, Mary Stuart, Anne of Austria, ex-Empress Eugenie, Ninon de l'Enclos, Lucretia Borgia and Beatrice Cenci, all had red hair, and all are famous.

Nevertheless, it is a curious fact that in all ages there has been aversion to hair of this hue. Red has always been considered the color of war and bloodshed, and the cruelest gods of savage races have always been adorned with red topknots.

The ancient Egyptians were violently opposed to red hair, and once a year burned a maiden of this description in the hope of exterminating or lessening what they considered a curse.

In Spain red hair is abhorred, on the ground that it is "Judas hair." Among some savage races red hair is held in great esteem, especially among those of the Alaskan tribes.

In New Zealand a red-haired woman is considered as on the right road to paradise.

Students of red hairology say that a woman thus adorned is more cruel, brighter, more deceptive and more ambitious than a woman having other colored hair. Whatever truth there may be in this, it is a fact that red-haired woman have a strange fascination for most men and red-headed old maids are almost unknown.

PREPARING FOR THE BATTLE.

Prince Edward Reformers Getting Into Line for Coming Provincial Elections.

Picton, Ont., June 7.—The annual meeting of the Reform Association of Prince Edward County was held here today, and was well attended. Addresses were delivered by H. R. Bristol, the retiring president; J. H. Allan, N. Sprague, W. T. Crandal, George W. Dawson, eastern organizer, and Alex. Smith, chief organizer. The first business transacted was the election of officers and resulted as follows: E. W. Case (Picton), president; D. A. Lambert (Helmesville), J. A. Howell (Rednerville), James Carr (Wampoose), vice-presidents; J. D. Gilbert, secretary-treasurer.

The president-elect made a capital speech, calling upon the young men to rally to the support of the party and organize for the fray. After some discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Moved by Mr. Platte, seconded by James Jackson, That the selection of a candidate be postponed till an adjourned mass meeting, to be held in this place on Saturday, June 26, and that a committee, consisting of the president and vice-presidents of this association, Mr. John A. Sprague, ex-M.L.A., Mr. John Allan and the mover, be and is hereby appointed to meet in conference with a similar committee from the Patron Association of this county, to effect, if possible, united action on the part of Liberals and Patrons which in the opinion of this meeting is absolutely necessary in the coming provincial election. Carried.

CLOTHED FOR $7.00

People take pride in telling of some of the Bargains they get at Gough Bros. The ordinary man would consider it clever buying if he spent no more than $25 for an entire outfit, including Suit, Shoes, Hat, Underwear, &c. But we make it possible to secure a serviceable outfit for less than $7.00, and this is not figuring on the cheapest goods either. The following bill of goods shows the possiblities which await bargain-seekers at our two big stores:—

All-Wool Halifax Tweed Suit	$3.75
Serviceable Pair of Shoes	1.00
Stiff or Soft Felt Hat	.50
Undershirt	.20
Drawers	.20
Sox	.08
Suspenders	.10
Shirt	.20
Collar	.07
Tie	.08
Handkerchief	.05
	$6.23

Although these prices may seem ridiculous, they are the minimum price of the goods enumerated. A man with this outfit would be fairly well dressed.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew 't would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. H re you can depend on getting anything and everything your he rt desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

THE IRON SCHEDULE.

Was Up in the House of Commons Yesterday.

COMPLAINTS FROM NOVA SCOTIA.

Sir Charles H. Tupper and Mr. Bell of Pictou Found Fault, but the Item Went Through—Wire Nails and Barbed Wire Also Stand at the Rate Announced.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special.)—In the House to-day Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to create Controllers of Customs and Inland Revenue. Replying to Mr. Davin the Solicitor-General said that the Department of Trade and Commerce was not to be interfered with.

Sir Charles Tupper said he was in favor of Controllers becoming Ministers. It was very important that the Controller of Customs should have a seat in the Cabinet so that he might explain the tariff to them in a clearer manner than he had to the House. [Laughter.] He asked whether the Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue would still be subordinate to Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that anomaly would be removed.

Mr. Davin: Are salaries of Controllers to be the same?

Mr. Fitzpatrick: There is no provision for salaries in this bill.

Mr. Davin remarked that the Premier had promised Mr. Paterson both Cabinet rank and a Cabinet Minister's salary.

Mr. Fitzpatrick: The Prime Minister is at present at sea. [Laughter.]

The bill was read the first time.

Mr. Fitzpatrick also introduced a bill to postpone the revision of voters' lists for this year.

The bill to give the mill men of Ottawa another year in which to change their establishments so that saw dust will not be dumped into the river was read for the first time.

Sir Richard Cartwright's motion for two distinct sittings daily passed unanimously. The morning sessions of the House will commence on Thursday. Sir Charles Tupper pointed out that an important sitting of the Railway Committee was called for to-morrow morning.

The leader of the Opposition called attention to the fact that the Queen's birthday holiday bill stood in Sir Henry Joly's name among public bills. Unless the bill was transferred to the Government orders it would not pass this year.

Sir Richard Cartwright said he would bring the matter before the Council.

The House then went into Committee on the tariff, taking up the iron schedule.

Sir C. H. Tupper said this tariff might be characterized as a tariff of surrender. At the outset the iron duties seemed to leave those engaged in the industry in a position to make a fight for their existence, but Mr. Fielding had given way and had put the iron men in a far worse position than other industries, such as the oil industry. Continuing, he pointed out the importance of protection to the iron industry, because of the large proportion of its value represented by labor.

Mr. Fielding replied that the western Conservatives were complaining that the tariff was made specially for Nova Scotia. For the rest, the danger of English iron being driven out by the American product, the Government did not believe in fostering special industries; it was not for the general good. The County of Pictou, after 10 years of protection to its coal and iron industries, had 1000 less inhabitants in it than at the commencement of the N.P. What the people of the Maritime Provinces wanted was a return to the low revenue tariff of the good old days.

Mr. Bell (Pictou) said if Pictou county had decreased in population and retrograded in prosperity, how was it that the county was called upon during those years to increase its school accommodation and its outlay for educational purposes?

Mr. Bell, continuing his speech after recess, said he had just returned from the Maritime Provinces, and with regret he had to inform the House that in view of the change made by the Government on the iron duties the iron manufacturers had been compelled to announce to their employes that if they did not choose to submit to a reduction of 10 per cent. it would be necessary to close up these great works. The iron manufacturers paid $300,000 per annum in wages and 10 per cent. reduction meant a serious thing. He trusted that, even yet, the Minister of Finance would reconsider his decision and give to the iron industry that protection to which it was entitled.

Mr. Frost (Liberal, Leeds and Grenville), said as a manufacturer he had the greatest sympathy with the iron and steel manufacturers of Nova Scotia. He did not take as gloomy a view of their position, however, as had the last speaker. He believed that under the present arrangement of the tariff, manufacturers would be able to manufacture steel and turn out pig iron and make as much money as at the present time. Moreover, it would enable other manufacturers to start their works in Hamilton, Montreal and other places. This re-arrangement of the iron schedule would, he believed, have the effect of reviving trade, not only in the iron industry, but to sister industries as well.

The item passed along with several others.

On item 250, wire nails 3-5 of one cent per pound, Mr. Monk (Conservative, Jacques Cartier) called attention to the disastrous effects on the nail industry which the reduction in duties would have. The Lachine Nail Works, in his constituency, would suffer greatly.

Mr. Wood (Liberal, Hamilton) said his advices were that the nail manufacturers on the whole were "fairly well satisfied," although a cent a pound would have been better for them. However, with this duty they thought they would be able to hold their own and keep out American nails.

Mr. Taylor (Conservative, South Leeds) said the reduction in the duty had had the effect of closing up the nail works in Gananoque. He thought the duty should be at least a cent a pound.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Craig, Richardson, McMillan, Davis (Saskatchewan), Davin, who moved that the item be struck out, Heyd and others.

Mr. Davin's motion was lost and the item carried.

On the item of barbed wire, Mr. Monk pointed out the importance of the industry that was being wiped out by the free barbed wire proposal.

Mr. Foster drew attention to the fact that by admitting plain wire of certain sorts when used for fencing free the Government was practically making this wire free for all purposes.

Mr. Clancy showed that there was a certain class of wire fencing, such as woven wire fencing, that would still remain dutiable.

Mr. Paterson explained that the Government merely wished to make free the class of wire in ordinary use.

With that the item passed, taxing those articles 15 per cent. until Jan. 1.

The committee rose and reported and the House adjourned at 12.15 a.m.

WILL THEY SECEDE?

The Ontario Grand Lodge of United Workmen Will Try to Cut Loose from the Supreme Lodge, It is Said.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 8.—The 25th stated meeting of the Supreme Lodge Ancient Order of United Workmen of the United States and Canada opened in Milwaukee to-day with all the supreme officers and members of standing committees, as well as about 160 delegates present. The sessions, which are held in the lodge hall of the university building, will continue for a week or 10 days. It is understood that there is an unusually large amount of legislative work in hand, including final action upon a move made by the Grand Lodge of the order in Ontario, to secede from the supreme body, and doing away with all name and reference to the Supreme Lodge, conduct a Grand Lodge of its own in the Dominion, independent of the order in the States. This, it is claimed by the supreme officers, would be tantamount to open rebellion, and strong efforts are being made to avoid such results. Action upon the matter was postponed by the Grand Body in Canada until the matter could be fully heard before the Supreme Body in its Milwaukee session at this time.

Toronto Highlanders Won from Britain's Best Regulars in the Military Tournament at Islington.

London, June 8.—At the Royal Military Tournament at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, in the bayonet team fighting to-day, between the regulars and the colonials, the prize was carried off by the 48th Canadian Highlanders.

Toronto, June 9.

The above news reached the city at about 5 o'clock last night by a cablegram from Major Henderson to the Highlanders here, which read as follows: "We won against combined picked team composed of Coldstreams, Grenadiers and Scots Guards." The cablegram was bulletined in The World window and caused much rejoicing among the local volunteers, particularly of course the 48th, the members of which were the recipients of many hearty congratulations from their comrades in sister corps.

A VERY SAD DROWNING.

Albert Kendrick Aged 14, Swept Over Burk's Falls on a Plank.

Burk's Falls, Ont., June 8.—A very sad drowning accident occurred here about 10.30 this morning. Albert Kendrick, 14-year-old son of Mr. John Kendrick of this place, while crossing the dam at the falls, stepped on a plank, which, on account of the rapidly rising water, was swept over the falls, carrying the boy with it. The body was seen floating in the eddy below for a few seconds, but has not yet been recovered. Sincere sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. The father, who is dying of cancer, is almost frantic.

Florence Nightingale.

Florence Nightingale is 76 years old and so broken in health that she can scarcely write a letter, yet she never forgets to send some message to the veterans of the Crimea on the anniversary of a victory, or to remember, at Christmas time, those who are laboring in the institution for training nurses which she founded at St. Thomas' Hospital soon after the close of the war. Surgeon-General Manifold was one of her warmest friends and one of the first to promote the employment of women nurses in the army.

THE NEWS BY CABLE.

Horrors of Religious Fanaticism in Russia.

SOME OF THE GHASTLY DETAILS

As Told by the Correspondent of The London Daily News, Who Went to Investigate—Women and Children Buried Alive and Others Walled Up to Die.

London, June 8.—A special correspondent of The Daily News, who went to Tiraspol, Russia, about 70 miles northwest of Odessa, to inquire into the cause of the self-immolation of a number of persons belonging to the religious sect known as the Raskolniki, says he learns that Feodore Kovaloff, on whose premises the bodies of fifteen victims were found, including those of Kovaloff's wife and two children, will probably not be indicted for the part he took in bringing about the deaths of these victims. After a formal inquiry is made into his mental condition he will in all likelihood be confined in a monastery.

The magistrates who are examining into the matter are convinced that Kovaloff is wholly sincere in all that he does, and that he is absolutely unconscious of having committed a crime in having buried six persons alive and walled up nine others in the cellar of his house.

The prisoner belongs to an ultra-fanatical branch of the Raskolniki, called the Beguni. So rigorously exclusive are the members of this branch that they will not eat nor drink from the same utensils used by relatives who have married ordinary members of the Raskolniki. They will not worship in churches or buildings used by others, but only in caves and cellars, which are usually filthy beyond description. Their services are conducted in closely guarded secrecy.

One of the chief personalities of a drama enacted at Ternofka, near Tiraspol, was a woman called Vitalia, who was a prophet, priest and preacher. She was the daughter of respectable, well-to-do parents, and was fairly well educated. She entered an orthodox convent in her youth, but later joined the Raskolniki. Some time ago she suddenly vanished, and was not heard of until her body was exhumed at Ternofka.

At the time of her self-immolation she was 40 years old. She was of an ascetic temperament, with commanding figure, and was possessed of persuasive eloquence. She had great power among the peasantry, who formed her chief audiences. An instance of her influence may be cited. In February, on the occasion of the taking of the census, Vitalia declared that the purpose of the enumeration was to prepare an initial roll call of those who would shortly be summoned to the judgment seat of God. Her hearers unquestioningly accepted her statement, and when the enumerators came around to take the census their efforts to obtain the required information were in vain.

An instance of the influence of Vitalia was the walling up of Kovaloff's wife and children. During the taking of the census Kovaloff arrived home one evening and found his young wife strangely depressed.

His inquiries as to what was troubling her elicited the information that she was afraid that the enumerators would enter the names of their two children upon the accursed record, with the result that they would ultimately be forced to join the orthodox church and thereby be irrevocably doomed to eternal perdition. The woman declared that she was therefore resolved to sacrifice the children with herself.

Kovaloff, who had hitherto been the least fanatical of the Beguni, was horrified by his wife's avowal. Failing to dissuade her he went to seek the counsel and enlist the help of Vitalia.

The prophetess hastened to the mother, and instead of trying to prevent her self-sacrifice, commended her for her holy and laudable resolve.

She finally convinced Kovaloff that by self-martrydom he and his family could alone hope for salvation. It was in obedience to her behests that Kovaloff performed the dreadful tragedy, himself meanwhile grieving continuously that he was not allowed to die with his wife and children.

The Czar has been profoundly impressed by the story, and is receiving minute reports of the progress of the inquiry.

Packed in Like Sardines.

London, June 9.—The special correspondent of The Daily News at Tiraspol describes, in a second letter to-day, the scene at the place of entombment. He says the spaces were so cramped that the victims were obliged to pack themselves in like sardines, heads and feet alternately. One scooped a cavity in the clayey wall with his fingers to give room to lay his head and shoulders.

The interments all took place in the night time. The victims donned their best clothes, then their funeral shrouds and prostrated themselves resignedly and silently, always in the presence of some passive co-fanatic. There was not a single involuntary moan or movement while Kovaloff with his spade slowly covered them.

A report has just arrived at Tiraspol, says the correspondent, of suspected self-immolations practised for years past at the village of Pletzkee, about 16 versts distant, and the police have been ordered to make an investigaion.

LORD LORNE ON CANADA.

Our Great Resources the Subject of a Paper in The Daily Graphic.

London, June 8.—The Marquis of Lorne, son-in-law of Queen Victoria, and former Governor-General of Canada, is the author of a lengthy and eulogistic review of the progress and present position of Canada, published in The Daily Graphic to-day. Dealing with the vast mining resources of the Dominion, he says: "The half-veiled proposal to repudiate debts owing to the British investors, heard from the platforms of some of Bryan's supporters in the election contest, should make us cherish more than ever the field of investment in our own colonies."

CHEESE INSPECTION.

A Government Official Proposed as Arbitrator.

The following extract from the Globe's account of the discussion in Parliament on the bill to amend the cheese inspection act will be of interest to local cheesemen in view of the recent difficulty on the Peterborough Board :

Mr. McMullen moved the second reading of a bill to amend the general inspection act. He explained that the practice was to buy cheese subject to inspection, and where that inspection took place somedays later if the market had dropped some buyers might take advantage of the clause in the bargain and say this cheese is not up to the standard. If the market rose and there had been an advance in quotations there were no disputes. This bill provided for the appointment of an arbitrator to whom disputes should be referred, the decision of such referee to be final. At a meeting Mr. McMullen attended, where 57 cheese factories were represented, a resolution was unanimously passed asking for some legislation of this kind to protect the industry.

Mr. McLean opposed the bill and read resolutions of the Ingersoll and Brockville cheese boards against it. He also read telegrams from cheese buyers against the bill. This whole trouble orginated in the improper feeding of turnips, apples and rape and rye to the cows. For that reason $25,000 less had been paid last season for cheese in Stratford than would otherwise have been paid.

Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, said he had received a number of telegrams and resolutions respecting this bill. He concurred in a good deal of what Mr. McMullen had said as to the cut made in price on the ground that inspection did not bear out the quality it was sold for. He referred to the usefulness of the Government inspector at Montreal as a voluntary referee in disputes. He did not know where the Government could lay their hands upon a competent man such as was contemplated by the bill, as nearly every such person was now engaged in the cheese trade. He suggested the reference of this bill to one of the standing committees of the House, because it was important, even if the bill did not pass this session, that it should come before the great dairy conventions of the country. He made this suggestion on the understanding that it did not commit them to the bill.

Sir Charles Tupper thought this would endorse the principle of the bill, and Mr. Fisher's speech had been against it.

Sir Richard Cartwright agreed that it was important to have this matter brought before the dairy parliaments, and after its discussion here he moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Craig believed the principle of the bill to be vicious and should be condemned at once.

Mr. Sutherland pointed to the cheese boards of Oxford County passing resolutions against this bill, and thought as these resolutions were unanimous the House should pay heed to them. Unless there was some special demand for this bill, he would be opposed to the principle of it, because they should interfere as little as possible in matters of trade and commerce.

Mr. McMullen said his desire in introducing the bill was to promote the cheese industry, and in view of the meeting in Harriston, he could not help but think it would do so. Mr. McMullen gave several examples of the need for the bill.

Mr. Cochrane supported and Messrs. Gilmour and McMillan opposed the bill. The motion to adjourn the debate was carried and the House adjourned.

LIFE WAS MISERABLE.

AS THE RESULT OF A COMPLICATION OF DISEASES.

Poor and Watery Blood—Stomach Out of Order—Further Aggravated by a Severe Attack of Rheumatism—Home Remedies and Doctor's Treatment Alike Failed.

From the St. John, N.B., Sun.

The number of remedies for the ills that flesh is heir to, which are placed on the market is almost innumerable, and the public is prone to class them as worthless. The public is not always right, however, as some of these remedies by their sterling worth have overcome the prejudice against advertised medicines, and by the force of true merit have won public favour. Of the latter class the most prominent and popular undoubtedly is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which has a life saving record from the Atlantic to the Pacific that no other medicine can approach. Among those who have been benefitted by the use of this great medicine is Mr. Jas. H. Bailey, the well known veterinary surgeon of Maugerville, N.B. Mr. Bailey gave the following statement for publication to a correspondent of the Sun. "In the spring of 1895 I was in very poor health. A complication of diseases had apparently decided to make my life miserable. I was depressed in spirits, my blood was poor and watery, my stomach was out of order, and I had no appetite. The result was I was nervous, and tired all the time. I suffered from loss of sleep and as if to make life still more miserable, I was attacked with rheumatism of great severity, and suffered the most excruciating pains. Home remedies failed to relieve me and medical aid did me no permanent good. I read a testimonial given by a neighbour in favour of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and made enquiries concerning them, which decided me to give them a trial. I bought half a dozen bottles, but before I had finished the fifth I was again enjoying sound health, and I have no hesitation in recommending them for almost any ill that flesh is heir to."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are praised amongst the highest and lowest in the land, as a strengthening and tonic medicine, whether for men, women or children. They are not like other medicines, nor can they be imitated, as is sometimes dishonestly pretended by dealers who offer substitutes. See that the package bears the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and in case of doubt send direct to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., who will supply the pills post paid at 50c. per box, or $2.50 for six boxes. They cure all disorders which arise from impoverished blood, such as muscular weakness, loss of appetite, shortness of breath, pains in the back, nervous headache, early decay, all forms of female weakness, hysteria, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism and sciatica.

DID YOU HEAR

About the Conqueror?

What Conquerer?

The Conqueror of Kidney Ills.

What is its Name?

Doan's Kidney Pills.

It has arrived in Peterborough.

And Peterborough People are Talking About it.

Mrs. Stephens, 424½ George Street, Peterborough, Ontario, says: "I have suffered for some years with pains in my back, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, etc.

I used several different medicines, but failed to obtain any benefit, then I thought that I would try Doan's Kidney Pills. From the very first their marvellous curative powers were manifested in a remarkable manner. Relief came as if by magic.

I have used two boxes only, and can say that Doan's Pills do all that they claim to do. I used to think the advertisements must be exaggerated, but now I can easily believe every word that is published concerning the remarkable effects of this little conqueror of kidney troubles."

Sold by all druggists at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50.

you have economy and a feed that gives better results.

A Member: I have fed sour whey and have been successful.

Mr. Louis: Probably you have never taken an account of the grain you have fed with it. If you had fed one of the pigs on grain mixed with sweet whey, and another lot on the sour stuff, I think you would have found that you would have made better results out of the sweet whey. I have said that it is desirable sometimes when finishing off the pigs to feed them on sour whey.

A Member: Have you any experience in feeding roots?

Mr. Louis: No swine feeder, I care not if he is a dairyman or not, should ever go without roots, especially for winter purposes. In winter we go upon our barn floor, and we gather up the clover leaves and the clover heads, a barrel full every morning, and we carry it to the hog-house. We fill a barrel with water, and we put a steam hose in and we bring it to a boiling heat, and then mix grain with it. We find that we can winter our pigs and brood sows in this way better than in any other. Aside from this, each of our hogs, during the winter receives a root. We are great people to grow squash. We grow an acre or two simply for the purpose of feeding. We do not grow them in the corn any more.

MIDDLE WHITE YORKSHIRE SOW.
Bred by Saunders Spencer, Holywell Manor, St. Ives, Hunts, Eng.

A Member: How would pumpkins do?

Mr. Louis: Pumpkins are not as good as squash. They retain more water, and when you are fattening your hogs, and can feed the one against the other, you will find that the hogs will leave the pumpkins and go to the squash. I use the old variety of squash.

A Member: Has Mr. Louis had any experience in feeding corn ensilage?

Mr. Louis: I have had no personal experience. Two or three years ago I was in Minnesota, when the man in charge of the insane asylum farm, which is one of the finest institutions in the State, came to me and said: "Mr. Louis, ensilage is the finest feed for hogs there ever was. I am wintering all my sows on ensilage." I told him that I could not imagine that there was enough in ensilage to sustain the life of the sow, and warned him that if he continued to feed it his pigs next year would be born without hair, and otherwise deformed. It may be good to feed ensilage in the winter as a change, but as a regular feed it can't be depended upon.

A Member: Have you fed artichokes?

Mr. Louis: I have, I am sorry to say. My first experience with artichokes was enough for me. I planted a couple of acres, and the first year I got good-sized artichokes. Then they kept coming up year after year for five or six years—little things about the size of a hazelnut—and it was with the greatest difficulty that I could keep them from spreading all over the farm.

A Member: What breed of pigs do you consider most profitable?

Mr. Louis: The one that gives the greatest return for the feed consumed. (Applause.) When we come to talk about breeds we talk about a fancy. It is simply a point of fancy with every man. I would say, let every man independently choose his own breed of hog—that which suits him best, that which suits the market best, that which gives him the best results.

A Member: How often do you approve of feeding the hogs?

Mr. Louis: That is a good question. In winter time it is not well to disturb the hogs before daylight. I found that by experience. As our days are short I believe that twice feeding in winter is better than feeding three times, but in the fall of the year and in the summer it is better to feed three times than twice. Feeding is one of the great arts. The trouble is that men feed a great lot of stuff all at once—more than the hog can consume. Let it be the maxim on every farm, no matter what the feed, never to give the hog any more than it will eat clean, so that it may go hungry to its next meal. Then you will find that you will make better growth on the young pigs, and that you are fattening your animals in a way that will make more gain.

A Member: What about diseases of hogs?

Mr. Louis: Almost all the diseases that the human being is subject to the hog is subject to. He is subject to typhoid fever, measles, colds, and hundreds of other diseases, and most of them are caused by injudicious feeding. For instance, probably one of the greatest complaints among your hogs is paralysis of the loins. You know, the hog that drops right behind and drags his feet after him. I presume I hit a good many men just now. That is simply the result of feeding. While the hog is the quickest of digestion of any of our animals, remember that when you stuff the animal to excess and feed injudiciously, without any condiment or salt, or feed your dairy product without any grain, you are injuring him. Constipation sets in, and then you have the first step towards disease. As for colds, we know when we take cold. Let that observation be followed out in the case of hogs, and then we can avoid those little diseases that so often destroy the lungs of our hogs. It is better to avoid them than to look for remedies.

A Member: Is there any remedy for paralysis?

Mr. Louis: The only remedy that I know of is to take turpentine or any liniment and pour it freely over the loins of your hog. Keep the animals in a warm quarter, and give them something that will have an effect on their bowels. There is a constipated condition, and you must relieve the animal. For general information I may say that if you have a sick hog, and you must give him physic, give it to him this way: Take a piece of boiled pork and slice it about the thickness of your fingers. Then split it and put a few grains of calomel in it. First, give the hog a little piece of the pork without the medicine. A hog must be pretty sick when it won't eat a piece of boiled pork. Hold it before him and he will swallow it. Then give him the other piece of pork with the calomel in it. Away it will go like the first. That is the nicest way of giving medicine that I know of.

IMPROVED YORKSHIRE SOW.
Property of J. E. Brethour, Burford, Ont.

A Member: How many grains of calomel?

Mr. Louis: According to the size and weight of your animal. You can give a hog at least four or five grains more than any man could take. Of course, you must consider the age of the pig. I am not here to advocate giving medicine to your hogs. I am advocating here to-day judicious feeding without medicine.

A Member: How do you manage milk fever when you have it?

Mr. Louis: You will have milk fever in your brood sow if you have fed her on a heating food before she farrowed. If you have fed her on barley or on corn, and have confined her, you can depend upon it that at the time she goes down to farrow she will have milk fever, her udder will be hard and caked. At these times you will find that she rises right up and refuses to let the pigs nurse. She stands right there and stares at them, and when she cannot relieve herself at all she goes to work and eats her own pigs. There is a law of nature that teaches her what will give her relief. The only way that I know of to relieve her is to give her a lot of linseed oil. Pour it in some milk on feed. Then get some hot water, as hot as your hand can bear it, and kneel down beside her. With a cloth bathe her udder in the hot water. She will have a fearful pain, therefore be careful. Keep washing the udder for about half an hour at a time. When the water cools get some more. Afterwards rub with liniment, and then I think you will be able to save your sow. Farmers often make another mistake. As a rule, when a man sees a litter of pigs in his stable he feels so pleased that he gives the sow an extra feed—the biggest she ever had in her life. He goes into the stable next morning, and then the chances are he will find his sow has milk fever. She will refuse to let the little fellows nurse. Care should be taken not to give the sow much milk-giving feed until the little ones are able to take care of the milk. When you hear the little pigs squeal for the milk and become hungry, then you can increase the feed from day to day. Give the sow, immediately after farrowing, a handful of shorts with some water, and you will find that you will never have any trouble.

A Member: What is the best time of the year for farrowing?

Mr. Louis replied that that depended upon the shelter that was provided for the hogs, and on how good a man the farmer was to take care of the sow. She should be liberally fed, but not to excess. The pigs should have plenty of fresh air and exercise. The latter could be provided in the pen with the aid of a hazel switch when the weather was too stormy for the pigs outside.—Part II. of Mr. Theodore Louis' (of Louisville, Wis.) lectures at the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association, as specially reported in Farming.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, June 7.—There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 400 calves and 600 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, and trade was good, but the prices of both beef and mutton critters were lower than our last week's markets. Very few cattle were bought by shippers, but the unusually large numbers of persons taking passage on the steamships sailing for Britain require a much larger supply of beef than usual, causing the active demand and good prices that are being paid for good to prime butchers' cattle. Mr. George Nicholson bought 23 prime brewers to-day, paying 4½c per lb. for the greater part of them. Pretty good stock sold at from 3½c to 3¾c per lb., and the common half-fatted beasts brought from 2¾c to 3c per lb. Calves sold at from $2 to $3 each. Shippers are paying from 3½c to 4c per lb. for suitable sheep. Lambs sell at from $2 to $3.50 each. Fat hogs are rather scarce and sold to-day at $5.35 per 100 lbs.

DR. ENGLES DROWNED.

He and His Brother Were Out Fishing and Their Boat Capsized.

North Bay, Ont., June 7.—Dr. Engles was on a fishing trip, and while he and his brother were out in a boat a sudden storm came up, in which the boat was capsized. Both men were soon struggling in the water. The Doctor's brother was saved, after great efforts on his part to save the Doctor, who became exhausted, and in which attempts he nearly lost his own life. The place where the accident occurred is about 15 miles from here. The body was found last night and was forwarded from Callander to Chicago this morning.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

Wedding Bells.

On Wednesday, June 2nd, at 9 o'clock, there occurred at the Presbyterian Manse, Havelock, one of those pretty and solemn ceremonies very eventful in the lives of two popular young persons, when Miss Cassie Kelly was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Wellington Ross. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, B.A. Mr. Brinkman, as groomsman, and Mrs. Brinkman, as bridesmaid, assisted the young couple through the ordeal. Mr. and Mrs. Ross left on a wedding tour to Toronto and other cities.

A Changeable Climate.

While Ontario and the eastern provinces of the Dominion are having rain in abundance, in fact in too liberal a measure, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories are suffering from a deficiency. In the Northwest Territories especially the rainfall has been less than half the average amount, and at many points almost nil, while 75 and 80 degrees in the shade has been of almost daily occurrence. During the past winter, the snow fall in Ontario was away below the average, while the Northwest had an unusually heavy supply of the beautiful. Such are some of the eccentricities of our Canadian climate.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

COUNTY COURT.

The Case Against Samuel Smiley Taken From the Jury and Dismissed.

At the County Court yesterday the first case taken up was that of Queen vs. Smiley, the particulars of which were as follows:

Queen vs. Smiley.—This was an indictment for theft against one Samuel Smiley, hailing from the township of Methuen, who was charged with the theft of a quantity of marsh hay alleged to belong to a family named Drain of the township of Dummer. Smiley was brought before Police Magistrate Edmison in January last on this charge and committed for trial, which took place yesterday at the Quarter Sessions before His Honour Judge Weller and a jury.

On being called, David Drain swore that he entered and cut a large quantity of marsh hay on lot 13 in the 12th concession of Methuen, and stacked the same on the side of the marsh, this being done in the month of September, 1896, and in December a quantity was taken away and brought to Smiley's place. It appeared that John Drain, who has since died, had made application to be located for this lot, but as a matter of fact the Crown Timber Department had received no such application, and the lands still remained Crown lands. It also appeared that complainant had posted a notice on the marsh in the spring of the year forbidding trespassing.

Counsel for the accused contended that on this state of facts no theft had been committed, the Drains themselves having no title in the lands were themselves trespassers as regards the Crown, and that the cutting and stacking of the hay on Government land did not make the hay theirs and that as far as the Drains were concerned it was no theft to remove this hay as long as it was not in their actual possession. Smiley discharged.

His Honour at the completion of the examination of the first witness for the Crown withdrew the case from the jury and ordered a verdict of "not guilty" and discharged the accused, his Honour pointing out that persons claiming rights as locatees must have location tickets or be in actual possession, and decided accordingly.

In moving for the discharge of Smiley, Mr. Kerr informed the court that if the evidence for the defence had been required the evidence would have shown that Smiley had purchased a quantity of hay from one Thomas Crowe and that Smiley's men in going to draw the same had by mistake drawn a quantity of the hay cut by the Drains and that he Smiley was unaware that this was not Crowe's hay until accused of theft by David Drain.

Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, acted for the Crown, and Mr. F. D. Kerr and Mr. F. W. Gladman conducted the case for the defence.

Melrose vs. Craig.—This was a case in which Adam Melrose charged John Craig with offering his stock for sale en bloc and after it had been inspected by the plaintiff, removing a portion of it before he purchased it. The plaintiff asked to be reimbursed for the goods taken and was awarded $100 by the jury, the costs going with the judgment.

Dumble & Johnston for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

Ashe vs. Wilson.—Laid over until the non-jury sittings on June 24th.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

The Grand Jury brought in the following presentment:—

To His Honour, Judge Weller:

We, the members of the Grand Jury of the general sessions of the county of Peterborough, have completed the duties imposed upon us as expressed to us by your honour, and beg to submit herewith our report.

Your Grand Jury is pleased that at this session there are no cases up for their consideration. The court is to be congratulated in consequence and they consider that this fact may be taken as a satisfactory evidence of an absence of crimes of a serious nature in the county which is also a matter of congratulation.

Your Grand Jury has visited the goal, being shown through the building by the Goaler. After inspecting every department they are pleased to report that everything pertaining to the comfort, cleanliness and discipline of the prisoners was found to be in a most satisfactory state.

We find at the present time that there are only two vagrants confined. Although they are receiving the best attention their present quarters can afford, we are quite convinced that this is not a proper place for these unfortunates. We are pleased to learn through your honour, that the county is willing and prepared to do their share towards securing proper accommodation for this class, and trust that the town, with its usual generosity, will join hands with the county in providing a home for those who have to be provided for at the expense of the public.

Your Grand Jury has also visited the Nicholls and St. Joseph's Hospitals, and were most courteously received and shown through the buildings by the Lady Superintendent in each place, and are pleased to report that they found these institutions in a most excellent condition. The Board of Management and staff in connection with each are to be highly commended for the very efficient way in which these institutions are fulfilling their purpose.

Your Grand Jury has also visited the House of Providence in connection with St. Joseph's Hospital, and the Protestant Home. With very inadequate accommodations these institutions are doing a noble work. We found everything in connection with them in a most satisfactory condition.

We want away from these buildings convinced that in no way could her Majesty the Queen's Diamond Jubilee be more appropriately marked than by the giving of suitable buildfor the carrying on of this work by those philanthropically disposed.

THE GUARANTEE FOR THE JUBILEE FUND.

THE TOWN COUNCIL WILL BACK THE COMMITTEE.

It Was so Decided at a Meeting Which was Held Yesterday Afternoon—The Programme Now Completed for the Day.

A meeting of the Town Council was hastily summoned yesterday afternoon, as it was learned that the Jubilee Committee and the citizens as a whole were not satisfied with the manner in which the grants for the celebration had been made, the grant to the Sports Committee having simply been a guarantee of $200 in case of rain.

Quite a large number of citizens were present at the meeting and the following councillors:—Best, McWilliams, White, Graham, Robertson, LePlante, Cobb and Meldrum.

Councillor Best was voted into the chair and explained that there had been some dissatisfaction amongst the citizens in regard to the way the grant had been made and he invited discussion on the subject.

Mr. Peter Campbell was in favour of a straight grant being given to the Sports Committee instead of a guarantee in case of rain. If there was any surplus the council would be welcome to it. Other towns were giving large grants for the same purpose and Peterborough was giving comparatively nothing.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams explained that $550 was being given by the town council altogether—$200 to the Historical Society, $200 to the Sports Committee, $100 to the Illuminating Committee, and $55 to the Decoration Committee.

Mr. Robt. Fair stated that no account had been taken of the cost of the printing when the estimates were made of the cost. This would amount to nearly $100 in itself.

W. H. Meldrum gave a clear explanation of the difficulty, stating that he understood that the committee wanted a straight grant, as if there was a loss it would, as the way matters now stood, necessitate a meeting of the council before the guarantee could be secured. In the meantime the prize winners in the games would have to wait for their prizes, which would excite unfavourable comment.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams then suggested that $200 be placed in the hands of two members of the council who will be added to the personnel of the Sports Committee.

Councillors White and Graham moved that Councillors Meldrum and McWilliams be appointed to act on this committee.

Mr. Alex. Gibson thought that the council should be responsible for the entire loss if there was any. Then the committe could go to work feeling perfectly secure. It was unfair to ask the citizens to assume this responsibility.

Ex-Councillor Cahill thought Peterborough should rise to the occasion and not be behind other towns in the matter of doing the handsome thing on the occasion of the Jubilee.

Councillor Robertson stated that the citizens at large thought that if the members of the committee gave their time that that was enough, without their having to run the risk of having to personally be responsible for any loss which there might be.

Mr. P. Campbell thought that if the council would stand the total loss, any profits which might accrue should go to that body.

Councillor Davis was of the opinion that this should be satisfactory to the council.

Councillor Best explained that the council was thereby assuming an indefinite liability, which was dangerous. A straight grant would be better.

Councillor Meldrum suggested then that a straight grant of $300 be made towards the sports.

Councillors White and Graham moved as follows:—"That the guarantee to the Jubilee Celebration Committee of $200 be paid on the certificate of Councillors W. H. Meldrum and J. B. McWilliams, who are to be members of the Sports Committee, and that $45.00 of the $100 grant voted last evening for the celebration be paid to the treasurer of the Sports Comtowards the printing expenses."—Carried.

The members of the council present also expressed themselves as being willing to make a supplementary grant within reason if after the celebration the Sports Committee found it impossible to meet all accounts without loss.

The members of the committee expressed themselves as being perfectly satisfied with this assurance.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Irwin was in Lindsay yesterday.

Mr. W. Thompson has been in Lindsay on business for the last day or so.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE PIC-NIC.

It Costs Nothing to Guess.

In order to bring their names before the public Messrs. Felcher & LeBrun, of the Palace Restaurant, have evoked a scheme which will doubtless attain the desired end, particularly amongst the farming community of the district. To-morrow, at the Farmers' Institute picnic, a pan of beans will be placed on exhibition at Jubilee Point, and the gentleman guessing the nearest to the number of beans in the pan will receive a handsome gold watch. One will also be awarded to the lady making the closest guess. It costs nothing to guess.

ENNISMORE'S ANNUAL PICNIC.

The Date June 17th, and a Fine Programme Promised.

ROYAL RECEPTION FOR LAURIER

Canada's Premier to be Received With Open Arms—The Dominion Cutting a Wide Swath.

Striking preparations are being made for the reception of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier when he arrives in Liverpool. He and the country he represents will be given precedence in all Jubilee festivities. Sir Donald Smith will meet Mr. Laurier at Liverpool where the Duke of Devonshire, a member of the Cabinet will also welcome him. Mr. Laurier will visit next Monday and Tuesday, Edinburgh and Glasgow, and be conveyed to London by special train, gay with bunting and decorations, where he will be the guest of Hon. Jos. Chamberlain in his magnificent apartments at the Hotel Cecil. The London reception to Mr. Laurier will be on a scale of special magnificence. Madame Melba and Paderewski have been specially engaged for the occasion.

In London yesterday the team of the 48th Highlanders, won a splendid victory over the British team selected from the flower of the army, Coldstream, the Life, the Grenadiers and Scot's Guards, in the bayonet vs. bayonet contest. The victory of the Canadians was very popular. Canada is cutting a wide swath in England.

AFTER NINETEEN YEARS.

News Wanted of John Dennis, Last Heard of in Peterborough.

The Mail and Empire has for some days contained an advertisement asking news of John Dennis, ... "last heard of in Peterborough, Canada West." THE EXAMINER, through Mr. W. Campbell, of Ashburnham, is able to give the desired information. John Dennis was drowned while bathing in Little Lake nineteen years ago. Mr. W. Campbell's father, Mr. John Campbell (since deceased), helped to take the body from the water, and Mr. Aaron Comstock, undertaker, is looking over his records to see if he conducted the burial.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mary Pope.

Mr. William Pope will receive the general sympathy of his large circle of friends on the sad occasion of the death of another member of his family. Yesterday Miss Mary, his daughter, passed away at the age of 24 years. The cause of her death was consumption, developed from a severe cold contracted in February. Miss Pope was a very popular and much esteemed young lady. She was a member of the Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral and of the Young Ladies' Catholic Literary Society. She has been a resident of Peterborough for six years, was born in Ennismore and after living seven years in Young's Point, removed to Peterborough. In all respects she was a most estimable young lady, and her death will be particularly felt by the family and Mr. Pope, as hers is the third blank that death has made in the family circle within five years—the mother and two sisters. Besides, a sister of Mr. Pope, Mrs. Kearns, was buried last Sunday week. The funeral takes place Thursday morning at 9.30 from the family residence, 367 McDonel street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the R. C. cemetery.

BATTALION NOTES.

The Battalion Will Attend Divine Worship Next Sunday.

In the orders which were read at the Drill Shed last night it was announced that the battalion would parade on Sunday next with both bands and the pioneer and ambulance corps to attend St. John's church in the afternoon.

Chaplain Davidson was present in full regimentals and addressed the battalion, conveying his thanks for the honour which he felt had been conferred upon him. He stated that whilst abroad he had conversed with the chaplains of a number of European corps and had thereby obtained an insight in the matters pertaining to his office.

The battalion will parade again on Friday evening.

The parade state was as follows:—

A Co.—Capt. Stevenson—1 lieut., 2 sgts., 22 rank and file.

B Co.—Capt. Clegg—1 lieut., 1 sgt., 22 rank and file.

C Co.—Capt. Hill—1 lieut., 2 sgts., 18 rank and file.

D Co.—Capt. ——, 2 lieuts., 3 sgts., 25 rank and file.

E Co.—Capt. Miller—1 lieut., 4 sgts., 21 rank and file.

F Co.—Capt. Hayes—1 lieut., 4 sgts., 23 rank and file.

BOYS' BRIGADE.

Will go into Camp on July 12—They Take Part in the Jubilee Procession.

Boys who belong to the Church Boys' Brigade will be interested to know that it was decided at the meeting of the C. B. B. Council last night in the Synod office, Toronto, Rev. C. H. Shortt, presiding, that they should go into camp on July 12. The camp is to be called "Camp Victoria," on account of it being Jubilee year. Tents will be pitched on the lot at the corner of Queen street and Balsam avenue, Toronto, belong to Mr. A. McL. Howard.

It was also resolved on motion of Rev. E. V. Stevenson, seconded by Rev. H. Symonds, that companies within a radius of 30 miles of Peterborough be formed as a special Battalion, and empowered to elect their officers, subordinate to the present officers, at headquarters, Toronto.

A few choice Jubilee Novelties arrived at Mrs. Appleby's. Also Perforated Patterns for stamping Jubilee designs. Water street Fancy Goods Store.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

It is hoped that every member of the Lacrosse Club will be out for practice tonight, rain or shine. If it is too wet for stick handling the boys will take a run to limber themselves up for Friday's game. In consequence of the rain all week a practice will als be held to-morrow night, although it is not usual to turn out the evening before a game.

The Juniors have not all been out this year yet, and consequently several matches have had to be declined in their name. Tweed now wants them for the first of July. If a sufficient representation turns out for practice this week the boys will go down.

THE WHEEL.

Gordon will ride a Stearns track racer this year. He purchased it through the local agents, Talbot Bros., and his mount is greatly admired.

The Norwood Bicycle Club elected the following officers at their meeting which was announced last Weddnesday:

Hon. Pres.—H. S. Buck.
Pres.—F. W. Asne.
1st Vice-Pres.—Rev. J. F. Somerville.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Thos. Fraser.
Patrons and Patronesses—J. B. Pearce, Mrs. J. B. Pearce, J. Davidson, Mrs. J. Davidson.
Sec.—T. E Finlay.
Treas.—J. F. Pearce.
Capt.—F. S. Code.
1st Lieut.—W. A. Eaton.
2nd Lieut.—L. H. Kirkpatrick.
Correspondent—J. J. Keefer.
Bugler—M. E. Knox.
Standard bearer—W. R. Cameron.
Whipper-in—J. C. Moffat, M. D.

Ladies are admitted free. Tuesday and Thursday nights were chosen for runs. Colours, black and gold.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

COUNTY ASKED TO AID THE VICTORIA MUSEUM.

A STRONG DEPUTATION PRESENTS ITS CLAIMS

As a Worthy Contribution to the Jubilee Celebration—For its Practical Educational and Other Value.

At four o'clock yesterday the County Council went into session to receive a deputation of a three-fold character, in the interest chiefly of the Historical Museum to be established at Inverlea House, Nicholls Park. The society was represented in the deputation by Messrs. Hampden Burnham, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., T. A. Hay, secretary, H. T. Strickland, and Dr. Burnham, the Town Council and the Jubilee Celebration Committee by Messrs. Meldrum, Cahill and McWilliams, and Davis.

Mr. Burnham explained that the deputation was present to solicit a grant towards a sum to assist in the establishment of an Historical Museum in Nicholls Park, which constituted the property of the late Judge Dennistoun. The Town and County Historical Society, in addition to its ordinary functions, had contemplated the establishment of a historical museum and Mr. Richard Hall, one of the trustees of the Nicholls Estate, had kindly placed Inverlea House at the disposal of the society but the latter being without funds had asked the assistance of the town council towards making up the sum of $200, estimated as required to properly fit the building for the purpose of a museum. But Mr. McWilliams had said that that sum was quite inadequate for the purpose of furnishing the building properly—it would require at least $500. The town had promised a contribution of $200 conditional on the society and county council contributing the balance. The society had undertaken to raise $100 and the object of the present visit was to ask the county council to contribute the required balance. He concluded by pointing out the importance of the museum, its relations to the county as well as the town and the appropriateness of its establishment as a fitting contribution to the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee.

Mr. H. C. Strickland spoke of the value of the museum in relation to the collection of minerals which would be properly classified and named. The museum would be in promoting the well known mineral interests of this district and would be of assistance to prospectors. In conclusion he referred to the function of the Historical Society in collecting old and valuable documents, which would be kept in the first iron safe ever used in the town of Peterborough.

Mr. C. Fessenden, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, spoke on the educational advantages such a museum would afford the teachers of Peterborough, town and county, to whom it would serve, to a large extent, as a reference library. He referred to the advantage minerals in the museum would be to prospectors, and also referred to the financial benefits that might be derived by residents of the county from the presence of the historical documents which the museum would preserve.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., referred to the fact that the Jubilee year seemed a fitting occasion to establish historical museums. Assistance had been extended by the towns and counties of Brantford, Simcoe, Wellington and Oxford, and he felt sure the Peterborough council would, with their usual liberality of view, assist in the establishment of such an important educational adjunct as a historical museum, as that contemplated, would constitute.

Mr. Hay, secretary of the Historical Society, explained the steps by which the Society had developed into the additional function of the establishment, management, etc., of a museum. The liberal response in the way of offers of objects of interest and value, came in to such an extent that the sum of $200, as originally estimated, was inadequate. He said it was proposed to formally open the new museum on the morning of Jubilee Day, and he cordially invited the members of the council to be present on the occasion.

Dr. Bell endorsed what had been said, and emphasized the practical value of the museum as a safe repository of important documents, and as a practical educational medium. He thought the council would be justified in making a liberal grant. The museum would be open free to the public at all reasonable hours. He asked the county to assist the establishment of it in the interests of their children and their children's children.

Mr. Meldrum appeared on behalf of the town council, asking the county council on the 22nd in celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty. They would like to have the town and county cordially unite in celebrating the great Jubilee.

TO JOIN WITH THE TOWN

Mr. J. B. McWilliams pointed out that the preparations for the Jubilee celebration had taken an energetic form, the equal of which he had not seen before, and the celebration promised to be a great success. The village of Ashburnham had been invited to co-operate with the town, and he joined Mr. Meldrum in urging the county to join also. He had not intended to ask for anything in the way of a grant, but he would suggest that the county might undertake the expense of illuminating the Court House Park. He also referred to the importance of the Historical Museum, and pressed its strong claims upon the liberality of the county council.

Mr. Cahill, in his usual happy manner, referred to the importance of the county council joining heartily in the celebration of the Jubilee. He endorsed Mr. McWilliams' suggestion that the county should undertake the illumination of Court House Park, if they could see their way to going no further. He felt that if Her Majesty could cast her eyes over her vast domains, on which the sun never sat and on whose soil the drum beats circled the world, and note what grand preparations were made for celebrating the longest reign of history and she should see that the county council of Peterborough were taking no share, she would be very much displeased, and he was sure the gentlemen of the county council had no wish to incur Her Majesty's displeasure.

Mr. Burnham explained that the management of the proposed museum would be under the joint custody of the town and county councils and the Historical Society, and Mr. McWilliams added that provision had been made for a joint committee appointed to expend any grants that might be made for the Historical Society museum.

The subject of the deputation's visit was, on motion of Mr. Molony, seconded by Mr. Brown, referred to the Finance Committee.

The council adjourned.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 55; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

CATERPILLARS AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—A few days ago "Anti Caterpillar" got up on the wrong side, and when he saw the multitude of caterpillars it was too much, and enough to make any one mad, but when he held the Natural Science Association responsible for their extermination I felt like resigning. But thinking over it again, I thought of his question, "What good are we?" If we do not appear to be much good we are willing to try, and start now; so I have placed in the Peterborough Hardware store a small case, containing the male and female tent moths, also the cocoon they will soon form and which will be seen under every fence rail, gate post, etc.

Now the reason I exhibit these is this: They are the first cause, the female lays about 400 eggs, so if a person kills one moth, the same act destroys at one stroke 400 caterpillars.

Soon all the caterpillars which are not destroyed will be, what in science is termed, "full fed," then they hunt around and when a suitable place is found will turn into the cocoon, from which the imago, oh, I must not use any scientific terms, well then, the moth or perfect insect will soon emerge and deposit its eggs upon the shoots of trees. So kill the moths, crush the cocoons, and then we will have less caterpillars to destroy.

Yours, with thanks,
E. ELCOMB,
Taxidermist.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

A. MERCER & CO.
High Class Cash Tailors. 355 George Street

Everyone knows the biblical story of the passover. The angel of death turned aside only at the doors of the chosen people. The first-born of all others were slain. There is a chosen people to-day, at whose doors the angel of death turns aside and whose first-born escape unscathed while the children of others perish. The chosen people are the healthy people. Nine-tenths of the deaths among children are due to the ill-health of the mothers during the period preceding motherhood. Every woman owes it to herself, her husband and her children to keep herself healthy in a womanly way. She should thoroughly understand her own physical make-up. She should realize the importance of keeping the organs of womanhood healthy and vigorous. She can only do this by taking proper care of herself and using the proper remedy for weakness or disease of those organs.

The best remedy for weakness or disease of the organs peculiar to women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is truly wonderful in its effects on the female organism. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and restores health and vigor. Get it at the druggist's and take no substitute. Your health and your children's health depend upon it.

"Since I wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us," writes W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark. "My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, healthier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic."

Every woman in America should own a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In its 1,008 pages she will find plain talks about all sorts of ailments. These talks are made plainer by copious illustrations. About 90 pages are devoted to woman's diseases and weaknesses. There are suggestions for home-treatment. This book has already gone into more than a million homes. The original price was $1.50. Now an edition in paper covers is being distributed FREE. Send 31 one-cent stamps—this pays for customs and mailing only—to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. If a copy bound in fine cloth is desired, send 50 stamps.

FROM PEN TO BLOCK.

THEO. LOUIS ON SWINE FEEDING FROM START TO FINISH.

The Value of a Condiment in Feeding—Boiling Feed—The Brood Sow Should Be a Milker—Hog Stables—Roots—Frequency in Feeding.

PART II.—FEEDING.

I left my subject this morning on the question of condiment for feeding. Some of you who are feeding swine may not think it essential to have a condiment in the feeding system. I will give you an explanation. You will generally find when you are finishing off the hogs for the market, and especially when you are feeding them on one kind of food, that then they will root, and then comes in the necessity of a condiment. I had once forty hogs—shoats. I was finishing them off, and they were weighing 250 pounds when eight months old. I was going to make a trial, because a great many men had said that it was simply my imagination that there should be a condiment before our hogs in order to give them better health and aid them in digestion. Let us remember when the animal is ripening for the block the digestive organs are loaded with fat, more or less, and that the pigs are losing their power of assimilation and digestion. There were 48 shoats at the time of my trial. I weighed out eight pounds of shorts, and I gave them a pailful of the charcoal that I told you about this morning. I always find that the nearer a hog ripens for the block the more eager he is to eat either sand or something of that sort. It is simply that there is a want of power for assimilation and digestion. I weighed out 60 pounds of sandstone each 24 hours, a pailful of charcoal and eight pound of swill. These hogs were fed upon the feeding floor. We have one in our hog house, so that in fine fall and spring weather we fed everything on the floor. I think feeding on the ground is a wasteful process. In the 24 hours these hogs used 60 pounds of sandstone and a pailful of charcoal, but they did not consume in that time the eight pounds of swill. The swill would last from 48 to 60 hours, so that I found that they really did not need that amount of swill. I simply make this statement to show the truth of the assertion that we must aid the animal under a system of high feeding.

A Member: Do you boil the feed after you grind it?

Mr. Louis: We have made experiments in boiling feed. We use a steamer in our hog house. We gain nothing by boiling feed, but we gain considerable if we bring our water to a boiling heat and then put the feed in, and feed it in winter time at from 80 to 90 degrees. By this means we artificially supply animal heat. While the experimental stations say it does not pay to heat the feed, I say it does in this manner. But it never pays to put it in a barrel and boil it for several hours. Remember that 100 pounds of shorts, or 100 pounds of corn meal or any grain will make 42 gallons of whisky. When you go to work and boil your feed for any length of time you are simply evaporating your sugar from your grain, and you are not a gainer. You are evaporating all the time substances out of your grain.

The feeding of a brood sow while she is nursing the pigs is an art. But there are few men that realize this. The brood sow on my place has to take the place of the cow on the farms of your dairyman. A brood sow pig will give as much milk during 24 hours as an average cow. Now, do not ask me if I have ever milked one. (Laughter.) I want everyone who is within my hearing to have a pair of scales handy when they are feeding their pigs. A pair of scales nowadays can be bought for twelve dollars. A pair of scales and a lead pencil are a better educator than I would be if I were to talk here for a day. When the little pigs are born take them two hours or five hours after they are born and put them on the scales, and you will find that they weigh from 12, 15 to 18 pounds, according to the size of the litter and the age of the sow. You weigh these pigs every 24 hours, and you will find that they have made a gain of from two to five pounds, according to the ability of the sow to give milk.

So, you see, gentlemen, I look for a milker in my breeding sow just precisely the same as you dairymen do. I want to say especially to the young men, that when you are making a selection of an animal you should get a milk-giver, for it is with the sow that the young pigs get the first start in life. When we are feeding a sow we should feed her with an eye to milk production, just as you are feeding the cow for milk production.

It would be a great mistake to feed your sow on ground meal or on corn alone. She must have them mixed. There is where the mistake comes in. The change of feed will always be a question in the art of feeding. One kind of feed will never give us the same satisfaction as when we are gradually changing it. My pigs nurse three months or 10 weeks. They must wean themselves. You probably in your dairy business wish to wean them earlier. I do not believe in feeding the pigs separately in the trough. I adhere to the principle that the pigs should learn to eat with the dam. When they become accustomed to a course of feeding along with the dam's milk, you will never have the back-set that you otherwise would have when you take them away from the mother.

We should always endeavor to have our sows breed as near as possible at the same time. Then we have the young pigs all together. One of the great things is to have hogs all of a size and age. When we can put them on the market all of a size and age a buyer will never refuse a few extra cents.

A Member: How would you prepare the food for a sow that was nursing the pigs?

Mr. Louis: My favorite food for a sow that is nursing pigs is shorts mixed. If the sow is a sow that weighs from 300 to 400, according to her size and age, as a matter of course we must then always feed to supply as many pounds. I prepare two parts of shorts and one part of cornmeal. I steam this feed in the same manner as I said before. I feed it warm. I find that in the month of April, and especially in the earlier months of the year, when the temperature is low, when I feed the sow warm feed of from 90 degrees temperature, she will keep healthier. In this wise I change the sow's feed. If I have mixed barley meal and cornmeal with the shorts I always add a little oil meal to that ration. Even with oil meal at twenty-two dollars you will find that it pays you to add it to the cornmeal. Nothing could be worse than to have your sow grow constipated, because it would cause constipation in your pigs. I never would add milk to any steamed or boiled feed until I feed it.

CRESSMAN'S LUCY—BERKSHIRE SOW.

A Member: You believe in feeding your pigs with the dam?

Mr. Louis: Yes. Another thing; when I want to teach my pigs to eat with the sow, I go through the alley in the morning, and I take a handful of oats, and I throw some into each stall. A pig is naturally very inquisitive, and when they hear the oats drop on the floor they will pick them up, crack them, turn up one ear and look very wise, and then that is the first lesson the pigs get to eat with the dam.

A Member: What is the floor?

Mr. Louis: My floor is a wooden one. That brings something into my mind. The feeding of your soil must go hand-in-hand with the feeding of your live stock. I live upon a very sandy place, so sandy that it sometimes drifts, and yet you would be surprised at the wealth of crops that I produce there. I calculate that while I feed my hogs I must be feeding my lands, and I save the manure for that purpose.

A Member: Do you ever use concrete for your floors?

Mr. Louis: I would not want a concrete floor in my hog house for breeding purposes. A concrete floor would be too cold at the time of farrowing, and your pigs would become chilled, and you would be very apt to lose them. Therefore I would rather have a wooden floor.

A Member: How far above the ground would you put the floor?

Mr. Louis: About a foot from the ground.

A Member: What direction do you prefer the drainage of the pen to take?

Mr. Louis: My floors are level. I do not need any drainage in my hog house. It is said that the hog is the dirtiest animal there is upon the farm. I say it is the cleanest animal that ever was upon the farm, and I except no animal.

A Member: Is your yard paved?

Mr. Louis: My yard is not paved, but it would be a good idea if you could pave the yards with blocks. We clean our hog stables just as regularly as we would cow stables. Professor Henry says that I steal my wife's broom to sweep out my hog pen with. I know that a new broom sweeps awful clean. (Laughter.) Along the fence we put out new bedding every morning. We find that the sow uses this for her droppings, and every cussed little pig follows her example.

A Member: Have you had any experience in the use of stone pens?

Mr. Louis: If I was going to build a stone pen I would build a double wall and leave a space between, because if you do not you will have a damp stable, and the great trouble would be that you will have more or less rheumatism in your pigs.

I spoke just now about feeding shorts to the sows. You probably raise great quantities of oats, and it is generally said that oats are good feed for pigs. I say they are not. The pig is different from the cow, and you do more injury than good by feeding your pigs on ground oats. When you use shorts

Are You Well Shod?

You may wear a very smart gown, the newest of rose-trimmed Panama hats, but if your feet are not shod in neatness and style, you are not a well-dressed woman.

No people realize this better than Toronto girls of all classes, who fully recognize the fact that to be well-gloved and well-shod even in a calico gown, makes a woman better dressed than if the frock was handsome and the feet and hands ill covered. When the wide skirts went out they took with them the pointed toes. Probably the two belong together, but true it is that the bulldog toe which has come into fashion was never shown more plainly than in the new habit skirt which must not be over four yards wide and fit to the figure.

The bulldog toe is in, and while physicians and sensible walkers are crying its praise the woman of average vanity is wondering how she will ever consent to forget the outline of her foot to wear this new shape, which at first blush is neither artistic nor attractive. But second thoughts are always the soberest, and usage makes us forget the ugliest outlines, so the rounded toe and the broad vamp is seen on every woman who pretends to keep up with the styles, whether she wears a No. 1 a or a No. 6 c.

Half shoes will be worn more this summer than ever, because they will be made of substantial cut, strong soles, with flat heels, giving them a good walking strength. Light tan is also prohibited to the well dressed woman. If a color is used, it must be dark reddish brown, holding the same light as mahogany, capable of a polish like a meerschaum pipe, getting darker with each day's use.

SENATE'S DECISIONS GIVEN OUT.

A Great Crowd of Students Assembled to Learn Their Fate, and Quite a Number Were Disappointed—The Commencement Exercises Take Place on Friday Next.

Toronto, June 8.

The long, anxious waiting of Varsity students is over, and those who have been successful can now rejoice, while those who have fallen by the wayside can mourn the time lost from their work.

There was a great slaughter in the first year and in senior matriculation. The results of the exams, in music are not ready yet, as the examiner has gone on strike.

By 8 o'clock last night the east entrance of the University began to fill with students anxious to learn their fate. By 9 fully 200 men and women filled the rotunda and stairs leading to the senate room, where their fate was being passed upon. On the faces of all anxiety and expectancy were plainly written. At 10 o'clock the registrar began to read the names, and the faces either brightened or fell, as they were successful or not.

Commencement exercises will be held on Friday afternoon in the gymnasium, at 1 o'clock, when the degrees will be conferred.

APSLEY'S PENNY SAVINGS BANK.

A Commendable Enterprise — Take Care of the Cents and the Dollars Will Take Care of Themselves.

A public meeting was held lately in Apsley to organize a savings bank in connection with the post office savings bank. The meeting was held in the parish room, and there was a fair attendance, and great interest was taken in the matter.

Rev. P. Harding was asked to state what the object of the meeting was. He said he had noticed reports in England of penny savings banks, which seemed to effect a good purpose, and he did not see why such could not be established here. There are many children—boys and girls, who have a cent or two given to them occasionally, and they generally run to the taffy shop, and their cents are gone with nothing but a passing sense of sweetness. Or it may be, boys—just beginning to be young men—have more than a cent or two, and they go to the tobacco shop and their cents go up in smoke or down in ashes. But this is not the worst of such spending. It it leads to a habit of self-indulgence, and it helps to continue or bring on poverty. Mr. Harding believes that such a bank will create and encourage habits of thrift and economy, and a sense of responsibility. It is not so much the thought of the interest which the depositors will receive, though it is worthy of consideration. If a child makes a deposit, it, at compound interest, will be nearly doubled by the time he becomes a man—say 20 years. And as none can be depositors in the Post Office Bank with less than a dollar, he suggested that we should establish a bank as subsidiary to the Post Office Bank. Mr. Harding said that he had been in correspondence with the general Post Office authorities at Ottawa. The letter in reply to his application on the subject, was from D. Matheson, Esq., chief clerk and superintendent of the G. P. O. Savings Bank, said that that bank could not assume any liability to the individual depositors in a private bank. He replied that it was not intended to trouble the G. P. O. Bank with the names of individual depositors, but that three trustees should be chosen to conduct the business as concerns the depositors, and that when the deposits amounted to one dollar or more from any number of depositors that should be paid into the G. P. O. Bank in the names of those trustees. To this Mr. Matheson replied that "the Postmaster General to be opened in the names of three trustees —the signatures of two of them being necessary and sufficient to withdraw any amount." In a subsequent letter Mr. Matheson says: "The circumstances which you mention have suggested to me the propriety of making Apsley a Savings Bank post office and authority has been given to commence to receive deposits at that office on the 1st of June."

CREATES BAD HABITS,

WILL PERMIT SUCH AN ACCOUNT

It was then resolved by those present to organize a Penny Savings Bank, in connection with the general post office of Canada. The next resolution was that it be called the Victoria Penny Savings Bank of Apsley. Three trustees were chosen, being Rev. Canon Harding, J.P., Mr. Alex. Brown and Mr. Thomas Tanner.

There were several deposits made at the meeting, since when the number of depositors has risen to twenty-eight, with an average of close to 21½c. to each depositor. Several paid in one cent, or less than 5c., and other small sums up to one depositor of one dollar. All depositors will have the security of the General Post Office of Canada, and there will not be any expense of management beyond, perhaps, two cents for the depositor's book.

The trustees wish to acknowledge very gratefully the courtesy and help which they have received from the authorities of the General Post Office at Ottawa.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY.

It Does not Fall on June 6th, but on July 15th.

St. Swithin's day if thou dost rain
For forty days it will remain;
St. Swithan's day if thou be fair
For forty days 'twill rain na mair.

St. Swithin was bishop of Winchester; a very holy man, who died in 862, and whose remains were removed on 15th July, 971. Numerous miracles preceded and followed this translation.

It is said there was a tremendous rain on St. Swithin's day, 15th July, and hence the above well known weather myth.

In France, St. Midard, June 8th, is accredited with an influence on the weather almost identical with that attributed to St. Swithan in England.

The Saints don't count for much in the colonies—and as yesterday, 8th June, was a French Saint's day, we need not anticipate the forty days of rain.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Court of Revision to-night.

—The tail end of the Fowlds drive of logs for Hastings passed through yesterday.

—The Demonstration Committee ordered 2,000 Jubilee badges from Toronto last night.

—Mr. W. B. Bamford announced Peterborough's Jubilee celebration to the members of the Cheese Board this morning.

—Thos. Penwarden, a farmer, choked to death through a piece of meat lodging in his throat in a Port Hope hotel yesterday.

—The Jubilee committee is rushing things. The programme was only fully decided upon last night, and yet the big posters are already out.

—If you value the health of your children, don't give them tea or coffee. Give them Madden Cereal; it is a great bone and brain maker, as well as nerve restorer, it increases the appetite and aids digestion. Try a package; all leading grocers sell it. 3d

—The Havelock Standard says: Mr. Wm. Dineen, of the west end, has workmen working on the foundation of a new hotel which he has engaged Contractor McDonald, of Peterborough, to erect for him. The new building will be on a lot just east of the Graham House. Four thousand dollars, we understand, is the contract price, and the hotel will have every modern improvement.

RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

The Rival Companies of British Columbia Had a Hearing Mr. Blair Favors the Columbia and Western.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special.)—Before the Railway Committee to-day the promoters of the Columbia & Western (Mr. Heinze's) and Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern Railways met at close quarters in their fight for a charter. Mr. Milne of Victoria and Mr. McLean of Vancouver made a strong plea for the coast line, but Mr. Blair, in his remarks, appeared to favor the Columbia & Western. He thought it would be unwise to charter more than one company, and as the Heinze Company was known to have the financial standing, and had spent $1,300,000 in British Columbia, he considered the interests of the country would be promoted in giving that company the charter. Mr. Blair explained that he was not speaking for the Government, but only expressing his own views.

Sir Charles Tupper said that in view of the Minister's statement the committee would be losing time if they did not accept it.

There was a little further discussion, but it was decided to defer final action on the C. & W. bill until after the Government's official announcement of the arrangement with the C.P.R.

Mr. Blair said this announcement would be made to-morrow or Thursday.

Major-General Gascoigne returned from Quebec this morning. On being asked by your correspondent for his candid opinion regarding the Jubilee Contingent, he said he could conscientiously state that the regiment was an admirable one, and would create a very favorable impression in England. He accounted for the unfavorable reports sent out from Quebec the early part of last week by the appearance of the men in mufti. Since, however, the new uniforms had been supplied and fitted the regiment made a most creditable appearance, and he was greatly pleased with it. General Gascoigne leaves for the Niagara Camp to-morrow, thence to London, Kingston and the Quebec Camps.

The Standing Orders Committee of the Senate reported in favor of disallowing the petition of the American Bank Note Company for an act of incorporation because sufficient notice of application had not been given. Senator Clemow said it was most unfair for the Senate to throw out this bill on a mere technical objection. The rules of the Senate required that in addition to notice being given in The Canada Gazette, it was also necessary to give notice in the newspapers in the various provinces. The company had given notice in The Canada Gazette, but had, through inadvertance, neglected to give proper notice in the provincial papers. Of course the committee were acting within the rules in refusing the application, but he thought that inasmuch as a number of bills under similar conditions had been allowed this session, the present bill should not be treated differently. He gave notice that he would move that the report be referred back, with instructions to allow application. Senator Macdonald, Chairman of Committee, explained with reference to all other bills allowed on insufficient notice, that they were unopposed bills. This bill had been opposed and parties opposing had invoked the rule.

There was considerable discussion in committee on Sir Oliver Mowat's bill providing that the rate of interest shall be clearly stated on all promissory notes, on an amendment suggested by Senator Ogilvie exempting loan companies doing business under federal or provincial charters or under the Building Societies Act from the operation of the act. Sir Oliver saw no objection to the amendment, but saw little necessity for it. Senator Ogilvie said that it was merely to prevent the possibility of litigation. After considerable discussion the bill was reported without the amendment.

It is understood the Government proposes to renew the bonus to the Ottawa & Cornwall Railway at the rate of $3200 per mile. It is said the Government also decided to give a subsidy of $6400 a mile for 165 miles of the Rainy River Railway, running from Fort William to Fort Frances.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte will likely journey to Europe when the session is over.

Mr. Shutt of the Experimental Farm staff returned yesterday from his western trip. He says the prospects for excellent crops in the Territories and Manitoba are very bright. Rain is now wanted. Mr. Shutt states that great interest is being taken in dairying this year.

Mr. Fletcher, entomologist at the Experimental Farm, addressed the Agriculture Committee this morning on the destruction of weeds, and praised the introduction of broom grass as calculated to solve the problem of providing the Northwest with hay and fodder. He had heard complaints that the trees on Parliament Hill were being destroyed by a caterpillar, but the solution was very simple for the Public Works Department to provide a spray pump with paris green.

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS

Afflicting a Whole Family. Speedily Cured by CUTICURA.

Statements Sworn to Before the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

My wife had appear on her limbs, just above the ankles, five small pimples that began to enlarge, and soon developed into eating ulcers of the indolent type, which, despite all remedies and our efforts to cure them, grew worse and worse, and at the end of three months had become very bad, two of them having eaten to the bone. At that time we began to use CUTICURA remedies, and with two bottles of RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, they were cured sound and well in about two months. The scars are there to-day as living witnesses of the severity and extent of the ulcers.

I also was afflicted the same winter with papular rash, from which I could not rest day or night. My skin became in a very bad fix when I began using CUTICURA remedies. I used them for about one month and was cured.

My little baby girl, when about ten months old, was afflicted with Eczema, her limbs from her knees down were one solid sore from which she suffered greatly. We tried several remedies which only aggravated them, before we began the use of the CUTICURA remedies, in which case there was a complete cure with no return of the disease.

$7.00

People take pride in telling of some of the Bargains they get at Gough Bros. The ordinary man would consider it clever buying if he spent no more than $25 for an entire outfit, including Suit, Shoes, Hat, Underwear, &c. But we make it possible to secure a serviceable outfit for less than $7.00, and this is not figuring on the cheapest goods either. The following bill of goods shows the possiblities which await bargain-seekers at our two big stores:—

All-Wool Halifax Tweed Suit	$3.75
Serviceable Pair of Shoes....	1.00
Stiff or Soft Felt Hat,.....	.50

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. Here you can depend on getting anything and everything your heart desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hempe. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

THREE HUNDRED ITEMS PASSED

It Now Looks as Though Parliament Will Close in a Short Time—The Hardware Schedule Was Under Consideration, Specially Barbed Wire and Wire Fencing.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—The Minister of Trade and Commerce is to explain the fast Atlantic steamship question in the House to-morrow.

Mr. Davies told Mr. Cameron that the officers and men of the fishery cruisers were receiving the same rate of pay as in 1896.

Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to amend the Postoffice Act, the object of which, he said, was to arrange for security from employes of the department, either by means of guarantees from companies or the establishing of a fund. He wished to avoid, if possible, the procuring of security bonds from each officer. The bill also authorises the creation of a railway mail service branch.

Mr. Ellis remarked that he would have liked to hear the Postmaster-General say that the bill provided for the insurance of registered letters.

Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to amend the Civil Service Act. It proposes to make a new class, to be known as stampers and sorters, in city postoffices. Another clause would permit the Government to make certain changes in the department staffs in regard to officers who had entered the service prior to 1882 without examination.

Sir Charles Tupper asked the Government to table any correspondence with the Government of the Leeward Islands in regard to the recommendation of a competent engineer to carry on the public works in that colony. E. J. Walsh of Ottawa had been recommended for the position by the Dominion Government, and was now suing the Government of the Leeward Islands for arrears of salary.

The House then went into committee on the tariff. The discussion on the item of barbed wire was resumed.

Mr. Paterson mentioned that it was proposed to make a new item, "woven wire fence," dutiable at 25 per cent. He said that the use of barbed wire was decreasing, and this new class of fencing coming into more general use.

Then the floodgates opened and the Government was severely criticized for depriving the farmer of the opportunity of securing this new class of wire by this high rate of duty. It was pointed out that if there was any reason for making barbed wire free to benefit the farmer, surely the same remark would apply to the new class of fencing.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Fielding admitted it was a fair question as to whether or not the proposed duty of 25 per cent. was too high. The Government would, therefore, consider whether or not it should be made lower.

Mr. Foster asked that the item, "skates, 35 per cent.," stand. There was keen competition as regards this industry, from cheap German labor, and he would ask the Government to consider whether a specific duty might not fairly be re-imposed.

Mr. Russell joined with Mr. Foster in asking that the item be held over.

Good progress was then made and over 40 items passed before dinner hour arrived.

One change was made. Stereos and electros for newspaper columns are dutiable at 1-4 cent per square inch. Matrices, or copper sheets for the same, which the tariff fixed at 2 cents per square inch, were reduced to 1 1-2 cents.

At the evening session there were empty benches on the Opposition side, owing to the banquet then in progress to Sir Charles Tupper, Messrs. Taylor, Henderson and Gilmour being sole representatives of the Conservative party. Rapid progress is being made, Mr. Fielding allowing such items to stand as Mr. Taylor requested.

There was a good deal of pleasant banter when Mr. McMullen entered the House and took his seat on the front Opposition benches. He was promptly repudiated by Mr. Henderson as an Oppositionist.

Mr. McGregor remarked that Mr. McMullen was more at home on the Opposition benches than on the Government side. Presently some wag commenced to send copies of the Auditor-General's report to the member for North Wellington, and soon there was a stack in front of him which obstructed his view of the Government benches.

Meanwhile the Deputy Speaker was driving through the tariff at racehorse speed. One change was made regarding which there has been a good deal of criticism in the press. Articles by mail and express of not more than 50 cents in value, will, as a result of the change, not come in free.

Mr. Erb sought to have oil paintings made dutiable at 25 per cent., but both Mr. Fielding and Mr. Wood of Hamilton objected.

The Deputy Speaker rattled along, and the back benches on the Liberal side were having their fun. A halt was, however, called on the item in free list, "salt imported from the United Kingdom or any British possession, or imported for the use of the sea or Gulf fisheries."

Mr. McMillan said English salt was entering into unfair competition with the Ontario product, and urged that all salt be made dutiable and a rebate granted when imported for use in sea fisheries.

Mr. Taylor said he was glad to hear the protectionist sentiments of the honorable gentleman. If he would move that item be struck out he (Mr. Taylor) would be glad to second it.

Major Sutherland endorsed Mr. McMillan's observations regarding the salt industry.

Then Mr. Cameron said if Ontario had to pay duty on coal, he did not see why Ontario salt should not be protected. There was no combination now among the salt manufacturers. They had to contend with very serious opposition, as English table salt, admitted free, was being sold in the towns of Western Ontario. He was not asking for protection in the ordinary sense of the term. He wanted to keep alive and maintain one of the most important industries in the Dominion.

Messrs. McGregor and McDonald (Huron) followed in the same strain.

The item passed without change.

Mr. Davis of Saskatchewan urged a duty on tea, but no change was made.

By 10.30 p.m. over 300 items had been passed, and with the exception of about a dozen items, all the schedules had been disposed of.

Sir Richard Cartwright said in consideration of the extreme assiduity and attention to business on the part of hon. members, and the unparalleled progress made, although the hour was early, he thought the House might adjourn.

Mr. Henderson asked what business would be taken up to-morrow.

Sir Richard replied that in the morning the fast line contract would be considered and afterwards the estimates and the tariff.

The House then adjourned.

MAHER AND SHARKEY DRAW.

Seven Rounds Were Fought When the Police Interfered Sharkey Drew First Blood.

Round 1—They sparred carefully for a minute, Sharkey holding his hands wide apart. Sharkey led for the stomach and missed. Sharkey tried a right swing, but was too short. He tried a swing again for the body, but fell short. Once more Sharkey, still aggressive, swung his right on neck and they clinched. Maher jabbed his left in the wind and swung his right on neck at end of round.

Round 3—Sharkey led left, but fell short and Maher crossed him with the right on the chest. Sharkey led left, fell short and then touched Maher on the nose with a light swing. Peter feinted frequently and tried to draw Sharkey out. Then he jabbed left on his head and they exchanged lefts on the face. Both men were careful, but Sharkey left himself very open whenever he stepped back.

Round 6—There was a long spell of fiddling and dancing around. Sharkey tried to get Maher into a neutral corner. Sharkey led left for stomach and fell short. Maher jabbed left on chest and Sharkey swung a right on the head. Peter led left for face, but fell short, and then Sharkey sent a straight right on the mouth, which put Maher down, and he felt half through the ropes, where he remained fully six seconds. His mouth was bleeding when he got up and the bell rang ten seconds later.

Round 7—First blood for Sharkey in the last round sent his stock up, and Maher's face wore a worried look when he came to the scratch in this round. Peter fell short on a left lead for the face, and Sharkey swung left and right on face and head. Sharkey swung right on ribs and jabbed his left in the stomach. Maher clinched and they broke away clean. Maher rushed and put a right and a left swing on the face and they clinched. After a breakaway Maher swung a left on the face and a right on the jaw, which sent Sharkey on his back on the ropes. When Sharkey rose the men clinched and were in that position when the gong sounded.

Maher was using his right hand, sending uppercuts on the ribs and body, and did not break when the gong sounded. When they did break one of Maher's seconds rushed over to take Maher to his corner, when Sharkey turned and punched him on the nose. There were cries of foul, while Maher and Sharkey were clinched at the call of time, but the police jumped into the ring and created an uproar by arresting the principals, seconds and the referee.

The bout was declared a draw. The men were all taken to the 104th-street Police station.

How Cuba Keeps Up the Fight.

Boston, Mass., June 9.—Colonel Sheppard Young, a well-known local military man, in an interview divulged the details of a secret Cuban expedition which left Boston on May 23, and picked up several recruits in New York. To-day he received a cipher telegram from Jacksonville, conveying the news that they had just sailed from that city on a fast, light draught steamer, 115 strong, armed with rifles of army pattern. All have seen service in the militia. A movement has been started to organize a sanitary commission here to supply stores.

THE U. S. SENATORS

Have Aroused Canadian Lumbermen to Action.

STRONG DELEGATION AT OTTAWA.

The Government Asked to Take Action Against the Hostile Attitude Shown Regarding Lumber and Pulp Wood—Sir Oliver Mowat Amends His Bill.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—Canadian lumbermen and those financially interested in lumbering operations are evidently deeply stirred by the latest news from Washington regarding the lumber duties. Over thirty representative lumbermen, bank presidents and directors, directors of railways and transportation companies, held meetings here this afternoon to discuss the situation and decide upon a line of action to be taken in consequence of the rejection by the United States Senate of motions to strike out the duties on lumber and pulp wood imposed by the Dingley bill. The great injustice of allowing Canadian logs and pulp wood to be exported to the United States free of duty, to be there manufactured into lumber and pulp, which would then compete with Canadian products upon which an import duty must be paid, was pointed out, and it was unanimously resolved that the Government be asked to take power to make provision by Order-in-Council to impose an export duty on logs and pulp wood, equal at least to the United States import duty, should that be ultimately imposed. The deputation then waited upon the Government to-night and urged that the request of the meeting should be complied with. Strong reasons were given in support of the request, and as the tariff bill is still under consideration, action favorable to the deputation's request is immediately expected. They got a most encouraging answer from the Government.

The deputation included W. C. Edwards, M.P., E. W. Rathbun of Deseronto; J. R. Booth, H. K. Egan, Alex. Fraser, W. C. Hughson, W. T. Mason, G. S. Leitham, McLaren Brothers, Levi Crannell of the Bronson & Weston Co. of Ottawa; Thomas Mackie, M.P., Alf. Scott of Toronto, Mr. Whitney of the St. Anthony Lumber Co.; Senator Cox, J. L. Burton of Barrie, Senator Drummond, E. B. Osler, M.P., J. Mather and G. Burn, Bank of Ottawa.

On the third reading of the Act respecting interest, Sir Oliver Mowat moved to add a clause to the bill providing that it should not apply to mortgages on real estate.

Senator Ferguson wanted to know the reason of the amendment, and Sir Oliver explained that he had prepared the clause at the suggestion of Senator Ogilvie, to meet the views of the Loan Companies. The question as applied to mortgages was also dealt with in another Federal Act, so there was no use repeating the law. The amendment was adopted and the bill as amended stands for third reading to-morrow.

Sir Oliver Mowat announced that he proposed to drop the bill he had on the order paper respecting employment of children in factories. He had found that the Federal Parliament had no jurisdiction to pass such an act.

E. B. Ryckman, G. H. Orr and W. H. Irwin of Toronto, and Hal. B. Douly of Simcoe, representing the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, are here again to give the Casey Baggage bill a lift among the Senators. They spent much time in the east wing, and from present appearances have a hard fight before them. Report has it that the Senators are likely to throw the bill out. Senator Longheed of Calgary has consented to take charge of the bill.

The British Yukon Chartered Company's bill came up for a third reading in the Senate this afternoon. An amendment was added, on motion of Senator Lougheed, to the effect that the powers granted under the bill should be exercised only with the consent of the municipalities affected. The bill was read a third time.

Mr. Fisher gives notice to-night of a resolution regarding the arrangements with the steamship companies for cold storage accommodation, as outlined some time ago by Prof. Robertson before the Committee on Agriculture. The cost of refrigeration plant and insulation is estimated at $10,000 per steamship, one-half of which is to be paid by the Government in three equal annual instalments. The Government seeks power to enter into contracts with persons or companies for providing cold storage accommodation at Toronto, Quebec, St. John, Halifax and Charlottetown, the Government granting a dividend of 5 per cent. annually for three years on a sum not exceeding $40,000 on the cost of cold storage premises and refrigerating plant at Quebec, Halifax and St. John, $50,000 at Toronto and $20,000 at Charlottetown.

Mr. John Craig, horticulturist at the Experimental Farm, told the Agricultural Committee of the House to-day that three cases of existence of the San Jose scale had been found in Canada. Mr. Craig proposed that the Customs officers should be instructed to refuse the admission to Canada of all packages of fruit trees, unaccompanied by a certificate of the State entomologist whence the consignments came, declaring the orchard where the trees originated was free from scale. Mr. Craig stated to the committee that the Department of Agriculture has leased a few fields in Niagara district for the prosecution of experiments in fruit culture, which cannot satisfactorily be carried on at Ottawa.

A. R. Milne, Collector of Customs at Victoria, B.C., has sent forward to the exhibition in the Imperial Institute in London, England, in connection with the Diamond Jubilee, a sealing exhibit. The exhibit comprises spears, guns, gaffs and implements used in hunting seals, the boats and everything pertaining to them. The exhibition has already been opened, but as it will remain open until September next, British Columbia's exhibit will arrive in good time.

HIS ASHES HELD FOR DEBT.

Dead Millionaire's Heirs Meanwhile Wrangle Over His Property.

San Francisco, Cal., June 9.—In the Davis will case to-day it was shown that the ashes of the deceased millionaire over whose property his heirs are now wrangling are being held by Undertaker Schuyler of Philadelphia as security for the sum of $300, the value of the casket in which the remains reposed before being cremated, as well as for the process of embalming. It is contended by the other side, however, that the ashes only remain in the custody of the undertaker because no one has any authority to take charge of them.

INDEPENDENT OPINION.

The Bobcaygeon Independent, which well deserves its name, for it truckles to no party and, in the way of criticism, adopts the Donnybrook style of hitting wherever it sees a head, has the following to say:—"The Conservative Opposition in the House of Commons at Ottawa is steadily losing ground in popular estimation. An Opposition that can find nothing to say except to find fault with the Government about the appointment of postmasters, or the dismissal of custom house officers, cannot make any progress in gaining popular favour. Tupper has made himself simply ridiculous, and Foster, the only one of the Tory leaders who has any brains or the slightest flavour of honesty, has to confine himself to complaints about Mr. Laurier having adopted many of the items of the Conservative policy. It is quite true that wherever Mr. Laurier has seen anything good for this Dominion he has appropriated it. All that is good in the Conservative policy he has retained; a deal of what was bad in that policy he has removed; and he will remove the balance at the earliest practicable date." In this connection the Independent quotes from the Toronto Star, another independent journal:

"It has been quite truly said that in finding their new policy the Government has adopted every good thing in sight. No matter who claims proprietary rights, no party or person has a proprietary right in any feature of a policy which is for the good of a country. The Liberal party of to-day is not the Liberal party of five years ago, nor of two years ago; it is a composite party, in which nearly half of the old Conservative party is resting quite comfortably. The good judgment shown in not driving these recently found friends away from him proves the statesmanlike qualities of the Premier."

Up to the present date, adds the Independent, all that the Tupper gang have done in Parliament in opposition to Mr. Laurier is to criticise petty appointments and object to trumpery details. The "grand old party" is, in Canada, bringing itself into contempt. It is time it changed its leaders and made a new start.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. WHITNEY, leader of the Opposition, having failed by his course in the Legislature to demonstrate his fitness to carry on the government of the province, is now trying to attract attention to his merits by the beating of oratorical tom-toms.

OPPOSITION to the Yukon Company, that is engineering a gigantic gobble of all the gold district worth having in the Yukon country, is being made. The British, after its experience of the South Africa and other "companies," is quite disposed to say to the Yukon Company, "Yukon't, you know."

OXFORD COUNTY is regarded as the garden of Ontario by its residents. It is certainly a beautiful county, and in many respects full of enterprise and go-aheadativeness. But in one respect it is far behind the times. It still labours under the incubus of toll roads. The county council, however, has become ashamed of these relics of mediævalism, and will next January submit to the popular vote a proposition to purchase all the toll roads in the county at a cost of between $50,000 and $60,000.

THE city of Glasgow is a model municipal government. Fancy if you can in Peterborough, this fact: Gas at 2s 2d (53 cents) per thousand, and gas, too, that doesn't require an opera glass to see it, and water at "3d per pound rental"—that is a little over $4 per year for a $500 residence, street car or tram car fares half penny a half mile, and a mile and a half for a penny. This means that the civic business is transacted on the same principles that apply to a successful private business—an honest and successful desire to get as much value for civic as for private expenditure. When a corporation is converted into a milch cow, her "keep" is likely to be very costly.

MOTHERS REJOICE

AS THEY SEE THEIR LITTLE ONES MADE STRONG AND WELL BY KOOTENAY WHICH CONTAINS THE NEW INGREDIENT.

A sick child always appeals to our love and sympathy. It commands the tenderest care and watchfulness of its mother, who would gladly sacrifice anything to have her darling well.

To mothers who have children suffering from any disease brought about by thin, watery or impure blood, Kidney Trouble following Scarlet Fever, Rheumatism, Eczema or any other skin rash, or any condition in which the child is puny, weak and delicate, and does not thrive well, one would strongly recommend the use of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, not because we say it's good for these conditions, but because Mothers gladly state under oath how it saved their darlings when everything else failed.

One of these mothers was Mrs. Geo. White, who lives at 139 Stinson St., Hamilton, Ont. She says that her daughter Louisa is nine years of age, has always been delicate, and has had Eczema since birth. Since giving her Kootenay Cure the Eczema has gone, and her general health is greatly improved.

Another, Mrs. Isabella Sullivan, of 65 Walnut Street South of the same city, has a little boy aged five, who was attacked with Rheumatism and pains in his back and Kidneys so bad that he could not stand or get out of bed without assistance. Despite the skilled medical attendance he grew very weak, and at times would faint. Kootenay has gladdened the heart of Mrs. Sullivan by restoring her boy, so that now she says he can play hard all day, and is as healthy a child as one could wish for.

Instances like these are well worth the serious consideration of those having sick or suffering children.

The detailed sworn statements of the above cases, together with hundreds of others, sent free, by addressing the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont.

VERY GOOD HARVEST

Promised by Crop Reports From All Sections

OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

The Cool and Wet Weather Has Kept Nearly All Crops Back, But the Late Frosts Appear to Have Done But Little Damage - Lots of Fruit.

The following are culled from a host of crop reports furnished yesterday by Press Superintendent Lauson, of the Great North western Telegraph company.

Ottawa.—The continued wet and cool weather is becoming a very serious matter in this section. The hay crop, an important one here, is almost a total failure on both sides of the Ottawa, as much from cold weather as from excessive rain. The grain crop, until recently, looked much better and indeed promised to be exceptionally heavy if warm weather followed, but even they are now doubtful.

Port Stanley.—Fall wheat and meadows looking very good. Spring crops of all kinds backward and not doing well. Apples look well in bloom; small fruits very poor show so far, but too early to tell much about them. The wet, cold weather is telling on them.

London.—Fall wheat and hay will yield a very large crop in this section. All spring crops are backward and, although coming through the ground well, everything depends upon the weather for the next two or three weeks. Corn is in very poor condition and much of it will have to be replanted. Apples promise to be a good average crop. Plums are likely to be heavy crop. Strawberries are plentiful.

Berlin.—An abundant crop of hay is anticipated. Fall wheat looks well where the soil is not too heavy, and a good yield is expected. Farmers are complaining of too much rain, and not sufficient warm weather.

Caledonia.—Fall wheat will average about 18 bushels per acre, and spring grains will be an average crop. Hay and straw good.

Port Colborne.—Wheat excellent, oats good, corn late; meadows are very good; all kinds of fruit above the average.

Bowmanville.—Crop reports are good. Peas, of which there is a large acreage sown in Darlington, are in a critical state, owing to wet weather. Wheat looks well, oats ditto; barley also. Hay will be an abundant yield, grass is plentiful. There will be an unusual quantity of apples, pears and cherries, and all small fruits are abundant.

Oakville.—Hay heavy, fall wheat, good acreage and grand crops; spring wheat fair acreage, good crop; oats, good acreage and look well; peas, heavy acreage and good prospects. Apples, prospects are for an abundant crop; small fruits, raspberries, strawberries and blackberries, heavy yield. If we have warm weather the crops will be the best ever known in this district.

Simcoe.—The outlook for crops was never better than it is this spring through all this section of the country.

Bronte.—In this neighborhood the grain and hay crop is looking splendid, with the exception of corn, which, owing to cold and wet weather, has not done well. Prospects of fruit are good.

Brussels.—Fall wheat looks well and will be, from present appearances, a good crop. Oats will be poor. Hay is generally good and will be a good average. Apples average crop.

Burk's Falls.—The hay crop in this vicinity is about up to the average, but the grain and root crops are suffering from rain and cold, and will not be up to the average, unless a change for warm dry weather sets in.

Stouffville.—The fall wheat crop is very good. Spring crops look fair, but are backward.

Aurora.—Fall wheat looks well, and will probably be about 95 per cent. of a full crop. Spring wheat will be a full crop by all appearances. Peas have suffered a little from the wet, but will be about 85 per cent. Oats and grass will both be a good crop. Apples, the winter varieties are very full of blossoms. Summer varieties, prospects not so good. Altogether the prospect for the fruit crop at present is good.

Smith's Falls.—Crops in this neighborhood are generally looking well, though the late frosts have injured the meadows and also plum and apple blossoms. Strawberries were badly winter-killed. Other small fruits look well.

Peterboro'.—Prospects are generally very favorable. The grain planted on the low lands is looking pretty bad, but the high lands are doing splendidly. The fall wheat crop will not amount to anything, as it was pretty well thinned out owing to the open winter and the severe frost.

Trenton.—In this section no fall wheat. Spring wheat, very little sown on account of too much rain. Farmers unable to work low ground. Peas are looking well. Hay promises a good crop.

Listowel.—Crops generally in this section are looking very well. Fall wheat and grass will be a good average, though somewhat damaged by too much rain. Fruit prospects were above the average, but considerably damaged by the late frosts.

Georgetown.—All the crops in this vicinity look well. Fall wheat is exceptionally good, and a large yield is looked for. The outlook for coarse grains is also good. The fruit crop, and especially apples, will be large.

Welland.—Hay will be very heavy. Wheat good. Oats, corn, peas and root crops are not looking well on account of the wet and cold. Prospects for fruit of all kinds good.

Walkerville.—Farmers here report the hay crop good. Fall wheat good, though only small quantity sown. Corn and oats, owing to cold, wet weather, in very bad shape.

Kingston.—The hay crop promises to be a great deal better than for the last two or three years. Fall wheat, little or none sown here; would consider the crop only fair. Rye looks well; acreage very small. Peas, large acreage; the crop promises to do well. Oats are also looking well. So is spring wheat. Corn not at all favorable.

Wallaceburg.—Fall wheat and hay are looking well, and promise an average yield. Spring crops are very backward. Small fruits in abundance. Apples promise half a crop.

Dorchester.—Hay abundant crop. Fall wheat good. Spring grain of all kinds looking well. Root crops generally late. Good prospects for fruit of all kinds.

Cornwall.—On high lands, both old and new, meadows look well. The flow of milk is large and the returns from the cheese factores very satisfactory. Fruit trees blossomed well, but in a great many orchards the cold weather blighted the blossoms and the average crop is likely to be smaller than usual. Small fruits promise well in town gardens. Tent caterpillars and a green worm of another kind are very plentiful and are doing great damage, the latter in many cases totally denuding forest trees of their foliage.

Parry Sound.—Crops are in a backward condition; those on high land are reported as in very fair shape, but low land suffered severely from the unusual amount of rain. Hay crop should be a good one. Oats are in good condition on high land. Lumber are the principal products in this vicinity.

Peterboro.—Farmers are hopeful of a good harvest and good crops. Gardens are looking well. The plum crop will not be up to the average of former years, and apple trees promise better; the wild fruit crop about the same.

Owen Sound.—Crops in this district are very backward. Hay promises a good yield. All fruits are late, but look well.

Guelph.—Prospect for an abundant harvest is very gratifying. Rye, wheat and hay never looked better than they do this season, but the root crops are very backward, especially potatoes and corn. The continued wet weather is causing all crops in low-lying districts to rot. Fruit will be very plentiful.

Port Hope.—Wheat, spring good, fall fair. Barley good, oats good, rye good, peas good average, hay average.

Amherstburg.—Fall wheat very good. Corn very backward. Good crop of oats and abundant crop of hay; peaches a failure on account of late frost; apples, pears, plums and cherries a fair crop.

St. Catharines.—Wheat looks splendid. Oats also look well and will yield heavily. Corn is very backward. Barley good average, hay very heavy; berries, all kinds, big crop; cherries about half crop; plums good average; peaches large crop, looks heaviest in three years; pears about two-thirds crop; grapes backward. Early apples promise fair; late apples, greenings and spies good, Baldwins will be light.

Sault Ste. Marie.—Crops generally about three weks later than usual owing to extremely wet and cold spring; otherwise prospects fairly good.

Lindsay.—Fall wheat, red and also clover, will be almost a total failure, owing to the heavy spring frosts and light snowfall of last winter. Spring grain promises to be far below the average. On the low lands in some places the land is under water. On the high lands the spring crops promise fully up to the average.

Markham.—Crops in this district are doing exceptionally well and looking better than in years. With the exception of corn everything is well advanced. Hay is good; spring grain, early sown, good, except in low land poorly drained. Fall wheat looks better than has been known in this section for ten years. The acreage in fall wheat and corn is larger than any year.

Brantford.—Crops look fine and doing well. Hay, oats and wheat, from present appearances, will be large yield; straw, long; prospects for small fruits good; Cherries and pears so far promise good crop. Plums promise fair crop. Of late apples there will be a large crop.

Niagara.—Wheat and rye have obtained luxuriant growth and promise to harvest well. The acreage of wheat is very small, and will make an extra good yield. Rye is very far advanced, and has been sown largely in place of wheat. This crop will also give a large yield. Hay was never better in this vicinity. This promises to be an exceptional year for fruit of all kinds, except apples. Peaches never were better, though the trees were touched slightly with curled leaf. Plums and pears promise a large crop. Berries are slow ripening. Greenings and Spy apples are a fair crop, but no Baldwins. Altogether, the fruit crop bids fair to be a record one on the Niagara frontier.

Newmarket.—The outlook for a bountiful harvest around this section is most encouraging. The fall wheat is away above the average; spring wheat, barley and oats are coming on finely. Grass is very fine and rank. Timothy and clover will be above the average. Small fruits yield abundantly. The larger fruits, with the exception of apples, which were so plentiful last year, will be a very good crop.

Midland.—Crops of all kinds, especially hay and oats on the high lands, are looking well, surpassing those of past years. On the lowlands, however, crops are very much damaged, owing to excessive rain falls.

Uxbridge.—The prospects for fruit are good, with probably the one exception of plums, but the new Government is expected to make up to the citizens here what nature may fail to do in that line this year.

Backward Down by the Sea.

Halifax, N.S., June 8.—Reports from all the Province show the season to be the most backward for many years, and the crop prospects in general are anything but encouraging. The Annapolis Valley apple belt is likely to turn out well. The hay crop promises well in all sections.

The weather on Prince Edward Island has not been so backward, but the potato crop will not be as large as in former years. New Brunswick reports are to the effect that crops will be late.

Guelph.—The prospects for heavy crops in this section are very bright. Hay and fall wheat are looking exceedingly well and promise to be much heavier crops than last year. The fruit crop will be very large.

Milton.—Fall wheat is looking well, better than the average. The spring crops are in a thrifty condition, but growth is retarded by cold weather. Hay, new meadows excellent, old meadows fair.

Ingersoll.—The condition of crops in this neighborhood is of a most promising nature. Fall wheat has come through the winter well, and the prospects are a little better than the average. Oats and barley also promise well. The fruit crop should be good.

Orillia.—The prospects for good grain and hay crops in this vicinity are excellent, but the root crop is likely to be a failure, the recent heavy rains and cold weather having a tendency to rot it in the ground.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 10.

London defeated Toronto yesterday afternoon on the baseball grounds by 9 to 6.

The grounds were sloppy and in poor condition, owing to the morning rain. The attendance was about 200. The poor fielding and wild throwing of the Torontos lost them the game. The wet condition of the grounds made it hard to handle the ball, and the exhibition was a poor one. In the second innings Cann got his hand hurt, having to retire, Jeff Blakey taking his place at right field. Hickey, Toronto's shortstop, made a record, scoring six errors for himself. A drizzling rain fell during the whole game. Score:

London	3 1 2 0 1 0 2 0 0—9

REMOVED THE BUILDINGS.

A Tiny Township Man Pleads Guilty to Selling Houses Off Property Mortgaged by Him to a Loan Co.

Barrie, June 9.—(Special.)—At the County Sessions to-day the grand jury found a true bill against George Firth of Tiny Township for selling and removing two frame houses and sawmill and machinery from lands mortgaged by him to the Canada Permanent Loan and Savings Company. Afterwards, on arraignment before Judge Boys, the accused pleaded guilty on the advice of his counsel, and he was remanded until the 23rd inst. for sentence. This case came under a section of the criminal code which may not be so generally known to owners of property subject to mortgage as it should be. Crown Attorney Cotter and Mr. R. B. Beaumont appeared for the complainants and Mr. Hewson, Barrie, for the accused.

HAD INDIGESTION!

For a Matter of Some Forty Years or More.

Joseph Gardner, stove dealer, of Bath, Ontario, is a great believer in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, Bright's disease, rheumatism, and kidney, liver and stomach troubles generally.

"I was troubled for over forty years with indigestion and constipation," he writes. "At intervals I suffered from severe headache. I spent dollars and dollars without result until Mr Bath, our druggist, advised me to try Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they are the only remedy that gave me relief. I would not be without them for anything."

Many people suffer from rheumatism. Bad blood and diseased kidneys bring it on. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will remedy all this and cure rheumatism, sciatica and all kindred complaints. Here is a sample case:

"My boy was all crippled up and suffered awfully with rheumatism," writes Mrs. H. Wills, of Chesley, Ont. "He also had a touch of diabetes. The doctors could do him no good, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured him."

Sold by all dealers and Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 25c.

When all other remedies fail Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine will cure the worst chronic cold 25 cents.

A Triumph Won.

"Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes had its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills for some time and now enjoy good health. I shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine."

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

The Jubilee Concert, June 18th.

Last night a grand gathering of the chorus took place. There was no practice of the grand choruses to be presented. The time was taken up in sizing the children and appointing the colours to be worn by the children, who at the concert will be placed on a graded platform and arranged according to the colours worn, so as to present a gigantic living Union Jack. A full attendance of the children is requested at the rehearsal at the opera house on Saturday afternoon at 2.30. Those who have not been assigned seats and colours must be on hand.

Chemong Frogs.

Messrs. Billy Nott and Albert Brown, of Chemong Village, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, are engaged in what they speak of as frogging it. It is the bull frog with open countenance, and deep basso profundo voice that they are after. When caught they are retained alive in an enclosure until a suitable time for shipment, when they are killed and the hind quarters sent away to the States. The catchers realise about 25c. a pound, and make very good wages. The Independent thinks that the frog should be made a ward of the game laws and protected during the spawning season.

A JUNE WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Alice Pascoe and Mr. B. F. Green.

A wedding which seemed fraught with more than ordinary interest took place in the George street Methodist church last evening at half past seven, when the marriage ceremony was performed between Miss Alice Pascoe, daughter of Mr. Thos. Pascoe of Water street, and Mr. B. F. Green.

The interior of the church was most beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers, arranged by the members of the Epworth League, of which the bride was an esteemed member. The altar railing in particular looked very attractive in its garniture of floral tributes.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., pastor of the church, and the bride was given away by her father. The full choir was present, Mr. Geo. Schneider presiding at the organ.

The bride was prettily costumed in white dotted muslin, trimmed with lace and natural lillies of the valley. She carried a magnificent bouquet of cream roses, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Lillian Pascoe, who was also in white muslin and carried pink roses. Lillies of the valley were entwined in her hair, lending a pretty effect.

Pretty little Ella Mathieson was the maid of honour, looking very sweet in white and pink, with a crown of natural flowers.

The groomsman was Mr. Alfred McCall, and the ushers were Messrs. E. Maybee, D. Spence and James Bradley.

The church was crowded with the many friends of the bride and groom, and many lingered at the church door to obtain a glimpse of them as the wedding party drove back to the residence of the bride's father, where the wedding breakfast was served and a reception held.

Amongst the many handsome presents received was a beautiful dinner set from the employees of the Lock Works, and an illuminated address in a dainty hand-painted cover from the Epworth League of the George street church. The address was as follows:

Miss A. Pascoe:

DEAR FRIEND,—Your fellow workers in the second vice-president's department of the Epworth League of George street Methodist church desire to take advantage of the approaching change in your life to express to you our appreciation of the assistance you have given in the League, and of the pleasure it has given us to be associated with you and also our good wishes for your happiness and prosperity. It has been recognised that you were one of the most willing as well as most efficient workers in the league, and we have admired the spirit with which you have endeavoured to advance the interests of the league in order that the Kingdom of our Master might be advanced. We hope that many years of usefulness in the same sphere awaits, you and that we will be united in our labour of love for Christ and the church. We wish you and your partner in life all happiness and prosperity, and we pray for your success and that the choicest blessings of God may rest upon you.

ONE LITTLE DOG.

But it Did a Lot of Damage to Mulligan & Co's Stock.

This morning when Mr. G. W. Mulligan opened up ole music store, a scene of devastation met his eye. A line of expensive music which had just been received, was torn to atoms, and banjos, guitars and mandolins were scattered promiscuously around the premises in a more or less damaged condition.

A pretty little black cocker spaniel trotted up apologetically, but his friendly advances were not received in the spirit in which they were tendered, as a rope was placed around his neck and he was led off to the police station and duly placed under arrest and given a cell to himself.

During the day it transpired that the dog was owned by Mr Michael Dunn, and he was quite incensed at the treatment to which it had been subjected, claiming that the dog had been locked in the store over night through negligence, and that it was known that it was there.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE EXCURSION

A Big Crowd Went Down to Jubilee Point To-day.

The annual picnic of the Farmers' Institute is taking place at Jubilee Point today, and encouraged by the first sight of old Sol since Sunday, a large crowd of picnicers embarked on the City of Peterborough this morning.

A palace scow was attached at the locks and both steamer and barge were crowded to the limit, about six hundred passengers having been taken on.

A fleet of steamers is also plying to the Point from other points on the Otonabee and Rice Lake, and probably the biggest crowd which will patronize Jubilee this season were on the grounds to-day.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Miss Mary Pope took place this morning from the family residence, McDonel street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem high mass was chanted by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, assisted by the choir. There was a large congregation present. The remains were afterwards conveyed to the Roman Catholic cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by Rev. Father O'Sullivan. The pallbearers were Messrs. Ildas Archambault, Angus McPherson, James Wyer, Michael McDonald, Edward Lynch and T. J. Begley.

JUBILEE DAY IN PETERBOROUGH

An All-Day Demonstration to be Held.

HOW IT WILL BE CELEBRATED

BALOON ASCENSION IN THE MORNING AND A PROCESSION.

An Afternoon Programme of Horse Races, Foot and Bicycle Races—A Lacrosse Match Between Peterborough and Port Hope—The Town to be Profusely Decorated, and Also Illuminated at Night.

Although late in entering the field Peterborough is preparing to observe the Queen's Diamond Jubilee on June 22nd, with all due ceremony, and the attractive programme arranged by the Celebration Committee, will doubtless draw large numbers of the residents of the district into town on that day.

The morning's programme will consist of a monster parade of the municipal bodies and all the local societies. The procession starts at one o'clock from the Central Park. Afterwards the formal opening of the Victoria Museum in the East Nicholls Park, formerly known as Inverlea, will take place under the auspices of the County and Town of Peterborough Historical Society.

At eleven o'clock a free balloon ascension takes places from the market square, when the aeronaut will ascend to the distance of over a mile and perform on the trapeze while ascending.

In the afternoon a good programme of sports will be run off at the Driving Park, consisting of a lacrosse match between Peterborough and Port Hope, trotting and running races, foot races and bicycle races.

In the evening the Court House Park will be illuminated throughout and the band will be present. The citizens have been requested to illuminate their residences and places of business, and the principal streets will be decorated at the expense of the town.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

The fast practice which the lacrosse team indulged in last night and the manner in which the players showed up has confirmed the belief that they will win from the Tecumsehs in the match to morrow afternoon on the P. A. A. A. grounds. If the weather is only fine the biggest crowd of spectators which ever witnessed a game in Peterborough will be there to see the the local boys run up against a visiting team of such renown as the Tecumsehs. The game comes off rain or shine. The team was picked last evening and placed as follows:

Goal	F Dobbin
Point	Lou Dobbin
Cover point	"Dot" Brown
1st defence	J Mein

THE JUBILEE GLOBE.

A Magnificently Beautiful and Complete Journalistic Commemoration.

The Queen's Diamond Jubilee is a great and unprecedented occasion and the Toronto Globe's journalistic contribution to the celebration of the event is also a great and unprecedented triumph of newspaper enterprise. The Globe has issued many special editions worthy of special praise, but it has in its Jubilee number surpassed all previous records.

The illuminated title page, in richly harmonious colours, in which eight tints are blended, is exceedingly beautiful as an artistic production and equally commendable in its comprehensive symbolism. Beautifully grouped amid an artistic environment of the Union Jack royal standard, etc., all in colours, are excellent portraits of the Queen, Prince of Wales, son and grand son, the great grand-son of Her Majesty, the group representing four generations of the royal family. The back ground is filled in with pictures in colours the infantry and cavalry of the army, and a line of battleships and cruisers, whilst a border of maple leaves represent the colonial heir-apparent of the Empire, Canada.

Included in the magnificent covers are twenty-five pages of splendidly illustrated matter, german to the occasion. The literary contents consist of ably written articles upon Jubilees ancient and modern of a fac simile of the London Sun reduced in size, but containing a legible and elaborate account of the Queen's coronation in 1838, Sixty years of the Queen's Empire, a graphic sketch of her life, Sixty year's of Canada's progress, an article on Ontario and her mines, and of the several provences, concluding with a sketch of the dependencies of the Empire. All this interesting matter is superbly illustrated. There are over a score of pictures of the royal family and royal residences, portraits of the governors of the colonies, including the seven governors of Canada since Confederation, and portraits of leading British statesmen, group pictures of the Dominion and Provincial cabinets, and of the mayors of the cities of Canada, splendid pictures of the Dominion and Provincial houses of parliament and a large collection of pictures of agricultural, mining, sylvan and acquatic scenery of Canada.

No reference or description, however elaborate, can give an idea of the Globe's Jubilee number. It must be seen, and studied, too, to give any idea of its beauty and excellence. Enclosed in a tube to properly preserve it, copies of it will doubtless be cherished as heirlooms to be handed down from generation to generation as a splendid souvenir of a great event which will probably never be repeated in British history.

B. OF Q. CONFERENCE CLOSING SESSION.

LOYAL ADDRESS TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

The Committee on Education Presents its Report—A Total Sunday School Attendance of 36,000 Scholars—The Epworth League Statistics.

Monday evening's session of the Bay of Quinte Conference was combined with a temperance Meeting. The Rev. Dr. Lambly presided. The report of the Temperance Committee was presented by the Rev. W. G. Clarke, B. A., as follows: Your committee met at the call of the Conference, and organized, the Rev. J. J. Rae being appointed chairman, and Mr. W. G. Clarke, secretary, and we beg to submit the following suggestions: (1) Legal prohibition of the liquor traffic; (2) that the plebiscite be brought before the people at once, and that we do not approve of direct taxation with regard to revenue; (3) that we contend along the old line of public opinion and public sentiment; (4) that we advocate increased organization. We recommend that a copy of this report be forwarded to the Dominion Government to consider the question, and also recommend that the Rev. Messrs. D. V. McCamus and C. W. Watch, and Messrs. R. McLaughlin, barrister, and W. W. Meacham, M. P. P., be appointed delegates from this Conference to the Dominion Alliance.

The Rev. D. W. McCamus, in an eloquent and stirring speech, moved the reception of the report, and Mr. R. McLaughlin, barrister, in a forceful, able speech, seconded the resolution, which was discussed by the Rev. E. Tonkin and Mr. E. D. O'Flynn and unanimously adopted.

A letter of greeting was read from Mrs. Wylie, Richmond Hill, President of the Ontario W. C. T. U., in which it was requested that this conference would co-operate with the W. C. T. U. in arranging for a temperance day in connection with the church and Sunday school work, and recommend the last Sunday in November to be brought before their conference as the day appointed. The matter was referred to the Temperance Committee.

The Rev. J. J. Rice presented the report of the Sabbath School Committee, shewing the aggregate a total of 36,000 scholars.

EDUCATIONAL REPORT.

The Committee on Education presented their report, and recommended that the following young men go to college: Victoria College, G. McConnell, T. H. P. Anderson, J. P. Berry, H. T. Lewis, R. Emberson, W. J. Cragg, W. H. P. Rogers, S.T. Tucker, E. B. Cook, R. F. Stillman, P. H. Neville, D. G. Harrison, all with aid; Wesleyan Theological College, S. G. Greer, R. S. Anderson, with aid. The following were appointed a Board of Examiners: O. B. Lambly, M.A., D.D., chairman; T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., secretary-treasurer; W. R. Young, B.A., G. W. McCamus, B. A., B.D., W. J. Crothers, M.A., D D., J. P. Wilson, B.A., J. A. McCamus, W. Johnston.

The Rev. O. B. Lambly, M.A., D.D. and J. T. Edmison, B.A., B.D, were appointed representatives to Albert College, and W. J. Joliffe, B.C.L., to Alma College.

The conference treasurer presented the following report of the Epworth League fund, showing the amount received from each district:—Belleville, $11.15; Napanee, $12.58; Picton, $15.55; Brighton, $16; Cobourg, $12 63; Bowmanville, $20.35; Whitby, $13 63; Cannington, $13 59; Lindsay, $7.67; Peterborough, $10 23; Campbellford, $18.68; Madoc, $11.26; Tamworth, $6 53, making a total of $175.94.

At the afternoon session a Committee on Prison Reform was appointed, composed of Messrs. C. W. Watch, W. J. Joliffe, B. C.L., and Geo. Wilson.

A billetting committee for next year was appointed, composed of the pastors of Cambridge and Queen street churches, Lindsay, and the members from each board.

The Programme Committee of next conference was also appointed, to be composed of the president and secretary of conference, the pastors of both the Lindsay churches, and two members from each board.

A LOYAL ADDRESS.

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty: Most Gracious Sovereign,—We, your Majesty's devoted subjects, the members of the Bay of Quinte Conference, of the Methodist Church of the Dominion of Canada, consisting of 201 ministers, and 201 laymen, and representing an ecclesiastical constituency of 200,000 loyal citizens of the Empire over which it has been your Majesty's happiness to rule for so many years, desire humbly, and with profound emotion, to tender to your Majesty our felicitations, because it has pleased Almighty God, the King of Kings, to prolong your happy and prosperous reign to the completion of the sixtieth year. And while we cannot speak officially for all the church of which this conference is an integral part, we at the same time know we express the feeling of all who bear the Methodist name. We can assure your Majesty that throughout the entire Methodist church, the largest numerically in Canada, holding the Protestant faith, there is but one common sentiment of perfect loyalty to the throne. In extending to your gracious Majesty the assurances of our fealty and love, our hearts beat in unison with the millions who, from all parts of your world-embracing Empire, seek in divers forms to express the sentiment of attachment to your Majesty's person by which they are so deeply moved. We have been wont to magnify the Grace of God in our beloved sovereign, in appreciating and advancing at all times that which has made for the true happiness of her people, and have habitually associated in our minds the progress of the Empire with the person of our Queen. It has been the appointment of Providence that your Majesty should sit upon the throne during the most prosperous period in British history, a period which shall be known hereafter as the Victorian Age, which shall be for all future students of British history the "Diamond age" indeed. The prayer of the assembled delegates is:—"O, Thou, by whom Kings reign, hear, we beseech thee, our prayer, that the life of Thy servant, our rightful sovereign, may be spared for yet a goodly number of years to rule over us. Still endow her plentifully with Thy best gifts, and finally grant her to know the hidden meaning of Jesus Christ, the Lord of all. "To them that overcometh will I grant to sit with Me on My throne," for Christ's sake. Amen.

GOUGH BROS.' BIG BARGAIN BARRICADE.

Advance Guard of Their Big Clothing Purchase—Pavement Obstructed With Packing Cases.

Persons passing down George street today had great difficulty in discovering Gough Bros. great double store. The side walk was piled high with a monstrous barricade of packing cases containing their immense purchase of clothing in Montreal. There was a corner in carters to-day and enough could not be got to move the whole consignment in one day.

This is is one of the commercial achievements of the decade. Recently a big fire destroyed the two top stories of the wholesale clothing factory of Small & Company, Montreal, but did no damage to the floor containing a half million stock of superb ready-made clothing. In adjusting the loss by fire this stock passed into the hands of the insurance companies. The insurance companies not being in the clothing business unloaded at any price they could get.

Gough Bros. always wide-awake for bargains for their customers, snatched the chance and secured $40,000 worth of tip-top, first-class, ready-made clothing at a price actually below the cost of making, not counting the material. Under these circumstances, when it is remembered that Gough Bros. in fixing prices always sail close to the wind, one can form some idea of the prices at which these goods will be offered.

Bargains is no name for the snaps presented; it's more like gifts—just enough to pay the costs of making ready and shelving the goods. In this year of Jubilee rejoicing Gough Bros. give a fitting contribution to the celebration. During the sixty years of her Majesty's reign never have such bargains been offered the people of Peterborough; and while everybody is enthusing over the Queen, the Kings of Clothiers present cause for another jubilee, a jubilee of the lowest prices in the history of clothing. The opening overture of Gough Bros. Bargain Oratorio, will begin on Saturday, June 12th, when the stock will be literally slaughtered at incredibly low prices—and at one price only—one price; for the price is made so low that with the slightest reduction there would be no price at all. See Gough Bros.' mammoth full page ad. in this issue, and to show what a boom there will be in clothing an advertisement appears elsewhere asking for five additional salesmen. Look out for Gough Bros.' Big Bargain Jubilee Demonstration!

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legroe has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

There are bandits nowadays as well as in the days of old. Business men have to meet what are known as business bandits. They may not commit violence with knife and pistol, but they resort to all manner of dishonest business methods, and the honest business man must be brave, strong and steady if he would meet and overcome them. The modern business man needs above all other qualifications—good health. Without good health, he may be naturally shrewd, bright and capable, but he will eventually fail. It takes a keen brain and steady nerves to be successful. Impure blood will befog the brightest brain and shake the steadiest nerves.

The greatest known blood-maker and purifier is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, tones the liver, makes the appetite keen and assimilation perfect. Consequently the blood is plentifully supplied with the elements of nutrition and the body is properly nourished. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All good druggists sell it

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in February, 1887, with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could only sleep when propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I tried a bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me strong and well. It saved my life."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A large book of 1,008 pages over 300 illustrations. Every woman should have it. It is full of the information that women should possess. The best medical book ever published. It saves doctor's bills, worry of mind, and, more than all, days, weeks and months of sickness in every household where it finds a place. OLD GRACE KNIVES.

Quaint Indian Tableware Which Has Been Rescued From the Distant Past.

Among the reproductions of old ideas in silver so popular just now the curious little sixteenth century "grace knives" deserve a conspicuous place. They recommend themselve not only for their quaint beauty, which is pronounced, but also for real usefulness—wherein they differ with advantage from a host of vagaries in metal which crowd the shops, the function of which it needs a special education to determine. They would form a charming adjunct to the dainty individual bread and plate. They would also make convenient and beautiful fruit knives.

The handles of these attractive relics of mediaeval art are elaborately engraved in more or less symbolic design—with an olive branch or some symbol of the church—for originally these knives served a pious purpose, but the blades are the most interesting feature. On one side are carved the musical notes and the words of the benediction before meat; on the other side the grace after meat. There were four of these knives in a set, and the notes engraved on each blade corresponded to the four parts of the music. Each was kept in an upright case of ...ped leather, and the knives when ...se were assigned according to the ...daptation of the music to the voice of the user.

The custom of singing the grace at table is gone with many another mediaeval rite, and I doubt if any ordinary diner-out would venture either to attempt to pronounce the strange monkish Latin or to involve a tune from the little square notes that seem to be scattered hit and miss through the staff. But as works of art and a reminder of a fine old custom they deserve to survive their original design.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

THE ONE RIGHT WAY.

THE SCIENCE AND THE ART OF RIDING A BICYCLE.

Burns's Lines Recalled to Point a Wheeling Moral—The Various Positions Assumed by Women Awheel—The Three Principles.

Cycling has become both a science and an art, science being merely a big word for "knowing how," and art, "the best way." Misapplied effort never met with less encouragement than it does awheel. It means visible discomfort, loss of pleasure, and, eventually, physical injury to the rider, to say nothing of the distressing spectacle she presents or the ridicule and amusement afforded the passer-by.

PAINFULLY ERECT.

"Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourscls as ithers see us!"

The beginner, who has been told to "sit up straight," assumes a painfully erect position. If the saddle is not properly adjusted, the tip of the spine comes in contact with it, and the jarring is most injurious to the spinal column. Again, the rider in this posture depends upon the leg muscle alone for propulsion, as the weight of the trunk is thrown entirely upon the saddle. This is a great loss of power. The opposite extreme is affected by would-be scorchers, never by the genuine one. The correct far-forward posture demands the lowered handle bar, so that the arms can be extended. The bend is at the hips, the chest is not contracted nor the shoulders rounded. This posture may be used for a short distance occasionally by women, but is dangerous in the extreme for habitual riding. No position should be taken that admits of the downward pressure on the abdominal contents.

SADDLE TOO LOW.

An awkward position is sure to result if the saddle is too far back and too low. There is also great waste of effort. The knee is in painful evidence; no good ankle movement is possible; the shoulders are apt to be rounded in the effort to reach the handle bars, and hill climbing is almost impossible. Over-stout women frequently assume this position because of a desire of being near the ground, and mounting and dismounting are easier.

Then there is the girl with her saddle too high. The fault in position is not so easily detected. If you notice the foot on the pedal at the lowest point you will find it is only reached tiptoed, as it were. There is also a slight lateral twist of the lower back muscles and hips, which becomes very apparent in hill climbing.

With the handle bars too high, the arms are too much bent at the elbow, and there is a loss of steadiness.

The position is regulated mainly by—1. The inclination of the trunk forward. 2. The relative position of trunk and saddle. 3. The adjustment of handle bars and saddle.

With body and saddle in the proper relative position, the weight is supported where the pelvic bones rest on the saddle, and there should be no pressure at any other point. The tilt of the saddle should correspond to the inclination of the body, and the trunk and saddle should always form a right angle.

A good test of the height of the saddle is made by first placing the saddle far enough forward to put the rider well over her work—the forward tilt to correspond with the inclination of the body. If, sitting in the saddle, the foot can be placed under the pedal so that the pedal will rest on the instep, but almost in a horizontal line with the toe, the height is right.

These are some things that a saddle should not be:

For the average woman rider—

It should not be soft and springy.

It should not be too hard.

It should not be too narrow.

It should not have a long peak or horn.

It should—

Give equal support to both sides of the body.

Be so adjusted that there is no anterior pressure.

There must be perfect freedom of movement at the hip joint. A saddle with too broad a horn restricts the free action of the thigh muscles.

My first and last advice to women is: Learn to use your wrench and adjust your own saddle, bearing in mind the best position for the saddle and yourself. ETTA MORSE HUDDENS.

We know the great cures of Hood's Sarsaparilla are genuine because the people themselves write about them.

MRS. THOMAS A. EDISON.

A Surprise for Her in Her Husband's Laboratory.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison is a very beautiful woman. If one hears singularly little about her beauty it is undoubtedly because she never seems to think about it herself. It is all very well theoretically to say that unconsciousness enhances beauty, and for the discerning it may; but the most of people are more impressed by the woman who carries herself as if she were beautiful (as the French say) than by loveliness that has no coquetry, that shows no deep attention to the toilet, that is genuinely inattentive to its own claims. Mrs. Edison belongs to this last type, and thus she has a naivete that the old Italian painters, at any rate, would have deeply appreciated. She looks like an Italian, for her coloring is softly, not glitteringly, brunette, with a superb complexion, the skin peculiarly fine in texture, and a rich, deep color in her cheeks. She is, perhaps, the only woman within a hundred miles of New York that is fitted by beauty and expression to make a perfect model for a Madonna. For, though she looks young, as if she were in the early twenties, she has the quiet poise of the wife and mother. She is given, in general society, to talking but little. She is as untouched by modern restlessness as if she were a Greek woman, and looks as if she could sit still for an hour any time without an effort, and at the same time she shows that she is perfectly alive, easily interested, and responsive on the subjects that appeal to her; these are, first, Mr. Edison and her children; and next, children and their education in general. She studies the subject of infant education in a really scholarly way, and studies with great intelligence and devotion to make all good ideas and discoveries in that field serve her little boy and girl. Then without the air of condescension in such cases, she devotes much time to reading detective novels with Mr. Edison. Yes, the detective novel is a favorite diversion with that great brain, and the Madonna-faced wife of his bosom is seriously attentive to his needs in this way, and continually gathers up anything she can find that she thinks will meet the case. She reads them with him, whether with any other sentiment than that of a happy sense of duty fulfilled, it is impossible to discover, but when it comes to the scientific works that he devours as a regular diet she gives up. Mrs. Edison is not scientific; she has as little affinity for physics as other typical women, and that is saying a good deal, but a true story of a recent occurrence at the great laboratory would seem to show that one might go further and say she has less affinity for physical science than most women; that less knowledge of it rubs off on her. She, with pride, was showing some friends about the laboratory and trying vaguely to tell them things; they found her more at home in cleaning the smuts off Mr. Edison's face than in any other phase of laboratory work, but still they were not prepared for her complete astonishment when a workman came along and lit a gas jet by electricity! she had never heard of such a thing before. Now, is not that a delicious story? Any one ought to recognize its verity for it is the kind of thing that only real life has the happy audacity to compound. Dress and society are the least of Mrs. Edison's interests, but she usually leaves her home in Orange, N.J., and, with her husband, stays at some New York hotel for a few weeks in the height of the season. It is for music chiefly that this migration is made, and operas and concerts are the entertainments where they are oftenest seen.—Leslie's Weekly.

TREASURE-TROVE.

The forest of Dartmoor is surrounded on every side by wide stretches of moorland that belong to the several contiguous parishes, and every householder in each of these parishes claims rights on the common of his parish, over which, moreover, the manorial lord asserts paramount authority, and enforces it when he can. The duchy of Cornwall, however, to which the forest belongs, professes a sort of sovereignty over all these commons.

Now, there lived in the parish of South Tawton, in the curious old village of Zeal, where every house is an archæological curiosity, and every householder is independent—a poor young man of the name of Josiah Day, commonly known as young Rainy Day.

The nickname was acquired by him through his excessive caution. As the slothful man, according to Solomon, excuses himself from doing anything and going anywhere, by saying: "There is a lion in the streets," so did Josiah Day shirk venturing on any undertaking, or investing small earnings in any speculation to which the risk of loss adhered, on the plea that he must look out for and provide against a rainy day.

Joe was not a lazy man, yet his exaggerated prudence led to much the same results as inertness—he let slip opportunities that could never recur, and which went to benefit men less able, honest and industrious than himself.

It sometimes happens that plums drop into the mouths of those who stand gaping at the clouds. All they then have to do is to close their mouths on the plums and to make the most of them.

Such a plum dropped into the mouth of Josiah one Christmas eve. He did, indeed, snap his jaws on it—but that was all.

He was working on the common, cutting up granite blocks, wherewith to construct a "new take" wall. It is the opinion of every householder in a parish that has commons that he has a right to as much open ground as he can inclose—subject, if enforced, to a payment to the lord of the manor, and thenceforth his own in perpetuity. Whilst thus engaged Jos came on a "barrow" or cairn of small stones. He cleared away these as too small to serve his purpose, and discovered beneath them a granite slab. This he levered aside, without much difficulty, and to his surprise discovered a stone cist or coffin constructed of rude blocks. He crept in, and was still further surprised when he found within a pot containing charred bones and ashes and near it a cup of yellow metal, and some rings and hoops, some weighing six, others ten and fifteen ounces apiece.

He hastily scrambled forth, and as the setting sun gleamed out, he examined his find by its light. He rubbed the cup and the rings on his sleeve, and "By ginger!" he said, "if it ain't all solid gold. Come! I'm in luck's way. This shall stand over against a rainy day."

"I wasn't called young Rainy Day for nothing," said he. "I'll put it all back again where I found it, and there it shall remain till I have real occasion to lift it."

So the young man replaced the covering block, then heaped the small stones and earth over it and disguised the fact that the place had been disturbed.

He returned home very satisfied with himself and with his prospects. Now he could look forward without blinking to the inevitable rainy day. At present he had health, strength and youth, and with these he could earn his livelihood. "But," as Jos put it, "I can't reckon on these lasting. I knows several young chaps as has had colds settled on their chestesses, and have died of a decline. And Tom Endicott, he dislocated his hip, and now can't hobble up on to the moor after granite no more; and as to old age and decrepitude—there's no denying it, every day and hour and minute brings me nigher to it."

Accordingly, Jos went on breaking up stone and inclosing and instinctive ly he extended his "new take" wall in the direction of the cairn and stone cist that contained his treasure.

On the verge of the moor, on the confines of culture, lived a girl named Mary Aggett, with her bedridden mother. She made a livelihood out of plovers' eggs, which she collected and sold, out of some poultry she kept, out of flint arrow heads, which, by searching, she found on the moor, and which she disposed of to an archæologist. She also did some needlework and went out charring.

Jos passed the cottage twice daily on his way out and on his way home, and very frequently he saw Mary at her door, or she was searching on the moor near where he worked, and they never met without exchange of salutations.

On one occasion, when overtaken by a hailstorm, he had been invited into the cottage, and had been given a cup of tea that warmed his heart as if it had been peppermint, and got into his head as if it had been whisky.

One day when they met on the moor the northeast blast was so cutting that they retired together under shelter of a rock to get together their lunch of cold pasty. Considering how cold the weather was, Jos put his arm round Polly, and, having an overcoat, he threw one arm of it over her shoulder.

The ensuing night was one of sore temptation to Jos. He tossed on his bed. He could not sleep. He sallied very early from his home and went to the moor, resolved to raise his treasure, dispose of it, dare fortune and marry.

As he passed the cottage of Mary Aggett he did not see her. He was glad of this, lest she should have asked him why he went to his work two hours earlier than usual.

He proceeded to the cairn, removed the stones, heaved the covering slab aside, cut into the chest and brought out the gold rings, and cup. He furbished them up, and they sparkled in the morning sun.

When all were ranged before him, he shook his head. "It would be madness to risk it," said he. "If I married Polly women be them corkscrews, she'd have the whole story out of me, and they be that chatterboxes, they can't help talking, and she'd blab about it to every one in the place. Then I'd buy the crown, and the duchy, and the lord o' the manor, and the parson and the 143 commoners down on me demanding their shares. Be hanged if I'll risk it. Women is terrible dangerous animals with their tongues, never to be trusted." Then in went all the treasure again into the coffin that had contained and preserved it for 4000 years.

"I know what I'll do," said Jos. "I'll build my new-take wall right over this old grave, and then no one can get at the treasure without pulling down the wall."

Little did Jos suspect that he was being watched, and that his every word was overheard by Polly herself, who was behind the rock hard by, where she had picked up flint chips and flakes.

Slowly, painfully, Jos Day worked at his wall. He succeeded in carrying it over the cairn, and thus he secured his treasure from being disturbed, and thus was it made fast against the rainy day.

In the course of the next three months he had completed the inclosure, and had taken from the common a tract of good land of five-and-twenty acres in extent.

About this time Mary Aggett's mother died. Jos pitied her greatly, the cottage was so lonely for the girl. His heart grew soft when he saw her in black. "Bless me!" said he. "If I lived in that cottage it would save me half of my journey every day, but I won't risk it."

Shortly after this a great surprise came to him. One morning he found in his "new take" a flock of sheep all branded M.A.

"Gracious bless us!" exclaimed Jos. "How ever came the sheep there? I'll run ask Polly, she may know. She must ha' seen some one drive 'em this way."

He went to the cottage and spoke in heat: "Mary, some owdacious radicals have been turning sheep into my new take during the night. They are marked M.A."

"They are mine, Jos."

"Yours, Polly?"

"Yes. It was very kind and considerate of you, Jos, to inclose so many acres for me. I thank you with all my heart."

"Inclose for you! It 's my new take!"

"There is some misunderstanding," answered the girl. "The new take is certainly mine. I have been to the lord of the manor and have bought it—25 acres at so much gold per acre. I have the papers all drawn out."

"Yours! Where did you get the money?"

That was a question Mary did not answer.

After much consideration Jos said, falteringly: "This is a pretty go! How am I to be paid for the walling?"

"I'm sure I can't think, Jos."

"But it has engaged me off and on for 18 months. Fifty pounds wouldn't repay my labor. I can't afford—"

"I really am sorry for you."

"There is only one way out of it," exclaimed Jos, "that I can see; and that is by changing the brand of the sheep from A. to D. and by jumping together my wall and your land."

"Well, I'm not particular," answered Mary, and so the matter was settled.

They were married, and Jos found that he had secured not only a very capital bit of land, but with it a very thrifty, witty and wise wife.

At the close of the first twelvemonth there were three in the house in the place of two. At the end of the second year the number had mounted to five, for the second addition to the family consisted of twins.

But the conscience of Jos was uneasy. He had a secret from her, and that is ever a barrier to connubial unity. Christmas was approaching. Jos resolved to make a clean breast of it and tell Mary everything.

Christmas day arrived and Joe put on his Sunday coat and flowered his "weskit," took his lever and went forth. "Polly," said he, "come along. I've a surprise for you." He deliberately threw down a portion of his new-take wall, discovered the lid of the stone chest, levered it aside, and then jumped into the box. Next moment he rose out of it blank with despair, trembling with disappointment. His treasure was gone.

By the side of the cairn and overthrown wall stood his wife watching him, with a smile on her cherry lips and a twinkle in her bright eyes. A toddling child clung to her skirts as she held one of the twins in each arm.

"Poll!" he grasped, "I'm a ruined man. I've lost everything. I've been robbed."

Then she laughed and when she laughed the child holding her skirt laughed also and the babies in her arms chuckled and crowed.

"No, Jos Rainy Day," she said, "you have lost nothing, you have gained much. I found your treasure, and disposed of it to the antiquarian gentleman who buys the arrow heads. With the money I bought the land, the sheep, the cows—and you."

Then Jos scrambled out of the grave, and fell a laughing, and he laughed till the tears ran down his cheeks.

"By ginger!" said he: "woman's wit outweighs man's wisdom. My true treasure-trove is here"—he clapped his wife on the shoulder—"and it's one neither crown, nor duchy, nor lord of the manor, nor parson, nor the hundred and forty-three commoners have one particle of right over no more nor a pin's head, but is all—all and undivided—my own."—The Graphic.

There are thousands of sickly school-girls all over this broad land that are dragging their way through school-life who might enjoy that abundant life which belongs to youth by simple attention to hygienic laws and a proper course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. This would make the blood rich, the heart-beat strong; check that tendency to exhaustion and quicken the appetite by strengthening the digestion. Our book tells more about it. Sent free.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold I had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAT, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

HOPE.

An artist wishing a picture of "Hope,"
Could hardly build on a better plan
Than a kitchen porch with a sunny slope,
A woman, some dirt, and an old tin can.
She failed last year, and the year before,
But no! a thought is given to that,
As she shifts the dirt on the old warped door,
Puts in the seeds and presses it flat.

Hope is something that never grows old.
Whenever it comes it is always new—
And a little seed dropped in a bit of mold
Gives visions as fair as the prophets knew.
So, a combination which always brings—
In a line of pleasure unknown to man—
A promise and dream of beautiful things
Is, a woman, some dirt and an old tin can.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away.

Two Bottles Cure Pimples.

GENTLEMEN — For a long time I had pimples breaking out all over my face. I was told about B.B.B., and started its use. After taking one bottle I was much better, and the second bottle made a complete cure. I have recommended it to others of my friends, and they have found it uniformly satisfactory.

GOUGH BROS. MASTER-STROKE

Sensational Deal in Fine Clothing!

$40000 Worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

This Remarkable Transaction in Clothing is of such Magnitude as to Eclipse all Former Transactions Consummated by this Firm. We Have the Very Best Reasons for Knowing that no Similar Opportunity has Transpired in Canada for Years, of Securing so Valuable a Stock of Superior Clothing at Anything Like the Prices Which Were Accepted From us.

Our Immense Purchase Contains the Most Desirable Selections, Made Personally on the Spot by Ourselves, at the GREAT UNDERWRITERS' UNRESERVED SALE Which Took Place in the City of Montreal Last Week, when the Entire Output of the Immense Clothing Factory of

MESSRS. E. A. SMALL & CO., of Montreal,

THE MILLIONAIRE CLOTHING MANUFACTURERS, was Offered for Sale.

No question about the Sterling Goodness of the Material or Workmanship. The Clothing is of the Finest Manufacture—all this season's Highest Grade Garments—made of Fine Imported and Domestic Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds. No undesirable or trashy garments in the whole lot.

The chances are all in favor of the customer, and those who buy will be enthusiastic enough to come again and keep coming.

History of Our Unparalleled Purchase!

IT is worth while to summarize in a few sentences the chief characteristics of this Startling Purchase :—

A fire took place in top flat of Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's Five Storey Wholesale Clothing Factory in Montreal. The fourth storey contained the Trimmings; the third storey contained the Tweeds and Cloths, and the first and second storeys contained the immense stock of Manufactured Clothing. The destruction was confined chiefly to the goods in the third and fourth storeys containing the Tweeds and Trimmings, which were badly damaged by fire and water.

When it came to adjusting the losses, the Insurance Companies claimed that there had been no damage done to the Manufactured Goods in the first and second storeys and declined to recognize Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's. claim for compensation on that portion of their Stock. By agreement, an umpire was called in, who adjudged that the Insurance Companies should pay all the claims and take over the Whole Stock of Trimmings, Tweeds and Ready-Made Clothing, etc., estimated at over Half a Million Dollars.

Our extraordinary purchase at the Underwriters' Unreserved Sale amounted to $40,000 worth of the choicest lots of Ready-Made Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

We have repeatedly made the assertion that this store has been of direct benefit to the community. Instead of turning over back pages in search of proof, we will let this sample of our enterprise be another instance of our progressive methods in storekeeping.

The Bigger We Buy the Quicker We Can Afford to Sell.

THE PRICES WE PAID WERE ACTUALLY BELOW THE COST OF MANUFACTURE WITHOUT THE MATERIAL

So that we can Afford to Celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty by Offering the Most Liberal Prices for Superior Clothing, that has marked the Record Reign.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 12th, we will be ready with the Grand Overture of Prices---away and beyond the fear of Competition. We invite everybody to come and price, and then you have merely to choose the Suits you need.

NOTICE---The Goods will Positively be Sold for CASH and ONE PRICE Only. Money Refunded if Anything is Unsatisfactory. It's a Poor Dollar That Comes to us at the Cost of a Customer's Satisfaction. We Stand Back of Everything We Sell.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. Here you can depend on getting anything and everything your heart desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

Won the Town

Measured by Quality of Goods, by Fineness of Finish, by Ease of Fit, by Comfort in Make, and by Style—of this season's newest shades and patterns—genuine all the way through—have won the town.

While the Close Prices we make these Suits up at may occasion remark, we never put out a poor garment.

We shall continue to maintain our veteran reputation for all that is best and highest in the cutting of Fashionable Garments.

TERMS WITH G.T.R.

For Intercolonial Railroad Extension to Montreal,

THE DRUMMOND RAILWAY LEASED

For a Period of 99 Years After Which it is the Property of the Government—

Criticism of Sir Charles Tupper Ably Answered by Hon. Mr. Blair.

Ottawa, June 10.—(Special.)—There must have been something in the atmosphere of the House to-day which made men ill-tempered. In the morning Mr. Foster was in a peculiarly waspish frame of mind, and so far forgot himself as to call Judge Prendergast of Winnipeg a boodler. Never before was this done in the House, and Mr. Mulock, who denounced Mr. Foster's slander and demanded a retraction, stated that the only justification for the use of such words was that Mr. Prendergast in the recent St. Boniface election had illegally paid some cab hire, according to statements alleged to have been made in court. Mr. Foster had no evidence to sustain his charge that Judge Prendergast had been a boodler, but because he was in a bad temper he withdrew the words reluctantly and grudgingly. He would probably have been more quickly brought back to reason had any other gentleman than Mr. Mulock interposed. The Postmaster-General is to the Conservatives what a red rag is to a bull. He has been getting behind the scenes and publishing letters in which the Conservative members referred to Liberals as "mean Grits," "rank Grits" and the like, and telling the Government to keep them from getting any mail contracts. Naturally revelations of such pettiness on the part of Conservative members have not been particularly pleasing to them, and they are preparing to sandbag the Postmaster-General at every opportunity. They have to deal with a gentleman very well able to take care of himself.

In the afternoon Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Blair, who had been fighting keenly in the Railway Committee in the forenoon, crossed swords in the House in a discussion of the terms for the extension of the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal.

Mr. Fitzpatrick informed Mr. Casgrain that the commission appointed to investigate the claims arising out of the Citadel rock landslide had recommended payment of the claims to the extent of about $40,000. The supplementary estimates make provision for the payment of these claims.

The Minister of the Interior, answering Dr. Roche, stated that Mr. Carstens, immigration officer at Winnipeg, had been dismissed for partisanship. The vacancy had not been filled.

Sir Richard Cartwright agreed, at Mr. Foster's request, to let the fast line resolutions stand until Sir Charles Tupper was in his place.

The following Government bills were advanced a stage: To amend the Steamboat Inspection Act, to amend the Dominion Lands Act, to provide for registration of cheese factories and creameries and for the branding of dairy products, to abolish the office of Commissioner of Patents, respecting forged and unauthorized endorsements, to obviate the revision of the Dominion voters' lists this year.

Mr. Davies, in moving the second reading of his bill giving Ottawa lumbermen one year longer in which to make arrangements for disposing of sawdust and mill refuse, other than by dumping it into the river, said the millmen had been given clearly to understand that this was the last extension which would be granted to them.

Sir C. H. Tupper said the exemptions granted to Ottawa millmen had tended to weaken the enforcement of the law elsewhere.

Sir Richard Cartwright said it was 26 years since the first bill was adopted by Parliament to prevent the pollution of streams by mill rubbish. The Ottawa mill owners had received ample notice, and it was time they put their houses in order.

The bill was read a first time.

The bill to allow 12 days' absence to members without reduction of indemnity was read the first time.

The House then proceeded to concur in the main estimates.

Sir C. H. Tupper criticized the appropriation for the salary of an extra judge for Manitoba. Although the salary had been voted last year, the office had been filled by the appointment of Mr. Prendergast only within a day or two. Had this appointment anything to do with Mr. Prendergast's stand on the school question?

Mr. Foster said there was a bad look about this appointment, especially as the St. Boniface contested election case had been abandoned. It was shown that at that election Mr. Prendergast had been guilty of illegal practices. It had also been shown that he was a boodler, or what amounted to the same thing.

The Postmaster-General said that Mr. Foster could not produce a tittle of evidence in support of his statement. The ex-Finance Minister should not become a common slanderer on the floor of Parliament.

Mr. Mulock said no man could be a gentleman who would spread broadcast respecting another that he was a boodler, unless he could prove such statements. All that had been proved against Mr. Prendergast was that in the election he had paid $2 cab hire. Was that Mr. Foster's idea of a boodler?

Mr. Foster (pointing at the Postmaster-General): There is a representative of a boodler.

Mr. Speaker asked that the expression be withdrawn, which Mr. Foster did.

At this point Mr. Speaker intervened in the discussion to give his ruling as to how far a member might criticize a judge. He held that it would be improper to use such a term as boodler towards a judge, even if it were applied to his conduct prior to his appointment to the bench.

It being 1 o'clock, the House adjourned.

Resuming at 3 o'clock, Sir Richard Cartwright said he would move the Fast Line resolutions to-morrow. There was a clerical error in the resolutions which he desired to correct.

The House went into Committee of Supply.

On the railway estimates Sir Charles Tupper asked for information with reference to the agreement between the Government and the G. T. R. for extension of the I. C. R. R. system to Montreal.

Mr. Blair intimated that the arrangement had been concluded so far as it could be concluded without Parliamentary authority. Terms had been agreed upon with the G. T. R. and the Drummond County Railway and the Government, whereby it was proposed, if approved by Parliament, to secure the extension of the I. C. Railway system into Montreal by not later than November 1 next. He assumed there would scarcely be any difference of opinion as to the advisability of extending the Government system of railways into Montreal. The present terminus at Levis was most unfavorably situated, not only for the people doing business there, but in the interests of the road itself. He was sure the arrangement made would commend itself to the approval of the House. Shortly after the conclusion of the last session of Parliament he approached leading officials of the G. T. R. to see whether they would discuss the question of the acquirement by the Government of running rights over the G. T. R. and permission to use the bridge and terminals in Montreal. After many interviews terms were agreed upon. In the course of these negotiations it was found that the company had in contemplation to spend something in the neighborhood of two million dollars for the enlargement of the Victoria bridge. Having come to an agreement with the G. T. R. about the bridge and terminals, the question next to be considered was as to what was the best route to get to Chaudiere Junction. He came to the conclusion that the G. T. R. line was objectionable in several respects. First of all, it was a longer route than others which could be obtained.

Another objection was that of the question of the grade, there being one or two severe grades, and under the circumstances it was thought better to try another route.

As between the South Shore line and the Drummond County, the latter was found to be the more advantageous. Negotiations were, therefore, entered into with the Drummond County Railway to purchase the line, but the company was not willing to sell. The line commences at a point on the Grand Trunk known as Ste. Rosalie, 35 miles from Montreal, and runs to Moose Park, 33 miles from Chaudiere Junction. The company has agreed to complete this portion to connect with the I. C. R. at Chaudiere, and the Government intends to lease the whole system completely. The Drummond County road had contracted to complete the line by not later than November 1 next.

Sir Charles Tupper: What is the heaviest grade from Chaudiere by the completed line to Ste. Hyacinthe?

Mr. Blair: It will not exceed 1 in 52.

Sir Charles Tupper: And what is the grade on the G. T. R.?

Mr. Blair could not say. The information he received, however, was that it was very heavy. The estimate which the Government received as to the probable cost of the Drummond County Railway when completed will be $1,600,000, but this would not include land damages. The company undertakes to make the road equal to the I. C. R. standard, and laid with 70-pound rails. The Government came to the conclusion that it could not construct such a road under the most favorable conditions for less than $1,600,000, and that left the probable amount of land damages quite uncertain.

Mr. Blair said the Government, under all the circumstances, concluding that it would be possible to effect a saving of $100,000 or $200,000, decided to close with the Drummond County Railway. For $64,000 a year they leased their line from Ste. Rosalie to Chaudiere Junction. That was equal to 4 per cent. on $1,600,000. The Government also proposed to pay an amount of $5000 a year for use of tracks, bridge, etc., at Quebec, under the arrangement which the Drummond County Railway had with the Grand Trunk. The lease will be for 99 years, then for an annual rental of $70,000. One of the conditions of the agreement was that at the expiration of the 99 years the railway became the absolute property of the Government, clear of all encumbrances.

Mr. Foster asked if the Government also acquired in 99 years the property at the Chaudiere end, for which $6000 a year was to be paid.

Mr. Blair: No; we get a half interest.

With regard to the agreement with the G. T. R., the sum of $37,500 per year was to be paid for running rights from Ste. Rosalie to the Victoria Bridge. Not only did they acquire the use of the G. T. R. track, but they would derive all the profits they got from the business or traffic which they might pick up, either in passengers or freight, over this portion of the G. T. R. line. This was a vastly better bargain than the C. P. R. had with the G. T. R. for running powers between Toronto and Hamilton, for which the C. P. R. paid $40,000 a year, and had to grant to the G. T. R. 85 per cent. of whatever receipts it took upon that portion of the line. All the agreements with the G. T. R. were for a period of 99 years, and were renewable. For the use of the Victoria Bridge the Government would pay $40,000 per annum, and for the terminals at Montreal $62,500 a year. Thus the total rental payable to the G. T. R. would be $145,000. The contract had been executed, and would be laid on the table of the House immediately.

Sir Charles Tupper said that the cardinal point to be considered was that of competition. Surely the hon. gentleman had not failed to make a calculation as to the relative distance between the two routes, especially considering the enormous expense which was to be incurred.

Mr. Blair said he thought it was the duty of the department to stimulate the business of the Government railways, no matter what other roads they might compete with. He had not asked whether the mileage would be greater or less. He knew that the I. C. R. had lost business owing to the way in which it was worked, and it was the duty of the Government to take such a course as would make it a more successful and prosperous route, if by this arrangement they were able to acquire more business than heretofore and successfully compete with the C. P. R., so much the worse for the C. P. R., and so much the better for the I. C. R. The I. C. R. was not going to shape its business by consideration of whether it would prejudicially affect any other road or not.

Sir Charles Tupper said that the Minister of Railways, before encouraging the expenditure of eight million dollars, ought, as a man of business, to have asked himself what his position would be after he had reached the city of Montreal. It was not a question whether it was right or proper to use the public money of the country to enter into competition with anybody. The question the Minister had to consider was the advantage which he would get for the country over the C. P. R. by the expenditure of this large amount.

The adoption of the proposal before the House meant the death-blow to the Quebec bridge scheme. The Speech from the Throne promised this legislation, yet here the House was asked to pass it in the dying days of the session. Possibly there were substantial reasons for the deal. The Drummond County Railway had been a white elephant on its hands, and in getting clear of it the company had evidently made a good bargain. The whole scheme savored of opportunism.

Mr. Blair declared this proposition was one which could be sustained from every point of view, and, above all, from a business point of view. Let Sir Charles Tupper go into the counting-room of any business man in Montreal, and he would find that this proposal found favor in the commercial world. The business men of Halifax sent forward their strong expression of approval. Yet the leader of the Opposition pronounced it "too profoundly absurd" to receive the sanction of business men. This subject was so absurd that previous Governments had had this extension to Montreal under consideration and estimates of cost actually obtained. There were many reasons in favor of the extension to Montreal. The Intercolonial had been unable to obtain freight from Montreal to the Maritime Provinces because the Grand Trunk stood in the way and blocked that business. They forced all the freight they could get hold of to Portland, and the Intercolonial were practically shut out from business with Montreal. How long would any business men owning a railway 1200 miles long put up with this divorce from the commercial emporium of the country? The Intercolonial, although costing $50,000,000 to this country, was excluded from tariff conventions, at which rates from east to west were fixed and freight business considered. After this we could send our traffic manager to these conventions to have a potential voice in regard to freight traffic and exchange, and we could send canvassers throughout Canada for business, and when that freight reached Montreal they could compel the Grand Trunk to hand that freight over to the Intercolonial. He was willing to have the value of this arrangement tested by business results. As to the C.P.R. route from Montreal to Halifax being shorter than from Montreal by this arrangement, Mr. Blair asked it the question of distance weighed with Sir Charles Tupper when that gentleman bought 125 miles of railway from River du Loup to Levis, for which he paid a million and a half, and then expended another million to put it into condition. As to the Quebec bridge, did anyone imagine that the interests of the Province of Quebec were keeping the Opposition leader awake at nights? (Laughter.) The Government would be as keenly alive to defending their interests as the Opposition leader. It would seem, too, that no matter how meritorious the proposal submitted to Parliament, the fact that the debt would be increased was sufficient for Sir Charles Tupper to oppose it. How long, asked Mr. Blair, had Sir Charles been in fear of the increase of the public debt? Mr. Blair then drew an amusing picture of Sir Charles crossing the continent almost from ocean to ocean last campaign and promising millions here and millions there, and recalled Sir Charles Tupper's past career as to his record for increasing the public debt. Now, this arrangement would not increase the public debt at all, because they would get not only the rental of $210,000 a year back in increased business, but more than that sum. Mr. Blair was willing that these proposals should be closely scrutinized not by partisan politicians, but by the business men of this country. He asked the Opposition not to indulge in general, wild, loose denunciations without giving any authorities or reasons for their opposition.

The discussion was closed by Mr. Foster. Two items were passed, and at 12.30 a.m. the House adjourned.

HOORAY FOR STEWART!

He Has Beaten Her Majesty's Best Soldiers in the Bayonet Competition and Wins the Empire Cup.

London, June 10.—At the Royal Military Tournament to-day Private Stewart of the Canadian Highlanders won the Empire Prize in the bayonet against bayonet contest. The award, with others, was made by the Duchess of Connaught, in the presence of the Duke, Lord Wolseley, the Commander-in-Chief, and other military officers of high rank. The prize distribution was attended with great enthusiasm.

No More Sunday Ball in Cleveland

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—The jury in the case of John Powell, the member of the Cleveland Baseball Club charged with playing baseball on Sunday, returned a verdict of guilty in both counts at noon to-day. The deliberations of the jury lasted from 7 o'clock last evening until noon to-day. This settles the fate of Sunday baseball in Cleveland.

CANADA'S INDISPUTABLE CLAIM.

Speaking of the Canadian tariff, the Sheffield (England) Telegraph says:—"In short, the Canadian Government, as far as the Dominion is concerned, tears up the treaty, and claims the liberty to fix her own tariff and discriminate, if she so chooses, as a right, and we should like to see the Colonial Secretary who would venture to dispute the claim. In the face of such language there is nothing for it but to tell Germany and Belgium, should they protest, that the treaties must terminate In the meantime, however, to smooth matters, the Canadian Ministry maintains that it has circumvented the treaties, even if they were held to be binding. All countries, it insists, are placed upon the same footing. The privileges offered are accompanied by a condition applicable to all. Those who choose to take advantage of the condition could do so, and those who refused to accept the condition could not surely ask for the concession. If any foreign country applied a tariff to Canadian goods as favourable as the reciprocal tariff was to theirs, then they would get the benefit of the reciprocal tariff. If they did not apply such a tariff to Canadian goods, then they would not get the benefit of the reciprocal tariff."

A GOVERNMENT THAT GOVERNS.

The Buffalo Commercial says: "It is doubtless true, as the Toronto Globe asserts, that the bargain just made by the Laurier Ministry with the Canadian Pacific as to the building of the Crow's Nest branch, tapping the gold mining regions of the Northwest, is the best 'ever made with a railway company in Canada,' from the public's point of view. The guarantee asked by the company is cut down 50 per cent. below the sum the late Government would have granted, and reduction of freight rates and a concession of 50,000 acres of coal lands secured, which the Tupperites had not thought of. The Laurier Government is doing the governing itself."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Queen will have to live another sixty years if she reads all the 'addresses' that will be presented this year.

The Toronto World is noted for a rather indiscriminate recklessness of assertion. Here is a sample. "Sir Charles (Tupper at a recent banquet) at the outset modestly alluded to the abilities he had been able to place at the disposal of his party. The modesty of the Great "I," indeed!

If, owing to the little row between the Japanese and the Hawaiians, the United States should interfere in favour of the Islanders, the Japs are credited with a desire to try a fall with the United States. If the Japs want to fight the Yankees the ring will have to be pitched in the United States—Uncle Sam has ironclad objections to going away from home to fight—by way of water, anyway.

The Mail and Empire compares the Postmaster-General's practice of awarding the mail carrying contracts to the lowest tenderers, to the sweat shop practices followed in the cities by the manufacturers of clothing. If the contractor sweats, it is at his own will. Mr. Mulock prefers that the contractor do the sweating; the Mail and Empire prefers that the public purse should sweat, so long as good Tory mail carriers, who got contracts from the late Government without tendering, absorb the perspiration.

DIRECT TAXATION.

Regarding the suggestion of coupling the question of direct taxation with the yea or nay on the prohibition plebiscite, the London News questions why direct taxation is such a thing to be dreaded after all? Several nations—and some of them so-called "free trade" countries—apply direct taxation or its equivalent, and the practice prevails to a limited extent in Canada, and was general in the United States in war times. Germany derives a revenue of $13,500,000 from a stamp tax; Great Britain derives an annual revenue of $36,000,000 from the same class of taxation and France, which applies a still heavier rate, derives over $27,000,000. It is not possible to make even a rough estimate of the amount Canada could derive from commercial paper at the rate of two cents for each note or check. A statistician recently computed that such a tax in the United States would yield nearly $10,000,000 per year. Applying these figures to Canada in the ratio of populatio it would give, roughly, three-quarters of a million. It is not argued here that this would be a wise tax, and a good many arguments could be brought forward to show that it is not so, but is, on the contrary, unjust. That, however, is true of any specific tax that may be proposed.

THE CANADIAN HEN REDIVIVUS.

Montreal Herald.

The Minister of Agriculture has been advised by the egg dealers of Western Ontario that they will require fifty cold-storage cars during each of the months of July, August, September, October and November, for the carriage of eggs destined for the English market. As this is but the beginning of the trade, the extraordinary dimensions which it may assume may be imagined. The Canadian farmer made large profits from the export of eggs to the United States before the first McKinley tariff, and it now looks as though a still larger and more profitable trade in eggs may be established with Great Britain. Mr. Fisher and cold storage seem destined to rescue the Canadian farmer from the sorry plight in which he was left by the N. P. that he so blindly worshipped.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Nothing has happened in our village that has caused general sorrow as the death of Mrs. Phillips, wife of our highly respected townsman, Mr. Richard Phillips, clerk of the municipality. The deceased had been in delicate health for some months, and not improving under medical treatment, she went on a visit to her mother's in Trenton. For a few weeks an improvement took place, but after her accouchment her health continued to fail, and notwithstanding the zealous care of her medical attendants and relatives, she passed away at the age of 28 years. She leaves an infant and one child of fifteen months, with a sorrowing husband to mourn her loss. The funeral, which took place from the family residence, was very largely attended. As a mark of respect all the places of business were closed down. Many tokens of sympathy were forwarded by friends, including beautiful wreaths from the ladies of the village and the friends of Mr. Phillips. The Methodist church, of which deceased was an active member, was draped in mourning, and the family pew covered with crape. The deceased was a most estimable lady and enjoyed the esteem of all who knew her. General sympathy goes out to the bereaved husband, who has suffered so irreparable a loss.

$40000 Worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

This Remarkable Transaction in Clothing is of such Magnitude as to Eclipse all Former Transactions Consummated by this Firm. We Have the Very Best Reasons for Knowing that no Similar Opportunity has Transpired in Canada for Years, of Securing so Valuable a Stock of Superior Clothing at Anything Like the Prices Which Were Accepted From us.

Our Immense Purchase Contains the Most Desirable Selections, Made Personally on the Spot by Ourselves, at the GREAT UNDERWRITERS' UNRESERVED SALE Which Took Place in the City of Montreal Last Week, when the Entire Output of the Immense Clothing Factory of

MESSRS. E. A. SMALL & CO., of Montreal,

THE MILLIONAIRE CLOTHING MANUFACTURERS, was Offered for Sale.

No question about the Sterling Goodness of the Material or Workmanship. The Clothing is of the Finest Manufacture—all this season's Highest Grade Garments—made of Fine Imported and Domestic Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds. No undesirable or trashy garments in the whole lot.

The chances are all in favor of the customer, and those who buy will be enthusiastic enough to come again and keep coming.

History of Our Unparalleled Purchase!

IT is worth while to summarize in a few sentences the chief characteristics of this Startling Purchase :—

A fire took place in top flat of Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's Five Storey Wholesal Clothing Factory in Montreal. The fourth storey contained the Trimmings; the third storey contained the Tweeds and Cloths, and the first and second storeys contained the immense stock of Manufactured Clothing. The destruction was confined chiefly to the goods in the third and fourth storeys containing the Tweeds and Trimmings, which were badly damaged by fire and water.

When it came to adjusting the losses, the Insurance Companies claimed that there had been no damage done to the Manufactured Goods in the first and second storeys and declined to recognize Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's. claim for compensation on that portion of their Stock. By agreement, an umpire was called in, who adjudged that the Insurance Companies should pay all the claims and take over the Whole Stock of Trimmings, Tweeds and Ready-Made Clothing, etc., estimated at over Half a Million Dollars.

Our extraordinary purchase at the Underwriters' Unreserved Sale amounted to $40,000 worth of the choicest lots of Ready-Made Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

We have repeatedly made the assertion that this store has been of direct benefit to the community. Instead of turning over back pages in search of proof, we will let this sample of our enterprise be another instance of our progressive methods in storekeeping.

The Bigger We Buy the Quicker We Can Afford to Sell.

THE PRICES WE PAID WERE ACTUALLY BELOW THE COST OF MANUFACTURE WITHOUT THE MATERIAL

So that we can Afford to Celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty by Offering the Most Liberal Prices for Superior Clothing, that has marked the Record Reign.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 12th, we will be ready with the Grand Overture of Prices---away and beyond the fear of Competition. We invite everybody to come and price, and then you have merely to choose the Suits you need.

NOTICE---The Goods will Positively be Sold for CASH and ONE PRICE Only. Money Refunded if Anything is Unsatisfactory. It's a Poor Dollar That Comes to us at the Cost of a Customer's Satisfaction. We Stand Back of Everything We Sell.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. Court Langton.

The members of Court Langton No. 344, Canadian Order of Foresters, are requested to meet in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, to consider the matter of taking part in the Jubilee demonstration parade. All members are requested to attend. C. B. ROBERTSON, Rec. Sec'y. 2d135

Last Night's Fire.

A packing box, with some paper and straw in it, on the platform on Chambers street took fire last night at about nine o'clock. The brigade was on hand in a twinkling, and the burning contents of the box were soon dumped out in the street and extinguished. It is thought that some careless passer-by must have thrown a lighted cigar in the box.

Thirteen Houses for Sale.

In another column will be found a list of thirteen houses advertised to be sold at public auction on Wednesday, 16th June, at the Morgan House at three o'clock in the afternoon by Mr. John Haggart, auctioneer. It will be observed that this list of property includes properties in the central part and in the northern part of the town, and includes small, medium and large houses, rough cast and brick. Any person who desires to buy one of those houses may obtain full particulars from Messrs. Stratton & Hall, Vendor's Solicitors, or Mr. John Haggart, auctioneer. 5d

A full attendance of members requested. GEO. DREDGE, C.R. 2d

The Young Armenian.

The young Armenian, George Zegiiri, who has been in our town for a few weeks past selling small wares, has been prohibited from carrying on his business unless he takes out a license, and as the fee is more than his sale would warrant he has applied for a situation at different places, but was unsuccessful until he applied to Mr. J. C. Turnbull, the dry goods merchant, who is giving him a stand in his shop and a few line of goods to sell at bargains, allowing him a percentage on sales made. The charitably disposed people of our town will please call on George at above address.

AN ELECTRIC SHOCK.

Mr. Justus Dunn has a Narrow Escape From a Probable Fatality.

A much more serious accident was averted yesterday through Arthur Blade's horse getting an electric shock by stepping on some telephone wires which hung across the street railway wires, as Mr. Justus Dunn was just preparing to gather the wires up and place them to one side of the street. Although the horse was badly burned, yet had Mr. Dunn seized the wires he might have been killed.

It appears that the wires were formerly connected with a telephone in Mr. Dunn's residence and he was removing them and allowed them to fall across the street car wires.

A BICYCLE CASE.

The C. W. A. Looking After the Interests of a Member.

It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. E. B. Edwards met with an accident through a collision with a butcher cart, whilst he was riding his bicycle.

This morning Walter Rickner, the driver of the cart, was before the magistrate in connection with the matter, Mr. Edwards alleging that he was not given sufficient room to pass on the roadway.

The Canadian Wheelmen's Association have taken the matter up and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for Mr. Edwards.

Owing to the fact that a material witness could not be procured the case was enlarged until Monday morning next.

Up to Date.

The bar of the Palace Restaurant is now unsurpassed by any in Canada, a number of the most modern improvements having been introduced. The entire bar is a duplicate affair and customers can be served from either end with equal facility. The draught ales, lagers, etc., are so arranged that ice is in contact with the pipes from the kegs right up to the taps. New cabinets have been placed at either end of the bar for the bottles and the arrangements are as complete as can be. A new brick kitchen is being erected in the rear and the dining room is now divided from the bar by a heavy oak panelling and sliding doors. In the dining room large glass front dressers have been erected for the cold meats and are as cool inside as refrigerators. A number of new electric lights have also just been put in.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE UNITED EXCURSION.

THE BEST INSTITUTE PICNIC OF THE SERIES.

A Day of Pleasure at Jubilee Point—Picnic Luncheon—Brief Addresses—A Programme of Sports.

The great annual event—the excursion and picnic of East and West Peterborough and adjoining counties, Farmers' Institutes was held at Jubilee Point yesterday, and was, as regards attendance and enjoyment, the most successful of the series. The Peterborough contingent was a very large one. At 8 o'clock the City of Peterborough steamed away from the Wolfe street wharf—having on board about 500 passengers, which were increased to about 600 at the Locks, where the palace barge was attached.

The weather was perfect, and the voyage down the beautiful windings of the river, the shores plumed with the luxuriant leafage of the trees, or the verdant meadows and pasture sloping down to the water, was a delightful one, and was without particular incident, except at Hales' Bridge—the strength of the current causing some little difficulty in making the passage of the swing safely.

Butcher's orchestra was aboard and furnished music for the dancing, which was industriously indulged in on the barge, both on the down voyage, at the grounds and on the return trip. Mr. Sid. Martin was master of ceremonies.

Shortly after noon the steamer and her consort arrived at beautiful Jubilee Park, which looks magnificent in the full foliage of the trees. On the arrival of the Peterborough party the grounds presented an animated appearance; the large excursion from Hastings by the Beaver having arrived previously, and the united company amounted to about 800. Dinner, in picnic style, demanded the first attention of the visitors, and the numerous tables scattered through the grounds, as well as numerous spots of green sward, were the scene of convival attention to the contents of the baskets. A large number who had not provided refreshments were admirably served as the hotel, which is in charge of Mrs. Arkles, and "Paxey," with his confectionery booth, looked after the rather incessant wants of the youngsters.

After dinner a short time was spent in strolling through the park and enjoying the bright sunshine, fresh air and beautiful scenery.

At about 2.30 Mr. F. Birdsall, President of the East Riding Farmers' Institute, took the chair on the platform and the speaking began.

Brief addresses congratulating the farmers upon the success of the annual excursion and referring to the benefits of such an association, were made by Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., Mr. Lem Felcher and Mr. Duff, of Toronto.

Mr. Felcher took the opportunity of stating that he was present for mercenary purposes. He then introduced and explained his bean guessing contest, in which a gold watch each is presented to the lady and gentleman guessing the nearest to the number of beans in basin. The contest, which is under the management of LeBrun & Felcher, town, was not concluded but is open for a few days.

Mr. Duff gave a practical address. After referring to the beauty of the scenery to which this was his first visit, the importance of the farming industry was dealt with, and important practical hints were given to farmers, which, if practiced, would tend very much to their benefit. He concluded with reference to the greatness of Canada and to the celebration of the Jubilee year, and put in a claim for the placing of Canada first and Canada always. His address, which was full of practical interest was listened to with great attention and profit by the few that heard it, for the majority of the excursionists seemed to prefer enjoyment to instruction and paid more attention to the dancing platform which was kept warm all the afternoon, and to the

SPORTS AND GAMES.

There were three entries for the event, putting the heavy stone, Messrs. Archie Moore, town, Fawn and Anderson. After a rather exciting contest, Mr. Archie Moore was declared the winner of the three-dollar bill that constituted the prize.

The running long jump brought out six competitors. The event was won by Fawn, an Indian.

The baseball match between Peterborough and the Indian team from Hiawatha was an interesting event of the day's programme. The Hiawathas won by 5 runs to 3. The teams were as follows:

Peterborough.	Hiawatha.
R Scott	Potash
Dave Elliott	Crows
M Larone	Heffernan
E Clancy	Cow
W Anderson	J Holland
Turcotte	W Fawn
Walsh	Marsden
McCarthy	Loucks
Jackson	Cow

Umpire, Bert Brown.

The afternoon was so enjoyably spent that the company could not be persuaded to embark for the return trip, until about 5.25. After a pleasant sail up the river under the brilliant light of the moon and to the pulsating patter of the dancers' feet, the party arrived at the wharf at 11.20, all delighted with the pleasure of the day. All unite in praise of the care and solicitude of the officers and crew of the City of Peterborough, who did all in their power for the pleasure of their passengers.

MASS MEETING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS.

On the Sunday Preceding Jubilee Day—In the George Street Methodist Church.

The Sunday school children of Peterborough will hold a mass meeting on the Sunday preceding Jubilee Day.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the superintendents of the various Sunday schools was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, when it was decided that the children assemble in the various Sunday schools at three o'clock in the afternoon of Sunday, June 20th, and march to the George street church, where they will be addressed.

Those present at the meeting were W. Madill, of St. Paul's; S. R. Armstrong, of the George street Methodist; G. W. Mulligan of St. Andrew's; Wm. Might, of the Grace church Sunday school; and J. H. Beer of the Mark street church. A note was also received from Rev. J. C. Davidson of St. John's church, commending the spirit which prompted the action of suggesting the mass meeting and regretting his absence from town, and inability to be present at the meeting of the superintendents.

Committees were appointed to arrange for inviting the speakers and election of ushers, etc.

THURSDAY JUNE 01, 1897.

A HOUSE OF REFUGE.

A Proposal for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria to Unite in the Undertaking.

The Bobcaygeon Independent magnanimously proposes that the Counties of Victoria and Peterborough unite in the establishment of a house of refuge in these words:

There are no good reasons for each County maintaining a separate Home, and there is an obvious economy in the two uniting for the support of one. In this village, Bobcaygeon, we have a fine three story stone building, admirably suited for such an institution, and which could be bought for comparatively a song. The location is central between the counties.

The councils of the county will meet within the next few days, and a more commendable suggestion as a Jubilee memorial would be difficult to make. It is one that public sympathy and pecuniary support might easily be invoked, and to which municipalities might properly give special assistance, and one that is presented to Commissioners Lithgow and Austin of Victoria, and Shaw, of Peterborough, for their distinguished approval and co-operation.

The care of the old and infirm, appeals at all times, and to all hearts. The boasts of universal fraternity are not worth the breath expended in speaking of them, if they do not ensure care and comfort to those who are physically fading away in the sere and yellow leaf of old age. That such unfortunates should be housed in gaols and placed to pass their final days in the company of criminals, is a disgrace to humanity, a shame upon our state of civilization, and a horrible relief to the glittering, glowing Diamond Jubilee, that we as a people are preparing to celebrate with such magnificent pomp and circumstance.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 301; Telephone, 92.

THE GRAND FINALE OF THE GYM FUND FIGHT.

THE WIND UP AT THE Y. M. C. A. ROOMS.

The "Fund" Foes Fraternize — A Banquet for Both Sides—A Good Musical Programme—Brief Addresses.

The grand finale in connection with the recent Y. M. C. A. gymnasium contest took place in the old Association rooms last evening, when the contesting sides sat down to an excellent banquet, which had been prepared by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

The enthusiasm with which the contest began and which characterized it throughout reached a much higher pitch last evening, judging from the storms of applause and the frequent cheers which made the walls of the old building to echo again and again. There was also apparent the same good-natured opposition between the Blues and Reds as has frequently been given expression to in public. Those who last Friday cast off the colours of the sides to which they respectively belonged with the idea that it was all over, seemed to have found place for repentance, and the Reds especially, seemed to be endeavouring to make up what they had lost and to make the best of their present position by adorning their coats with knots of turkey-red, built on a grand scale.

The Blues on the contrary were less assuming but fully made up for this deficiency in numbers, and in the air of satisfaction and self confidence (attendant features of victory) which they wore.

Regret has before been expressed that the general public, and especially those who assisted in the gymnasium fund, were not invited, but the lack of accommodation and the present position would not admit of this. Besides the members of the sides, the local press, editors and reporters were invited, also the clergymen of the town.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Rev. Mr. Dykeman came forward and took the chair. In the hall on his left were the Reds in one group, and the Blues held the fort on the right.

Before the musical programme began, and between the selections, there was a good deal of cross-firing done, and each side would, when a favourable opportunity occurred, sing their campaign songs in concert.

The programme was of the same high order, as the four presented during the contest, and all the ladies who assisted acquitted themselves in a very creditable way.

Those taking part were:—Misses Hall V. Belleghem, C. Belleghem, Whiting, Howden, Morrow and Code.

At the conclusion of the programme all retired to the boy's room, where the tables were awaiting the arrival of victors and vanquished.

The Redmen, with good grace, began their task of demolishing a box of red herrings, and the bread and water formed a an agreeable couplet.

However, they fared much better than they expected, thanks to the tender sympathy of the ladies. Nevertheless this kindness was not entirely taken advantage of, some of the Reds disdaining to partake of the finer delicacies with which the tables fairly abounded.

Following the banquet was the usual after-dinner speeches, which were cut short owing to the lateness of the hour. Revs. J. G. Potter, W. R. Young and Messrs. A. Parker, Knapman and Williamson spoke briefly, the latter closing the evening, as he put it, by "moving an adjournment of the debate," in order to give the ladies a chance to partake of supper.

The secretary then proposed three cheers for the ladies, the Reds and the Blues, which were heartily responded to.

The young men then in turn turned waiters, and in this Mr. Pope was a pronounced success.

THE NORLAND GOLD MINE.

Haliburton County has Some Rich Veins.

Mr. John Morrow, of Norland, was in Lindsay yesterday, and made the Post a call. Speaking of the recent discovery of gold in the township of Lutterworth, near Norland, he said that the ore was of a rich quality, and worth from $60 to $120 per ton.

The mine is situated on the farm of a man named Ostertag, who settled there several years ago, but the property is owned by the provincial government.

Mr. Wm. McKenzie, president of the Toronto Street Railway Company, Dr. Wood, and Mr. J. Staples of Kirkfield and other gentlemen, have already commenced operations for the development of this rich mine, and the people of that section are in a fever of excitement.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

THE LEE-ENFIELD MILITARY RIFLE.

Its Peculiarities Explained by a Local Crack Shot.

As the Peterborough League team has been fairly successful in the use of the new rifle, a few comments gleaned from the individual members may not be out of order.

For drill purposes, doing the manual exercises, etc., it is generally considered a little clumsy on account of the magazine and bolt, which makes the grip rather awkward, but as this is not the prime purpose of a military rifle, it is not the greatest consideration, as a clean presentation of arms was never known to kill the enemy, and this I suppose is the greatest merit in any rifle, to shoot and to kill, however disagreeable it may be to contemplate.

In regard to the shooting qualities of the Lee-Enfield, after a couple of fair trials we are very much pleased with the results, but of its killing powers we know little—nor are we anxious to find out—much preferring to put these slick little bullets through the bulls' eye than to receive one, or to ask any one else to do so.

The rifle from a first consideration, appears a little complicated, but if compared with the Martini and its additional points of merit considered, one wonders how it could be more simple. The barrel can be easily inspected and cleaned from either end. The pull through is an improvement on the old cleaning rod which was used to the injury of the rifle. The lock action is simple and well protected from dirt, being pretty much all within the bolt, which beyond a proper oiling, will require but little attention.

The flight of the bullett being so much more rapid and the trajectory consequently less, the elevation does not appear to vary so much under different conditions as with the Martini, as the varying conditions do not have as much time to effect the bullet, but the drifting influences of the wind appear to be fully as much as with the Martini, which may be accounted for by the fact of the bullet being very much smaller and lighter, and also lighter in proportion to its size, about one half of the bullet being composed of nickel. Those who shoot the V and use the cant will not succeed in gaining windage in canting with this rifle as with the Martini, as, on account of the very low trajectory, in rolling the rifle it does not shoot into or against the wind nearly as much as the Martini or the old Snider, which at 600 yds., throws the ball about 22 feet up into the air, in fact at 200 yards the new rifle shoots so point blank that little or nothing appears to be gained by rolling.

There appears to be one serious defect in the marking of elevation on the rifle and which should be immediately inquired into by the proper authority. In shooting at 200 yards from 350 to 400 yards elevation is required to reach the bull's-eye, and at the longer ranges fully 100 yards more elevation is required than the markings on the rifle. This I should say would not be very effective in active service—to be aiming short of your man by 100 yards or more.

One desirable feature about the rifle is the comparative absence of recoil. Recruits who ma ynot have fired a rifle before have not to learn that mortal fear of the butt of the rifle that the old-time recruit had of the butt end of the Martini, frequently causing more pain than the missle. This is, however, disappointing to an old shot who is used to getting a good push with the Martini; but the absence of this is very soon appreciated even by the older shots. Higher scores appear to be made by the recruit, owing, no doubt, to less fear of being punched.

It is very unfortunate that this rifle has not come into more general use in the League, as one only has to use it to appreciate it. I suppose it is on account of the Dominion and Provincial matches being shot with the Martini. This difficulty of range should be early overcome.

PRESENTATION TO REV. E. ROBERTS

By the Theological Class of the Albert College, Belleville.

Appended is a reference to Rev. E. Roberts, formerly pastor of the Bible Christian Church, of town, which will be read with interest by his many Peterborough friends.

The Belleville Sun says.—The presentation of a Royal Scroll to Rev. E. Roberts, of the Tabernacle, by the members of the theological class of Albert College, of which mention was made in the Sun on Tuesday, was accompanied by the following address:

To Rev. E. Roberts:

We, the members of the theological class of Albert College, have called on you this evening to show the deep respect we hold for one who has, during his stay in Belleville, been made a blessing to us as students and our college. Time severs friends regardless of feelings, and makes us seek new ones, as though learning to love were an easy thing. Knowing that, in the order of Providence, you are so leave us shortly, we could not allow you to depart without in some way expressing our love and esteem for you for your practical and helpful counsel to us both from the college, rostrom and the class room. We ask you to accept this "Royal Scroll" and reading-class as a slight token of our appreciation of your untiring efforts in our behalf. We trust that you will prize this gift not for the intrinsic value, but as a slight evidence of the place you have won in the hearts of the students of Albert College, and to show in years to come that your labour among us was not in vain in the Lord. We all hope and pray that whenever the Lord may lead you to labour in His vineyard that your labour may be abundantly fruitful in the Kingdom of our Common Master."

The address was signed on behalf of the class by Messrs Bothwell and J. R. Hunter.

Mr. Roberts, in reply, thanked the students for their gift and their kindly thought for him as expressed in their address. What he had been permitted to do for the students and the college had given him no little pleasure, and he would always look back with pleasant recollection to his stay in Belleville, and especially his acquaintance and association with the faculty and students of Albert College.

A very pleasant evening was spent and the boys greatly enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Roberts and his family.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE MIDSUMMER MEETING OF THE COUNTY FATHERS.

A Short Session — Presentation and Adoption of Reports.

June 11th.

There was a short session of the County Council this morning.

After routine,

Mr. Shaw, chairman, presented the report of the committee on SCHOOLS.

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows:

1 That the County School Inspector be requested to write to those boards of school trustees who employ teachers holding renewal permits from Boards of Examiners outside this county, that their action is illegal in so employing such teachers and that such renewal permits do not hold good in this county.

2 That the accounts of Messrs. W. A. Evans and I. Davidson be referred to the Finance Committee.

3 That the report of Mr. J. C. Brown, County School Inspector, be received.

4 That Messrs. J. C. Brown, County School Inspector, John Walker, Town School Inspector, John Davidson, principal of the Norwood high school, and William Evans, principal of the Lakefield public school be the County Board of Examiners to examine teachers and give certificates in accordance with the statute in that behalf.

5 That the County Clerk be instructed to have printed as soon as possible 400 copies of the County School Inspector's report, and to have the same distributed among the parties interested.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
R. SHAW,
Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, June 11th, 1896.

Adopted.

Mr. Pearce presented the report of the Committee on

PETITIONS AND PRINTING

as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the communication from the clerk of the County of Bruce, asking this council to petition the Legislature to so amend the Assessment Act as to simplify the proceedings precedent to a tax sale.

2. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the communication from the clerk of the County of Wentworth requesting the council to petition the Legislature for power to appoint county inspectors of municipal accounts.

3. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the communication from the clerk of the County of Welland, requesting this council to petition the Legislature praying for certain amendments to the Jurors Act so as to enable the selection to be made more speedily and with less expense to the public.

4. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the communication from the clerk of the county of Dufferin, asking this council to petition the Legislature to change the names of the gaols in the different counties from that of "gaol" to that of "Gaol and House of Refuge," and for the division of the gaols into different apartments.

5. That no action be taken with respect to the communication from the Times Printing Company, asking this council to subscribe for 200 county maps proposed to be issued by the above Company

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. B. PEARCE,
Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, June 11th, 1897.

Report adopted.

Mr. Burnham, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

EQALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT

as follows:—

The Committee on Equalization and Assessment beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your committee recommend that Mr. John Burnham, reeve of Ashburnham, be chairman of this committee.

2. Your committee recommend that all the municipalities comprising the county of Peterborough be assessed at the same valuation as last year, less ten per cent. thereof, and that such reduced valuation be the equalized valuation for county purposes for the year 1897.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 11, 1897.

Report adopted.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.09; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

A woman's best jewels are her babes. A healthy, happy child is womanhood's most appropriate ornament. A childless woman is to be pitied, even though she be the possessor of other jewels that are priceless. A womanly woman knows this and would sacrifice all the diamonds of all the nations for the clinging, confiding touch of baby hands. Thousands of women lead childless, loveless lives because of ill-health. They do not understand the duties that they owe to themselves. They neglect the most delicate and important parts of woman's organism. They suffer untold agonies from weakness and disease of the organs that make motherhood possible, and never know the thrilling touch of baby fingers. They imagine their cases hopeless.

In this they are mistaken. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, safe, swift cure for all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. It acts directly and only on these organs. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It allays all discomfort during the expectant period. It insures the baby's health and makes its coming easy and almost painless. More than 90,000 women have testified in writing to its value. All good druggists sell it.

Mrs. Rebecca Gardner, of Grafton, York Co., Va., writes: "I was so sick with dyspepsia that I could not eat anything for over four months. I had to starve myself, as nothing would stay on my stomach. I tried almost everything that people would tell me about, and nothing did me any good. I weighed only 80 pounds. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and, thank God, and your medicine, I am as well as I ever was, and now weigh 125 pounds. I have a bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' now, and that is a wonderful medicine for female weakness Praise God that he created such a man as you."

Business is business. No time for headaches. Constipation causes them. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them by curing the cause. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

THE GOVERNMENT IS IN CONTROL

Freight Rates to Come Down and be Subject to Revision at the Option of the Railway Department — Other Railroads to Have Running Powers.

Ottawa, June 10.—(Special.)—The Minister of Railways gives notice to-night of resolutions for the subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Railway for the construction of the line through the Crow's Nest, 330 miles, at $11,000 per mile, on the following conditions:

(a) That the company will construct or cause to be constructed the said railway by such route and according to such descriptions and specifications, and within such time or times, as may be provided for in the said agreement, and when completed will operate the same forever.

(b) That the said line of railway shall be constructed through the town of McLeod, and a station shall be established therein, unless the Governor-in-Council is satisfied by the company that there is good cause for constructing the railway outside of the limits of the town, in which case the said line of railway shall be located and the station established at a distance of not greater than 500 yards from the said town limits.

(c) That so soon as the said railway is opened for traffic to Kootenay Lake the local rates and tolls on that railway and any other used in connection therewith, and now or hereafter owned or leased by or operated on account of the company, south of the company's main line in British Columbia, as well as the rates and tolls between any point on any such line or lines of railway and any point on the main line of the company throughout Canada, or any other railway owned or leased by or operated on account of the company, including its lines of steamers in British Columbia, shall be first approved by the Governor-in-Council or by a railway commission, if and when such commission is established by law, and shall at all times thereafter and from time to time be subject to revision and control in the manner aforesaid.

(d) That a reduction shall be made in the general rates and tolls of the company as now charged, or as contained in its present freight tariff, whichever rates are now the lowest for car loads or otherwise, upon the classes of merchandise hereinafter mentioned, west-bound, from and including Fort William and all points east of Fort William on the company's railway to all points west of Fort William on the company's main line, or on any line of railway throughout Canada owned or leased by or operated on account of the company, whether this shipment be by all-rail line or by lake and rail, such reduction to be to the extent of the following percentages, respectively, namely:

Upon all green and fresh fruits, 33 1-3 per cent.; cordage and binder twine, 20 per cent.; agricultural implements of all kinds, set up or in parts, 10 per cent.; iron, including bar, band, Canadian plates, galvanized, sheet, pipe, pipe fittings, nails, spikes and horse shoes, 10 per cent.; all kinds of wire, 10 per cent.; window glass, 10 per cent.; paper for building and roofing purposes, 10 per cent.; roofing felt, box and packing, 20 per cent.; paints of all kinds and oils, 10 per cent.; live stock, 10 per cent.; wooden ware, 10 per cent.; household furniture, 10 per cent., and no higher rates than such reduced rates or tolls shall be hereafter charged by the company upon any such merchandise which shall be carried by lump between the points aforesaid, such reductions to take effect on or before Jan. 1, 1898.

(e) That there shall be a reduction in the company's present rates and tolls on grain and flour from all points on its main line, branches or connections, west of Fort William, to Fort William and Port Arthur and points east, of 2c per 100 pounds, to take effect in the following manner: One and one-half cent per 100 pounds on or before Sept. 1, 1898, and an additional 1 1-2c per 100 pounds on or before Sept. 1, 1899, and no higher rates than such reduced rates or tolls shall be charged after the dates mentioned on such merchandise from the points aforesaid.

(f) That the Railway Committee of the Privy Council may grant running powers over the said line of railway and all its branches and connections, or any portions thereof, and all lines of railway now or hereafter owned or leased by or operated on account of the company in British Columbia, south of the company's main line of railway, and the necessary use of its tracks, stations and station grounds, to any other railway company applying for such grant, upon such terms as such committee may fix and determine, and according to the provisions of the Railway Act, and of other such general acts relating to railways as may from time to time be passed by the Parliament of Canada. Nothing herein shall be held to imply that such running powers might not be so granted without the special provision herein contained.

(g) That the said railway, when constructed, together with that portion of the company's railway from Dunmore to Lethbridge, and all lines of railway, branches, connections and extensions in British Columbia south of the main line of the company in British Columbia, shall be subject to the provisions of the Railway Act, and of such other general acts relating to railways as may from time to time be passed by the Parliament of Canada.

(h) That if the company, or any other company, with whom it shall have any arrangement on the subject, shall, by constructing the said railway, or any part of it, as stipulated for in the said agreement, become entitled to and shall get any land as a subsidy from the Government of British Columbia, then such lands, excepting therefrom those which, in the opinion of the Director of the Geological Survey of Canada (expressed in writing) are coal-bearing land, shall be disposed of by the company, or by such other company, to the public according to regulations and at prices not exceeding those prescribed from time to time by the Governor-in-Council, having regard to the then existing provincial regulations applicable thereto; the expression, "Lands," including all mineral and timber thereon, which shall be disposed of as aforesaid, either with or without the land, as the Governor-in-Council may direct.

1. That if the company or any other company, with whom it shall have any arrangement on the subject, shall, by constructing the said railway or any part of it, as stipulated for in the said agreement, become entitled to and shall get any lands as a subsidy from the Government of British Columbia, which, in the opinion of the Director of the Geological Survey of Canada (expressed in writing), are coal-bearing lands, then the company will cause to be conveyed to the Crown, in the interest of Canada, a portion thereof to the extent of fifty thousand acres, the same to be of equal value per acre as coal lands, with the residue of such lands; and said fifty thousand acres to be selected by the Government in such fair and equitable a manner as may be determined by the Governor-in-Council, and to be thereafter held or disposed of or otherwise dealt with by the Government as it may think fit on such conditions, if any, as may be prescribed by the Governor-in-Council for the purpose of securing a sufficient and suitable supply of coal to the public at reasonable prices, not exceeding two dollars per ton, free on board cars, at the mines.

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE JUBILEE PROCESSION.

Official Program of the Great Pageant in London for Which the Whole World is Waiting

London, June 11.—The Times gives this morning the official program of the procession for June 22, the Diamond Jubilee day.

An imposing array of regulars, with bands and seven batteries of artillery will form the vanguard. Then will come the royal aides de camp, the field marshals and their equerries, the foreign attachees and deputations, the Queen's Prussian Dragoons, the Lord Mayor, thirty-six English and foreign princes, the Indian escort and Lord Wolseley, the Commander-in-Chief, immediately preceding the Queen, who will have the Duke of Cambridge on her right hand and the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught on her left.

Then will follow the gold sticks-in-waiting, the masters of horse and the masters of buckhounds, with their equerries and the royal grooms. A large body of home and colonial troops will come next, the colonial troops forming the Queen's escort.

In the separate colonial procession it will be noticeable that the Canadian troops are followed immediately by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, who will be first after the advance guard of the Royal Horse Guards, while a portion of the Canadian troops will bring up the rear.

All the papers publish editorials welcoming the Colonial Premiers and delegates, especially Mr. Laurier.

The Times, in an editorial upon the evident design displayed in the arrangement of the procession, says that the presence of the Colonial Premiers, headed by Mr. Laurier, a Frenchman and a Catholic, testifies to the breadth and solidity of the constitutional freedom the British colonies enjoy.

Two Bottles Cure Pimples.

GENTLEMEN — For a long time I had pimples breaking out all over my face. I was told about B B B, and started its use. After taking one bottle I was much better, and the second bottle made a complete cure. I have recommended it to others of my friends, and they have found it uniformly satisfactory.

Miss Casson a Bride.

Dunnville, June 9.—(Special.)—A pretty and fashionable wedding was solemnized in the Methodist Church at Dunnville, Ont., this afternoon, when one of Niagara Falls' most popular bachelors was made a benedict. The groom was Dr. Eldridge T. Kellam, formerly of Seaforth, and the bride was Miss Marie Casson, daughter of Rev. Wesley Casson, minister of the Dunnville Methodist Church. The bridesmaids were, Miss Mamie Bower of Milton, Miss Ade Beattie of Seaforth, and Miss Cora Van Tassell of Toronto. The groomsman was Dr. Sheehan of St. Catharines. After the ceremony in the church at 4 o'clock a luncheon was given at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Casson. The honeymoon trip will be to New York.

Are you a Public Speaker?

If so you cannot find anywhere a preparation to equal DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE for the throat and respiratory organs. We have hundreds of testimonials from public speakers, singers, ministers and others. One rev. gentleman says: "I never think of entering my pulpit without Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at my side." Such indorsations from the ministry should give confidence in Dr. Chase's Medicine.

If you are troubled with that tickling sore throat, so common among speakers and singers, you will find DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE a positive and permanent cure. Teaspoonful dose, price 25 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., sole manufacturers for Canada, 45 Lombard street, Toronto.

.... These two cases led me to prescribe Tutti-Frutti Gum chewing in a number of cases of Atonic Dyspepsia that came under my care. I have not kept notes of these cases, but in nearly all a cure was effected, and in the few that did not progress to a complete recovery the benefit from the procedure was marked.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 8.—Toronto and Scranton met again this afternoon at the Island and played one of the greatest games on record. For ten innings the score board showed a succession of blanks on each side, but Gillon was caught for three hits in the eleventh and scored them all. Then the Scrantons got on to Dineen for a single and a triple and scored 1 before the side was out. It was a pitchers' duel, no errors being recorded. Score:

LONDON BEAT THE LEAFS.

London, June 8.—The Londons took the Maple Leafs into camp in fine style this afternoon. Lee, a local ball tosser, took Ward's place at short and played his position in good form. London made three in the first on singles by Snyder and Gunther, a sacrifice by Slippi and errors by the Leafs. The fielding of the latter was rugged at times and was responsible for several of the Londons' runs. In the sixth two men of the Leafs were out on the first two balls pitched, but three singles followed and, with an overthrow to third, four runs were scored. Score:

THE MARKETS.

Toronto, June 9.

Flour—Trade is inactive and prices generally unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.35 to $3.45.

Bran—Trade quiet, with bran quoted at $8 to $8.50 west, and shorts $9.50 to $10.

Wheat—The feeling is somewhat better, with offerings not so liberal. Red winter is quoted at 68c and white at 69c to 70c, high freights. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold at 72½c Fort William, and at 81c Toronto and west. No. 1 is quoted at 76c to 77c Midland, and No. 2 at 74c to 75c.

Buckwheat—The demand is limited, and prices nominal.

Barley—The market is quiet, with limited demand. No. 1 is quoted at 30c, No. 2 at 27c and No. 3 extra at 23c to 24c. Feed barley sold at 21c to 22c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Sales of white at 20c to 20½c west and of mixed at 19c to 19½c.

Peas—The market is steady, with sales north and west at 39c.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices steady at $2.80 to $2.90 for car lots.

Corn—Trade quiet and prices steady. Cars sold at 23½c to 23c west.

Rye—Trade quiet and prices unchanged. Car lots quoted at 32c to 33c east.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There was not such a large market yesterday as there has been for some few weeks past, there being only 55 car loads, made up as follows: 1079 cattle, 400 sheep and lambs, 50 calves, 20 milk cows and 1300 hogs.

There was no improvement in prices for cattle, and in fact they were lower, if anything, and cattle that would have brought $4.40 three weeks ago were selling for $4.20 per cwt. They would have to be extra choice that would bring $4.50, and we did not hear of any being sold for that money, although we think a few extra good cattle would have brought it.

The cattle drovers are complaining very much, as they are all losing money.

The bulk of the shippers went at $4.25 to $4.40.

There were quite a number of butchers' cattle, and choice brought $3.50 to $3.75, and a few picked cattle $4.

Bulls, heavy export, sold at $3 to $3.50. There were not many stockers on the market, but there was a fair demand for such cattle, as well as for heavy feeders. Prices about the same.

Sheep in good demand, at former quotations.

Calves in good demand, and prices a little firmer, at $3.50 to $5.50.

In the hog market the supply is not equal to the demand, and prices have advanced; good hogs brought $5.50 per cwt.

The following are the shipments per C.P.R. yesterday: J. C. Cochran, 3 cars; J. B. Shields, 2 cars; R. Ironsides, 3 cars; A. Montreuil, 1 car; S. Halligan, 2 cars; R. Cook, 1 car, all export cattle. Mr. Woller, 1 car of horses to London, England. Per G.T.R., for export: Brown & Snell, 5 cars; Thompson & Co., 6 cars; J. Eakin, 4 cars; J. Good, 3 cars; H. Jack, 1 car.

Messrs. Reid and Henderson shipped 3 cars butchers' cattle to Kingston and Brockville, and J. Boucher one car to Chaplean.

NORDICA WILL GO TO LAW.

On Col. Mapleson's Advice She Will Sue the Royal Opera Syndicate for Damage to Her Artistic Reputation.

New York, June 9.—A despatch from London to The Journal and Advertiser says: Mme. Nordica said to-day that she has placed her professional affairs in the hands of Col. Henry Mapleson, and acting on his advice, will at once sue the Royal Opera Syndicate, of which Maurice Grau is managing director, for her salary, amounting to about $5000, and for heavy damages to her reputation as an artist in not being permitted to sing at Covent Garden during the present opera season.

In an interview with Colonel Mapleson, who said he spoke in behalf of Mme. Nordica, published in The Daily Mail, Saturday, he said, with reference to her quarrel with Jean de Reszke:

"Nothing could be further from Mme. Nordica's desire than to continue the quarrel. She is of forgiving and generous disposition, and would not resist any settlement which should be consistent with her naturally offended amour propre.

"Jean de Reszke's generosity is almost proverbial, and it does seem strange that between two such participants in dispute no happy issue can be discovered. I may say that influence from the highest quarter is being employed to heal the quarrel, influence which must surely in the long run prevail. One circumstance makes the affair especially unfortunate. This year is the tenth anniversary of the combined debut of Jean de Reszke and Mme. Nordica in opera, and it is a thousand pities that this happy Jubilee season should be marked for them by this unfortunate division.

"I would say that Mme. Nordica has the utmost admiration for Jean de Reszke, and in order to have an opportunity for applauding his performance has taken a box for 'Tristan and Isolde' on Monday evening, when her place (Isolde) on the stage will be taken by a new German artist."

HOT ELECTION IN ENGLAND.

The Eastern Policy of the Government was the Issue—The Conservative Won London, June 9.—The election yesterday in the East, or Petersfield division of Hampshire, for a successor in Parliament to the late Mr. W. Wickham, Conservative, who was returned without opposition at the last election, resulted in the election of the Conservative candidate, Mr. W. G. Nicholson, by a majority of 420. The contest was very keen, and turned mainly on the eastern policy of the Government. The number of registered electors in the district is about 8500, and of this number 7076 went to the polls. The Liberals made a hard fight and Mr. Gladstone, during the course of the campaign, wrote a letter in support of Mr. Bonham Carter, Mr. Nicholson's opponent. Mr. Gladstone urged that Great Britain had been wrongly guided in siding with the powers of Europe, who were classed as the enemies of liberty and justice.

Mr. Nicholson, in his address to the electors, said: "I need hardly say that I am a strong supporter of Lord Salisbury's Government. It is owing to their wise and conciliatory policy that a great European war has been avoided. It is due to them that there are signs that a peaceful understanding will be maintained between the Transvaal and this country. It is due to the action of this Government that steps have been taken to materially strengthen our great national defences, both on sea and land, for the protection of the Empire and of commerce, upon which the prosperity of this country so largely depends. Confidence in a Government gives confidence to the trader, and that Lord Salisbury's Government possesses that confidence is evidenced by the vast strides our trade and national prosperity have made during the past two years."

AT THE POINT OF DEATH.

A Young Woman From America Jostled by Scuffling Boatmen at Jaffa.

London, June 9.—Samuel M. Jarvis, President of the North American Trust Company of New York and London, Eng., who is at the Hotel Cecil, received information to-day that his daughter Eleonora, aged 21, was lying at the point of death in Jaffa, the result of being pushed from the deck of an Austrian-Lloyd Mediterranean steamer at that port by native boatmen, and falling into a rowboat five feet below.

Miss Jarvis had been making a tour around the world with her mother, and they intended to stop off at Jaffa, where there is no landing pier. Several boatmen boarded the steamer to compete for the privilege of taking them ashore. There was a scuffle among the rejected boatmen, in the course of which Miss Jarvis was shoved over one side of the steamer and fell across the thwarts of a small boat alongside, receiving injuries to her spine that will probably prove fatal.

The matter will be laid before the United States consul, Thomas R. Gibson, who will demand an investigation by the government at Jaffa.

Want to Tax American Bikes.

Berlin, June 9.—A committee of the German Protectionist Society has presented a petition to the Foreign Office demanding, in view of American competition, that a heavy duty be placed on American bicycles, the cheapness of which threatens to deprive 25,000 German employes of work. It is not likely that the petition will be granted.

The Pope's Valuable Gift.

London, June 9.—The Rome correspondent of The Standard telegraphs that the Pope has sent to Queen Regent Christina of Spain a splendid rosary, consisting of a gold chain set alternately with diamonds, rubies and emeralds as beads. The gift is accompanied by a letter conveying the papal benediction, and expressing admiration of Her Majesty's courage and wisdom in the late Ministerial crisis.

A Great Book Free

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

WINNIPEG NEWS.

A Gentleman Well Posted Says the Roman Catholic Dignitaries Will Refrain From Further Opposition.

Winnipeg, June 9.—(Special.)—Discussing current rumor as to the future attitude of the Catholic Church toward the Manitoba school law, a gentleman who has taken a prominent part in the controversy says that the agitation will cease, and, relying on the assurances of members of the Government that the regulations for carrying out the provisions of the law will be given liberal interpretation, the dignitaries of the Church will refrain from further opposition.

"His Grace the Archbishop of St. Boniface has not yet nominated a representative for appointment on the Advisory Board," added the gentleman, "but it is understood he will do so later, and that on the reassembling of schools after the summer holidays many additional Roman Catholic children will be enrolled in the Public schools. There is a decided change in sentiment, and both Protestants and Catholics are desirous of promoting every effort for conciliation, and this spirit has largely tended to the present aspect of the matter."

Continuing the subject, the informant said he did not presume that local Separate schools would be immediately abolished, but in a couple of years he expected to see them all assimilated in the Public schools system, and he had reason to believe the school authorities appreciated the situation, and would increase the number of Roman Catholic teachers on its staff.

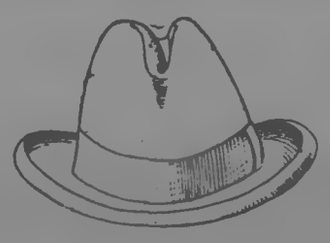
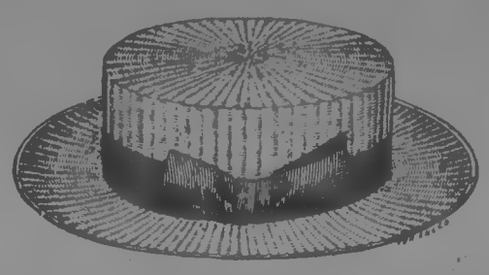
Good Goods are Good

No Matter What The Price Is!



The people are talking about our successful Fire Sale. We never sold as good Hats for as little money. You could never tell that they had been wet—in fact a great many were not touched by water at all, but all are being sold at about half price.

Our lightweight Drab Hats are the sensation of the town. These are Fur Felt Hats—the kind that gives wear—you would expect to give $2.50 for Hats of this quality but the price is $1.50 with us. This same applies to our Stiff Hats—a big lot of commoner ones for 50c each, and of Fine Fur Felt kind at $1.50 each—latest styles.



The summer season calls for a Straw Hat. We have the pick of goods in these lines. The very latest styles for Ladies, Children, Youths and Men.

GOLF NOTES.

"An' what's this game iv golf like, dinnawf" said Mr. Hennessy, lighting his pipe with much unnecessary noise. "Ye'er a good deal iv a spoort, Jawnny; did ye iver thry it f'

"No," said Mr. McKenna; "I used to roll a hoop onct upon a time, but I'm out of condition now."

"It ain't like baseball," said Mr. Hennessy, "an' it ain't like shinny, an' it ain't like lawn-teenis, an' it ain't like forty-fives, an' it ain't—

"Like canvas-back duck or anny other game ye know," said Mr. Dooley.

"Thin what is it like f" said Mr. Hennessy. "I see be th' pa-aper that Hobart What-in-the-name-iv-th'-d'ye-call him is wan iv th' best at it. Th' other day he made a scoor iv wan hundherd an' sixty-eight, but whether 'twas miles or stitches I cudden't make out fr'm th' raypoorts. Thim raypoorters has a slovenly style."

"'Tis little ye know," said Mr. Dooley, "Th' game iv golf is as old as th' hills. Me father had golf links all over his place, an whin I was a kid 'twas wan iv th' principal spoorts iv me life, afther I'd dug th' turf fr th' avenin', to go out and putt—"

"Poot, ye mean," said Mr. Hennessy. "They'se no such wurrud in th' English language as putt. Belinda called me down ha-ard on it no more than las' night."

"There ye go," said Mr. Dooley angrily; "there ye go! D'ye think this here game iv golf is a spelling match? 'Tis like ye Hinnessy to be refereein' a twinty round glove contest be th' rule iv three. I tell ye I used to go out in th' avenin' an' putt mashie like hell-an'-all, till I was knowed fr'm wan ind iv th' county to th' other as th' champeen putter. I putted two min fr'm Roscommon in wan day, an' they had to be took home on a dure.

"In America th' game is played more ginteel an' is more like cigaret-smokin' though less onhealthy f'r th' lungs. 'Tis a good game to play in a hammock whin ye're all tired out from social duties or shovelin' coke. Out-iv-dure golf is played be the followin' rules. If ye bring ye'er wife f'r to see th' game and she has her name in the paper that counts ye wan. So th' first thing ye do is f'r find th' rayporter an' tell him ye'er there. Thin ye ordher a bottle iv brown pop an' have ye'er second fan ye with a towel. Afther this ye dhress, an' here ye've got to be dam particklar or ye'll be stuck f'r th' dhrinks. If ye'er necktie is not on straight that counts ye'er opponent wan. If both ye and ye'er opponent have ye'er neckties on crooked th' first man that sees gets th' stakes. Thin ye order a carredge—"

"Order what f" exclaimed Mr. McKenna.

"A carredge."

"What for f"

"F'r to tase ye 'round th' links. Ye have a little boy following ye carryin' ye'er clubs. Th' man that has th' smallest little boy it counts him two. If th' little boy has th' ricketts it counts th' man in h' carredge three. Th' little boys is called caddies, but Clarence Heaney that tol' me all this—he belongs to th' Foorth Wa-ard Golf an' McKinley Club—said what th' little boys call th' players 'd not be fit f'r to repeat.

"Well whin ye dhrive up to th' tea grounds——"

"Th' what f" demanded Mr. Hennessy.

"Th' tea grounds, that's lie th' home-plate iv baseball or ordherin' a piece iv chalk in a game iv spoil five. Its th' beginnin' iv iverything. Whin ye get to th' tea-grounds ye step out an' have ye'er hat irned be th' caddie. Thin ye'er man that ye'er goin' agin'st comes up an' he asks ye: 'Do you know Potther Pammer f' Well, if ye don't known Potther Pammer it's all up with ye; ye lose two points. But ye come right back at him with an upper cut: 'Do ye live on the Lake Shore dhrive f' If he doesn't ye have him in th' nine hole. Ye need't play with him anny more. But if ye do play with him he has to spot three balls. If he's a good man an' shifty on his feet he'll counter be askin' ye where ye spend th' summer. Now, ye can't tell him that ye spent th' summer with wan hook on th' free lunch an' another on th' ticker tape, an' so ye go back three. That needn't discourage you at all, at all. Here's yer chance to mix up, an' ye ask him if was iver in Scotland. If he wasn't it counts ye five. Thin ye tell him that ye had an aunt wanst that heerd th' Jook iv Argule talk in a phonograph, an' onless he comes back an' shoots it into ye that he was wanst run over be th' Prince iv Wales ye have him groggy. I don't know whether th' Jook iv Argule or th' Prince iv Wales counts for most. They're like th' right an' left bower iv thrumps. Th' best players is called scratch min."

"What's that f'r f" Mr. Hennessy asked.

"It's a Scotch game," said Mr. Dooley with a wave of his hand. "I wonder how it come out to-day. Here's th' pa-aper. Let me see. McKinley at Canton. Still there. He niver cared to wandher from his own fireside. Bryan on th' hog train. Collar button men for th' good standord. Statutes iv Heidelback, Ickleheimer an' Company to be erected in Washington. Another Vanderbilt weddin.' That sounds like golf, but it ain't. Newport society livin' in Mrs. Potther Pammer's cellar. Green goods men declare f'r honest money. Pianny tuners f'r McKinley. Li Hung Chang smells a rat. Wait a minyit; here it is: 'Golf in gay attire.' Let me see. H'm. 'Foozled his approach'—nasty thing. 'Topped th' ball.' 'Three up an' two to play.' Ah, here's th' scoor! 'Among those prisint were Messrs. an' Mestrames'

"Hol' on!" cried Mr. Hennessy, grabbing the paper out of his friend's hands. "That's thim that was there."

"Well," said Mr. Dooly decisively, "that' the golf scoor."

THE WHEEL.

The Chathamites seem to realise that this will probably be their only crack at the National Meet game, and are determined to make the July gathering the biggest kind of a big affair. Not content with the $1000 Jubilee Handicap for the "pros." they are now offering prizes in the road race that will make the "Simon pures" scramble. They have headed their prize list in this event with a '97 model Gendron racing tandem, valued at $150, and offer as a second prize a New Barnes "White Flyer" racer. Added to these there will be fully a dozen other prizes, so that there is ample opportunity for the road fiends to get into the game. This event will be run off on Saturday, July 3rd.

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll for 1897, was held at the town hall at Apsley, on Saturday, May 29th last. Owing to the number of appeals from Stony Lake Islanders, there was not time to settle everything the first days' sitting, the court therefore adjourned until Monday the 31st, when the numerous appeals were adjusted on a satisfactory basis to all parties. Mr. D. W. Dumble, Mr. Jno. Hull and Mr. W. Graham were in attendance, and also Mr. Alfred Simpson who represented the Rathbun Co. A council meeting was held after the court closed.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. C. Armstrong applied to be allowed to place a gate on road at Julian's Landing. Application allowed until notice of removal by council.

Mr. J. R. Airries applied for grant on road. $4.00 was granted him.

Clerk was instructed to write A. P. Poussette re Bridgewater Estate.

The clerk presented a copy of settlement with municipality of Chandos. Adopted and received.

The clerk was instructed to put up notice of tenders for repairing Lean's Bridge. Tenders to be opened June 5th at 6 o'clock p.m.

Application of W. G. Stone for grant on a road. On motion he was allowed to work out $15.

Bylaw No. 21, to prevent unnecessary blowing of horns, etc., went through its several readings and was passed.

Petition was presented from Thos. Hull and others, asking for erection of a new school section. No action was taken.

Mr. Tucker and Mr. Kilborn were instructed to see after repairs of the mile bridge.

Mr. Thos. Spense applied for a grant on a road. On motion he was allowed the sum of $10 to expend.

The following orders were drawn on the Treasurer: J. Welsh, for town hall $3; P. Shewen, salary, $13; T. G. Eastland, stamps, $3; John Lean, salary and postages as assessor, $32.02; J. Kilborn, $7.

Council adjourned until call of reeve.

A handsome lemon tree, 15 feet in height, in Mr. Charles Lauder's garden was covered with blossoms this spring.

We were glad to welcome amongst us again, Rev. R. Emberson, a former pastor of the Methodist church, who conducted the fortnightly evening service on the 31st of May. The subject of the sermon was "Christian Perfection," which he treated in a very able manner.

The Methodist Sunday school, with Mrs. Charles Lauder as superintendent, assisted by Miss Arnott, opened for the summer last Sunday with an attendance of 23 pupils.

The fish are getting very bold and can be seen swimming about the wharf quite coolly. They seem to know that the people around here are law abiding, or perhaps they feel secure under the eyes of so many inspectors.

DOURO.

From our own Correspondent.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Douro, Tuesday morning, 9 a. m. The contracting parties being Mr. Martin Leahy and Catherine Allen, all of Douro. Miss Mary Leahy assisted the bride and Mr. John Leahy was best man. Rev. Father Phelan performed the marriage ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. Here you can depend on getting anything and everything your heart desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remnants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

Lace Curtains.

We never sold Lace Curtains at such astonishingly Low Prices before. We can give you extra value in Curtains from 25c a pair up to $10.00.

BRITISHERS KILLED.

Treachery of Natives in Northern India.

ATTACKED BY SUPERIOR FORCES

Mr. McGee, a Political Officer, and His Escort Sustained a Running Fight for Four Miles—Britain Takes a Stand in the Eastern Complications—Cable News.

Bombay, June 11.—A despatch received here from Simla, the residence of the Indian Government officials during the heated periods of the year, announces serious trouble on the northern frontier, and the massacre of a number of British officers and native soldiers in the Government employ. From the particulars obtainable at present, it seems that two guns belonging to a Bombay mounted battery, escorted by 30 men belonging to the First Regiment of Sikhs and to the First Punjab Infantry, were treacherously attacked in the Techi Valley by a large force of hostile natives. The first report said that Col. Bunny, two officers and 25 privates had been killed, and that three officers and 25 men had been wounded.

Later reports, however, seem to indicate that the affair is more than a mere conflict with warlike natives, and that the notorious Mullah of Polndah is at the bottom of the trouble.

It seems that a political officer, Mr. McGee, was visiting Shirani with an escort of troops, when he was attacked at Matza by vastly superior forces. The British troops were compelled to retreat, and were followed for several miles by overwhelming numbers of the enemy. The fighting was desperate. All the British officers were severely wounded. Capt. Browne of the First Sikhs, a son of the late Sir James Browne, and Lieutenant Crookshank of the Royal Artillery, were killed, and Surgeon Higginson, Lieutenant Higginson of the First Sikhs and Lieutenant Seaton-Browne of the Punjab Infantry were wounded.

The second despatch does not mention the death of Colonel Bunny, but from the fact that it says that Colonel Gray from Mhranshan has taken over the command of the British forces engaged, it is inferred that Colonel Bunny is also among the dead, as at first announced.

Techi Valley lies north and on the road to Ghuzni and Waziristan. It has been controlled by the British since the delimitation of the Indo-Afghan frontier. The tribes there have always been turbulent, and anxiety is felt lest the other tribes rise against the British.

London, June 11.—The Times correspondent at Simla says: "Mr. McGee was sent to fix the site of a new outpost at Shirani and to recover the fine imposed on local tribesmen for past misconduct.

"The troops after the attack retired towards Dattakheli, sustaining a running fight for four miles. As the Wazirs were in such strength it was impossible to do more than act on the defensive.

"Two companies of native infantry sent from Dattakheli reinforced the party, which brought in its guns safely. No reason is yet given for this sudden outbreak; but the garrison in the Techi Valley will be reinforced, pending a decision as to punitive operations.

"The present garrison consists of two regiments of native infantry, one mountain battery and a squadron of cavalry."

It is Confirmed.

Bombay, June 11.—The news of the disaster on the frontier of British India has been officially confirmed.

An Expedition Will be Fitted Up.

London, June 12.—The Bombay correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "A punitive expedition will be fitted out from Rawalpindi. It is expected that severe fighting will follow, and that another Chitral will be enacted. Unfortunately the great frontier general, Sir William Lockhart, is now on leave in Germany, while Sir Power Palmer, the general commanding the British forces on the Afghan frontier, is on leave in England."

MR. LAURIER IN ENGLAND.

The Canadian Premier Received by the High Commissioner on Arrival.

London, June 12.—Owing to a dense fog on the Welsh coast, the Cunard Line steamship Lucania did not reach Liverpool until 11 o'clock this evening. Mr. Wilfrid Laurier's party landed by tender and were met by Mr Donald Smith, the Canadian High Commissioner, and Mr. Dyke, the Canadian agent.

The Mayor of Liverpool received Mr. Laurier's party at the landing stage. A large crowd had waited several hours for the arrival, but owing to the delay only a few were present when Mr. Laurier finally landed.

Col. Ivor Herbert also is here making arrangements for the reception and transport to London of the Canadian contingent on board the Vancouver.

The Northwest police horses arrived today. Two of them died while on the voyage across the Atlantic, but the others are in good condition.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

Peace Conferences Further Adjourned—Bad Impression in Diplomatic Circles.

Constantinople, June 11.—A further adjournment of the peace conferences has taken place at the request of Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs, on the ground that the Sultan has not decided the question of the retention or evacuation of Thessaly by the Turkish troops, and has created a bad impression in diplomatic circles. The other points brought forward as a basis for the arrangement of permanent peace between Turkey and Greece, with the exception of the amount of the indemnity to be paid by the latter country, have been practically settled.

The Turkish Government has issued a circular to the powers, with the view to obtain their support in the peace negotiations, but thus far Russia alone has replied, expressing the opinion that the questions of the indemnity and the capitulations appear less difficult to settle than the delimitation of Thessaly. This reply is regarded in Turkish circles as justifying the hope that Russia will support the retrocession of Thessaly, but this opinion is not shared by the members of the foreign diplomatic corps in this city.

The Indemnity.

London, June 11. The Ambassadors at Constantinople to some extent ignore the absence of Tewfik Pasha, and continue their negotiations without him. It is understood they have reached the conclusion that it is useless to hope for the early evacuation of Thessaly. The harvest, therefore, will be reckoned a part of the indemnity; Greece will be called upon to pay only £1,500,000 and Thessaly will be evacuated after the harvest. The Turkish Government is draining the Asiatic Provinces of the empire for troops to be sent to the Balkans, and has ordered an additional 150,000 Mauser rifles.

BRITAIN TAKEN A STAND.

Will Under No Circumstances Consent to the Cession of Thessaly.

London, June 11.—Advices from Constantinople says that Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador, has served notice on the Sultan that Great Britain will under no circumstances consent to the cession of Thessaly. This represents a cleavage of sentiment among the Powers, as Germany is entirely willing that Turkey should keep the conquered province. Should Turkey decide to defy Great Britain, relying on the support of the Drei Kaiserbund, the Eastern question will again assume an acute phase.

The Turkish Prime Minister is reported to have grown dumb with astonishment when England's ultimatum was delivered. England at present has an immense fleet in the Mediterranean, and is undisputed mistress of the sea. She

MR. McCLEARY WAS PULLED UP.

Mr. McMullen Took Him to Task on His Governmental Contract Record—Bonding Privilege Discussed in the H. R. Committee—True Bill for Murder Against a Woman.

Ottawa, June 11. (Special.)—Parliament is a good deal like a balky horse. You can never tell what it will shy at or how long it will take to get it past a given object. This morning, for example, everyone came down expecting that the estimates of the Railway and Canal department would be put through at a fair speed. On the very first item, however, $7500 for surveys of a proposed extension of the P.E.I. Railway, there was a debate of over an hour and a half's duration, in which every one of the five members from the minature province took part. The Conservatives shouted for a railway without further delay, while Mr. Davies suggested that it would be advisable to make a survey to see what it would cost before going on. "Oh, bother the cost," replied McDougall and Martin, of course in the Parliamentary form. It was ten minutes to 1 when the item passed. In the ten minutes before adjournment there was an exhibition of fast going. With but a few questions from Mr. Foster and answers across the floor by Mr. Blair, votes for canal enlargement on the Soulanges, Galops and other St. Lawrence canals to the amount of $1,775,000 were passed.

The most eventful event of the afternoon was Mr. Fielding's announcement that it is the intention of the Government to ask for power to impose an export duty on logs and pulp wood and on certain ores, should it be found advisable to do so before Parliament meets again. He pointed out that Congress had gone very far in the direction of placing a heavy burden upon the Canadian lumber trade, and that it would be advisable to secure power not to retaliate but to safeguard the interests of Canada. Sir Charles Tupper cordially approved, and the House, Liberals and Conservatives alike, expressed concurrence by applause.

Mr. McCleary of Welland was pulled up in the House with a sharp turn this afternoon by Mr. McMullen. He started off in full cry to blame the Government for dismissals on the Welland Canal. Mr. McMullen had been waiting for him for some time, and when Mr. McCleary got through he rose and told that gentleman he had been himself one of the beneficiaries of the Welland Canal in the past. Between 1885 and 1895 Mr. McCleary had drawn from the Dominion treasury $104,141 for lumber supplied to the canal without any tender other than the first. Mr. McCleary denied this strongly, saying figures were given and the contract renewed from time to time. Mr. McMullen promised that if both of them lived he would prove his statement next session before the Public Accounts Committee.

The Behring Sea Claims Commission meets in Montreal next Wednesday. It is understood that argument will not be heard at this meeting, and the proceedings do not promise to be very lengthy. Notice has been given, however, by the United States counsel, of a motion to permit that country to put in further evidence, but this motion will be strongly opposed by the Canadian representatives. It is expected that the final meeting to hear arguments will be held at Halifax some time in August.

There was an important discussion in the Railway Committee this morning in reference to the extent of the bonding powers which should be given to electric railways running through the rural districts. The discussion came up on the Montreal and Southern Counties Electric Railway bill. Chairman Sutherland said he had the opinion of competent authorities that electric lines could not be constructed and equipped for less than $25,000 per mile. Mr. Schriver suggested only $15,000, but the matter was compromised by making the amount $20,000 per mile.

The bill to incorporate the Yukon Mining, Trading and Transportation Company, which is promoted entirely by capitalists of Wilmington, Del., was passed. Mr. McInnes objected to Americans being given a monopoly of the means of access into the Yukon country. Canadians, he said, got little or no show in the United States, and Americans might well be treated the same way in this country.

Sir Charles Tupper warmly dissented from this view, insisting that it was to the advantage of Canada to get capital invested in this country, no matter where it came from.

A true bill for murder against Mrs. Omier for the murder of her husband, the late Joseph Omier, of West Templeton, was brought in by the grand jury at the Hull Assize Court to-day. Mrs. Omier's trial will likely begin on Monday next.

Queen Victoria will receive a congratulatory cable message on the occasion of the coming Diamond Jubilee from the Orange Young Britons of Canada. The Grand Lodge Orange Young Britons yesterday decided to send this cablegram of congratulation. The Grand Orange Lodge will be petitioned to raise the age limit of the Young Britons Order from 20 to 25 years.

The Agriculture Committee met this morning and heard Messrs. F. T. Shutt, chemist, and A. G. Gilbert, manager of the poultry department of the Experimental Farm, who gave many interesting particulars of the work in their respective lines.

The Canada Atlantic Railway puts on a three-hour flyer between Montreal and Ottawa next Sunday.

The Militia Department has received a request to allow K Company of the Maine National Guards to cross the boundary and take part in the big celebration at St. Stephen, N.B., on June 22. The request has been forwarded to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador at Washington.

The town of Brockville has written to the Militia Department asking for the loan of a cannon to fire a salute on Jubilee Day. The Department has replied, stating that if they will pay the expenses of removing and return they can obtain a cannon from Toronto.

Mr. Wood of Hamilton will ask if the Government purposes appointing a Railway Commission.

The Solicitor-General gives notice of motion that the salaries of the Ministers of Customs and Inland Revenue shall be $5000 each.

A serious outbreak of tuberculosis among cattle is reported in the Eastern Townships; 26 animals in one herd have had to be slaughtered in Brome County.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Export Duty to be Imposed on Logs and Pulp Wood.

SOME ORES ALSO TO BE INCLUDED

Sir Charles Tupper Commended Mr. Fielding's Announcements The Railway Estimates Again Under Consideration in Committee Dismissals on Welland Canal.

Ottawa, June 11.—(Special.)—The lumbermen of Canada have been successful in their representations to the Government in asking for power to be taken by the Executive to impose an export duty on saw logs and pulp wood. The intimation given by Mr. Fielding this afternoon goes even further. The Minister mentioned that possibly export duties would be imposed on certain ores. Everybody understands by this that the Government means to deal with the question of the export of nickel. If, as is stated, the German Government is endeavoring, through American agents, to secure control of the Ontario nickel fields, the Dominion Government's contemplated action may frustrate that object.

Mr. Fielding, in making the announcement, spoke as follows: "As it may not be convenient to proceed with the tariff resolutions to-day, I wish to make a few remarks on a point which, I think, the House will regard as of some importance; and perhaps the statement may facilitate the business of dealing with the tariff. I wish to say that it is the intention of the Government, before the tariff resolutions are completed, to ask for the re-enactment of the resolution in the old tariff which authorized the Governor-in-Council, under certain conditions, to impose by proclamation export duties on saw logs, and it is also intended to include in this case export duties on pulp wood. [Hear, hear.] It is also the intention to include in the authority to be so taken power to impose export duties upon certain ores. I may explain, in regard to logs and pulp wood especially, that we have no intention of applying these resolutions at once. An intimation was given by Mr. Laurier some days ago as regards this matter, that whatever action was taken it would not prejudice business actually in progress. But it may be possible before the next meeting of Parliament that we may have occasion to exercise this power, and, therefore, it is our intention to ask that this authority be conferred upon the Governor-General.

Sir Charles Tupper said he was sure the House would hear with great pleasure the announcement made by Mr. Fielding. There was no doubt that, while it was not desirable to adopt any policy against the States which smacked of retaliation, the time had arrived when it was absolutely necessary that the Government and Parliament should look solely to Canadian interests in regard to these matters. Especially was this so in view of the resolutions now before the Congress of the United States. The Dominion Government would fail in their duy to Canada if they did not promptly resort to the power which Parliament gave them, if the United States tariff passed in its present shape.

At the morning session a number of questions were put to Ministers.

Mr. Muleck stated that complaints had been made respecting the administration of the Montreal Postoffice. The matter would be looked into and if necessary an investigation held during the Parliamentary recess.

In supply on the railway estimates Mr. Martin complained of the delay in completing branch lines in P. E. I. Nearly all the Island members had to have their say in the matter.

On the Soulanges canal vote Mr. Blair informed Mr. Foster that the estimated cost of the canal was $5,000,000. Up to February last there had been spent $2,400,000 and $400,000 more would be required to pay for work up to the 30th instant.

On the item of litigation Mr. Fitzpatrick informed Sir Charles Tupper that the greater part of the law work done in the past for the Department of Justice by outside solicitors at great expense, was to be performed hereafter by the Deputy Minister of Justice and the departmental officers. The saving would be at least $35,000 a year. He thought some remuneration should be paid to the officers.

Sir Charles Tupper approved of the arrangement.

The House adjourned at 1 o'clock.

At the afternoon sitting Mr Davies informed Mr. Ellis that $3,800,000 had been expended by the Government in deepening the channel of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Quebec. Of this sum $2,700,000 had been spent by the harbor commissioners of Montreal, but afterwards recouped to them by the Dominion Government.

In the course of discussion upon the canal items Mr. McCleary brought up the subject of wholesale dismissals on the Welland Canal.

Mr. McMullen retorted that for 12 years Mr. McCleary had been supplying lumber to the Government for the Welland Canal without tender.

Mr. McCleary gave this accusation a flat denial, and said that with the exception of one or two renewals his firm had obtained the contract by public tender yearly, their offer being the lowest in each case.

Mr. McMullen maintained he was right.

Subsequently Mr. Wallace quoted the definition of the Minister of Railways as to what constituted sufficient cause for the dismissal of a public officer, eliciting from Mr. Blair the assurance that the fact of having merely voted at the election would not be held to justify dismissal. He promised also to look into the matter of the Welland Canal dismissals, and render justice where injustice had been done.

At the evening session the Victoria & Restigouche Railway bill was talked out by Mr. McAlister.

Then the question of dismissals on the I. C. R. was again resumed. Mr. Blair took the floor and warmly replied to the attacks which he said the Opposition had been making upon him almost continuously from the commencement of the session. He said that when Sir Charles Tupper assumed charge of the I. C. R. he dismissed 400 employes, but before long he had largely increased the number of his employes. In June, 1896, the large total of 5296 men were employed on the road. The attacks which had been made upon him (Mr. Blair) were both unfounded and unjust, and he had now about reached the limit of forbearance. The question naturally arose in his mind, if the Government were to be attacked without reason, then they might be tempted to go as far as they would feel justified in doing. Statements of wholesale dismissals on the I. C. R. for political purposes were wholly unfounded. The total number of dismissals in the Province of Quebec was 81, Nova Scotia 22, New Brunswick 7.

Mr. Powell: Why, there were 80 dismissed in the town of Moncton alone.

Mr. Blair said the statement of the general manager did not show that.

Mr. Powell insisted that his statement was true.

Mr. Blair, continuing, said he was determined to be surrounded by men who were friendly to him. The Intercolonial had been prostituted to serve the purposes of the Conservative party. Passes had been issued without limit. From one point alone 3575 had been issued at the time of the general elections. Mr. Hillson, a nephew of Sir Charles Tupper, who occupied the position of inspector of Public Buildings on the I. C. R., had been very energetic at that time. Wherever he went last June there was an immediate demand for shingles, 50,000 here and 20,000 there, and so on. He (Mr. Blair) had since learned that this demand for shingles meant passes for voters—[laughter]—an ingenious way of Mr. Hillson's to communicate with the chief engineer of the road. He repeated that the Conservative party had been guilty of indefensible prostitution of the Government system of railways. [Liberal cheers.]

Dr. Landerkin: That was Foster's home market. [Liberal laughter.]

Sir Charles Tupper, in reply, said a more fallacious argument than that advanced by the Minister he had never heard on the floors of Parliament. When he (Sir Charles) took charge of the Railway Department he found an annual deficit of three and a quarter millions a year staring him in the face, the legacy of a Liberal administration. He called on the help of the ablest men in his department to give him an exhaustive report as to how this state of affairs could be remedied. As a result, 400 employes were dismissed, but not for political purposes. Mr. Blair had kept from the House the fact that when the number of employes was increased the total mileage of the I. C. R. had been added to by 379 miles. It was a gross piece of deception to hide that fact from the House. If the full facts were known it would be found that hundreds of employes had been dismissed by this Government. Mr. Blair considered himself a mighty autocrat, who had no regard for poor men with their wives and children, who were deprived of the means of livelihood by being dismissed from the Government service.

Mr. Powell said there had been sweeping dismissals in his county, 60 in Moncton alone, although the Minister had admitted only five. The Minister of Railways in his provincial career had imported more virus into the politics of New Brunswick than any other man in that province.

Mr. Blair said the figures of dismissals he had given had been supplied to him by the general manager of the I. C. R. He added that temporary employes in June, '95, numbered 344, but in June, '96, the number was 1569. [Liberal cheers.]

The discussion was continued by Messrs. McClure, Borden, Russell, Taylor, Sproule and others, after which the item passed.

Sir Richard Cartwright said the Fast Line proposals would be considered at the morning session on Monday.

The House adjourned at 12.50.

Canadian Women Consume Millions of Packets.

Millions of packages of Diamond Dyes are used by the women of Canada every year. The sale of these household friends is increasing so fast that that at times the manufacturers have difficulty in filling the orders that pour in from the wholesale and retail trade.

The enormous and fast increasing consumption of Diamond Dyes indicates immense popularity, due of course to quality, strength, brilliancy and fastness of colours.

Diamond Dyes give colours that last till the materials are worn out. Every colour is true to name, the results are always pleasing and satisfactory, and they are sold at the same price as the common imitation dyes.

When buying package dyes for home dyeing see that your dealer gives you the Diamond Dyes, the only guaranteed dyes in the world, the only colours that give you value for your money and time.

Disfigured Faces.

How Good Looks, Perfect Health and Pure Blood. Can Be Obtained and Maintained.

Paine's Celery Compound Removes Every Trace of Disease.

Is your face disfigured by eczema, pimples, blotches and blackheads? If so, your blood is sluggish, impure and poisoned. While the life stream is reeking with impurities you cannot be healthy and good looking.

If you would renew the system, cleanse the blood, and rid yourself of disease, you must use Paine's Celery Compound, the great system-cleanser and blood purifier.

The following letter from Mr. D. McMahon, Peterborough, Ont., proves that Paine's Celery Compound possesses virtues and life-giving qualities unknown to the ordinary medicines and doctors' prescriptions:

"I have great pleasure in testifying to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound has caused a remarkable change in my condition.

"I was troubled with a very bad type of eczema on my face, and in patches over my body for four years. I was under treatment of three doctors at different periods, and had also tried many remedies, but all proved useless. At last I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound and put Iodide of Potassium as recommended on the label. The one bottle did me so much good that I bought five bottles more, and now am happy to say I am perfectly cured and completely free from the troublesome disease."

SPRING DRESSES IN THE WORLD OF FASHION AT ROME.

Suggestions for Beautiful New Spring Costumes Worn at the Balls of Queen Margherita Receptions of the Anglo-American Colony.

(Special Correspondence.

Rome, (Special.) It appears that a great many people have been married lately, for at table d'hote the other evening there was a man who let his soup get cold while he held his wife's hand under the table; and at different times in the last week I have noticed a frequency and intensity of civility to women not to be accounted for except on the theory of very recent matrimony.

The Roman flower sellers like brides for business reasons, and in the piazza di Spagna, where there are more violets and purple anemones and sold en barouse than in an equal space anywhere else in the world, they were besieging a handsome couple an hour or two ago. He was trying to choose a bouquet to go with her gown and eight or ten round-faced Roman girls in the dress of the contadina and balancing baskets of tulips and hyacinths on their heads were helping or hindering him. She wore a dress of pale mauve liberty silk. The skirt of it was short enough to walk in. It was round at the bottom and fell evenly from the waist in fine sun pleatings. The bodice was made with a square yoke at the neck, edged with a delicate vine embroidery in gold and purple. Below the yoke came seven or eight horizontal rows of puffings, disappearing at the waist under a broad pointed belt of white silk with embroidery in mauve and gold. The sleeves were close-fitting from the shoulders and were gathered into little wrinkling puffs all the way down, with perpendicular cords of white to preserve their shapeliness. A high white silk neckband corresponded with the white ribbons on the straw hat trimmed with violets. Roman anemones were his first choice, but the purple of them was too deep for the pretty pink and white complexion, and in the end the purchase was a big bunch of yellow daffodils.

Up on the Pincio an hour or two before sunset, when the band is playing its liveliest and Roman society is on exhibition, paying and receiving visits from carriage to carriage along the beautiful terraces of the pleasure gardens laid out under Napoleon, is the place to study Roman life and Roman manners. The proud old families, with names that have filled men's mouths for centuries, may cut down their establishments and rent all but a few bare rooms of their palaces, but they never give up their horses or the afternoon drive through the Corso and up the Pincian hill. The younger women with their olive skin, delicate features and large dark eyes are apt to be very good to look at, and their dress, with its lavish use of lace and flowers, is often more graceful than that of Frenchwomen, if not always so refined.

In one carriage to-day I noticed a handsome woman of middle age, with two young girls, evidently her daughters. All three carried enormous bouquets of violets and smiled as if they found it good to be alive. The matron of the party wore quite heavy green silk with two bands of watered black satin encircling the skirt for trimming. These bands were edged on both sides with jet ornaments. The bodice of the costume was a very rich brocade in silver upon a green ground, the design arabesques and flowers fantastically intermingled. The waist was confined by a black satin belt, below which appeared the short skirts of the bodice, with a black jet embroidered edging. The neck-band of black satin was prolonged downward in a collar whose three long curving points came over the bosom. Above the neckband was a collarette of black and white lace. The sleeves were black and the bonnet was of black and white lace, with trimmings of violets and foliage.

The younger daughter had many callers, men from other carriages who found many things to say when they reached her side. She wore an extremely dainty dress of fine silver-colored cloth. The only ornament upon the skirt was a heavy gold cord that ran down the right side, ending in an arabesque above the hem. The bodice was a short zouave cut out in battlements, edged about with two rows of gold cord and embroidered with arabesques in the corners. Upon the left side a cascade of lace fell over the zouave and relieved its clearly-defined outlines. The zouave opened upon a blouse of plain yellow mousseline de soie of the tint of an Italian primrose.

This was gathered at the waist under a broad belt of gold-colored satin ribbon. The sleeves were plain and close-fitting, with a trifle of fullness at the shoulders. There was a ribbon neckband, with a lace collarette and a broad hat of yellow straw, trimmed with lace, yellow ribbon and white flowers.

The other daughter was a stately girl of fine, erect figure, dressed in [illegible] with brown. Her zouave jacket was enough to reach the waist where it ended in long points, and fitted as tightly as a tailor-made vest. The material was a corded silk, and it was cut with a Medici collar and with double revers, turning back from the front and then turning again upon themselves so as to meet in a curve down over the bosom in long collar tabs apparently. The effect was novel and attractive. Zouave, collar and tabs were bordered with a scroll embroidery in gold and green silks, running off at places in wave meanders. A vest of pale green mousseline showed below the zouave, and was fastened at the waist by a narrow belt of dark green ribbon. There was a plain silk skirt in pink and brown and a little brown straw hat covered with roses.

The Ladies' Club of the Anglo-American colony is giving some very pleasing entertainments. At a recent reception a young girl who was chaperoned by Mrs. Maude Howe Elliot, a daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, wore a very pretty and novel gown of pale primrose yellow silk. The skirt was round at the bottom and untrimmed except for a circle of lace let into it about half way from waist to ground. The half-low bodice was cut with a waistcoat, edged with a mere thread of gold embroidery, which also defined the seams. The skirts of the waistcoat set out about the hips in folds that accentuated the slenderness of a figure able to carry them becomingly. Triangular revers more heavily embroidered turned back from a vest front of mauve silk, finished at the top with a band of mauve velvet, above which little triangles of lace covered the shoulders. The vest front was gold embroidered, as was the pointed belt of mauve velvet. The handkerchiefs of silk that finished the tight sleeves upon the shoulders were fastened with broad gold clasps.

Of evening costumes the prettiest I have seen is one recently prepared for a court ball, and to be worn by a young German duchess who stands high in the favor of Queen Margherita. The material is a pale blue gauze, threaded with silver and gold. This is laid in fine sun pleatings and draped in a single princess robe over blue satin. The bodice is low and square cut, with bunches of blue feathers buried in costly laces upon the shoulders. The belt is a girdle of gold, set with pearls and topaz. There are no sleeves. The train is of a heavy blue satin, brocaded with gold and edged with cascades of lace worth a fortune. The lace is caught here and there with ostrich plumes.

There is a good deal of tennis in progress. The best player among the women is Mme. Vagliano, who has taken a number of prizes at Nice this spring. At an open tournament, which has brought out all the tennis world this week, green and yellowish brown predominated in the women's costumes. Bright parasols in the gay Roman colors and flat hats covered with flowers lent gayety to the scene. One of the prettiest dresses seen was worn by Miss Brooksmith, the Nice champion, who did not play here, but rested on her laurels. Her dress was of yellowish green tint of the willow catkins. It was of light silk, figured sparsely with pink and brown, and was cut with plain skirt and blouse. Over the blouse came a large, flat collar of pale brown silk cut in points that lay over the shoulders. In front one long point reached to the waist line, hiding itself under a folded belt of dark brown silk. This collar ran up into a throat band, with collarette of the same material above, and was edged with a darker brown ribbon, buttoned down in spots with rows of mother of pearl buttons. A red parasol and a broad brown hat trimmed with leaves completed an outfit that was as pretty as striking.

ELLEN OSBORN.

POKE BONNETS ARE COMING.

The Queen's Diamond Jubilee to Revive Some Fashions of 1837

Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee promises to lead to a very wonderful fashion revival. That is the revival of early Victorian fashions.

When the Queen, now in her seventy-eighth year, ascended the throne, the poke bonnet was the most characteristic feature of feminine attire. That was in the year 1837.

1837—AN EARLY VICTORIAN POKE.

The poke bonnet is one of the institutions of 1837 which some daring English women propose to restore. The bonnets have been ordered from very fashionable modistes, and they will be seen before long in Hyde Park.

It is not to be denied that a pretty face was uncommonly well set off by a poke bonnet. Those who have no personal recollection of this headgear may learn this fact from old prints and pictures of the better kind.

Nestling in the shady recess of the poke, the fair face looked delightfully demure and kissable. Here it may be remarked that the same sort of face is apt to present a similar attraction in any bonnet whatever. Still, the poke had its merits, and sometimes lent its assistance to nature in a very artistic way.

Often the bonnet was trimmed with lace in front, which hung down and added to the air of curtained seclusion which the wearer carried about with her. The poke was very appropriate to a period when woman's chief quality was to be modest and coy. The girl of 1837 needed such a bonnet to hide her blushes, and to shield as much as possible from the gaze of man and the sun.

That was an age when it was womanly not to be able to eat more than a bird, and physical weakness was considered highly becoming. No modest young woman dreamed of athletics or holding her own in the world with men, or, indeed, had a chance to do any of these things. It is natural that fashions should have reflected in a way the ideas of that age, which is very much a dead and gone age.

For some of these reasons it might appear that the poke bonnet is not the most suitable headgear for the woman of to-day. But she is bound to be surprising in her dress and so she will revive the fashions of her grandmother. Every fashion that has ever been must be revived at some time and the process will go on as long as the Caucasian race is civilized and keeps a record of the clothing of its ancestors. One generation usually goes further back for its fashions than its mothers and grandmothers, and what is old-fashioned is much more strange than what is ancient. This gives a larger importance to the revival of the poke bonnet.

Queen Victoria herself wore the aforesaid bonnet with very becoming effect. She was a pretty girl with just the sort of face that lent itself to the poke.

WOMEN FARMERS.

Three Illinois Girls Who Are Making a Great Success in Agriculture.

Women have certainly become a factor in the money making world, and there are no arguments weighty enough to convince the advanced woman of to-day that she is not fitted for any work in life which is sought by educated men as a means of earning a living. Farming as an occupation for women may not sound attractive to ladies of culture and refinement, but it has been demonstrated by three young women in Illinois that it is both a lucrative and enjoyable business for the gentler sex, and also that they need not lose their taste for the finer things of life in this humble employment. They believe that woman can properly manage any business if she is trained for it and will closely observe all the details and attend to it herself. Experience has taught them that agents were not a success, as they very soon began to trade on the supposed incapability of women as business managers and tried to deceive them by charging for work which was never done. Their farms, which aggregate 2200 acres, says The Chicago Times-Herald, were inherited from their father, John D. Gillett, a well-known man in Illinois, who owned 11,000 acres in Logan county at the time of his death, nine years ago. The young women are practical agriculturists, having picked up much of their knowledge going over the farms with their father, and yet they are finely educated, visit Europe every two or three years, speak French and have a taste for art, literature and music.

They devoted their entire time to the farms for the first few years after they assumed the management, and now the land yields twice as much as it did at the time of their father's death. Corn is their principal product, and the average yield is sixty bushels an acre. They have drained a lake of 400 acres by digging a ditch a mile and a half long. The farms are divided into small sections, which are tilled by tenants with whom they divide the crops. These women ride thirty and forty miles a day on their tours of inspection, which are not at stated times, so the tenants have no way of knowing when they are coming. Miss Nina Gillett says there is no work she would prefer to farming, and thinks a woman who has a knowledge of the subject and some experience is just as good a farmer as a man. Miss Amy is quite as much in love with the business, and, while they believe in all the science which can be applied to agriculture, they rarely indulge in experiments, but trust to the "Agricultural Experiment Stations" to enlighten them as to what may or may not be done with land.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Brockville, June 10.—At the Cheese Board to-day 59 factories offered 1619 white and 2718 colored; total 4337; 427 white sold at 8½c, 60 colored and 198 white at 8 9-16c. The remainder of the white and colored sold at 8⅝c.

Kingston, June 10.—At Cheese Board to-day 1830 boxes boarded. All sold at 8⅝c.

Burrie, June 10.—At the meeting of the Cheese Board here to-day 1005 boxes colored cheese were boarded and sold at 8c, the bidding being lively, Mr. Whitton securing 550, Mr. Jones 283, Mr. Gunn 128 and Mr. Perkins 44. Mr. John R. Brower of Belleville was appointed arbiter in behalf of the board. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, July 1, at 1 o'clock.

Listowel, June 10.—Twenty-two factories boarded 4500 boxes of cheese, mostly first half of June make. One small lot of May cheese was sold on the board at 8¼c; after the board the salesmen sold out their whole make of June cheese, which would about double the size of the board, at an advance on price bid on board.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, June 10.—There were about 500 head of butchers' cattle, 400 calves, 600 sheep and lambs and 50 store hogs and small pigs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers and trade was fair; prices were somewhat lower all round excepting for large sheep to ship to Britain. Prime beeves sold at about 4c per lb., a few of the best bringing nearly 4¼c; pretty good stock sold at from 3¾c to 3⅞c, and the common animals at from 2¾c to 3c per lb. The calves were sold at from $1.50 to $7, but most of the sales were at from $2.50 to $4 each. Sheep sell at from 3¼c to a little over 4c per lb., lambs bringing from $2 to $3.50 each. Fat hogs are rather plentiful and sold at from $5 to $5.40 per 100 lbs. Store hogs weighty bring from $5 to $7 each, and the small pigs from $1.25 to $2 each.

Signs of worms are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the best worm expeller.

GOUGH BROS. MASTER-STROKE

Sensational Deal in Fine Clothing!

$40000 Worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

This Remarkable Transaction in Clothing is of such Magnitude as to Eclipse all Former Transactions Consummated by this Firm. We Have the Very Best Reasons for Knowing that no Similar Opportunity has Transpired in Canada for Years, of Securing so Valuable a Stock of Superior Clothing at Anything Like the Prices Which Were Accepted From us.

Our Immense Purchase Contains the Most Desirable Selections, Made Personally on the Spot by Ourselves, at the GREAT UNDERWRITERS' UNRESERVED SALE Which Took Place in the City of Montreal Last Week, when the Entire Output of the Immense Clothing Factory of

MESSRS. E. A. SMALL & CO., of Montreal,

THE MILLIONAIRE CLOTHING MANUFACTURERS, was Offered for Sale.

No question about the Sterling Goodness of the Material or Workmanship. The Clothing is of the Finest Manufacture—all this season's Highest Grade Garments—made of Fine Imported and Domestic Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds. No undesirable or trashy garments in the whole lot.

The chances are all in favor of the customer, and those who buy will be enthusiastic enough to come again and keep coming.

History of Our Unparalleled Purchase!

IT is worth while to summarize in a few sentences the chief characteristics of this Startling Purchase:—

A fire took place in the flat of Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's Five Storey Wholesale Clothing Factory in Montreal. The fourth storey contained the Trimmings; the third storey contained the Tweeds and Cloths, and the first and second storeys contained the immense stock of Manufactured Clothing. The destruction was confined chiefly to the goods in the third and fourth storeys containing the Tweeds and Trimmings, which were badly damaged by fire and water.

When it came to adjusting the losses, the Insurance Companies claimed that there had been no damage done to the Manufactured Goods in the first and second storeys and declined to recognize Messrs. E. A. Small & Co's. claim for compensation on that portion of their Stock. By agreement, an umpire was called in, who adjudged that the Insurance Companies should pay all the claims and take over the Whole Stock of Trimmings, Tweeds and Ready-Made Clothing, etc., estimated at over Half a Million Dollars.

Our extraordinary purchase at the Underwriters' Unreserved Sale amounted to $40,000 worth of the choicest lots of Ready-Made Suits, Trousers and Light Overcoats.

We have repeatedly made the assertion that this store has been of direct benefit to the community. Instead of turning over back pages in search of proof, we will let this sample of our enterprise be another instance of our progressive methods in storekeeping.

The Bigger We Buy the Quicker We Can Afford to Sell.

THE PRICES WE PAID WERE ACTUALLY BELOW THE COST OF MANUFACTURE WITHOUT THE MATERIAL

So that we can Afford to Celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty by Offering the Most Liberal Prices for Superior Clothing, that has marked the Record Reign.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 12th, we will be ready with the Grand Overture of Prices---away and beyond the fear of Competition. We invite everybody to come and price, and then you have merely to choose the Suits you need.

NOTICE---The Goods will Positively be Sold for CASH and ONE PRICE Only. Money Refunded if Anything is Unsatisfactory. It's a Poor Dollar That Comes to us at the Cost of a Customer's Satisfaction. We Stand Back of Everything We Sell.

HE SWEARS HE WAS INNOCENT.

Goudy Was Hanged at Georgetown, Del. His Great Greed for Money Worked Against Him

Georgetown, Del., June 11.—James H. Gordy, a fiend of the H. H. Holmes type, was hanged in the Sussex County jail here to-day for the murder of his wife.

The murder of Mrs. Gordy was one of the most brutal and deliberate in criminal annals. All circumstances in connection with the woman's death tend to show that the crime was calmly premeditated, and that the murder was committed for no other apparent reason than the murderer's insatiable greed for money.

After Gordy's arrest for the murder of his wife numerous stories were put into circulation regarding his past career. It was recalled by his neighbors that his first wife, who died suddenly, had been heavily insured in favor of her infant child. The child also died suddenly soon after its mother's death, in convulsions, and Gordy collected the insurance. A barn belonging to Gordy, upon which there was a heavy insurance, was set on fire and burned. This insurance was also collected by Gordy. Shortly after his wife's death Gordy eloped with a 15-year-old girl, and, after living with her a short time, abandoned her. It also developed that Gordy during one of his escapades swindled a Washington woman out of several hundred dollars through a photographic scheme, and a Baltimore woman came forward with a statement that Gordy and she were married but a short time after his first wife's death. Gordy made a somewhat lengthy statement on the gallows. During the course of it this expression occurred: "They say I killed my dead father. My people know that is false. I was not at father's house at the time it is alleged that I gave him something that killed him.

"I am also charged with killing my dear wife, who died about two years ago. I'm said to have caused the death of my sweet little child. I thank God that my conscience is clear of all these charges, and that God and I know that I never directly or indirectly killed anyone."

YELLOW JACK WAS ON BOARD.

A Buffalo Man Died Shortly After Landing at New York From Colon.

New York, June 11.—William H. Koern of Buffalo, N. Y., aged 31 years, a second cabin passenger per Columbian Line steamer Advance, from Colon, died on board at 3.20 this morning, a few hours after the steamer anchored in quarantine. Death was caused by yellow fever. Koern came from Guayaquil, via Panama. He was taken down with the fever two days out from Colon, and, although he was attended by the ship's surgeon, the patient failed rapidly, and died this morning. Health Officer Doty decided to detain the Advance for a thorough disinfection.

The second cabin passengers, 48 in number, will be transferred to Hoffman Island for observation for a period of five days. There being no sickness among the saloon passengers, they were transferred to the city by steamboat.

Yellow fever prevails to an alarming extent all through the Isthmus of Panama. Every precaution is taken by the captains of the Columbian Line's steamers, none of the crews of the company's steamers are permitted to go on shore at Colon and at night the ships are moored away from the docks. Health Officer Doty said this morning that there need be no apprehension for the introduction of yellow fever into this port. The Advance will be subjected to a thorough disinfection and cleansing.

Weyler Cruel to Women.

Havana, June 11.—Weyler continues his persecution of helpless Cuban women who have relatives in the rebel ranks. Senora Sarduga, whose husband is a Cuban leader lately captured, was dragged from her home yesterday and thrown into a house of detention, where she will be kept "incommunicado" until after her husband's court-martial and execution at Cabana Castle.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

A Yankee Artist in Penmanship Has Done a Good Bit of Jubilee Work.

Jamestown, N. Y., June 11.—Richard E. Toothill, an artist of this city, has prepared his masterpiece in artistic penmanship at the instance of the British-American residents of Jamestown, in the way of a testimonial to be sent to Queen Victoria for presentation on the anniversary of her 60 years' reign. The testimonial reads as follows:

"We, the British-American residents of the city of Jamestown, County of Chautauqua, State of New York, United States of America, hereby extend to you our hearty congratulations on the completion of the 60th year of Your Majesty's reign as Queen of Great Britain and Ireland.

"While many of us have become adopted citizens of the United States, and are loyal to its institutions yet we appreciate and are proud of your many noble traits, and admire your devotion to, and interest in, the many trusts that have been reposed in you during your eventful and unprecedented reign.

"We assure you of our strong affection for Your Most Gracious Majesty, and of the pleasure it gives us to be enabled to celebrate such a memorable event. We feel grateful that an all-wise Providence has given to the world such a noble and true woman, and it is our hope that you may long be spared to reign over the millions of your devoted subjects.

"Walter C. Sunderland,
"Richard E. Toothill,
"Committee."

This testimonial has been preparred by Mr. Toothill on a sheet of cardboard, 15 x18 inches, in five colors—gold, red, a tinge of green, blue and royal purple, with a border of gold and blue.

On Sunday it is to be sent to Hon. John Hay, Minister to Great Britain, for presentation to Her Majesty.

WILL BE KICKED OUT.

It is Said the Canadian Contingent of the A. O. U. W. Will be Expelled.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 11.—It is practically settled that the Ontario Grand Lodge, A.O.U.W., will sever all connections with the order in the United States. The supreme lodge special committee last night decided to refuse the request of the Ontario delegates to continue fraternal relations, and end financial connection with the general order. The case has been placed in the hands of the new supreme officers and the expulsion of the Ontario branch, it is said on authority, will be ordered.

Ontario Grand Lodge Has Seceded.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 11.—The Ontario Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W., with its 30,000 members, has seceded from the parent organization.

MIRACLE TO-DAY.

William H. White, of Portuguese Cove, Racked by the Tortures of Rheumatism, is Quickly Relieved and Permanently Cured by the Great South American Rheumatic Cure.

"I was a martyr to acute rheumatism for years. All the known remedies and best doctors were given a trial, but nothing ever gave me any permanent relief until I obtained your great South American Rheumatic Cure. It has done so much for me that I gladly give my testimony, that other sufferers from the agonies of rheumatism may take my advice and try this great remedy. I am satisfied it will cure them as it has me." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

THE BASKBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 11.

Freeman gets most credit for yesterday's splendid victory over the champions from Providence. It was in the sixth innings when the visiting infield were tangling themselves with the ball, and two men were on the bases. The reliable right fielder smacked a good one that banged down on the roof of the band stand and bounded back into the field. Murray made a modest kick, but the umpire correctly gave it a four-baser, as the hit was clearly outside the field.

The next place of meeting is Kemptville.

STILL IN HIS PRIME.

North Hastings' Oldest Inhabitant Hale and Hearty.

Josias Moore, of Bancroft, Ont., one of the oldest and best-known residents of Hastings County, can boast of wonderful health and vigor for his age.

"Although I am over 84 years of age," he says, "I feel as young as ever I did."

Mr. Moore, however had a narrow escape from death about a year ago. "I was so bad with indigestion," he writes, "that the doctors gave me up. I tried various alleged remedies but found them no good. One day our popular druggist, F. C. Humphries, sent me a sample of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to try. The result was marvellous. After taking two I was able to get up. Then I sent for a box. I could soon eat anything. In a short time I was able to walk two miles, to Bancroft and back, with ease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will, without fail, cure all kidney, liver, stomach and blood troubles. For sale by all dealers. Price 25 cents. One pill a dose; one cent a dose. Edmanson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were in all 55 cars of live stock on the market yesterday, made up as follows: 1200 hogs, 900 cattle, 280 sheep and lambs, 80 calves and 25 milch cows. The market for export cattle was not so good, and prices were lower, the bulk going at $3.75 to 4.20, a few very choice cattle bringing $4.35 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle in fair demand at former quotations. Heavy feeders brought as high as $3.90, and Mr. J. Faith of Brampton was buying some of this class.

There was a demand for stockers, Messrs. Crealock and Conron buying over 100 head for the Buffalo market. About 25 milch cows were offered, and they brought $20 to $35, and extra good ones $40.

Good sheep and lambs are in demand, at former quotations.

Calves bring from $3 to $6 each, and there is a ready market for good ones.

Hogs are firm at our last quotations, but too many light ones are coming forward. Good hogs, weighing 140 to 200 lbs. will bring 5¼c per lb. readily.

Thursday's shipments of cattle per G.P.R. were: J. & J. W. Dunn, 17 cars; W. H. Dean, 3 cars; W. Levack, 6 cars; R. Ironsides, 2 cars. Yesterday's shipments were: M. Vincent and A. Montreuil, 3 cars each of butchers' cattle for Montreal, and R. Ironsides, 14 cars; S. Halligan, 5 cars, all export. Per G.T.R.: J. Leonard, 2 cars; Gilchrist & Monroe, 2 cars; Brown & Snell, 1 car; Featherston & Mayne, 1 car, all export; Stage & Co., 2 cars of stockers for Michigan, and Bouchier, 1 car for Sudbury.

THE LATE WILLIAM WALSH.

He Succumbs This Morning to a Long Illness.

Mr. Wm. Walsh, druggist, one of the most respected residents, and one of the most prominent business men, of the town, passed away this morning at his residence, 110 Dickson street, at the age of 53 years. Mr. Walsh has been ill for over a year with a complication of diseases. He has long been a very low condition and his death has been, for some time past, momentarily expected.

Mr. Walsh was born in Cavan on what was known as the "Faills Line," on Christmas day, Dec. 25th, 1843. His father was the late Wm. Walsh, who died on May 22nd, 1851. His mother survived him till May 14th, 1893. He was the third eldest son of the family, the elder brothers being Robert, who resides on the homestead in Cavan, and John who is in the United States. Wesley Walsh, a younger brother, is a merchant in Millbrook. About five years after his father's death, Mr. Walsh came to Peterborough and shortly after entered the drug store of his uncle, by marriage, the late Dr. Ormond, the firm at that time being Ormond & Gilmour, and the place of business the corner at present occupied by Mr. H. S. Macdonald, druggist. After a few years Mr. Walsh entered into partnership with Dr. Ormond, and conducted the business jointly with him till the death of Dr. Ormond, when Mr. Walsh assumed full charge of the business, which he conducted up to the time of his last illness.

Mr. Walsh was one of our most respected and substantial citizens. He was a Liberal in politics, but took no active part in political affairs. Neither was he ambitious for municipal honours, but contented himself with quietly and effectively performing the duties of a good citizen and promoting in a quiet way the interests of the town. He always took an active interest in horticulture. He was a member of the Dickson Company, and also of the Electric Light Company. He was brought up in the faith of the Church of England, but on his marriage in 1871 to Miss Dickson, daughter of the late Samuel Dickson, he cast in his lot with the Presbyterian church, and was a member of St. Paul's congregation, an elder, and also a member of the Board of Managers. His marriage was not blessed with children, and of his family he only leaves his widow to mourn his loss. Mr. Walsh was in all respects a good citizen, and in all the relations of life performed his duties in such a manner as to win universal respect and esteem.

The funeral takes place from the family residence, 110 Dickson street, on Monday afternoon, June 14th, at 3.30 o'clock. Service at the residence at 3 o'clock.

A NEW TIME TABLE.

It Goes Into Effect on the Grand Trunk on Monday Next.

A new time table goes into effect on the Grand Trunk on Monday.

Peterborough will be affected as follows:

The morning train for Toronto via Lindsay, leaves at 8.10 instead of 8.25 a.m. The evening train for the same place leaves at 5.30 instead of 5.25. The morning train from Toronto via Lindsay, arrives at 11.45 a.m. instead of 12.02, and the evening train from Toronto arrives at 8.50 instead of 9.00.

There will also be a new train from Lindsay, reaching here at 7 a.m., and leaving at 9 p.m. the same night for Lindsay.

The morning train from Port Hope reaches here at 8.03 instead of 8.20 a.m., and the evening train at 5.25 instead of 5.20. The morning train leaves for Port Hope at 11.50 a.m. instead of 12.05. The night train for the same place leaves at 8.55 instead of 9.05 p.m.

The train leaves for Belleville in the morning at 8.20 instead of 8.40, and in the afternoon at 12.35 instead of 1 p.m. The morning train from Belleville arrives here at 8 a.m. instead of 8.15, and the evening train at 8.40 instead of 8.30.

The morning train for Lakefield leaves at 8.25 a.m. instead of 8.55. The next train leaves at 12.05 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. Returning, the train from Lakefield reaches here at 9.55 a.m., instead of 10.35, and the afternoon train reaches here at 5.05 instead of 5.00 p.m.

On the 21st of June another train goes on between here and Lakefield, leaving here at 6.30 p.m. and returning to Peterborough, reaches here at 8 p.m.

As the new bridge at Auburn is not completed, the trains will run to Lakefield via the Junction for about another month. When the bridge can be utilized the running time between here and Lakefield will be reduced to twenty-five minutes.

The Grand Trunk authorities wish to contradict the rumour that campers will be charged for their baggage this year. There is no foundation for the statement whatever, as campers will be allowed, as hitherto, to take their supplies back with them free of charge.

THE MISSION'S WARM WELCOME TO THE RECTOR.

A HEARTY RECEPTION TO REV. J. C. AND MRS. DAVIDSON.

Beautiful Decorations—A Complimentary Address—Substantial Gifts—Rector's Remarks and Present.

If appreciative action and welcomes of unstinted cordiality, so far as they go, constitute happiness the Rev. J. C. Davidson has legitimate excuse for being a very happy man. The heartiness and warmth of the reception of the congregation of St. John's was only equalled by the welcome extended to the rector last night by the congregation of St. John's South Ward Mission, who always do with their might what their hand findeth to do.

The beautiful little mission building was given a beautifully festive appearance by the splendid and tasteful floral decorations that were in evidence everywhere. Though the season did not permit the profuse employment of flowers that obtained in St. John's school house, yet the decorations were in excellent taste. The windows were draped with curtains of filmy lace looped back and bossed with nosegays, the effect being very pleasing, especially in conjunction with the elaborate and tasteful gdraping of flags, bunting, etc., which Mr. Alf. Kingscote's resources of taste and material effected.

There was a very large attendance of the congregation and on the arrival of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mr. R. W. McFadden, rector's church warden, read the following

ADDRESS:

Rev. J. C. Davidson, M.A., Rector of Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—In the name of the congregation of St. John's South Ward Mission, your assistant churchwardens take this opportunity of tendering you their most earnest congratulations on the occasion of your marriage and safe return from your lengthened journey. We would very heartily welcome to your amiable wife, both for your sake and for her own. We all know of her good works in the past in promoting the interests of the Church and feel that her continued efforts, united to your own, will be a great influence for good in the parish. Your interest in this portion of the parish and your good judgment have been justified in placing over us an assistant curate, Rev. W. L. Armitage, to whose work and zeal we wish here to bear testimony. He has, in conjunction with Rev. E. J. Stevenson, faithfully ministered to our spiritual needs during your absence, and we feel that your liberality will see no disparagement of your kindly interest in our welfare by cordial expression of appreciation of their services, for you are all united in promoting the advancement of the great cause of religion in this parish.

In token of our respect and welcome home, we ask your acceptance of this gift as a little addition to the equipment of a home, in which we hope that both yourself and Mrs. Davidson will pass many happy years.

On behalf of the Congregation of the South Ward St. John's Mission,

R. W. McFADDEN, } Asst. Church Wardens
W. BAMFORD, }

At the proper point in the reading of the address, Mr. W. B. Bamford, people's churchwarden, made the presentation of a beautiful china tea service, accompanied by a silver tea pot, and at the same time Miss Florence Bamford presented Mrs. Davidson with a magnificent bouquet of flowers.

The rector, who was greeted with exceedingly hearty applause, expressed his appreciation at the welcome given him, and his earnest thanks for the beautiful and sensible gift made him. He very greatly appreciated it, and though its beauty and the associations connected with it might induce his wife to prize it so highly as to only permit its use on Sundays and festival occasions, yet he would be happy to use it every day as a beautiful reminder of the kind thoughtfulness of the Mission people. However, every time he did use the gift, he would be very pleasantly reminded of the kindness, of which the crowning kindness of the evening was but a new example.

He referred to the work that was at present progressing at the Mission, mentioned appreciatively the hearty manner in which the congregation and pastors cooperated in extending the interests of the church, and he thanked them most heartily for the support which he had received from them.

Making special references to the work now almost on hand of extending the chancel, the rector said that when he was far away in a foreign land he had not forgotten them. In connection with the chancel extension, he was greatly puzzled as to what form his gift should take. There had been so great liberality shown that he was left little space for choice in the matter. Miss White, a former zealous worker among the ladies of the congregation, had supplied suitable books for the pulpit and lectern; Rev. Mr. Clementi had kindly furnished the altar, and under these circumstances he had decided to procure a large volume containing the Litany and Communion services, for the litany desk that would be a part of the ecclesiastical equipment of the new chancel, and he expressed the pleasure it gave him to formally present it to the congregation. The rector in this connection also spoke very warmly of the great kindness and generosity of Miss Chamberlain, who had not only given the ground for the present building, but had added what was necessary for the chancel extension.

Rev. Mr. Davinson concluded his remarks by again thanking, on behalf of Mrs. Davidson and himself, the Mission congregation for their kindly and hearty demonstration.

The company present then resolved itself into a social gathering and those present personally greeted Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson.

A pleasing

was presented. The selections given consisted of a pianoforte duet by Misses Staunton and Pollock; a very interesting humourous reading by Mr. Hampden Burnham; a song by Miss Lewis, who responded to the hearty recall she received; a pianoforte solo by Miss Dollie Comstock; a song (encored) by Mr. Anderson and also a heartily applauded song by Rev. Mr. Armitage, not to forget the speech delivered by Rev. Mr. Stevenson during the serving of refreshments. These were especially elaborate and excellent, the high culinary quality maintaining the reputation of the skill of the Marthas of the Mission in concocting toothsome edibles and serving them with appetising daintiness.

A delightful evening to both the welcomed and the welcomers was brought to a conclusion by the singing of "God Save the Queen" and prayers by the rector.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

"CLEAR THE TRACK."

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Two difficulties lie in wait for a bicyclist who would travel on the road track. On the road, perhaps, the most aggravating thing of all to meet with is not rough roads, but what is known in western parlance as the "Hog." Did you ever meet one while awheel? But when you come to ride on the race track, such as is so kindly provided at the East Nicholls Park, you meet another kind of obstructionist,—the kind of obstructionist who think they have a blanket mortgage on the park.

Why don't those ladies and gentleman who use the race track, when done riding, get off the track and not stand in groups upon the course to the detriment of the boys who desire to take part in the Jubilee races, and who must train for them. A nod's as good as a wink to a blind horse. May they "catch on."

Yours, etc.,

TECUMSEHS DOWN THE PETERBOROUGHS.

IN A HOTLY CONTESTED GAME OF LACROSSE YESTERDAY.

It is no Disgrace, However, to be Beaten by a Team, Which out of Twenty one Games Played last Year Were Only Vanquished by the Capitals, of Ottawa.

About six hundred people witnessed the Tecumseh-Peterborough lacrosse match yesterday afternoon in the P.A.A.A. grounds, and fully as many more were on the fences and adjacent barns. The manner in which the ladies turned out was most gratifying to the club, and the grand stand looked like a conservatory cut loose with the amount of flowers which were worn by them. The game was one which any lady could witness with pleasure, as although the checking was hard and fast there was no rough play to complain of, and the stickhandling was of such a nature to keep every spectator on the tip toe of excitement all the time.

Although the match was not patronized to the extent which it should have been, the

if they can clear expenses knowing that if they continue to play as they did yesterday the interest in the game must increase, and that they have aroused the enthusiasm of the ladies was shown by their manifest interest yesterday.

The score was 4 goals to 2 yesterday and the Peterboroughs had the small end of it in their game with the Tecumsehs, but it is no discredit to be beaten by a team which ranks only second to the Capitals and which was capable of playing such a game as was witnessed on the P. A. A. A. Grounds yesterday afternoon.

From the first toot of the referee's whistle, which started the game at four o'clock, the pace was hot and as the game progressed both teams seemed to settle down and the result was that the fastest and prettiest stick-handling ever seen on the grounds was witnessed.

In the fourth game Glover's arm gave out and he retired and naturally, when the Tecumsehs were asked to drop off a man to even the teams up, they selected their weakest player and thus obtained a most appreciable advantage, as Glover had been playing a marvellously hard and close game. The Peterboroughs think that they could have won the match but as it was the admirers of the local team are perfectly satisfied with the game which they put up and the Tecumsehs themselves say that they never had a hotter pace cut out for them. They will bank on Peterboroughs chances of winning the Intermediate C. L. A. championship, and are anxious to have the boys go to Toronto for a game later on in the season.

Peterborough scored the first two games and things looked blue for the Tecumsehs, and they pulled themselves together and saved the match only by playing in championship form. The Peterboroughs kept the ball on their opponents' goal the greater part of the time, but the Tecumseh defence men were covering their checks too closely to allow much shooting to be done, and the local men were not accepting what chances were given them. The play of the visitors' home field was very fast towards the latter half of the match, and their combination was the

in the way of stick work. Their passing was accurate, and they eluded their checks better than the Peterboroughs, who learned many a new wrinkle from yesterday afternoon's game.

Walter Phelan refereed the game and the teams lined up as follows at four o'clock:

Tecumsehs.		Peterborough.
W Devine	goal	F Dobbin
L York	point	L Dobbin
J H Davis	cover point	Brown
W Hartley	1st defence	Mein
W Tozer	2nd "	Glover
F Dewar	3rd "	Borland
H Etwell	centre	Jim McCabe
C Gamble	3rd home	P Rubidge
P Murphy	2nd "	W Galley
F McVey	1st "	G Lipsett
Geo Dorin	outside home	Jack McCabe
H German	inside home	L Craig
P C Knowles	field captain	E Wasson
L Felcher	umpires	D Elliott

The ball was taken by the Tecumsehs on the face-off, and carried on the Peterborough goal, but the defence relieved brilliantly and the game started in earnest—Glover passing it to McCabe, who carried the ball up the field. The play was all on the Tecumseh flages for the next ten minutes, as although their defence relieved at times, it was only to have the ball immediately returned. Borland suddenly saw an opening and passed in to Jack McCabe, who sent through the uprights, scoring the first game for Peterborough, as Craig forced down York's stick and kept him from blocking. Time, 11 minutes.

The enthusiasm of the spectators could hardly be kept within bounds, as it had been feared that with a team of such prowess as the Tecumsehs, the Peterboroughs would not even have a "look in."

The local men carried the play on the Tecumseh flags from the face-off in the next game, but Hartley relieved for the visitors and the point of interest was speedily transferred to the other end of the field, where the Tecumsehs had a good opening to score, but the shot went wide. Play, however, continued around the Peterborough flags for some time, the visitors making a most determined effort to score, but the local defence had their men too well covered.

Devine, the big Tecumseh goal keeper, got into close quarters with Lipsett and both men were sent to the fence

FOR FIVE MINUTES,

Referee Phelan giving warning that no rough play would be tolerated. Galley shortly afterwards made a good shot on goal, and immediately afterwards Jim McCabe made another, but both missed the mark by about a hairsbreadth. Glover finally passed the ball from the Peterborough defense to Jim McCabe, who tipped it to Rubidge and in another second the second the umpire's hand went up, signifying that Percy had done the trick and the score stood 2–0 in favour of Peterborough.

Thinking they had the visitors rattled the Peterboroughs pushed the play hard in the next game. Peterborough claimed a goal on a shot made by McCabe, but it was not allowed. Some pretty work was then seen around the Tecumseh flags as Rubidge, Lipsett, Galley and McCabe passed the ball back and forth in an endeavour to draw out the visitors' defense. Galley made a close shot on a pass from Lipsett, but it was well stopped by Devine and Hartley relieved, giving the Peterborough defense men some work at the other end of the field. Murphy had an opportunity for a shot and sent in a red hot one. Dobbin had no time to take it with his stick, but met it saving his flags in a manner which called for a burst of applause. Operations were then transferred to the other end of the field again and the Peterborough home field got in some pretty combination work, but without being able to draw the Tecumseh defence who were blocking their flags and playing very carefully. The ball was slowly worked out into the field and German had a chance to score for the visitors. Dobbin stopped the ball and stepped back through the flags to recover himself, but the ball slowly rolled through after him, giving the visitors their first game. Time 11 minutes.

It was in the next game that Glover had to retire, as the result of a blow on the arm, which was the only unpleasant feature of the game, being evidently done with the object of "maiming out" a man who was playing a most brilliant game. On his retirement Murphy seemed better able to get in his fine work, and his fast clean play was greatly admired by the spectators. Up to this point Peterborough had undoubtedly the best of the match, but honours were even in the fourth game and the ball was first on one goal and then on the other, the play being very fast. In 17 minutes the ball was scuffled through the Peterborough goal and the score was a tie—two all.

The visitors made a big rally in the fifth game, which was perhaps the most exciting part of the match, as the teams seemed to feel that the victory would go with the next game which was scored. In five minutes the visitors scored, and they did the trick again in seven minutes, just at six o'clock, thus winning the match by four goals to two.

NOTES.

On the arrival of the visitors on the noon C. P. R. Express, they were met at the station with carriages proved by Messrs. Felcher & LeBrun and driven up to the Palace Restaurant. After dinner the carriages again drove up at the door, and the team was taken for a drive around the town, after which they dressed and were driven to the grounds, and after the game again brought back to the Palace by the hacks so kindly provided by the above mentioned firm.

"We are not looking for any hotter game" said Pete Knowles, the popular field captain, who knows a thing or two and something besides about lacrosse.

The visitors had their veteran trainer, Mac. White, down with them.

It would be hard to pick out the Peterboroughs who played the best game. All were "dead on" yesterday and their play was just fast enough to make the Tecumsehs look very grave during the early part of the game.

The visitors were royally treated down at the Palace Restaurant.

During August the Tecumsehs will come to Peterborough for another game.

An effort will now be made to bring the Shamrocks, of Montreal, to Peterborough for a game. The boys do not mind if they are beaten as long a good fast game is given the spectators for their money.

"Old Bill Hartley" is probably the best known lacrosse player in Canada to-day, and his work on the Tecumseh defence was worth the price of admission in itself to witness. His friends say that it was the best game he ever played. Those who have seen him tussling with the teams of the big league, well know what this means.

We would like to start out and eulogize every man on the Peterborobghs by name, but it wouldn't do. Their many admirers are telling them to-day what a grand showing they made against the second best team in the world—a team, which out of twenty one games last year, only lost three, and those three were to the Capitals.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Historical Society Museum and the Jubilee Celebration.

The County Council concluded their June session this morning. A report of the proceedings is held over until Monday.

It is, however, of interest to state that the report of the Finance Committee recommending a grant of $100 to the funds for the establishment of the Historical (Victoria) Museum was unanimously adopted and a committee was also appointed to prepare and forward a Diamond Jubilee address to Her Majesty.

In connection with the formal opening of the Jubilee Museum on June 22nd, it is understood that the arrangements will not be far enough advanced to permit of admitting the general public. All those who have curios or objects of interests to present the museum are requested to forward them to Mr. T. A. Hay, secretary, or to inform him where they may be obtained, so that they can be placed in time for the formal opening.

Coffee Drunkards.

Dr. Mendel, of Berlin, says the leading symptoms of coffee drinkers are profound depression of spirits, frequent headaches with insomnia. A strong dose of coffee will relieve then the ailment returns. The muscles become weak, the hands tremble when at rest. The victims suffer so severely they dare not abandon the drinking of coffee for fear of death.

Dr. Mendel had under his constant observation a community of coffee drinkers in and about Essen.

Madden Cereal, the new grain coffee, has just the opposite effect and should be used instead of coffee. It is cheaper and can be had from any grocer. 1d

THE VICTORIA CLUB'S SUCCESSFUL SMOKER.

THE COMFORTABLE QUARTERS GREATLY ADMIRED.

An Excellent Musical Programme Presented and the Guests Enjoyed Themselves Immensely Whilst Listening to the Music and Encircled with Wreaths of Smoke.

The formal opening of the Victoria Bicycle Club rooms took place last evening when the members threw the doors open to the public and held a smoker, the success of which will long be remembered by those present.

The club rooms were greatly admired by those in attendance, comprising, as they do, three large, well lighted apartments, which are to be used respectively as a reception room, a smoking and reading room and a billiard room. Large folding doors of glass separate the billiard room from the smoking room and both were thrown into one apartment last evening.

Several hundred guests were in attendance and the snug apartments called forth many expressions of pleasure. A large number of pictures having been donated, lends quite a home-like air to the club, which already has purchased a billiard and pool table and has also a fine piano and some very handsome furniture.

The chair last evening was taken by Mr. A. H. Stratton, the President of the club, who, in his opening remarks, spoke as follows:

As President of the Victoria Bicycle Club I welcome you to our new quarters, and to assist at our house warming. We have no ambition to make it hot for you, but I trust that we will make things smoke.

We are but a young organization—in our infancy—but we hope to show you that we are a robust organization. We hope that you will enjoy yourselves and that you will all smoke.

Those that cannot smoke will either have to smother or sneeze, but I trust that the programme we have to offer you this evening is not to be sneezed at. We claim to be an up-to-date club; our name will indicate that we are truly loyal, and we wish to do our share in celebrating the Jubilee of her Majesty, and incidentally in promoting the interest of the noblest sport of the road. But you did not come here to hear me talk; you would no doubt, however, like to hear something about the history of the Victoria Bicycle Club. I will leave that in abler hands than mine. Our noble secretary, who is an all-round sport, up to anything from cycling to lacrosse, cricket, hockey and all other sports, is Mr. H. R. H. Kenner. I may explain that Mr. Kenner's initials do not stand for His Royal Highness, but for all that he is a royal good fellow. I will ask him to say a few words for our club, and I would warn any of you who might feel inclined to be a little refractory, that Mr. Kennar is a strict disciplinarian by virtue of his profession. He is an expert wielder of the birch, and his knee is always in a position to apply it in the orthodox fashion.

Mr. Kenner briefly outlined the objects and aims of the club in his usually happy vein, after which the following programme was presented:—

Violin solo.....Mr J McCaig
(Encored.)
Vocal solo—Mr F J Lount—Flute Obligato by Mr John Butcher
(Encored.)
Vocal solo.....Mr R M Dennistoun
Flute solo.....Mr John Butcher
Vocal solo.....Mr Moore
(Encored.)
Reading.....Mr C N Brown
(Encored.)
Piano Duet.....Messrs Roper and Poussette
Vocal solo.....Mr F J Lount
Violin solo.....Mr J McCaig
Vocal solo.....Mr F J Rogers
(Encored.)

Mr. F. D. McKay, seconded by Mr. Arthur McNee, moved a cordial vote of thanks to all who had so kindly assisted with the programme.—Carried.

The programme was concluded by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

Mr. Will Lech kindly acted as accompaniast during the evening.

TWO BRITISH COLUMBIA MINES

In which Peterborough Citizens are Financially Interested—Their Location Described and their Value Indicated—The Officers and Directorate.

In the Toronto World under date of June 7th, we notice an article in the mining notes with reference to the Boundary Falls claim, and knowing that a number of Peterborough gentlemen were interested in this property, we interviewed one of the directors with a view of obtaining as much information as possible regarding it, and may say that about eight or ten months ago negotiations were entered into with other gentlemen from Vancouver and Montreal to secure a number of first-class mining claims in the Boundary Creek District in the Province of British Columbia. With this end in view, these gentlemen engaged the services of a thoroughly reliable and honest mining engineer and sent him to that district with the intention of locating and staking out several claims; but, upon his reaching the ground and going thoroughly over it, he found that the whole country upon which any mineral could be found was staked out. He then set to work to see what properties he could secure, his first object being to get first-class claims upon which a considerable amount of development work had already been done. These he was able to get after spending considerable time and money, and the properties he secured are called the Boundary Falls and Spotted Horse claims. Upon securing these properties he wired to the parties interested to purchase them, which they did.

The syndicate immediately procured a charter from the British Columbia Government, and are incorporated under the firm name of The Boundary Falls Mining Company, Limited Liability, with a capital stock of $500,000.00.

This company owns the above named claims, and is now actively engaged in the development of their properties.

Here it might not be amiss to describe the location of the two properties.

THE BOUNDARY FALLS CLAIM is situated about four and a half miles from Greenwood City and about one-half mile from Boundary Creek Falls, is a full-sized claim, namely, 1,500 feet by 1,500 feet, or about 52 acres.

When purchased the original owner had already done considerable work on it, having sunk a shaft about 15 feet and had, besides, opened up the vein for about 75 feet in length and about two or three feet in depth. The ore found at this depth assayed $31.00–$22.00 in gold, $9.00 in silver and 2 per cent. copper. The ore is free milling. The vein is a true fissure vein and the walls well defined. The company did some work on it last fall and closed down during the winter months. This spring they let a contract for 20 feet of shaft, shaft to be 5 ft. x 10 ft. After they got down 20 feet they had some of the ore assayed the assay certificates showing $113 31 and $119.00 of gold and silver per ton. This led the company to think they had a very valuable property in the Boundary Falls claim. The contractor, while attending to his work had some spare time on his hands and looked over the property and discovered two other veins each about 18 inches in width.

THE SPOTTED HORSE CLAIM

is situated on the west bank of Boundary Creek and is in the town site of Greenwood City. This claim is also a full sized claim. There has been but little work done on this claim, and only on the vein in length and to no depth. It is at the foot of a mountain and there is a good place for a tunnel with a splendid dump.

The ore assays $3 50 in gold and $9 00 in silver and about 2½ per cent. of copper, making a total value of $17.50 to the ton for surface ore. This is considered an exceedingly good showing, when you take into consideration that both the Le Roi and War Eagle claims at the same stage only assayed a total of between $4 and $5 per ton. While this ore does not show as rich a character as the Boundery Falls ore that is not to be regarded as an indication that the company has not as good a property in the "Spotted Horse" as in the "Boundary Falls." We have seen samples from both claims and it is the opinion of experts that the Spotted Horse claim will be fully as good at the same depth as the Boundary Falls and the ore is also a free milling ore.

Both of these claims are on the survey of the Columbia and Western Railway, now about to be built and for which the Dominion Government propose to grant a bonus of $6.000.00 per mile. There is plenty of water to drive all the necessary machinery to take care of the ore from both of the claims, as there is a splendid falls on Boundary Creek. There is a wagon road right to the Spotted Horse, and also within 100 feet of the Boundary Falls claim.

The Company includes some of the best business men in Vancouver, Peterborough and Montreal. The officers are Jas. Kendry, Esq., M. P., Peterborough, President; W. H. Armstrong, of Vancouver, B. C., Vice-President; C. N. Cornell, of Vancouver, Sec.-Treas. The directors are Jas. Kendry, Esq., M.P., Peterborough; W. H. Armstrong, Robt. Hamilton, A. Morrison, Vancouver, B.C., and A. E. Lech, Peterborough, Ont. With this directorate and the class of men associated with them, intending purchasers of the limited amount of treasury stock which it is intended to be placed on the market, may feel assured that their interests will be fully protected and that they will come in on equal footing with the original syndicate.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

Health is the best inheritance. It leaves its influence even to the third and fourth generation. What greater happiness has life in store for any man than to live to a green old age surrounded by his children and his children's children, and see them all robust, happy and successful. Happy the man who lives to carve at the wedding suppers of his grandchildren. Picture yourself a gray-haired but hearty old man at the head of the table at your grandson's wedding, thanking your Maker for the blessing of long life, and asking the blessing of good health for generations yet unborn. It lies in almost every man's power to be thus blessed if he will. If he will only obey Nature's laws and be watchful of his health he will have long life and happiness.

The best preserver of health is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It keeps the digestion perfect, the liver active, and the blood pure. It is the best flesh-builder and nerve invigorator. The man who resorts to it whenever he feels any symptoms of approaching ill-health will live to a hearty old age. Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

J. B. Holt, of Whitteus Stand, Wayne Co. Tenn., writes: "In October, 1890, I was taken with a hurting in the back of my neck which steadily grew worse. I consulted a doctor. He gave me a course of treatment but I gradually grew worse under it. At last my trouble ran into what was called 'spinal affection.' I could hardly walk about at all. Finally I became as helpless as a child. I wrote you at Buffalo, N. Y., in regard to my condition and you answered me promptly and prescribed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took the 'Discovery' and soon got well. My health continues good."

Druggists sell Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation. They cure quickly and permanently and never gripe. One is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

Over a Million and Three Quarters More Which the Government Will Spend in Various Ways.

Ottawa, June 10.—(Special.)—Two supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year were laid on the table by Mr. Fielding this afternoon. The total amount is $1,777,492.

The first is for $685,447, for postoffice on account of Consolidated fund, and is intended to cover the so-called shortage, which the two accountants Mr. Mulock brought down from Toronto to examine the accounts of the department professed to have discovered.

The fact is that for convenience in book-keeping one quarter's payments have for years past been held in suspense, so that in each year, of the four quarters into which the accounts are divided three-quarters only were for the current and one for the previous year. Now, Mr. Mulock proposes to change the system and have the receipts and expenditures for each year accounted for within the fiscal year. It will not make one cent difference, but for this year it will have the effect of having the transactions of five quarters included in the present fiscal year, and the deficit will, consequently, be abnormally swelled.

The British American Bank-Note Co. gets $23,650 to close up its business with the Government; $1,000 goes for traveling expenses to England of Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong in connection with the Privy Council meeting; $10,000 for the Penitentiary Commission; $30,000 for House of Commons expenses. Dr. Borden is to receive his sessional indemnity, while Messrs. Laurier, Prior, Domville, Tucker and Tyrwhitt are to receive balances of money on account of absence with the Jubilee contingent; $15,449 goes to pay unsettled accounts of the Northwest Exhibition; $1000 for monuments on the battlefields of Canada; $4000 additional for Jubilee contingent; $150,000 is to be voted for the Trent Canal, and $80,000 more for the Soo Canal; $35,000 goes to improve the ship channel between Quebec and Montreal; $37,000 is to cover direct expenditure in connection with the West Block fire; $23,000 more is for alterations, renovations and departmental removals. Actual removal expenses were $22,500; $2000 is to pay outstanding accounts in connection with Sir John Thompson's funeral; $6000 is for decorating and illuminating Parliament buildings on Jubilee Day; $38,700 is to pay Quebec Citadel landslide claims; $750 will be the cost of the casket and binding of the Jubilee address to the Queen; $18,500 is to meet the costs of operating the Baie des Chaleurs Railway.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

IN THE UPPER HOUSE

Senator Mills on the Alaska Boundary.

Have Given the United States the Best of the Bargain Canada Robbed of Territory in New Brunswick Through False and Misleading Maps—Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, June 10.—(Special.)—In the Senate this afternoon Senator Almon called attention to the unsuitability of the premises in the west block, which, until the recent fire, were used for the archives department. The cellar in which the archives had been kept, he said, was damp and inconvenient for those wishing to examine the old records.

Senator Scott said that the records had not in any way suffered from the recent fire. They were now in the vaults of the Langevin block, and it was the intention of the Government to place them in rooms on the second floor of the building, which were not only fireproof but were well lighted and accessible.

Senator Mills and Sir Mackenzie Bowell thought records of such value should be provided with a suitable and separate building.

Senator Mills called attention to the fact that Bartholomew and Keith Johnson, the English map publishing firms, in recent maps issued, had followed the United States contention in laying down the boundary line between Alaska and Canada. He pointed out that when the southern boundary of British Columbia was in dispute the United States adduced as an argument for settlement of the question the fact that Wyld, the British map publisher, had issued a large globe on which the United States' contention in that instance had been followed. It was afterwards shown that the globe in question had been prepared at the request of the American Minister in London for use in the office of the Secretary of State for the United States. In order to prevent a repetition of such an occurrence, he thought the attention of the Imperial Government should be called to the fact that British geographers in this instance had failed to follow the British contention regarding the Alaska boundary in recent maps issued by them.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell pointed out that Canada had been robbed of a large amount of territory which by right ought now to form part of New Brunswick, by the United States, through false and misleading maps placed before Lord Ashburton.

Senator Scott said he would bring the matter to the attention of the Government. A protest had already been made to the British Government against a proposal made in the United States Senate to establish an arbitrary point, according to their contention, from which the boundary line should run from Mount St. Elias.

Sir Oliver Mowat's bill to amend the Companies Act, permitting companies incorporated under Federal charter to borrow money on promissory notes endorsed by the company, was passed through committee and stands for a second reading to-morrow.

The Act respecting interest was read a third time.

In Committee on the Criminal Code Amendment bill the clause designed to suppress Art Union lotteries, such as exists in Montreal, was adopted. An amendment to the present law, making it an indictable offense with two years' imprisonment for anyone to bring into Canada any girl or woman whom he had seduced elsewhere, was rejected. A clause was added to the law providing for the punishment by whipping of tramps found guilty of entering dwelling houses at night with intent to commit indictable offences, provided offensive weapons were found on their persons. The clause restricting race meetings to 12 days was adopted despite the efforts of Senator Cosgrain of Windsor to have them extended to 20 days.

The committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

It will be gratifying to friends of the jubilee contingent to learn that arrangements have been made for the men to remain in England sufficiently long that they may take part in the great Sons of the Empire review, which is to be held at Aldershot on Dominion Day. If the steamer cannot be held for the Canadian regiment for 24 hours it is likely they may be kept in England for another week. Some of the men have asked for permission to stay in England for some time after the jubilee fetes are over, and it is not expected that any obstacles will be placed in the way.

The Railway Committee spent nearly the whole morning on a bill respecting the Victoria & Restigouche Railway. The charter for the road is now in th hands of Toronto parties, for whom Mr. F. R. Bosselly appeared. Mr. Bosselly got into a wrangle with Mr. McAllister, M.P. for Restigouche, and rather antagonized the committee for reflecting on Mr. McAllister. Had Mr. Blair not come to Mr. Bosselly's assistance it would have gone hard with the promoters. Mr. Blair, however, paid a tribute to Mr. McAllister's unrightness and rebuked Mr. Bosselly for reflecting upon the hon. member. The bill was carried by almost a straight party vote. Messrs. Clarke, Poupore and Kloepfer were the only Conservatives that voted for the measure. Mr. Ellis, Liberal (St. John), voted against it. The preamble was adopted by 35 votes to 33.

The Postoffice Department to-day commenced sending out Jubilee stamps to distant points in the Dominion. Stamp dealers are begging for advance supplies, but none will be sold before June 19. The colors in the stamps are very pretty.

The Speaker of the House of Commons and Mrs. Edgar gave a dinner party this evening to which the following ladies and gentlemen were invited: Mr. MacLaren, M. P.; Mr. Choquette, M.P.; Mr. Stubbs, M.P.; Mr. McInerney, M.P.; Mr. Macdonald, M.P. (Kings'); Hon. Mr. Geoffrion, M.P.; Mr. Savard, M.P.; Mr. Rogers, M.P.; Mr. Livingstone, M.P.; Mr. J. M. Courtney and Mrs. Courtney, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Mr. E. L. Newcombe and Mrs. Newcombe, Mr. Featherstone, M.P., Mr. Lang, M.P., Mr. LaRiviere, M.P., Mr. R. W. Shannon, Mr. P. D. Ross, Mr. C. W. Mitchell, Mr. J. B. LaPlante, Dr. G. B. Bradley, Hon. Mr. Justice Gwynne and Mrs. Gwynne, Dr. Godbout, M.P., and Mrs. Godbout, Senator Kirchhoffer and Mrs. Kirchhoffer and Mr. Logan, M.P.

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.

Geo. Scales, a Well Known Contractor of Niagara Falls, Completely Restored by the Great South American Kidney Cure—Thousands More Can Bear the Same Testimony.

I was a great sufferer for years with acute kidney disorder and pain in my sides. When almost all other known remedies had been fairly tried and had failed, I was advised to take South American Kidney Cure. One bottle did me so much good I purchased two more. I am now completely restored—feel better than I have for five years. It's a great cure; will give relief in six hours, and I delight in recommending it to others. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A FARMER'S STRUGGLE

TO REGAIN HEALTH ENDS SUCCESSFULLY.

He was Attacked with LaGrippe and Unable to Do any Work—Subject to Sinking Spells that Approached Total Unconsciousness.

From the Cookshire, Que., Chronicle.

Mr. Newell Waldron is a well known farmer living near East Clifton, Que. As his friends and neighbors know he passed through a very trying illness as the result of a severe attack of la grippe, and when a correspondent of the Chronicle called upon him he had no hesitation in giving the particulars of his illness and cure. Mr. Waldron said: "I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am glad to have a chance to say a good word in favour of that reliable medicine. During the winter of 1895 when la grippe was so prevalent, I had a severe attack of it and it left me so weak that I was unable to do any work. I consulted a doctor, but as he did not appear to help me I began using different advertised remedies, but the result was the same,—I got no benefit, but on the contrary was growing weaker. At times I was subject to sinking spells which verged upon total unconsciousness. I was failing day by day and was becoming hopeless. A neighbour who called to see me urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I sent for a few boxes. After using them for a couple of weeks I began to feel better, and after the first symptoms of relief I began to gain steadily. I am now as well as any man, and can do as good a day's work as ever I did. I know that my cure is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am always glad to recommend them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine, but a prescription. An analysis of their properties show that they contain in condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humours of the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Refuse all imitations and medicines alleged to be "just as good."

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 11.

The Toronto Baseball Club had an off day and Providence was allowed to break the winning spell yesterday on the Island diamond.

There was plenty of hard hitting on both sides and, notwithstanding the eight errors, there was some sharp fielding of hot balls by both sides. Lush nailed a pretty one from Murray's bat in the second that started out like a corking single. Williams was up against it from the start, and if he didn't allow earned runs in every innings his support helped the tallies around as a general thing. Braun was touched up for a total of 17 bases, but he managed to keep them pretty fairly scattered.

Always Felt Tired.

"I suffered with severe headache and loss of appetite and I always felt tired. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking one bottle my headache disappeared. I continued taking it until now I am never troubled with headache and my appetite is good." LAURA GARLAND, 247 Claremont St., Toronto, Ont.

Two Bottles Cure Pimples.

GENTLEMEN — For a long time I had pimples breaking out all over my face. I was told about B B.B., and started its use. After taking one bottle I was much better, and the second bottle made a complete cure. I have recommended it to others of my friends, and they have found it uniformly satisfactory.

RULES. 1. Every month during 1897, in each of the five districts, prizes will be awarded as follows:

The two competitors who send in the largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Stearns' Bicycle with complete attachments.

The five competitors who send in the next largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Gold Watch, value $25.

2. The competition will close the last day of each month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., and their families are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of winners in competitor's district will be forwarded to competitors 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Messrs Lever Bros Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., as final.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

WHIMS AND FANCIES OF FASHION IN THE TROUSSEAU.

Daring Uses of Colors—Unlimited Variety From the Revival of Styles of Sixty Years Ago—Pretty Effects of Modern Adaptations of Old Fashions.

Just at present weddings have the lead in fashionable festivities, and balls and parties are the rare exception; but the search after novelties in dress goes on, like the brook, forever. Owing to the tendency this season to revive some of the special characteristics of fashion sixty years ago, there is unlimited variety in style, and we have trimmed and flounced skirts, sloping shoulders, sashes, fichus, and feather-trimmed hats in all their varying forms. Paris, as well as London, is putting forth every effort to harmonize the early Victorian modes with modern taste and necessities of dress, and old books and fashion plates are sought after by the dressmakers to aid them in carrying out the season's scheme of dress with modifications in honor of the Queen's jubilee. Fashion, like history, repeats itself, but rarely on the old lines, as the old ideas are not suited to the new conditions of life. It is interesting, however, to notice the new adaptations of old fashions and the variety of pretty effects which modern taste can produce.

The conventional wedding gown of white satin, with chiffon and lace for decoration, is not a subject for great variety in style; but the trousseau, as a means of displaying all the whims and fancies of fashion, offers a field for operations which leaves nothing to be desired. First on the list is the evening dress. Satin, either plain or brocaded, colored or white, and often veiled with thin gauze, is the material most generally employed; yet crepe de chine, Liberty gauze, transparent stuffs of all kinds, and flowered taffetas are all in favor. A pretty evening dress in one trousseau was of pale grey crepe de chine, in the dove shade so popular this season, made over pale pink silk. Steel sequins set around the skirt in irregular vandykes at the hem and just below the waist were the trimming, and these appeared again on the full bodice in the same form. A thick band of sequins trimmed the low-cut neck and a band of pink satin ribbon formed the belt. The sleeves, of shirred crepe de chine, were long and transparent, with narrow sequin-trimmed frills at the top. Pink tulle over pink satin, and trimmed with ruches of narrow pink satin ribbon, forms another and more girlish gown, and the sleeves are short, butterfly bows of dainty lace. A wide belt of pink satin and a half-moon arrangement of shaded pink roses at one side of the bodice complete the decoration. A rope of flowers caught at the waist on one side and at the neck on the other is one form of floral garniture, and a fringe of some fine flower around the neck, forming a bertha, is another; for this violets are especially pretty.

A pretty feature of the new evening dresses is the long, soft scarf of chiffon. It may be black, white or colored, and the black and white sashes are made very effective by dotting them over with applique figures of lace in contrast, black and white and the reverse. Plain chiffon, with a frill of lace all around the edge, is also used, and the sashes, of white organdie, have innumerable rows of narrow lace insertion across the edge.

Ruches of tinted chiffon are festooned around the skirts of plain and brocaded satin evening dresses, and one charming gown in the trousseau of a pretty brunette is of yellow moire, with kiltings of yellow chiffon in the skirt. The bodice has tiny bolero fronts of jewelled lace and a soft full vest of the chiffon, caught up at one side with green and pink hydrangea blossoms. The striking yet simple evening gown illustrated is of pale blue brocaded satin, with plaited bolero bows and a belt of green velvet.

Pink is very popular for the summer party gown, and a new effect is gained by combining it with shades of violet. Of course great care may be used in selecting the tints, but they can be made to harmonize very prettily. Another novel combination, fashionable this season, is red used in conjunction with pink for trimming. The second gown shown is of pink brocaded satin, with two bands of red velvet around the skirt and a finish of red velvet at the neck and belt, embroidered with silver and pearls. Red and pink sound very inharmonious, but if the colors are chosen carefully, so that the red is but pink grown dark, the effect is good. A pretty evening blouse for my lady's wedding outfit is of white chiffon, with rows of lace insertion running around the full bodice, a bertha of lace around the shoulders, and a finish of pale green satin at the neck and belt.

In the fashionable combinations of color—and they are one of the chief points in fashion this season—for day gowns we find blue and a brownish orange and brown and violet very conspicuous. Blue in all the tints, from a dark navy through all the cornflower shades to palest turquoise, is a favorite color this season, and a dark blue canvas made over blue silk and finished with a touch of orange is decidedly chic. Pale blue with cerise is one of the newest combinations of color, and an afternoon gown for the up-to-date trousseau is made of pale blue grenadine over blue silk, with a vest and yoke of cerise taffeta and a frill of cerise silk falling down the front of the bodice. Bands of narrow black and white ribbon trim the skirt and edges of the bodice where the grenadine laps over the silk. Dark blue, cherry red, white, and grass linen is another mixture of colors and materials seen in an imported gown of blue canvas with a white chiffon vest, a cherry satin collar band and belt, and embroidered grass linen revers.

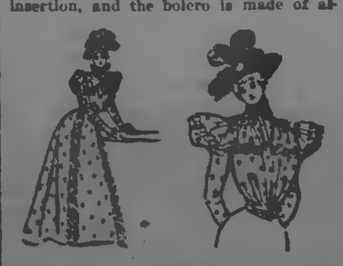
Black grenadines are worn by women of all ages, and some of the latest gowns are lined with black. The touch of color so necessary to the success of a dress this season is given in bows or kilted frills of silk on the bodice, and the skirts are trimmed with narrow black satin ribbon put on in various designs. Triple ruches of the material, narrow, box-plaited, and flat, and set on from the knee down, are another form of skirt trimming. Skirts certainly do not lack variety this season, either in cut or finish, and many of the new models are generously supplied with ruffles, flounces of various widths, rows and rows of milliners' folds or ribbon, kilted frills and tucks and insertions galore. There are side panels, front panels, and plaited panels of silk set in the two front seams to flare out at the bottom, fan fashion, and every other sort of skirt trimming which old and new ideas can devise; and yet the plain skirt is the one most in evidence at present.

The bodice, opened and trimmed on the left side, is one of the most popular models among the new gowns, and the latest fancy is opened diagonally from the left shoulder to the right side and finished on the edges with accordion-plaited frills of silk, chiffon or lace in double rows. For slender, long-waisted women this is an exceedingly pretty style, but the artistic effect is promptly lost if the figure is short and stout.

A very fascinating gown for the casino, and one of many in a very complete trousseau, is of prevenchi blue faille silk, with a bodice of pompadour silk, with the same blue in the flowering. Tiny ruffles of blue gauze with baby ribbon on the edge trim the skirt, lapping narrowly in front, and spreading out with a space between at the back. For these dressy gowns, white taffeta silk is charming, made with a sun-plaited skirt, set in a yoke. A very novel and expensive idea is a plaited skirt of chiffon in some delicate color underneath the taffeta one. A plain foundation skirt is an additional necessity, of course, but the effect is perfect with a broad sash of the same chiffon knotted around the waist. The bodice of one of these gowns, made of violet chiffon, has a yoke of fine guipure lace over the color, with frillings of silk and chiffon around the shoulders, forming a bertha.

A striking costume amid all the bright colors used this season is one of black taffeta with three narrow flounces of black silk net around the skirt. A net bodice over Persian pink silk, which is brought out in relief, has a round yoke with fine tucks, and a narrow vest down the front. Another peculiar costume of this kind has a black satin skirt of four deep plaited flounces, the upper one set in at the waist, and all edged with one row of half-inch cream satin ribbon. The bodice and sleeves are of the pink silk, with epaulette frills of black chiffon edged with cream ribbon and a bolero of cream guipure over pink, edged with a black satin fold.

The combination of checked taffeta, in blue or green and white, with plain material, is not an unusual one this season. The check is used for the bodice, with plain green or blue canvas for the skirt and sleeves, and frillings of plain silk in some contrasting color are introduced to carry out the present scheme of color mixture. Plaitings of cream net add very much to the becoming effect of the bodice. A dainty bodice to wear with a black silk skirt is shown in the illustration and the combination is pale gray silk, with a pinkish tinge, white chiffon, and Valenciennes lace insertion. The rest is of chiffon, with crosswise insertions and edgings of lace; the sleeves of grey silk, tucked and trimmed with insertion, and the bolero is made of alternate bands of tucked silk and lace. A stylish model for a cashmere gown is carried out in tan color, with three bands of black satin in the skirt piped on the upper edge with turquoise blue, and blue satin rosettes are the finish. The belt and collar are of black, piped with blue.



In fancy bodices, which seem to be quite as fashionable as ever, there is one of linen batiste with a fine silk stripe of pink dimity. The sleeves are shirred and fine batiste embroidery forms the yoke and band down the front. The next bodice is of figured muslin with a sailor collar of the same material trimmed with lace and insertion.

That drapery is coming in again seems to be a foregone conclusion, and here we have a red and white checked silk lined off in larger checks of black, with a sort of handkerchief drapery on each side of the back, showing the red selvage of the silk as a border. The bodice has a loose vest of white satin embroidered with green, red and gold, and the wide couture of black satin is drawn up at either side of the vest and finished with plaited ends of black chiffon with a row of cream lace insertion above the hem. Plaitings of lace are arranged over the shoulders and in a deep frill over the sleeves.

Foulards are decidedly the most popular materials of the season, and there is certainly an endless choice. A gown of this in green, white, yellow, and pink mixture has a trimming of lace and insertion down the front seams, a lace yoke, a mauve belt and collar, and a frill of mauve chiffon down the side. A simple model for the bride's traveling dress has a finish of white moire peeping out from the edge all down the front, at the collar and cuffs, and a finish of white cord and fancy buttons. A novel wrap in bolero form is made of black satin, with cape sleeves of kilted black chiffon, cream lace in the tabbed revers, and fancy buttons.

In bridesmaids' gowns anything for variety seems to be admissible, and pretty ones are made of white book muslin over white silk, with rows of Mechlin lace insertion set in around the skirt and sleeves, and a soft, full sash of pink crepe de chine. The gown in the illustration is of white Liberty gauze, trimmed with lace, and the sash is of blue silk, edged around with lace.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

Money in Wasps.

Along the banks of the Cape Fear River in North Carolina are lowlands, behind which lies a higher lever, or bench. The lowlands are subject to more or less frequent overflow by freshets, which are destructive to crops planted thereon. A number of years ago a farmer, resident in the vicinity, made a very comfortable sum of money by insuring his neighbors' crops against these freshets. His unvarying success as an insurer was for many years a profound mystery to the people of the region. The years when he declined to insure were invariably years of destructive overflow. The years when he was willing to insure were equally certain to be seasons of exemption from disaster.

In the earlier days in New England this man's reading of the future would have brought him some unpleasant experience as a dabbler, if not an adept, in black art. In the middle ages of Europe he would probably have been revered as a prophet and saint. Yet his information came from no occult source. Observation had shown him that a certain species of wasp, which built its home in the ground, built some years on the lowlands and other years upon the higher level. Experience taught him that when the wasps built on the lowlands there were no freshets, and when they built on the higher ground the lower would, some time during the season, be submerged. The man had simply noted an instance of that little understood prescience manifested by certain insects and animals a better knowledge of which might even be of service to our national weather bureau. It was only at his death that he revealed his secret.—New York Evening Post.

PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

OPENING OF THE NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

The Date will be Thursday, June 24th—The Programme will Last Until the 27th.

The programme in connection with the opening of the new Y. M. C. A. building has been decided upon but some of the details have yet to be arranged.

The opening will begin on Thursday, June 24th, and continue until Sunday, the 27th.

On Thursday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, the consecration of the building will take place. Rev. W. W. Weeks, the pastor of the Walmer Road Baptist church, Toronto, who had a wide knowledge of Y. M. C. A. work, will be the principal speaker on the evening of the opening. Members of the Y. M. C. A. Provincial Committee are also expected to be present, including Messrs. Thos. S. Cole, travelling secretary, C. S. Gzowski and F. M. Pratt, general secretary Central Branch, Toronto, and others. The pastors of the town will also be invited to assist in this.

There will also be a select musical programme in keeping with the occasion.

On Friday evening the Ladies' Auxiliary will give a high tea, which will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. A small fee will be charged and the public generally are invited. After 8 p.m., an opportunity will be given the visitors to inspect the entire building, when the proceedings will take the form of an "At Home. The 57th Batt. Band will furnish a good musical programme. There will also be other attractions in different parts of the building, particulars of which will be announced later.

Saturday will be boys' day. From 2 to 6 p.m. on that day they will be received at the building and shown the privileges provided for all between the ages of 12 and 16.

On Saturday evening there will be a praise meeting for young men beginning at eight o'clock in Association hall. It is expected that Mr. T. F. Best, General Secretary of Brantford Association, will have charge of this service.

On Sunday, June 27th, there will be two services. A consecration meeting at 9.30 a. m., led by Mr. Tom. Rogers, evangelist, who has spent the past six months among the Associations of the Province.

A mass meeting for men only will be held in Association hall at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when Mr. Roger will give an address. Special music will be provided.

The work of placing the furniture in the new building will commence on Monday and pushed rapidly forward to have all complete by the opening day.

NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Dean Hall has rewritten the second stanza of the National Anthem, and in the estimation of many has greatly improved it. Here is the stanza as it has stood for almost two hundred years:

O Lord our God arise,
Scatter her enemies,
And make them fall;
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks,
On Thee our hopes we fix,
God save us all.

The objection to these lines is that they are rather uncharitable in sentiment. Here is the venerable dean's amended version:

O Lord our God arise,
Scatter her enemies,
Make wars to cease;
Keep us from plague and dearth,
Turn Thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth,
Let there be peace.

THE LOYAL ADDRESS OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

ADDRESS TO HER MAJESTY, THE QUEEN.

A Beautifully Engrossed Address Replete With Graceful Sentiments of Loyalty.

The Peterborough Board of Trade is a hard headed business body, but the Diamond Jubilee spirit has attacked them. Yesterday afternoon they despatched to the address of Her Majesty a delightful and loyal address. The address breathing sentiments of gracefully expressed loyal devotion to the person and office of the Queen on the occasion of her Diamond Jubilee, was an elaborate affair. Mr. Pringle, of the Peterborough Business College, engrossed the address in beautiful calography arranged in the form of two unrolled parchment scrolls placed on the opposite pages of two covers, and surrounded by pale blue satin. The work was most artistically done, and the entire portfolio is a graceful setting to a gracefully worded which reads as follows:

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty. Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, etc.:

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN.—We, the members of the Board of Trade of Peterborough, Canada, rejoicing in the happy circumstances of our lives, under a free Government, and possessing all desired liberty, protection and comfort, give thanks to Almighty God for the beneficence of the Sovereignty under which we live. The greatness of the Empire of which our country is an integral part, and the prestige and glory of the reign of your Gracious Majesty, whose dutiful subjects we are, fill us with honourable pride of our birthright and compel us, in remembering the auspicious occasion of the sixtieth anniversary of your reign, happily called the Diamond Jubilee, to tender to your Majesty our heartfelt congratulations and fresh assurance of our loyal devotion.

We congratulate your Majesty on the growth of the Empire, the abundant and continuous peace, the development of arts, science, literature and trade; and, above all, on the wonderful growth of pure and undefiled religion throughout the vast Empire over which your Majesty reigns

The pure and beautiful life of your Majesty in Court and in the home circle, and your quiet but splendid exemplification of the teachings of the Prince of Peace, have endeared your Majesty to the hearts of your subjects, and compelled the veneration and respect of the world; so that your name will go down the ages as the noblest of England's Queens and amongst the greatest of monarchs.

With profound respect we wish your most Excellent Majesty and the Royal Family continued life and happiness. We remain

Your Majesty's devoted and loyal subjects,

THE PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE.

A DEAL IN OSTRICHES

"Talking of the prices of birds, I've seen an ostrich that cost £300," said the taxidermist, recalling his youth of travel. "Three hundred pounds!"

He looked at me over his spectacles. "I've seen another that was refused at four!"

"No," he said, "it wasn't any fancy points. They was just plain ostriches. A little off color, too—owing to dietary. And there wasn't any particular restriction of the demand, either. You'd have thought five ostriches would have ruled cheap on an East Indiaman. But the point was, one of 'em had swallowed a diamond.

"The chap it got it off was Sir Mohini Padishah, a tremendous swell—a Piccadilly swell, you might say, up to the neck of him. And then an ugly black head and a whooping turban with this diamond in it. The blessed bird picked suddenly and had it, and when the chap made a fuss it realized it had done wrong, I suppose, and went and mixed itself with the others to preserve its incog. It all happened in a minute. I was among the first to arrive, and there was this heathen going over 'gods, and two sailors and the man who had charge of the birds laughing fit to split. It was a rummy way of losing a jewel, come to think of it. The man in charge hadn't been about just at the moment, so that he didn't know which bird it was. Clean lost, you see. I didn't feel half sorry, to tell you the truth. The beggar had been swaggering over his blessed diamond ever since he had come aboard.

"A thing like that goes from stem to stern of a ship in no time. Every one was talking about it. Padishah went below to hide his feelings. At dinner—he pigged at a table by himself, him and two other Hindoos—the captain kind of jeered at him about it, and he got very excited. He turned round and talked into my ear. He would not buy the birds; he would have his diamond. He demanded his rights as a British subject. His diamond must be found. He was firm upon that. He would appeal to the House of Lords. The man in charge of the birds was one of those wooden-headed chaps you can't get a new idea into anyway. He refused any proposal to interfere with the birds by way of medicine. His instructions was to feed them so-and-so, and treat them so-and-so, and it was as much as his place was worth not to feed them so-and-so and treat them so-and-so. Padishah had wanted a stomach pump—though you can't do that to a bird—you know. This Padishah was full of bad law, like most of those blessed Bengalis, and talked of having a lien on the birds and soforth. But an old boy, who said his son was a London barrister, argued that what a bird swallowed became ipso facto part of the bird, and that Padishah's only remedy lay in an action for damages, and even then it might be possible to show contributory negligence. He hadn't any right of way about an ostritch that didn't belong to him. That upset Padishah extremely, the more so as most of us expressed an opinion that that was the reasonable view. There wasn't any lawyer aboard to settle the matter, so we all talked pretty free. At last, after Aden, it appears that he came round to the general opinion, and went privately to the man in charge and made an offer for all five ostriches.

"The next morning there was a fine shindy at breakfast. The man hadn't any authority to deal with the birds, and nothing on earth would induce him to sell; but it seems he told Padishah that a Eurasian named Potter had already made him an offer and on that Padishah denounced Potter before us all. But I think the most of us thought it rather smart of Potter, and I know that when Potter said that he'd wired at Aden to London to buy the birds, and would have an answer at Suez, I cursed pretty richly at a lost opportunity.

"At Suez, Padishah gave way to tears—actual wet tears—when Potter became the owner of the birds, and offered him 250 right off for the five, being more than 200 per cent. on what Potter had given. Potter said he'd be hanged if he parted with a feather of them—that he meant to kill them off one by one, and find the diamond; but afterwards, thinking it over, he relented a little. He was a gambling hound, was this Potter, a little queer at cards, and this kind of prize-packet business must have suited him down to the ground. Anyhow, he offered, for a lark, to sell the birds separately to separate people by auction at a starting price of £80 for a bird. But one of them, he said, he meant to keep for luck.

"You must understand this diamond was a valuable one—a little Jew chap, a diamond merchant, who was with us, had put it at three or four thousand when Padishah had shown it to him—and this idea of an ostrich gamble caught on. Now, it happened that I'd been having a few talks on general subjects with the man who looked after these ostriches, and quite incidentally he'd said one of the birds was ailing, and he fancied it had indigestion. It had one feather in its tail almost all white, by which I knew it, and so when, next day, the auction started with it, I capped Padishah's 85 by 90. I fancy I was a bit too sure and eager with my bid, and some of the others spotted the fact that I was in the know. And Padishah went for that particular bird like an irresponsible lunatic. At last the Jew diamond merchant got it for £175, and Padishah said £180 just after the hammer came down—so Potter declared. At any rate the Jew merchant secured it, and there and then he got a gun and shot it. Potter made a hades of a fuss because he said it would injure the sale of the other three, and Padishah, of course, behaved like an idiot; but all of us were very much excited. I can tell you I was precious glad when that dissection was over, and no diamond had turned up—precious glad. I'd gone to one forty on that particular bird myself.

"The little Jew was like most Jews—he didn't make any great fuss over bad luck; but Potter declined to go on with the auction until it was understood that the goods could not be delivered until the sale was over. The little Jew wanted to argue that the case was exceptional, and as the discussion ran pretty even, the thing was postponed until the next morning. We had a lively dinner-table that evening, I can tell you, but in the end Potter got his way, since it would stand to reason he would be safer if he stuck to all the birds, and that we owed him some consideration for his sportsmanlike behavior. And the old gentleman whose son was a lawyer said he'd been thinking the thing over, and that it was very doubtful if, when a bird had been opened and the diamond recovered, it ought not to be handed back to the proper owner. I remember I suggested it came under the laws of the treasure-trove which was really the truth of the matter. There was a hot argument and we settled it was certainly foolish to kill the bird on board the ship. Then the old gentleman, going at large through his legal talk, tried to make out the sale was a lottery and illegal, and appealed to the captain; but Potter said he sold the birds as ostriches. He didn't want to sell any diamonds, he said, and didn't offer that as an inducement. The three birds he put up, to the best of his knowledge and belief, did not contain a diamond. It was in the one he kept—so he hoped.

"Prices ruled high next day all the same. The fact that now there were four chances instead of five of course caused a rise. The blessed birds averaged two hundred and twenty seven, and, oddly enough, this Padishah didn't secure one of 'em—not one. He made too much shindy, and when he ought to have been hiding, he was talking about liens, and, besides, Potter was a bit down on him. One fell to a quiet little officer chap, another to the little Jew, and the third was syndicated by the engineers, and then Potter seemed sad—only sorry for having sold them; and said he'd flung away a clear £1000, and that very likely he'd draw a blank, and that he always had been a fool; but when I went and had a bit of a talk to him, with an idea of getting him to hedge on his last chance, I found he'd already sold the bird he'd reserved to a political chap that was on board—a chap who'd been studying Indian morals and social questions in his vacation. That last was the £300 bird. Well, they landed three of the blessed creatures at Brindisi—though the old gentleman said it was a breach of the customs regulations—and Potter and Padishah landed too. The Hindoo seemed half mad as he seen his blessed diamond going this way and that, so to speak. He kept on saying he'd get an injunction—he had injunction on the brain—and giving his name and address to the chaps who'd bought the birds, so that they'd know where to send the diamond. None of them wanted his name and address and none of them would give their own. It was a fine row, I can tell you—on the platform. They all went off by different trains. I went on to Southampton, and there I saw the last of the birds as I came ashore; it was the one the engineers bought, and it was standing up near the bridge in a kind of crate, and looking as leggy and silly a setting for a valuable diamond as ever you saw—if it was a setting for a valuable diamond.

"How did it end? Oh! like that. Well—perhaps. Yes, there's one more thing that may throw light on it. A week or so afterward I was down Regent street doing a bit of shopping, and who should I see arm-in-arm and having a purple time of it but Padishah and Potter. If you come to think of it—

"Yes. I've thought that. Only, you see, there's no doubt the diamond was real. And Padishah was an eminent Hindoo. I've seen his name in the papers—often. But whether the bird swallowed the diamond certainly is another matter as you say."—San Francisco Argonaut.

SECURED BY THE MONKS.

The First Copywright Ever Awarded to Bookmakers.

In his lecture before the League for Political Education last Saturday morning George Haven Putnam told the story of the first attempted infringement of copyright. The Benedictine monks in the year 567 possessed a very valuable manuscript on papyrus or parchment, a copy of which was greatly desired by Columba, an Irish monk, who lived in a neighboring monastery. Columba applied to Finian, the head man of the Benedicts, for permission to copy the manuscript. Finian, setting great store by the manuscript and being a little jealous of the neighboring monastery, refused the request. Columba would not take no for an answer. He waited around the Benedictine monstery until night came and when the monks had all retired he stole into the cell where the precious manuscript was kept chained to a pillar and copied it on parchment or papyrus he had brought for the purpose.

It must not be presumed that Columba wrote in darkness. It is true that the monastic library was not supplied with electricity, gas or even candles, nor did Columba carry a dark lantern; but his left hand emitted a phosphorescent glow which illuminated the pages of the manuscript.

Columba's work also had the approval of a sacred stork, which was stabbed or caged in the library, and while Columba worked the stork stood on one leg and watched by his side.

It happened that a passerby, late in the night, noticed the light in the library, and, curious to know what was going on at such a late hour, he put his eye to the keyhole in the door. The sacred stork, who was aware of this intrusion by that intuition possessed only by sacred storks, at once demonstrated his approval of Columba's work, by darting the point of his beak through the keyhole and plucking out the eye of the peeping Tom.

The wounded man hastened to Finian, told him that sorcery as well as optical surgery was being practiced down in the library. Finian hastened to the library and there found Columba in the act of copying the last word of the manuscript. The sacred stork, meantime, retired to his accustomed cavern and was feigning sleep.

"You have stolen my manuscript," exclaimed Finian.

"I have stolen nothing," replied Columba. "There is your manuscript just as I found it. What have I stolen?"

"True, you have left the manuscript," said Finian, "but you have stolen its essence—all there is valuable in it, and the copy you have made is, therefore, mine by right and I will take it from you."

Whereupon he fell upon Columba and took the copy, incidentally administering a sound drubbing to the literary thief and establishing a precedent for all future authors and publishers.

It is further recorded that the wise sacred stork stood steadfastly on one leg in his corner and interfered not in the fight.

The copy which Columba, now St. Columba, made is to-day to be seen in a museum in Dublin, and his writing was apparently done with silver ink.—New York Mail and Express.

HOW TO POLISH SILVER.

Dear friends, a tale I'll tell (though perhaps you know it well),
How to polish up the silver till it shines,
Without labor when you're tired, housekeeper or help that's hired.
I will tell you all about it in these lines.

Peel potatoes three or four—though if small you might peel more—
Boil them just about three-quarters of an hour;
While they're boiling add some salt, or the whole will be in fault,
And your temper turned from sweet to awful sour.

Take a tarnished silver mug, spoon or sugar bowl, or jug,
Put them in and let them boil a little while;
When you take them out you'll find that the tarnish stayed behind,
And their brightness, I am sure, will make you smile.

Fish That Spin

A queer little shell fish, known as the pianna, lives in the Mediterranean and has the curious power of spinning a viscid silk, which is made in Sicily into a regular fabric. This silk is spun by the shell fish in the first place for the purpose of attaching itself to the rocks. It is able to guide the delicate filaments to the proper place and then glue them fast, and if they are cut away it can reproduce them. The material, when gathered—which is done at low tide—is washed in soap and water, dried and straightened, one pound of the coarse filament yielding three ounces of the fine thread, which, when spun, is of a lovely burnished golden-brown color.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. —G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

ECZEMA TEN YEARS

Ablest Physicians Signally Failed. Was Absolutely Disheartened. Had Lost All Hope.

Gave CUTICURA a Trial Which Resulted in Absolute and Perfect Cure.

For ten years I suffered untold agonies from that dread disease Eczema, my lower limbs most of the time being so swollen and broken out that I could hardly go about. I had to wear slippers so that I could move about at all. My brother, a physician of thirty years' practice and extensive experience, had tried in vain to effect a cure and signally failed. I tried other physicians of splendid ability with like results, and had reached that point where I became absolutely disheartened, and in fact had lost all hope, when a friend (after long and continued persuasion) succeeded in inducing me to at least give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. I shall never regret that I did so, and until my dying day I shall sing the praises of them. I used two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and two boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), and it resulted in an absolute and permanent cure. I feel that I owe suffering humanity the debt of at least, in my feeble way, calling their attention to my case and absolute cure. I am now, I feel, perfectly cured, sound as a dollar, and the sweets of life are still mine, thank God, and to CUTICURA REMEDIES I attribute my almost miraculous cure. I refer all interested to the Postmaster of this place, any of the ministers, the prominent business men, and all of the citizens of our vicinity indiscriminately, and especially to my friend, John A. B. Shippey, attorney at law, who succeeded in persuading me to give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. With profound gratitude, I remain your most enthusiastic admirer, DAVID M. SAPP, Plymouth, Ill.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. The whole store, from stem to stern, is like an ocean greyhound, making a new record for the Jubilee year. Not only in all our notable departments of Staple Summer Goods, but in Jubilee Novelties, Flags and Bunting, and material for Decorations. Here you can depend on getting anything and everything your heart desires in our line, at prices which will save you all intermediate profits.

CARPETS!

We have been figuring down the prices of Carpets so effectively this summer that a great increase of sales has been the result.

Figuring Prices down is not done for effect. We're convincing the people that this store has an aggregation of Bargains that no other store—large or small—can match.

Our stock of Carpets consists of Kidderminsters, Brussels, Tapestry's, Wools and Hemps. What other stores, who have heavy expenses to meet, sell them at, does not concern. Our good will goes out to everyone, especially to the great body of consumers, whose living has been reduced by the scarcity of work and money.

We can quote the lowest prices for Carpets for Churches, Parlours, Halls, Stairs, Bedrooms, &c. Price and Quality will tell the story.

Remants in Carpets.

In consequence of our increased sales, we have a lot of very useful Remnants in Carpets, in 10, 12 and 14 yard lengths, which we can afford to clear out at actual COST.

CANADA'S PREMIER.

Great Honor to Mr. Laurier at Liverpool.

A SPECIAL TENDER SENT FOR HIM

Banquet Tendered by the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce Duke of Devonshire Made a Flattering Speech, and the Eloquent Canadian Premier Replied Happily.

Liverpool, June 12.—The Lucania, on which Mr. and Mrs. Laurier were passengers, was detained by fog in the Irish Channel and the Mersey on Friday evening, and it was late at night when she anchored off the landing stage here. The passengers were not landed, but a special tender was sent out for the Canadian Premier, whose arrival was awaited by the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Sir Donald Smith, Sir J. C. Colmer, Mr. John Dyke, Mr. Alfred Jury, Sir William Forwood, Mr. Evans of the Canadian Pacific, and Mr. James Chief Postoffice Inspector. Sir Donald Smith, Sir J. G. Colmer, Mr. C. Russell and others went out on the tender and welcomed Mr. Laurier to England. The Premier and his party had a good voyage, except for a delay from fog of about 13 hours, and Mr. Laurier looked well, although he had suffered from the sea-sickness almost inevitable on a first voyage across the Atlantic. The party were driven to the Northwestern Hotel. Sir Henry Strong lauded this morning.

The visit of the Colonial Premiers continues to be generally commented upon in the press, special reference being made to Mr. Laurier. The Mercury of this city this morning says of him, that he is a most attractive personality. "It is," says the paper, "not only his voice and speech that charm, but everything about him attracts." Evidently the Dominion of Canada's Premier is to be the Colonial lion of the Jubilee festivities.

COLONIAL PREMIERS BANQUETED.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurier Among Others at St. George's Hall, Liverpool.

Liverpool, June 12.—The Colonial Premiers and their ladies, including the Canadian Premier, Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, and Mrs. Laurier, were the guests this evening of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce in the concert room of St. George's Hall. A large and distinguished audience gave an enthusiastic welcome to the visitors. Among those present were Sir Donald Smith, the Canadian High Commissioner; Sir John Lubbock and Lady Lubbock, the Earl of Crewe, Sir Arthur Forwood, Sir George Baden-Powell, James Boyle, the United States consul at Liverpool, and Mr. H. S. Ismay.

The Duke of Devonshire, President of the British Empire League, made an address. After detailing the objects of the league, he said: "There never was a period in our history when the colonies and dependencies filled so large a place in the hearts of the Mother Country as they do now. While it is too much to say that the colonies occupy the attention of the statesmen to the exclusion of more domestic matters, there is something in the air, something which, if I am not mistaken, is growing into a great and irresistible force, speaking to the mind and heart of the people and telling them that they are citizens of a greater state than that contained in the little islands in the northwest of Europe.

"I am sorry to say that I am old enough to remember a very different state of public opinion, which, I believe, was due to the influence of such distinguished men as Cobden and Bright, and admiration of the United States of America. That admiration was admirable in itself, but, perhaps, at that time it was somewhat exaggerated and misdirected as a guide for our relations with our own colonies. We were at that time told that, while we should endeavor to avoid the mistakes which lost us the North American colonies, and that above all we should never again be guilty of attempting to retain our colonies by force, yet we might complacently look forward to the time when our colonies, having grown to maturity, would peacefully sever their connection with the Motherland and become independent republics on the model of the United States."

Continuing, the Duke of Devonshire said, after alluding to free trade: "Very few people now regard the example of the United States as the inevitable or necessary result of our colonizing energy, but, on the contrary, we look forward with pride and exultation to possible future creations, not only of a Canadian dominion, but of Australian, West Indian and African dominions, all of which may, perhaps, rival the United States themselves in extent and prosperity; dominions which, instead of becoming separate and independent states, will remain portions of one undivided British Empire. To-day we are reaping the fruits of the more generous and statesmanlike policy prevailing of later years and of the success which has attended the great policy of Canadian federation."

The Duke of Devonshire, continuing, said: "It is fortunate that to-day we are able to receive on our shores a Premier not of one of our self-governing colonies, but of a federation of eight; a statesman whose acceptance by the Canadians—as well by the French Protestants as the Catholics—was a sample of the vitality and reality of the federation—[loud cheers]—and we receive him with still greater gratification, inasmuch as the first measure proposed in his Parliament was a long step in the direction of closer commercial connection between Canada and this country. We see in that proof of the desire of the Canadian states, backed by the Canadian people, to add to the strength which has been gained through the wise measure of federation and to render the bonds uniting us closer and more permanent. Among all representatives of the colonies now in England none is more warmly welcomed than the Canadian Premier, who has shown in his own person the capacity of our free institutions to break down even such barriers as race and religion, and whose great measure of federation it was hoped would set an example which should be followed by other colonies in the near future. It was said that history has taught that democracy is incompatible with an empire, but, judging from the example of the United States, I do not see any reason why the democratic character of our institutions and those of our colonies should be a bar to the maintenance of an extended empire. We are about to present to the world the spectacle of a nation imperial out, at the same time, free. I hope that future history will record that our people have shown themselves equal to the unprecedented task they have undertaken to perform. [Loud cheers.]

At the close of the Duke's address the audience called persistently for Mr. Laurier, who finally rose, though with evident reluctance. The Premier said: "You have been told that I am not of British blood, but I have been brought up under British institutions and I have learned that no state can exist unless it respects the law. The law this afternoon is that I shall not speak."

Later a reception was held in the town hall by the Lord Mayor, and this was followed by a banquet, given by the Chamber of Commerce to the visiting colonial representatives and other guests. Among those present were Right Hon. Sir Samuel Henry Strong, Chief Justice of Canada. The Lord Mayor gave the toast "Commerce and the Empire," to which Mr. Laurier responded.

Upon rising, the Canadian Premier was greeted with unusual honors. In his response he asserted that Canada had solved the problem of religious tolerance and civil and religious liberty, adding: "The Canadians of English and French origin have learned under the happy auspices of free institutions to respect and love one another. In my chief position of responsibility I have been instructed by the people of the Dominion to represent them at the Diamond Jubilee and to convey to the Queen an expression of their loyalty and devotion. Their resolution, for such it was, has changed the relations of Great Britain and the colonies. Especially is this so in respect of Canada, which sixty years ago was desolated by a civil war, but which now does not contain even a shadow of discontent. The authority of the Queen does not rest upon military force, but from the Pacific to the Atlantic rests upon the cheerful allegiance of five millions of people who feel themselves a nation.

"The feeling dominating Canada is one of pride in her local autonomy and legislative liberty, connected with Imperial unity. Whatever errors there may have been in the past, the past is closed forever and a new era has dawned and allegiance is accepted in Canada by all. The general sentiment is for closer commercial union. The time may come when the present conditions of citizenship will be felt to be inadequate. A solution for this will be found in the old British principle of representation."

Mr. Laurier was followed by Sir Edward Nicholas Colcentry Braddon, Premier of Tasmania, and Hon. Sir John Forrest, Premier of West Australia.

Sir John Lubbock replied to the addresses of the colonial and other visitors. The colonial representatives are the guests of the Earl of Crewe.

MR. LAURIER AT LIVERPOOL.

London Times and Other Newspapers Comment on the Premier's Speech—The Chronicle a Little Caustic.

London, June 14.—All the morning papers comment upon the speeches of the Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, at the banquet given Saturday evening at Liverpool by the Chamber of Commerce. Most of these comments are in a tone of lively satisfaction.

The Times says: "This silent, gradual process of awakening throughout the country on the trade question has brought about an astonishing change, which is now beyond all controversy. The recent tariff legislation in Canada and the discussions as to Australian confederation seem to indicate that we may be on the eve of some remarkable development, but the remarks of Mr. Laurier and those of some of the Australian Ministers showed signs that not all is plain sailing."

The Morning Post says: "The Duke of Devonshire's speech is a funeral oration on the Cobdenite school. It is obvious enough that the lead taken over the seas on this question finds a response in the growing opinion of the British people."

The Standard says: "The Duke of Devonshire's candor was complete and creditable."

The Daily News contends that Mr. Laurier's tariff, proposing to discriminate in favor of British goods, is "a remarkable step toward the repeal of existing duties within the British Empire." It thinks it inexcusable that the Duke of Devonshire should join in Tory calumnies against John Bright, and reminds him that Mr. Laurier is the head of a Liberal Ministry, and that Canada is a perfect example of successful home rule. The Daily News concludes its editorial by urging the Government to denounce the German and Belgian treaties.

The Daily Chronicle says: "It must be admitted that the Duke of Devonshire represents a good deal of floating opinion, but we shall do our colonial friends ill service if we lead them to suppose that England will ever join the protectionist ring. We think it a very doubtful policy to denounce the treaties with Germany and Belgium, and thereby risk losing a far greater volume of trade in order to gain a slight advantage with Canada, whose trade must sooner or later, by the laws of nature, be largely concerned with American markets."

A SERIOUS OUTLOOK.

Turkey Appears to be Determined to Hang on to Thessaly, and Shows Defiance to the Powers.

London, June 13. A special despatch from Athens to the Exchange Telegraph Company reports that the armistice between Greece and Turkey has been broken by the Turks mobilizing reinforcements, fortifying Volo and Preveza, and sending troops to various islands. The despatch reports also that the Turkish fleet passed out through the Dardanelles at 10 o'clock last night.

A Salonica despatch published here to-day says: "Europe had better make up its mind to a prolonged Turkish occupation of Thessaly. The Salonica Railroad is as busy now as on the eve of the war. Trains conveying troops and stores have been running ceaselessly for three months. Europe scarcely seems to understand the position of affairs even now. It is this: There are 250,000 Ottoman troops in Thessaly at the present moment and 300 more in Macedonia ready to join them, and the Sultan wants to know which power, or combination of powers, is going to undertake the job of turning him and his soldiers out. Turkish civil and military officers of the highest rank are continually passing to and fro from Constantinople, and all snap their fingers at the powers and say rude things of the ambassadors. These officers know what is going on in the palace. There is not one of them who does not laugh to scorn the idea of any combination of the powers against Turkey."

Notice of Confiscation.

Athens, June 12.—The Governor of Volo has issued a proclamation that the property of refugees who do not return to Thessaly with their families within a fortnight will be confiscated by the Ottoman Government.

THE DIOCESE OF OTONABEE,

THE NAME SUGGESTED FOR THE PROPOSED NEW ANGLICAN DIOCESE.

An Interesting and Animated Discussion in Synod—Strong Committee Appointed.

At the meeting of the Synod in Toronto considerable prominence was given to a matter that is of special local interest to Peterborough. If the proposal to extend the Episcopate by the creation of a new diocese out of several counties, including Peterborough, is carried out it is more than probable that Peterborough will be the see city and St. John's the cathedral church of the new diocese, for which the name Otonabee as euphonious and applicable is suggested.

PROPOSED NEW DIOCESE.

According to the reported proceedings in the Synod on Thursday, much interest was evinced in the report of the Special Committee on the Extension of the Episcopate, which was presented by Rev. Dr. Pearson in a lucid address. The report included a couple of resolutions one passed at the annual meeting of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough last November, and another by the rural deanery of East York, both of which very strongly endorsed the proposal to divide the present diocese of Toronto, a. ing the counties of Ontario, Northumbe la d, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton, and forming the new diocese of Peterborough. In view of these expressions of opinion the committee had no hesitation in recommending that steps be at once taken taken to carry into effect the resolution of the Synod of 1873 provided that a sufficient sum of money can be raised to ensure an income of $2,000 for the Bishop of the new diocese.

WHAT MONEY IS WANTED.

The report continues: "With this object in view the committee respectfully submit the following scheme, which they think to be quite practicable, provided that all the members of the church in the present diocese will give it their hearty co-operation:

"(1) That as a preliminary to the setting apart of the new diocese a sum of at least $10,000 should be raised.

"(2) That on the inception of the new diocese, a further sum of $10,000 be asked for, payable within five years, with interest in the meantime at the rate of five per cent per annum.

"(3) It is also estimated that $10,000 may be expected fom the English societies—the S.P.C.K., the S. P. G., and the Colonial Bishoprics' Fund.

"The committee also recommend that no part of the episcopal fund of the present Diocese of Toronto be asked for, but that a share of the clergy commutation trust fund (less the amount set apart for the Bishop of Toronto) in proportion to the number of parishes and missions therein contained, be given for the new diocese.

"If the fund can be secured, your committee would recommend that the necessary steps for the establishment of the new see should be taken as soon as possible, and so relieve our respected diocesan of the responsibility of such a large number of parishes and clergy as that of the present diocese, and in order to establish a new centre for the ever-increasing work of the Church of Christ. This would be in accord with the universal practice of Christendom, and would no doubt be at once followed by a wider extension of the kingdom of God amongst us."

This was followed by a detailed statement of the present position and prospects of the proposed new diocese, and showed, among other interesting particulars, that the invested capital of the rectories and parishes was $119,703.17, the estimated income available for clerical work, $7,886; the estimated amount required for clerical work, $6,650, leaving a surplus of $1,236, which, with interest on $10,000, $500, and $264 raised by yearly assessment, would make the $3 000 needed. The number of clergy taken from the present total of 188, would be 46 in the new diocese.

GREAT UNANIMITY.

Rev. Dr. Pearson presented the report in an earnest address, in which he emphasized the facts therein set forth, and declared that after nearly a quarter of a century's deliberation the time for action had now manifestly arrived.

The discussion which followed was animated and most interesting, and was, moreover, remarkable for the great unanimity and good feeling shown by all speakers. That ample time might be given to the consideration of so important a matter a night session was held, and it was after 11 o'clock when the the house finally adjourned for the night.

Resuming the discussion after supper, Chancellor Worrell took exception to the figures and estimates, declaring that they had been made to appear more favourable to the new diocese than the facts warranted.

Mr. J. Herbert Mason asked if Bishop Sweatman had ever expressed the opinion that his diocese was too large, and the Archdeacon replied that he had no knowledge of any such expression on his lordship's part.

Mr. N. W. Hoyles, while largely in sympathy with the scheme, did not think it should be disposed of in the bishop's absence, and moved that it be laid over a year. The Chancellor seconded this.

Rev. Herbert Symonds, Ashburnham, objected to this amendment to the proposal to adopt the report forthwith, declaring that too much time had been wasted now and that the bishop was well aware of what was going on.

Rev. Edwin Daniel, Port Hope, asserted that the people had not been sufficiently consulted, and asked for delay in settling the question.

Mr. Grace, of Lindsay, spoke strongly in favour of the report, and Dr. J. George Hodgins followed in the same line, urging that, the people most concerned being practically unanimous, it would not be seemly in the western part of the diocese to stand in the way. All were agreed as to the expediency of the proposal, and if those who had to make workable were prepared to put it through there ought to be no further delay.

Rev. C. B. Kenrick, Port Hope, declared that better episcopal supervision was needed, the work being altogether too much for the Bishops to do single handed.

A MOST AGGRESSIVE POLICY.

Rev. Dr. Laugtry thought it was time to wake up the church; they had lost the country because they had been afraid to go in and possess it; but it was not irretrievably lost, for with efficient and sufficient men the land might be conquered yet for the church. As to the absence of Bishops, they all knew that his Lordship was strongly opposed to the scheme, and would not help it, if he were present; this was only human and natural. It would not, in the speaker's opinion, be wise to defer action longer.

Rev. Arthur H. Baldwin, Rev. J. Pitt Lewis, Mr. T. B. Moberly and other spoke, after which a vote on the ammendment to defer action twelve months, only discovered twelve in favour of delay in a house of over one hundred. The report was adopted without further division, and the result was warmly applauded.

A COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

It was then moved by Rev. H. Symonds, seconded by Rev. Canon Spragge, and unanimously adopted, that steps be taken to give effect to the proposals of the above report, and the following committee was appointed: Ven. Archdeacon Allen, Rural Deans Harding, Webber and Allen, Rev. Canon Farncomb, Rev. Canon Spragge, Rev. W. E. Cooper, Rev. J. H. Talbott, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. H. Symonds, and Messrs. John Burnham, R.M. Denniston. —Grace, (Lindsay), Lt. Col. Bolton, John Cowan, (Oshawa), with power to add to the number.

ATTEMPT TO KILL FAURE.

A Bomb Thrown at the French President When He Was Driving to the Race Course Yesterday.

Paris, June 13.—An attempt was made to-day to assassinate M. Felix Faure, the President of the French Republic, while he was en route to witness the Grand Prix. While M. Faure's carriage was passing a thicket near La Cascade restaurant, in the Bois de Boulogne, a bomb, which subsequently proved to be a piece of tubing about six inches long and two inches in diameter, with a thickness of half an inch, charged with gunpowder and swan spit, exploded. No one was injured by the explosion. A man in the crowd, suspected as the prime mover, was arrested. He gave his name as Gallet, and made only the briefest replies to questions put to him by the police. Gallet said th he had no occupation, but resided .e vallois-Perret. The police are r.. ; a thorough search of his lodgings. .e is believed to be insane, for he shouted as the carriage passed along so loudly as to attract general attention in the crowd. The police have also made another arrest, in this case a youth, but it is thought probable that the actual culprit escaped in the thicket.

The news of the attempt spread like wildfire through the city, and when M. Faure returned to the Elysee the streets along the route where it was known he would drive were crowded with people, who cheered him vociferously.

It was at first reported that the would-be assassin was a young man about 25, who stood in the crowd a hundred yards or more from the race course and discharged a pistol at M. Faure as he drove up to the entrance, and there was a subsequent report that both pistol and bomb were used. But the police now believe that the supposed pistol shot was merely the noise of the bomb. The bomb was a clumsily-made affair, to which a piece of fuse was attached, and the fuse was probably lighted by a paper fixed in the end of a stick, as soon as the head of the procession came in view. The presumption is that the moment the fuse was lighted the culprit fled, and in any case the bomb could not have done much harm.

In the thicket where the police found the remnants of the bomb they found also a pistol, upon which were engraved the words "Mort a Felix Faure," and the names Alsace-Lorraine and Cologne. Near the pistol was a small dagger bearing a similar threatening inscription, and a few feet away the police found a newspaper with a cartoon grossly insulting to the President. This contained an offensive inscription hinting at the execution of M. Faure.

The correspondent of the Associated Press had an interview with an official who was riding with M. Faure, who said: "When the report was heard a dense cloud of smoke rose from the thicket, and there was terrible consternation until it was found that no one had been injured. The police sprang forward, but found the thicket deserted. When persons in the crowd saw one of the policemen holding the bomb they jumped to the conclusion that he was the perpetrator of the outrage, and handled him roughly, clubbing him with heavy walking sticks and umbrellas until his comrades rescued him, badly bruised and covered with blood. The President's carriage then proceeded to the race course."

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

BALD AND LOUGHEAD.

Great Race at Buffalo Crowd Said the Canadian Won, But Judges Gave it to the Bison.

Buffalo, June 12.—There were 5000 people at the meet of the State Bicycle Circuit to day. The weather was perfect and the track fast. The principal event of the day was the one mile open, in which were entered many of the flyers, including the speedy Canadian rider, Fred Loughead. Loughead finished second in the race, but gave Eddie Bald a great battle, and it was not until the number had been hoisted on the blackboard that the spectators knew who was the winner. C. Greatrix of Toronto, with a handicap of 120 yards, won the professional two mile handicap, carrying off a purse of $80. The summaries of the principal events are as follows:

One mile open, professional—E. C. Bald 1, Fred Loughead 2, Tom Cooper 3. Time 2.32 3-5.

Professional two mile handicap—C. Greatrix Toronto 1, E. W. Palmer 2, W. D. [illegible] Time 4.29 1-5. Blaney (90 yards) [illegible] 3. [illegible] started.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE

London Filling Up at a Very Rapid Rate.

PEOPLE TALK OF NOTHING ELSE

All Business at a Standstill Except in Millinery and Dressmaking—A Large Army Will be on Parade—Colonial Troops Reviewed by the Duke of Connaught.

London, June 12.—The past week has seen the arrival of numerous military detachments from the colonies to take part in the Queen's Jubilee festivities. A splendid body of Maori police are the latest arrivals. They reached here yesterday evening from New Zealand and composed an ode to the Queen while on their way here. They hope to chant it before Her Majesty and expect her to join in it.

Colonial troops are now to be met on every side. They are generally men of fine physique, wearing smart uniforms, and are very popular everywhere.

"EMPIRE" AND "TRADE"

Are the Watchwords o the Hour in London—47,000 Troops Employed.

London, June 13. The coming Jubilee engrosses public attention to the exclusion of everything else, even the serious revolt of the tribesmen on the Punjab frontier passing as an ordinary detail of the burdens of the Empire.

Mr. Wilfrid Laurier's arrival to-day brings into prominence the Imperial idea, which is the dominating note of the Queen's gala week. No other colonial premier can hope to rival him in popularity and prestige. His tariff reciprocity proposals are designed to place the Mother Country in a better position to trade with the Dominion, and that is the English ideal of Imperial federation. No other premier can receive so hearty a welcome, but everyone has been greeted warmly, and the greatest enthusiasm is shown whenever any colonial premier makes an after-dinner speech or addresses a public assemblage.

A tour has been arranged by the Empire League which will fill the greater part of next week with provincial festivities, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Manchester being visited in turn. "Empire" and "trade" are the watchwords of the hour.

The official program has revealed military arrangements on a large scale. There will be 47,000 troops either on parade or employed in lining the route. This is a larger English army than has been mobilized since Wellington's campaign ending in Waterloo. Before the procession moves the streets will be occupied from Knightsbridge and Sloan-square to the Hotel Cecil in the formation of the various divisions. While the colonial contingent will be the most interesting and picturesque feature of the parade, the display of regulars will be a brilliant one, including seven batteries of the Royal Horse Artillery and twelve cavalry regiments; in addition, 34 battalions of infantry lining the streets with detachments of militia volunteers, marines and blue jackets. There has been no London show equal to this during the Queen's reign.

The naval review at Spithead will also be the most marvelous exhibition of sea power ever witnessed. It will be the most powerful fleet ever manned and equipped by any nation. The expense of seeing these great sights will not be light, and the fatigue involved will be considerable, but every spectator ought to have his money's worth, for the Jubilee shows are to be unique in brilliancy, and the magnitude of the police regulations has already warned sightseers that they will have to breakfast at 6 or 7 o'clock in order to reach their places. Carriage traffic will be suspended by 8.30 o'clock, and the streets will be impassable after 9.30 o'clock. The area around St. Paul's will be barricaded with gates, and the crowd kept out from an early hour. Spectators who have purchased costly seats and windows will be compelled to come early and wait many hours before they can get away safely. As for the night illuminations, only those strong and brave enough to drift with the swollen torrents of humanity surging through the roadways can see them.

The Jubilee fetes are regarded with mingled feelings of joyous anticipation and nervous trepidation. The town shows will be of unparalleled interest, but the danger and fatigue involved in witnessing them are appalling to timorous people. The special American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, will attend the service in St. Paul's on the opening day of the Jubilee and have his first audience with the Queen probably on the following day, and take part in all the principal functions of the week.

Colonial Troops Reviewed.

London, June 13.—The Duke of Connaught yesterday reviewed the colonial troops who have come to take part in the royal procession. The spectacle has called forth the following comment from one leading paper: "Never, even in the palmiest days of old Rome, was there a more significant and wondrous spectacle than that which took place yesterday afternoon at the Chelsea barracks. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, representing the Queen, inspected and reviewed the representative contingents of the army of Great Britain. There were drawn up in line colonial soldiers from the four quarters of the globe. Many there were from lands and continents unknown to the Roman Empire. There stood in the ranks men from the far north, the far south, the far east, the far west; men from Europe, Asia, Africa, America and Australasia—types of many races white and black."

Londoners are working themselves into a great state of restless excitement. They are immersed in a wondering daze of meditation on the vastness of their empire, thus brought home to them. Trade, in the ordinary sense of the word, is almost at a standstill. Dressmakers, milliners and tailors are working like mad night and day, but other the eight hours' vigils which most sent departments of business are in a holiday torpor. In effect, the Whitsuntide season of idleness, which began a week ago, will informally extend itself here to about the 25th.

London now looks like a woman in curl papers. There are masses of scaffolding piled against every available wall through the whole of the line of six miles over which the procession will pass. The staring color of raw timber transforms the town. Apprehensive people who are always predicting evil in newspaper letters, are now terrified at the thought of what will happen when all these scaffoldings catch fire, and in their panic they are appealing to the authorities to forbid all smoking on the stands during holders are deemed. The Queen herself seems to have been frightened by something, most likely to the terrible fatigue of the program originally laid out for the week, for she has decided to go away several days earlier than was arranged, and not to see the stupendous Spithead review at all.

The Queen Loved Albert.

London, June 13.—A collection of private letters, written by Queen Victoria to the Duke of Sussex, will be sold at auction presently. The young Queen wrote in November, 1842: "The Prince of Wales is very well, and will shortly walk alone." Thanking the Duke for his good wishes for the tenth anniversary of her marriage, Her Majesty wrote: "That day must ever be one of joy and gratitude, as being the commencement of the greatest possible happiness to me. Few, if any, possess such a treasure as I do in my deeply loved Albert, whose only object is the happiness and wellbeing of others. May his bright example of virtue and excellence be followed by my son, and may he be the image of his father is my most fervent prayer."

TRIBUTES FROM AMERICA.

St. George's Society of New York Will Send an Album Address.

New York, June 13.—In commemoration of Queen Victoria's jubilee an address to Her Majesty from the members of St. George's Society of this city was made in the form of an album. The album will be bound in imperial red morocco, mounted with gold, and will contain twenty illuminated vellum leaves. The shell of the album will be of American laurel wood. On the lid will be a gold plate, with the Queen's personal arms. On the cover of the book will be a seme of the Imperial crown, with the English rose, Scotch thistle and Irish shamrock in the corner. On the first page will be the full arms of England and under them the dates 1837-97; at the base will be the plaque of St. George's Society. Page two and three will contain the address to the Queen. After that will be the names of the officers and members of the society. Every page of signatures will be decorated with a view of New York, painted in water colors, including Brooklyn Bridge, Grant's tomb, City Hall and other famous buildings. The last page will show the arms of the St. George's Society, with its motto, "Let mercy be our boast and shame our only fear."

Not less than five thousand persons assembled on the Mall in Central Park yesterday afternoon and listened to the open-air concert, the chief feature of which was a descriptive fantasie in commemoration of the sixtieth year of Queen Victoria's reign. The posters issued by the Monroe League, asking all patriotic citizens to remain away from the concert, apparently had the contrary effect, for the attendance was the largest this season. Bandmaster Neyer and his musicians presented an excellent program. The special number devoted to Queen Victoria was number six and was entitled "The Diamond Jubilee." It was a special composition by J. A. Kappey. There was a hush when the number was begun, but not a single hiss or sign of disapproval could be heard. The composition illustrated the incidents in the Victorian reign.

When the last strains of "God Save the Queen" died away the audience applauded heartily.

THE TRIBUNE'S TRIBUTE.

Victorian Reign Pre-eminently the Golden Age of British History.

The Tribune to-day, in a column editorial headed "The British Golden Age," says: "This longest reign in British history is also the most glorious. Others have been more sensational. Not one has seen so great progress made in the expansion of the Empire, in political development, in the industrial, social, intellectual and spiritual advancement of the people. The statement is a sweeping one, but it is warranted by the record. Space is given elsewhere in to-day's Tribune to reviews of some of the salient features of British history for the past sixty years, especially to the territorial growth, political evolution and the march of science. These are necessarily brief, and are suggestive rather than exhaustive. But perusal of them is sufficient to bring conviction that the Victorian reign has been pre-eminently the golden age of British history. An Empire, on which literally the sun never sets and which contains one-fifth of the population and one-fifth of the land area of the world, is a majestic fact, unprecedented and unapproachable. The progress of a great people, calm and conservative, from a scarcely constitutional monarchy to advanced republicanism in less than two generations without a revolution or any sudden upheaval, but with the smoothness and continuity of the procession of the equinoxes, is one of the most impressive spectacles in human annals. A nation, warlike on occasions and aggressive at all times, the world's past master in manufacturing and shopkeeping in commerce and finance, yet above these material things attaining the foremost rank in science and literature and a creditable standing in the fine arts and all social culture, is a combination of the useful and the beautiful approximating to the highest known attainments of human genius. There is indeed not one beneficent sphere of human action in which its record is not nobly made. It has been an era worthy of the great Anglo-Saxon race at its best estate, and worthy of commanding prominence in the now closing cycle, which succeeding generations the world over, far on in summers that we shall not see, will mark in glowing annals as the best in all these sixty centuries of recorded time."

LABOUCHERE'S VIOLENT TALK.

England Might as Well Guarantee the Integrity of Hell and the Dominions of the Devil as of Turkey.

London, June 12.—Mr. Henry Labouchere, in the course of a long address at a meeting of the Twickenham Liberal-Radical Associations, of which he is president, this evening violently attacked the policy of Lord Salisbury, saying that England might as well guarantee the integrity of hell and the dominions of the devil as of the Turkish Empire. The action of the Government abroad, he declared, had disgraced every Englishman, and the country was suffering from an orgie of Toryism.

A MARIA ST. INCIDENT.

Our Representative Called on Mr. Geo. Vallillee, the Well-Known Retired House Builder, and the following Conversation Which Ensued Will Interest a Great Many Readers.

"Mr. Vallillee, it has come to our notice that you have been a sufferer with kidney disease for a long time. Will you tell us something about it for publication?"

"I will be glad to do so."

"When did you first notice symptoms of kidney complaint?"

"Something over three years ago."

"What were the prominent symptoms?"

"Pains in my back so that I could hardly stoop, no end of headaches, dizziness, puffing under my eyes, swelling of the hands and feet, sleeplessness and urinary difficulties."

"I presume you suffered greatly?"

"Yes, I suffered intensely."

"Did you try any other remedies?"

"Yes, I tried a number of different medicines, but none of them helped me. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, however, I got a box.

"Did they have a good effect?"

"Yes, they are a perfect cure. From the first few doses I got relief, and the improvement continued, until, after using them for six weeks the pains are gone. My appetite has returned, I sleep well, the dizziness, puffing, swelling and headaches have entirely disappeared, and I am better in every way than I have been for years."

"What do you think cured you?"

"Nothing else but Doan's Kidney Pills caused this remarkable cure, and I heartily recommend them to all those who suffer as I did." 182

THE BISHOP'S PALACE BURGLARIZED.

An Evidently Amateur Cracksman Ransacks the Office of Bishop O'Connor.

Saturday night, sometime after midnight, the Bishop's palace, Hunter street, was entered by a thief. A chair was taken from the verandah of the priests' house and standing on this the burglar managed to raise the window, and entered the Bishop's office, the front room on the eastern side adjoining the conservatory. Nothing of value except a gold pen was missed, though the thief tumbled about the papers on the desks and the contents of the drawers in evident search for valuables. The door leading from the office to the other parts of the palace was locked and the thief had to confine his operations to one room. His Lordship was absent in Lindsay and the house-breaking was not discovered till some time on Sunday. Perhaps the knowledge of his absence suggested Saturday night as a favourable time for the operations of the thief, who, when he retired, left the window closed but did not return the chair to its place. The bishop's palace and the priests' house seem in the minds of "crooks" to be a good place for spoil, as they have been several times burglariously visited. The idea is a mistaken one, as very little of commercial or negotiable value is kept in either residence.

TE DEUM AND THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

To be Sung in the Catholic Churches of the Diocese on Sunday Next.

The appended circular, as issued by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor to the churches in the diocese, was read in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday:

June 10th.

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—The Diamond Jubilee in the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria will be celebrated this month. It is becoming that all Catholics unite in thanksgiving to Almighty God for so happy an event. We direct that on Sunday, June 20th, in all the churches throughout the diocese, a Te Deum be sung with the proper prayer of thanksgiving. At the end of the service the National Anthem will be sung.

I remain, yours in Christ,
R. A. O'CONNOR,
Bishop of Peterborough.

It was announced that a solemn Te Deum would be sung after Benediction on Sunday next, June 20th, after which the National Anthem will be rendered by the school children, who will be assembled in the convent hall, where the services are now being held.

MELTED TO TEARS.

A cable dated yesterday says: According to an "absolutely unimpeachable authority," a writer in the Westminster Gazette relates how the Irish song, "The Wearing of the Green," was very recently sung at Windsor Castle. The Queen, it appears, requested a young Irish lady, who was visiting the castle, to sing an Irish song. She went to the piano and sang "The Wearing of the Green," and, according to the story told, Her Majesty was so touched by the pathos of the song that she burst into tears. The writer continues: "Ah, said my eminent informant, 'you little know the depths of the Queen's sympathy for the Irish personally and the tenderness of her heart.'"

THE REGALIA QUESTION.

The appended letter was received too late for publication on Saturday:

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I have noticed in your paper that a meeting of representatives of the several societies in town is called in the town clerk's office for 8 o'clock this evening, for the purpose, as I understand it, of arriving at such an agreement as will meet the views of all societies in respect of the procession on Jubilee day.

All the Canadians, whether by birth or adoption, it is to be hoped, will join heartily in eschewing anything that would have a tendency, even in the remotest degree, to introduce anything other than true, sterling and pure Canadian patriotism on such an occasion, and for the purpose of emphasizing this sentiment let me ask you to print the concluding paragraph from an editorial article in the Toronto World of the 10th inst. on this subject, which appears to have the true ring in it:

"No, on Jubilee Day there must be no distinction of citizens. On that day no one is anything but a Canadian and a Briton, Catholic and Protestant, Frenchman and Englishman, we must all walk side by side, no matter whether we are in the ranks as volunteers or in the procession as school children. The Protestant and Catholic boys of Toronto, who will celebrate the Queen's Jubilee, may have to march side by side some day to defend their country. Let them march side by side and mingle together in the same sports on Jubilee Day. It will be a shame to emphasize our petty differences on such a memorable occasion.

Yours, etc.,
CANADIAN.

THE 57TH RANGERS ATTEND ST. JOHN'S,

WHERE THEY ARE ADDRESSED BY THEIR CHAPLAIN.

He Urges the Men to be Temperate and Moral on the Occasion of their Jubilee Trip to Montreal.

The Battalion turned out with both bands and the pioneer and ambulance corps for church parade yesterday afternoon, and the town assumed quite a military aspect for the time being, the air resounding with bugle blast and beat of drum.

The men were marched to St. John's church in column of companies, and at the gate they were formed into fours, and entering the church were assigned the seats in the centre.

The full choir was present, and the volunteers joined heartily in the hymns, S. Baring Gould's "Onward Christian Soldiers," being sung with a swing and rythm very effectively as coming from such a body of men.

Lt.-Col. Bell read the Scripture lesson, and the sermon was delivered by the chaplain of the Battalion, Rev. J. C. Davidson.

He took as his text I Chronicles xix, 13th verse—"Be of good courage, and let us behave ourselves valiantly for our people and for the cities of God.

THE CHAPLAIN OPENED

by stating that strong, firm, courageous conduct is perhaps the characteristic most admired in men and most expected of them, especially when they are acting on behalf of others or as agents of the Almighty.

This was the ground of Joab's appeal in the text to the army of Israel on the eve of victorious conduct against the Syrians and Amorites.

In passing Mr. Davidson drew attention to the account of the conflict which arose from misinterpreting a kindness of King David.

Many estrangements arose now from false suspicions and we should dare to do kind acts even at the risk of misinterpretation, and we should beware of imputing motives which might prove to be false.

War having been declared Joab, in the text, appealed to the army in the consciousness that the people in the country behind them expected to be defended, and secondly that their cause was in the hands of God.

THE TWO PRINCIPLES

which were applied in the text were amply exemplified in the British army. Their campaigns the world over had proved them to be courageous, and those campaigns had been made in the interests of justice and good government.

Outrages of barbarious natives had been forced to give way at the point of British bayonets. The late Benin expedition was cited as an instance of this.

The speaker then went on to allude to his opportunities of comparing foreign armies with that of Britain, to the advantage of the latter.

Let us behave ourselves, said Joab. There is much in behaviour, and the speaker was glad the officers of the Battalion attached such importance on this point.

A case was instanced in which a British volunteer regiment had been lately disbanded for lack of soldierly behaviour and dress, and the war office was supported by the House of Commons in its action.

Mr. Davidson then went on to apply the text to the coming visit of the Battalion to Montreal. Your people, your city send you forth, and look to you to do them credit. The remarkable triumphs of the 48th Highlanders in England had shown what Canadian volunteers could do, and to keep up the record.

In conclusion, he reminded them that they had a heavenly Country and a heavenly Commander to think of. The eyes of this Commander lovingly followed them, wherever they went.

Be temperate, be pure, be careful in language, manly in conduct. You belong to the Lord—do that which is good in His sight.

After the pronouncing of the benediction a verse of the National Anthem was sung, when the men filed out and formed up on the beautiful grounds in front of the old church and passed out by the eastern approach in fours.

The grounds and streets in the vicinity were crowded with citizens, and it was indeed an attractive sight, when standing across Hunter street, to catch occasional glimpses of the bright uniforms and glittering accoutrements as the Battalion marched down the slope.

On reaching the drill shed, the men were addressed by Col. Rell, who complimented them on their soldierly appearance and the large turn out, especially on an occasion of this kind, when it was meet that the newly-appointed chaplain should be greeted by a full corps.

The parade state was as follows;

A Co.—Capt. Stevenson, one lieutenant, four sergeants—22 men.

B Co.—Capt. Clegg, one lieutenant, four sergeants—10 men.

C Co.—Capt. Hill, one lieutenant, three sergeants—23 men.

D Co.—Capt. McGill, one lieutenant, two sergeants—22 men.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. John McCamus of Otonabee.

On Thursday night last Mrs. McCamus wife of John McCamus, and one of the pioneer residents of Otonabee, passed away at the ripe age of 82 years. The deceased was one of the most prominent and highly respected residents of the township in which she passed about 65 years of her life. She came from the north of Ireland to Canada about the year 1832. Her father was a city missionery of Manchester, England, whither he was sent from Ireland. She was the mother of Rev. J. A. McCamus of Norwood, Rev. D. N. McCamus, Port Perry, Mr. R. McCamus, Keene, and Miss McCamus, who resides at the homestead. The funeral, which took place on Saturday, was very largely attended. Rev. J. Liddy of Keene conducted the services at the Methodist church. Mrs. McCamus was one of the most respected residents of the township and passed away full of years, and left behind her a memory of good report.

The Late Mrs. Peter Huffman.

The death of Mrs. Huffman, relict of the late Peter Huffman, occurred this morning in Brighton. The deceased was born in Erensetown, Bay of Quinte, and with her family resided in Peterborough forty years ago, her husband being the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel for a period of eight or ten years.

Six children survive her, viz., Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. C. L. Lane, Mrs. Caldwell and Robert Huffman, of Brighton; Allan Huffman, of Peterborough, and Thomas Huffman, of Rochester.

The funeral will take place to-morrow in Napanee.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE WM. WALSH.

It Took Place at Half Past Three This Afternoon and Was Very Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Wm. Walsh was very largely attended this afternoon. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance, and the pallbearers were Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, Robt. Innes, Robt. Fair, J.J. Lundy, G. M. Roger and J. D. Collins. Interment took place in the Little Lake cemetery. Business places were closed as the procession passed down George street.

A TEST CASE.

The Canadian Wheelmen's Association Prosecuting.

A case which will be interesting to all wheelmen, was tried in the police court this morning, when Chas. Rickner came before the Magistrate charged with a violation of the statute regulating the amount of room which is to be accorded a bicyclist on the roadway.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, which was conducting the prosecution, and Mr. W. A. Stratton conducted the defence.

Mr. E. B. Edwards was the first witness called. He stated that he had been riding a bicycle for four or five years and had full control of his bicycle at all times. On May 13th, when riding south down George street, he had met Rickner driving a butcher cart between Murray and Brock streets. He was then riding at a rate of six or eight miles an hour on the right hand side of the street. Rickner was driving north and was on the other side of the street railway track. When just opposite J. J. Howden's butcher shop, the boy had turned his horse and crossed the track at a walk. Just as the horse got to within six or eight feet of him (Mr. Edwards) it broke into a trot and was turned directly across the roadway for the purpose of being driven into the lot on the north side of the butcher shop. The horse ran into the bicycle, striking Mr. Edwards on the shoulder and throwing the wheel up against the sidewalk. He was so severely injured as to be unable to walk with comfort for two weeks. The witness thought the fault lay entirely with the boy, stating that if he had not started his horse into a trot so suddenly, he could have passed in front of the cart in safety. He had gone into the butcher shop and remonstrated with the boy for running into him. He asked him why he had started up the horse so suddenly and the boy had said "I didn't think you would try to force yourself past me." He had observed the boy driving the horse into the lot several times since and the horse had always turned and walked in very slowly. From the time he first saw the cart it would have been impossible for him to stop suddenly without running the risk of throwing himself under the horse.

On being cross-examined by Mr. Stratton, Mr. Edwards stated that in his opinion the boy deliberately ran him down. When he first saw the rig it was 20 feet away, and was crossing the track diagonally, he had no idea it was going to turn at right angles and go directly across in front of him. When he saw it was about to do this it was ten or twelve feet off. He did not change his pace. He could not dismount without danger to himself in a distance of twelve feet.

Mr. Stratton asked witness if he thought he was not endangering the lives of the general public by riding on the highway if he was not sufficiently expert with a bicycle to stop it within a distance of ten or twelve feet, when only at the rate of six miles an hour?

Witness stated that he could not stop the wheel within that distance, neither could he have diverged its course when he first saw the cart so as to go behind it.

This was the case for the prosecution.

The defence called Mr. Harry Oke, who stated that he was passing at the time and saw two or three bicycles coming down the street at once, when the boy turned. He thought they were all about even. Mr. Edwards was the only one who had tried to go in front of the horse. He thought the affair was an accident.

Mr. Edwards again went into the witness box to state that there were no bicycles beside him. Mr. W. J. Thompson was about twenty feet ahead of him and had passed in front of the horse.

Mr. Dennistoun explained to the magistrate that the object of the prosecution was to ascertain who had violated the rule of the road in the case. He argued that the butcher boy being on the wrong side of the road was in fault and that if a favourable decision to his client were given in the case it would result in the law becoming more generally known and better observed. He drew attention to the fact that the statement concerning the trotting of the horse by the boy just as he crossed the street had been uncontradicted, and the boy's answer to Mr. Edwards' interrogation concerning it had confirmed the fact. The boy, he held, had shown negligence in this act.

Mr. Stratton, in speaking for the defence, urged that a rider who could not stop a bicycle in ten or twelve feet or diverge its course at twenty feet without endangering his life should not ride in the streets. He urged that Mr. Edwards, knowing that he was helpless on the bicycle, was guilty of contributory negligence when he did not slacken in speed under the circumstances.

In summing up the evidence, the Magistrate held that the boy, having complete control over the horse, should have stopped it—it would have been all right if he had even kept it on the walk instead of allowing it to trot. He thought the boy probably dashed ahead to get by first. He saw no malice in the act whatever, but the boy lacked ordinary caution. As the horse had struck Mr. Edwards, the defendant must have totally miscalculated the distance between him and the bicycle. For the moment the boy was on the wrong side of the street, he, therefore, should have used every precaution to avoid any accident. Even if Mr. Edwards were guilty of contributory negligence, this would not make the boy the less guilty.

A fine of $2 and costs was then imposed on the defendant.

The case will be appealed for the defendant by Mr. Stratton.

THE BIKE VS. THE BUGGY.

The Law of the Road Disregarded and Indifference to Damage Exhibited.

A gentleman of Nassau called at the EXAMINER Office to complain of the actions of cyclists. He was driving a few days ago on the Lakefield road near Morrison's gravel pit, at a point where the road is narrow. He met four wheelmen riding at a rapid pace and they rode so close that his buggy ran against the bank and the shafts of the buggy were wrenched off and none of them stopped to see whether he was injured or killed as might have been possible. He met other cyclists on the same day who rode very close to his vehicle and would not when asked, go farther away. He could hardly avoid them; for, instead of keeping to the right he had wheelmen passing him on both sides at the same moment. Wheelmen have their legal rights on the road but they have no special privileges, and those who transgress the laws of the road and neglect the demands of common decency by ignoring accidents arising from horses being frightened by bicycles, do much to prevent the general recognition of the rights of wheelmen, for which so great a fight seems necessary. A case in the police court reveals the fact that there are faults on both sides and it rests with both the drivers of vehicles and the riders of wheels to make the actions of both conform to the law and to the requirement of the duties of mutual good treatment of one's neighbours.

'The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE CONCLUDING DAY OF THE SESSION.

A Series of Reports Presented—A Jubilee Address to be Forwarded to "The Widow at Windsor"—$100 to the Victorian Museum.

Saturday, June 12th.

The Council went into session this morning at 9 o'clock, the Warden in the chair and all the members present.

After routine,

CHANGE OF DATE OF MEETING.

Mr. Pearce introduced a bylaw, which was passed, changing the date of the holding of the June session of the Council from the second to the third Tuesday in June.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Moloney, chairman, presented the report of the Roads and Bridges Committee as follows:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that this council accept the invitation of the Peterborough Farmers' Institute for a trip down the river.

2. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer be hereby instructed to make the repairs to the Pigeon Creek bridge mentioned in his report.

3. Your committee is of opinion that it is unwise to continue repairing the Mud Lake bridge as heretofore. If such bridge is to be maintained in future your committee is of the opinion that it should be rebuilt forthwith. Your committee is of opinion further that the town of Peterborough should contribute a fair proportion of the cost of the re-erection and maintenance of this bridge, and if the town of Peterborough will contribute such fair proportion this county will proceed forthwith with the work. Your committee therefore recommend that a special committee composed of the Warden and Messrs Moloney, Casement, Burnham and Fitzgerald be instructed to meet and confer with the town of Peterborough with respect to the above and report to the Warden not later than the first day of September next, whereupon the Warden shall call a special meeting of this council to consider such report, and the question of reconstructing or abandoning the above bridge that the county clerk be instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to the mayor of the town of Peterborough, with a request for a conference upon the subject.

4. Your committee recommend that the repairs to the north approach of the Buckhorn bridge recommended by the report of the County Engineer, be forthwith executed under the supervision of the Warden and the County Engineer.

5. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to have snow boards placed on the Burleigh bridge.

6. Your committee recommend that the Warden and the County Engineer be instructed to have the swing of the Wallace Point bridge refloored.

7. Your committee recommend that a new timber bridge be built over Deer River on lot 23, in the third concession of the township of Belmont according to the plans and specifications prepared by the County Engineer and that tenders be asked for the erection of the same and that the contract be let and work carried on under the supervision of the Warden, County Engineer and Mr. Brown.

8. That the matter of $34.61, the one half cost of repairing Deer River bridge, particulars of which are said to have been furnished this council by the clerk of the county of Hastings, be referred to the Finance Committee.

9. Your committee recommend that the Dominion Government be memoralized to have a pier and glance boom erected in connection with the swing of the Wallace Point bridge.

10. That the County Engineer be instructed to give an order for sufficient iron for one truss for the Plateau Creek bridge, Belmont, from the old iron from Crow River bridge stowed with W. L. Cornell, and that County Councilor Brown be instructed to take charge of the balance of such old iron as Mr. Cornell has disposed of the premises where the old iron is stored.

Your committee recommend that paragraph 14 of the January report of this committee be amended by striking out the words "and Douro" and that such clause be confirmed as amended.

12. Your committee recommend that paragraph 10 of the January report of this committee be rescinded and in substitution therefor your committee recommend that the county grant $150 for the road in said paragraph mentioned, on condition that the township of Monaghan grant $100 and the township of Cavan $150, each for the same purpose, and that Mr. Middleton be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

13. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of the reeve of Belmont to amend paragraph 12 of the January report of this committee.

14. Your committee recommend that the bridge in Asphodel, proposed to be built on the concession line in lieu of what is commonly called Steele's bridge, be constructed of steel with stone or concrete piers and abutments, provided that the township of Asphodel shall first acquire a right of way at least eighty feet wide, connecting the present forced road now used in lieu of the side line between lots 5 and 6, concession 2, Asphodel, with the concession line between concessions 2 and 3, Asphodel, such junction to be effected at a point at least 100 feet northerly of the northern end of the proposed bridge. Your committee further recommend that such bridge be constructed under the supervision of the warden, county engineer and Mr. Pearce, they to have full authority to advertise for tenders, let contracts and do all things necessary to be done with respect to the matter, provided that the warden be instructed not to proceed with the building of the bridge until the township of Asphodel pass a bylaw assuming all liability with respect to the present existing bridge, so soon as a new bridge is completed.

15. That a special grant of $25 be given to each of the Townships of Galway, Burleigh, Harvey and Chandos for repair of roads, and that Mr. Eastland be commissioner for the expenditure of same in Burleigh and Chandos, and Mr. Shaw in Galway and Harvey.

16. That no action be taken with respect to the application of the township of Belmont to amend the terms of the special grant of this county towards opening up the boundary line between Marmora and Belmont.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JOHN MOLONEY,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
June 12, 1897.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Middleton, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

COUNTY PROPERTY

as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that the matter of altering the door leading from the barrister's room to the court room be left in the hands of the Warden and County Engineer with power to act.

2. Your committee recommend that the matter of sewerage in connection with the gaol and court house be left in the hands of the County Engineer with power to act.

3. Your committee recommend that the Warden be instructed to procure a suitable flag for the Court House.

4. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer procure sufficient lumber to repair the sidewalk in connection with the Court House grounds.

5. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer procure a suitable case for holding the blank forms of the County Crown Attorney.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JAS. MIDDLETON,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, June 12th, 1897.

Report adopted.

Mr. Shaw introduced a bylaw for the regulation of the sale of lands by taxes.

Mr. Shaw in answer to Mr. Casement, said the object of the bylaw was to have certain lands, which would not pay for sale, exempt from the expense of advertising. The bylaw was passed.

FINANCE.

The large turn-out of cricketers was most encouraging, and the club looks forward to a most prosperous season. As will be noticed quite a number of the older players are again taking up the willow.

QUOITS.

A very interesting and exciting game of quoits, which was most hotly contested for the championship of the Point, was played off between Mr. J. Davidson and J. Doherty at Jubilee Point on Thursday. After several ties up to the twentieth end, the last quoit delivered was the deciding one. It was a ringer, and was delivered by Mr. Davidson. So close was the game that in the same end Mr. Doherty had a lean-to. As quoit tossers the team is hard to beat.

BASEBALL.

The following team is representing the Park Nine over in Lindsay to-day,—Thorne p., C. Graham c., Scott 1st b., Cassidy 2nd b., J. Arsenault s. s., Parnell 3rd b., Dolan l. f., Jos. Arsenault c. f., Sheridan r. f.

LACROSSE.

The Granites went down to Hastings on Saturday afternoon for a game of lacrosse. They thought they were to play a junior team, but claim they ran up against the seniors. The Peterborough team lost by 5 goals to 1.

TOPPED THE SCORE.

The 57th Team Heads the List in the Lee-Enfield Series, but Three Martini Teams Made Larger Scores.

In the Dominion Rifle Association shoot on Saturday, Peterboroughs No. 1 team stands a tie with New Westminster for fourth place, each making 880 points. In the Lee-Enfield series Peterborough stands head and shoulders above any of the other teams. The only scores which approached Peterborough's were made with the Martini rifle.

The Peterborough score was as follows:

F Bartlett	91
W H Hill	85

Peterborough's No. 2 team scored 785.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

There is an agitation going on by the clerks and employees of the stores to have early closing for the summer. It has been suggested that the stores close during June, July and August, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings each week at 6 or 7 o'clock, and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings to remain open later as at present. This scheme might work fairly well if the customers of the stores were in sympathy with this early closing movement, and should it go into effect they could the more show their sympathy by purchasing their supplies during the day or during the three evenings of the week when the stores are open. It is not so much for the benefit of the merchants themselves as those who are employed. Can anyone offer a better suggestion?

On Wednesday evening last a concert was held in the town hall under the auspices of the Church Boy's Brigade. The concert was a success in every way, the hall being comfortably filled with an appreciative audience. Rev. G. Warren, chairman, opened the proceedings with a few remarks with reference to the Brigade and the objects of its organization. The following excellent programme was well carried out:

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 80; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

A woman's greatest mission in this world is to help baby. Teaching baby to eat, and to walk and to talk. A rightly constituted woman finds in these her happiest employment. Too many women miss this happiness because of their own ignorance or neglect. No woman should be ignorant of her own physical make-up. No woman has the right to neglect the health of those delicate organs of her body upon which depends the life and health and happiness of her children. The Mosaic command to "increase and multiply" was no idle, thoughtless edict. It was the command of Jehovah. The woman who annuls it by neglect of her womanly health commits a crime.

The best medicine for women is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes a woman capable of performing her duty to herself, her husband, her children and mankind. It acts directly upon the organs distinctly feminine and makes them strong and vigorous. It does away with the discomforts of the period preceding motherhood. It makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism.

In a family of parents and children there is much care, many worries, numerous perplexities. But, if sickness comes, everything else is small beside it. How valuable then is a doctor in the same block, or an experienced neighbor next door. How much more comfortable for all concerned is a standard medical book on the table or the bookshelf. It is less expensive than the doctor, probably more reliable than the experienced neighbor. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best thing of this sort ever published. It contains 1,008 pages of plain talk, and careful illustrations. Many of the pictures are colored and true to nature. Nearly 100 pages are devoted to the diseases of women. There are prescriptions for their cure at home. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, and get this book FREE in strong manilla cover. QUEEN AND EMPRESS.

The Author of "The Light of the World" Writes His Study of Victoria.

His Earliest Recollection the Queen's Proclamation of Accession on the Demise of King William IV.—An Article That Is as Comprehensive as the Reign of the Sovereign and Keenly Appreciative of Its Benefits.

By SIR EDWIN ARNOLD.

I have been requested to contribute a study upon the Queen of England. Honored by such an invitation, I did not ask myself if I possessed the requisite leisure, because no leisure could possibly be adequate, without unlimited space, to a perfect performance of the task. Nor did I examine my conscience upon the point that calm impartiality apparently demanded (and no doubt highly desirable for a true historic spirit); because it is certain that any Englishman who, like myself, has lived his English life under the glorious reign of Victoria, sharing all its blessings and securities, and who could yet sit down to write about his sovereign and her times as he would of Queen Nitocris or the Babylonian Constitution, must become by that very fact utterly incompetent, untrustworthy and uninstructive. The personal element is a natural part of contemporary criticism and record. Posterity alone can afford to be impersonal and dispassionate, and I must at the outset frankly confess myself unable to look back along the days of Her Majesty's rule—which are those that make and bound my own memory—without a loyalty much too ardent for impartiality, and a gratitude far too strong for repression; without feelings of native pride, of natural admiration, of high thankfulness, and of firm hopefulness, with an avowal of which I had better begin, since they are quite certain speedily to make themselves apparent.

One of my earliest and most distinct boyish recollections is of the proclamation of Her Gracious Majesty as "Queen Victoria." I was a child about four or five years old, and was being led by my nurse through the streets of a provincial town where we lived, when suddenly a troop of yeomanry calvary, in what seemed to my young eyes most gorgeous and dazzling military array, came loudly and grandly riding along the causeway. At the corner of the road they halted; and trumpeters blew a martial fanfare; the officers drew their swords, which shone gallant and bright in the sun of that glad day of June; and next, some imposing personage in the cavalcade—an elderly officer—recited from a paper certain sonorous words, of which I then understood but few, although I know now that what the silver-haired colonel said was approximately this:

"Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy our late Sovereign Lord King William the Fourth, of blessed and glorious memory, by whose decease the Imperial crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland is solely and rightfully come to the high and mighty Princess Alexandria Victoria, it is therefore here published and proclaimed that the high and mighty Princess Alexandria Victoria is now, by the death of the late Sovereign of happy memory, become our only lawful and rightful liege Lady, Victoria, by the Grace of God, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith. To whom let all therefore acknowledge faith and constant obedience with all hearty and humble affection; beseeching God, by Whom Kings and Queens do reign, to bless the Royal Princess Victoria with long and happy years to reign over us. God Save the Queen!"

Such were the historical sentences only a portion of which found their way to my childish mind that June morning in the year 1837, mightily emphasized to the small boy's wandering thoughts by the echo of big guns fired from the ships and forts on the river. Of the famous doing in London on that great occasion little or no echo reached our quiet town at the time. I did not know—and probably could not have understood—how the young Queen came out into the balcony from the window of the Presence Chamber at St. James' Palace, between Lords Melbourne and Lansdowne, and was hailed with thunderous cheers by vast crowds of her people; and how she was observed to shed tender and wistful tears at the moment of that great spectacle. When she retired to her mother's apartment, being proclaimed Sovereign, she held that conversation and made that request of which the world afterward heard with so much sympathy:

Sought the King of Kings.

"I can scarcely believe, mamma, that I am really Queen of England. Can it indeed be so?"

"You are really Queen, my child," replied the Duchess of Kent; "listen how your subjects still cheer your name in the streets and cry to God to bless you."

"In time," said Her Majesty, "I shall perhaps become accustomed to this too great and splendid state. But, since I am Sovereign, let me, as your Queen, have to-day my first wish—let me be quite alone, dear mother, for a long time." And that day Victoria passed the first hours of her reign on her knees praying to Heaven for herself and her people, with supplications innocent and noble, which have surely been heard.

It was not wonderful indeed that a reign so commenced has been followed by happy and famous years. But I must leave to Court chroniclers, and to the gold and brocade of professional history, all the details of that time of proclamation and coronation, to mention one other small fact of the hour which somehow became mingled in my mind with the ceremony, and which to-day curiously recurs to serve me as a commonplace but striking measure of the prodigious progress achieved during the Victorian era. As I returned home, asking a hundred questions from my nurse about kings and queens and the new reign, a man in the street was selling lucifer matches—evidently as a singular novelty—at a halfpenny apiece. He held up the little sticks one at a time, and then, drawing them through a folded piece of sandpaper, produced an instantaneous flame to the amazement of the passers-by, and doubtless to his own profit. On that morning, as on all before it, I had probably, on awakening from sleep, witnessed my nurse kindling the fire, or lighting the dressing candles, with an old-fashioned flint and steel, laboriously striking the wayward sparks into the smutty tinder, and then applying to the traveling fringe of fire the point of a splinter of wood dipped into brimstone, bundles of which used to be sold by beggars in the highways. So did we procure the sacred element when this reign began, little if at all advanced beyond the fire-stick of the savage. Since then what a cheap and universal possession has that precious element of fire become, which, according to the Greek myth, Prometheus stole from the gods at the cost of such terrible penalties! Among the countless vast advances made by civilization generally, and by Britain in particular, during the Victorian era, how rarely does anybody think of the enormous service rendered everywhere by the simple innovation of the phosphorus match, which I thus saw sold for a halfpenny a sample on the Queen's coronation day. Ex luce lucellum! There is profitable reflection to be got out of that early match. The principle of it was, of course, the same as that of the branch which chafes itself into conflagration in the dry forest, or the fire-stock of the aboriginal—a production of flame by friction; that is to say, with the mere substitution of phosphorus or chlorates for carbon. But what a difference to mankind! We were far from many vast additions to common life in those first days of this great reign, and among the smaller boons we were far from the amazing luxury of an age which can buy a box of wax vestas for a penny. That little match makes one think of other large contracts. For example, the total revenue of Great Britain and Ireland in 1837 was £47,240,000; in 1896 it stood at over £100,000,000 (for 1895 it was £110,000,000.) The uniabment of the pillory was still sometimes enforced, and the criminal law was cruel and sweeping. There was no railway open between Liverpool and Birmingham until some weeks after the youthful Queen's accession. Later still was tried that first experiment with the electric telegraph between Euston Square and Camden Town, there being present at the momentous inauguration Wheatstone and Cook, Fox and Robert Stephenson, pioneers of the electric, telegraphic and telephonic age. The Earl of Beaconsfield, as Mr. Disraeli, had yet to make that famous failure of his maiden speech (it happened on December 7, 1837) when he, who lived to be Prime Minister and to arrange the affairs of the continent, exclaimed: "I have begun many things without success, and have afterwards succeeded; you will not listen now, but the time will come when you shall hear me." The reign was not a year old when the "Sirius" steamer, earliest of her class, left Cork harbor for New York, followed by the "Great Western." Duels were still of no uncommon occurrence. Grace Darling had yet to add her sweet name to the record of British womanhood by rescuing the crew of the Indiaman "Forfarshire," and initiating with her heroism the system of our coast lifeboats. India was reached only by the long Cape route, and not until October 12, 1838, did that memorable meeting assemble at the Jerusalem Coffee House which first considered the possibility of steam communication with the East by way of the Mediterranean and the Arab Sea, cherishing, moreover, the then wild dream of arriving at Bombay in forty-three days. And not before November of the same year had the City Council of London vested its freedom in a gold box to Thomas Clarkson as token of his triumph in the struggle for the deliverance of enslaved Africans, "thereby"—so its memorable inscription ran—"obtaining for his country the high distinction of separating her commercial greatness from principles incompatible with the exercise of the Religion of Mercy, and achieving a moral victory whose trophies shall endure while Justice, Freedom, the Clemency of Power, and the peaceful glories of civilization shall have any place in the admiration of mankind." We had practically had no use as yet of railroads, telegraph wires, and of steam navigation, and were only beginning to get the new machine of our popular representative institutions into order at the time when the coronation trumpets sounded, and when I saw, as a kind of scientific miracle, my first lucifer match.

Without too closely pursuing the comparison—intensely attractive though it might become—between Then and Now, it is worth while to dwell a little longer upon those wonderful advances characterizing the period to which the name of the Victorian era will always hereafter be given. For the Queen has borne an immense personal part in moulding her age, and the age has reflected back upon her name and her greatness a lustre beyond the glory of all other reigns, re-establishing the ancient ideal of monarchy, and, in an epoch of wild change and much political commotion at home and abroad, displaying to the world this ancient throne of England securely planted amid falling dynasties and falling republics, like a vast rock in the stormy sea. The population has increased from 25,000,000 in 1837 to about 40,000,000. The aggregate property of the people, calculated by Sir R. Giffen on the basis of the income tax figures, has been augmented from about £4,000,000,000 to more than £10,000,000,000. Of swelling revenues, I have already spoken. Pig iron, a great test of industrial activity—produced in 1837 to the extent of 1,250,000 tons—was in 1884 made to the extent of more

SKIN DISEASES!

One Remedy Which has Never Failed—Tried and Tested Ointment.

Because other alleged remedies for piles, scrofula, eczematic eruptions, scald head, chafing, black heads, salt rheum and skin diseases generally have proved useless, don't condemn Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. For instance, Nelson Simmons, Meyersburg, Ont., writes:

"I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Itching Piles, and can recommend it highly. Since using it I have had perfect freedom from the disease."

Peter Vanallen, L'Amable, Que., had the eczema for three years. He tried three doctors, but received no benefit. One box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Pills cured him completely. Large scales covered his legs and body, but the Ointment soon removed them. He will swear to these facts.

Chase's Ointment may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers Edmanson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto. Price 60 cents.

Mother's greatest remedy for coughs, colds, bronchicial and lung affections is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. The medicinal taste is wholly disguised making it pleasant to take. Large bottle 25 cents.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world working exactly the same premise. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Nerve is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

than 7,000,000 tons; of cotton, we consumed then 406,000,000 pounds, and now consume over 1,500,000,000 pounds. In foreign trade our advance is more than 450 per cent.; the output of coal is twenty-five times greater; the import of tea is 420 per cent., and of tobacco 150 per cent., more than than in 1837; while our shipping has risen by 700 per cent., and to-day, by an immense proportion, dominates all the waters of commerce. In 1837 our colonial population was under 4,000,000, but it now stands over 18,000,000, of course excluding India—which country, under the "pax Britannica," has well nigh doubled its native census. The total area of the British Empire, previously colossal, has grown to 10,000,000 square miles; and the subjects of Her Majesty, all directly looking to her as their sovereign, and ruled by her benignant hand, may be estimated en bloc to-day at more than 350,000,000 of human beings.

In locomotion, transport and intercourse Queen Victoria has seen and presided over a most marvellous progress. Her age has been the age of Steam, as the next will probably be that of Electricity. Not until 1836, as I have remarked, did the railway period really commence, and now more than £1,000,000,000 have been invested in iron lines making a net-work over the realm, worked with more than 20,000 locomotives, which can earn over £80,000,000 a year and employ 400,000 people. A glance has been given to the prodigious increase of British shipping, and to this iron has supplanted timber for construction, as steam has almost too thoroughly supplanted canvas for those who, like the present writer, love the poetry and passion of the ocean.

A SOCIAL REVOLUTION.

Crude and Brutal Material Facts That Point an Obvious Moral.

To mention the postoffice is to speak of an absolute social revolution, for in 1837 only 88,000,000 letters were carried during the year, while now 2,000,000,000 pass almost without a singe miscarriage. The electric telegraph and those submarine wires which abolish time and distance, swifter than Ariel engirdling the world, are wholly Victorian; and Victorian also are those numberless mail steamers by which we easily pass to all ports and parts of the habitable globe, most of them under the flag of England. Albeit in 1850, the thirteenth year of the reign, out of 132,800 tons of British shipping 120,000 tons were built of wood, by 1883 we were launching more than 1,600,000 tons in the year, and had used 4,000,000 tons of iron and steel for building the seven years preceding 1884. If one would know what value may be added to iron by human manipulation, it is enough to cogitate the single fact that a ton of Bessemer steel costing £60 makes up into 40,000,000 springs worth £400,000, or three times the value of the same quantity of gold!

These crude and almost brutal facts—each one, however, containing a universe of significant development and of human advance within it—are adduced only to remind the reader of what an age of expansion in England Her Majesty's person has been the centre, the symbol, and, in a very clear and certain sense, one of the actual causes. Of course a similar progress was showing itself in other countries, notably in the United States. The Spaniards have a very true proverb, "Cuando Dios amanece, por todos amanece,"—and the light of the Victorian Renaissance was largely participated in by civilization. Somewhat peculiar to England, however, was the immense development of popular education. Who can overestimate the effect of Foster's Act, which in fifteen years raised the number of pupils in day schools from 1,152,389 to 2,371,328? By the same date the public grants for schooling, which had been barely £200,000 in 1837, were enlarged to more than £4,000,000. To break away a little from these grand but fatiguing figures, reflect a moment upon the superb march of science during this unparalleled reign. Huxley, a calm observer, looking back from the heights of his later years, called the Victorian period a "revolution of modern minds." Out the love of knowledge pursued with single hearts before the reign, or at its commencement, by Herschel and Laplace, Young, Fresnel, Cavendish, Lamarck, Davey, Jussieu, Cuvier, Decandolle, Faraday, Tyndall, Darwin, and their like, these sprang under Victoria—as ever springs—the unsought fruit of rich practical applications. The illustrious authority already cited enumerates, as three physical discoveries sufficient to immortalise the reign, the scientific doctrines, first of the molecular constitution of matter; secondly, of the conservation of energy; thirdly, of evolution as divined by Darwin. That last illustrious name shines of itself like a lonely star of glory sufficient to make splendid the Victorian constellation of talent.

Remember, too, how the benign arts of medicine and remedial surgery extended their borders. From the sanguinary fields of the Crimean war arose, like an angel of compassion, Florence Nightingale, with all that train of skilled and gentle nurses, afterward following her example, who have altered the history of the sickroom and regenerated our hospitals. Lister's antiseptic treatment of wounds, founded on the wonderful information obtained by the microscope, and such experiments as Pasteur's about infinitesimal life, stripped operations of their previously deadly peril by reason of septic organisms, while—as if science would obstow a fitting boon on the youthful Queen—Simpson in Edinburgh, simultaneously with Wells and Morton in the United States, early in the Victorian Age, performed those merciful experiments with chloroform which terminated the epoch of unavoidable anguish for sick and wounded patients, robbed even war of its worst features, and commenced the present blessed era of anaesthetics. Read what a renowned surgeon, Dr. Brudenell Carter, writes about that happy discovery

"The use of anaesthetics has changed the whole aspect of surgery. Prior to 1847, operations were few in number, and were almost limited to the amputation of limbs, the removal of cancerous and other tumors, the resection of a few of the larger joints, cutting for stone and the ligature of main arteries for aneurism. The pain suffered by the patients was so horrible as to tax severely the endurance of the bravest and strongest, and to depress seriously, and often beyond recall, the powers of life. Death from shock was by no means uncommon, the patient sinking in a few hours from the effects of the suffering which he had undergone. The writer well remembers as a medical student, turning sick and faint at the agonies which he was called upon to witness; and it was a point of honor with operators in those days to abbreviate such agonies as much as possible, and to cultivate speed in operating as the highest and most valuable form of dexterity. Nothing was attempted which could not be done quickly, and an amputation in the hands of a practised surgeon had almost the appearance of a feat of legerdemain. For the separation of the lower limb above the knee, of course not including dressing, 20 seconds has been known to suffice; and 40 seconds was regarded as a period of time which no one was justified in exceeding. When anaesthetics were employed, it came to surgeons as a kind of revelation that they need no longer be in haste; and they have utilized this knowledge in making a leisurely examination of the parts about which they were employed."

THE QUEEN BEE.

Her Majesty Likened Unto the Heart of a Busy Bee

It is Queen Victoria, however, whom we are studying, and not any history of her glorious reign; yet such a brief and almost breathless survey of its course as I have dared to proffer is by no means irrelevant even to the strictly personal view. It suffices to recall to the well-informed mind, which will more or less successfully fill up the outlines of these mere allusions, in what a busy and interesting hive of imperial life Her Majesty was the Queen Bee. And if there were space to indicate, in addition, the glories of the literature of the reign; the achievements of its art; the large steps taken in the promotion of the love and study of music; the gradual elevation and recent social recognition of the drama; the animated pursuit of philosophy; the sustained cultivation of learning; and the opening up of unknown geography, gently, as of old, by British enterprise—the conviction would be yet more deeply stamped upon the intelligent mind that such a period in our history needed and received a providential head. Africa had yielded up almost all her immemorial secrets to Victorian explorers. The vast island of Australia—only a little unveiled by Van Diemen and Cook—kept its treasures of gold and of natural marvels for this favored time. The arrow-headed slabs and cylinders of Assyria, and the larger part of the Egyptian hieroglyphics, with their precious indications, were deciphered for the same fortunate generations. They witnessed also, as has been remarked, that sudden transformation of the navies of the world from its old material of timber to the new armor-clad pattern and fabric which—thanks to the iron and coal hidden away by nature in the English soil, to the skill and ingenuity of her children, and to the accumulated wealth drawn from that commerce which the Queen's flag protects—has given to Great Britain a real and visible sovereignty of the seas. We are as yet, apparently, far from the Millennium, and our period has unhappily been checkered by many wars, in most or all of which, however, that flag has been upheld, upon many sanguinary field, by the soldiers of Her Majesty, with a faithful valor recognised and admired by all the world; so that neither the vast armed multitudes of Russia, nor the sepoy in rebellion, nor any enemy in any conflict, has seriously broken the haughty tradition of British victory, embodied and sustained in the Queen's dear name.

The Crowned Mother.

The august and illustrious figure which has been the centre, the token, and the imperial presiding genius of all this progress and prosperity can never be detached in history from the magnificent records of her time. The story of her life and the story of her people's life have flowed onward together, inextricably blended, indissolubly connected. At the bottom of the might and energy and enterprise illustrated by all majestic chapters in the chronicles of England have ever been from the first the deep religious instincts and strong family affections of the people, both of which the Queen's royal nature was created to embody, reflect and exemplify. Her household, from its days of bridejoy and domestic sunshine to its days of widowhood and lonely duties, has been like that chief and special golden queen-cell in the hive, round which all the others cluster, and by the welfare of which they measure and regulate their own. Among the wives of England this sceptred wife; among the mothers of the land this crowned mother; among the widows of her people this throned Lady Victoria, whose sorrow seemed the sorest, as her burden was the greatest—has been always one of the women of the realm, representing them all, leading them all, understood by them all. The English have homely and domestic ways of manifesting national feelings; for example, they love their navy and take enormous pride in it, in consequence of which strangers in our confines are amused to notice how very many boy-children are dressed by their fond mothers in the garb of a British bone-jacket. The least reflective visitor can perceive that here, at least, is a people which will grudge no public money to sustain the navy. So it would be curious and significant to know how many girl-children in the realm bear for good fortune and for loyalty the names of their Royal Highnesses the Princesses of the Blood, a goodly number of whom have grown up round the knees of the Queen. At the root of her greatness has surely been her gentleness. The half-forgotten court gossip of the past is full of little tales of the tenderness which underlies the well-known force and firmness of Her Majesty. When, on the death of King William the Fourth, Queen Adelaide wrote to the young Victoria announcing the event, the accessed Princess replied by a gentle and respectful letter which she address to "The Queen of England," and when a lady of the Court humbly remonstrated, saying, "Your Majesty, you only are Queen of England," the pretty reply was given: "Yes, but Aunt Adelaide must not be remembered of that by me." And when, at taking the oath of allegiance, the two Royal Dukes bowed low before her to touch her hand with their lips, she kissed them gravely, raising them from the ground, saying to the Duke of Sussex, "Do not kneel, dear uncle; if I am Queen, I am also your niece."

Marriage and Her Mother Heart.

The royal marriage, and the happy married years ensuing, for a while made the heavy circlet of empire lighter on that most gracious and noble brow. The Princess Royal was born (since, in her own exalted turn, an Empress and a widow), and a year later the birth of our Prince of Wales rejoiced the whole country. The Queen then, as always, possessed two empires, that of Great Britain and of her own household, and a month after the coming of the Heir Apparent she wrote to King Leopold of Belgium:

"I wonder very much who my little boy will be like. You will understand how fervent were my prayers and I am sure everybody must be—to see him resemble his father in every respect, both in body and mind. * * * We must all have trials and vexations; but if one's home is happy, then the rest is comparatively nothing. My happiness at home and the love of my husband, his kindness, his advice, his support, his company, make up for all."

HOME.

This Word the Secret of the Story of Nation and Sovereign Alike.

See how the Queen loved and loves that thoroughly English word "home,"—the secret of the story or nation and sovereign alike! Its utmost meaning is not felt or known by those who translate it into "chez lei" or "chez moi," and it tends to evaporate in religious where life is carried on in flats and hotels. Climate and the English instinct for isolation have had something to do with the intensity of sentiment which has come to cluster round the word; but that word is the most truly English and the most significant of all in our dictionary, so that Shakespeare could find no better one for heaven when he wrote:

"Thou thy worldly task has done,
Home art gone, and ta'en thy wages."

Well, perhaps it was my fault, but never mind, I have a pot of "Quickcure" in my kit and it will cure our bruises before we get home. You never saw anything like the way it will heal a cut or a bruise of any kind, and for sprains and strains it is—well, it is just "out of sight."

HENRY IEVERS, L.D.S., Quebec, writes: "One of my children sprained her ankle, which became much swollen and discoloured. Some 'Quickcure' was spread on linen, and applied; the pain ceased at once, the swelling was gone the next day, and on the fourth day she walked to school as usual. I have also proved it to be a wonderful remedy for cuts and bruises.

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. Premiums may be paid for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 years or for life, and if so desired the Company will commute the Instalment into a single cash payment. Same terms and conditions as in all other policies. FAIRWEATHER & CO.,

PETERBOROUGH AND TORONTO.

ANNIVERSARY OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

THE OCCASION WAS OBSERVED YESTERDAY.

Rev. W. G. Wallace, of the Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, Conducted the Services both Morning and Evening and also Addressed the Sunday School.

Yesterday was anniversary Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and Rev. W. G. Wallace, M. A., of Bloor street W. Presbyterian church, Toronto, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening and also addressed the Sabbath School in the afternoon.

As his morning text the Toronto Divine spoke from I Corinthians, xv chap., 10th ver., "By the grace of God I am what I am," being the expression used by the Apostle Paul in giving glory to the Almighty for his conversion. The speaker called attention to the fact that in the statement was no thought of self. He toiled and had caught the spirit of his Master.

In coming upon earth Christ set up a new ideal. Before His coming very different ones had existed. There was the old Greek one of self development to physical power and beauty and manhood. Many still keep this ideal before them.

There was also the Roman ideal—that of aspiration to power and influence over others. Again there was the ideal, which is still in existence, of money-making and attaining to wealth, but when a man makes such an end his ideal, it is a poor result for a life's labour.

All have thought on the question and each has asked himself what is his own ideal.

On this anniversary, continued the speaker, let us now ask of ourselves the question.

Is our ideal in life to have culture and finish and perfect development? This is a good ideal but it is not the highest. Is our ideal to attain power over others or to make for ourselves a name for might and wealth?

You may ask what is the matter with these ideals? The question is answered in a word. They are all self-centred. This is not Christ's ideal.

He came to minister unto others and not to be ministered unto.

All have thought of these other ideals, and in getting them we think we are reaching out towards the true ideal, but it is a transfiguring moment when man realizes that it is for others he should be working and not for himself. When the Divine image of Christ rises before him, as with Paul, and asks him for his help, it is then man comes to understand that he is not the most important one in the world, and forgetting self entirely he voluntarily surrenders his services for the advancement of others. This is Christ's ideal. He has taught you and me to find the glory of our being and to fill all our little acts with loving service for Him.

Mr. Wallace then proceeded to trace the rise of grace in the heart of Saul of Tarsus, pointing out that whatever of success Paul had in Christ's service, he attributed it to the grace of God in the words of the text. Paul realized that both he and Barnabas were set aside for a special work. Inside him was a mighty being leading him on to Christian service.

The speaker then referred to the sudden change in Paul from a man who was breathing out threatenings against the church to one who was a most faithful servant. Men of resolute will, he claimed, were never so determined as on the eve of a great change. So it was with a persecutor. He was always one who was not sure of his position. A man never talked so loud as when he was unsafe. With Paul he must have been fighting against conviction. It was just when he was in a state of doubt on his way to Damascus, when Jesus appeared to him, and his conviction of sin was followed by his conversion.

God's grace, like air, abhors a vacum. If the heart is empty of sin the grace will enter in.

Reference was then made to Paul's three years retirement to Arabia to study the spirit of the law and lay his plans for Christian action. When in retirement calm deliberate thought can be obtained upon any subject. Even the business man retires upon occasion to adistance to calmly reflect upon his operations. The Christian worker will deteriorate into a mere actor unless he takes time for study, and goes into the solitude of retirement at times.

Paul felt himself under the conviction that he was called to this special work. There was a Divine "must" resting on him, which had to be obeyed. God ordinarily blesses in Christian service the life which is being lived as He wants it to be.

When God calls us He does not take away that which is already good in us. A man may be honest in business, have sympathy with the suffering, have the power to speak to others, or be the possessor of a generous heart. These are not religion, but they are the things of which religion is made. God simply breathes upon them. He wants us to bring these things to His altar to be touched with life. No life here but can be glorified by His touch.

At the close of the service the annual anniversary tea and entertainment, which takes place to-morrow evening, was announced.

EAGER MULTITUDES

Attend the Monster $40,000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them.

Don't let go that Mighty Dollar until you have seen what we are doing for you.

4. That the report of Auditors be received and printed with the minutes.

5. Your committee beg to acknowledge the receipt of the account of Mr. R. C. Steele re Foley estate and recommend that the same be handed to the County Auditors.

6. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $100 be given to each of the East and West Peterborough Agricultural Societies.

7. That a special grant of $100 be given to the Peterborough Historical Society for the purpose of fitting up the Peterborough Historical Society Museum on condition that the representation of this county on the Board of Directors of such Society be equal to the representation thereon of the town of Peterborough, and that Mr. John Burnham be hereby empowered to nominate the repro entatives of this county.

8. That the matter of the decorating and illuminating Victoria Park be left in the hands of the Warden, County Engineer, County Clerk and Mr. John Burnham, with full power to act.

9. Your committee recommend that the account of $34.61 of the county of Hastings for one half cost of repairing Deer River bridge be paid. Your committee hereby instruct the County Clerk when remitting this money to call the attention of the county of Hastings to the fact that this county is really not liable to pay the part of these moneys expended on that portion of the road over 100 feet from the bridge.

10. That the County Clerk be instructed to procure from the Times Printing Co. 20 copies of their proposed map of the county of Peterborough at the price of $40, provided such maps show correctly the location of the leading and leading forced roads, post offices, railway stations and county bridges to the satisfaction of the County Engineer, such moneys to be paid on the certificate of the County Engineer, for whose services the county is to be put to no cost.

11. That the report of the County Solicitor as to the supplies to be furnished by the county to the county officials be printed in the minutes of the council.

12. That no action be taken with respect to the account of John Breckenbridge for $9, for services in connection with county council elections, except his account for postage.

13. That the County Treasurer be instructed to pay the contractors for painting, and also for the paint and oil used in painting county bridges, in each case upon the certificate of the County Engineer.

14. Your committee recommend that the account of the Trent Valley Canal deputation to Ottawa be paid.

15. Your committee recommend that the County Treasurer pay the Warden's account for general contingencies.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. CASEMENT,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, June 12th, 1897.

The report was adopted.

Bylaws, confirmatory of the above reports and also a bylaw to assess, levy and collect $18,289.38 for the use of the county, were duly passed.

Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Pearce, that the Warden, clerk and Mr. Casement be a committee to prepare an address to Her Majesty the Queen, congratulating her on her sixty years' reign, such address to be properly engrossed, signed on behalf of the County, by the Warden and clerk and forwarded to the proper authorities. Mr. Burnham's name was added to the committee and the motion passed.

Mr. Pearce, chairman, presented the report of the special committee on

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS

as follows:

GENTLEMEN,—The special committee on the Warden's address beg leave to report as follows:

Your committee endorse the sentiments of the Warden in reference to the Queen's diamond jubilee and agree with the suggestion that an address be prepared on behalf of the County of Peterborough, and recommend that in compliance with the suggestion of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society the park in front of the Court House be in future called Victoria Park.

Your committee recommend that the consideration of the clause of the Warden's report in reference to the re-valuation of the county be referred to the Committee on Equalization and Assessment.

Your committee concur with the Warden in his suggestion that the matter of the Mud lake bridge should be fully considered by the council.

Your committee recommend that the attention of the owners of steamers navigating the waters of the county be drawn to the negligent and unskilful manner in which some of the steamers and scows pass through the swings on the different county bridges, more especially at high water in the spring, whereby the piers and booms are seriously damaged, and that they be notified that they will be held liable for all damage done to the bridges.

This committee congratulate the county that the bills referred to in the Warden's address relating to Benefort and Kinmount bridges were withdrawn and hope that no such unfair legislation will again be attempted.

Your committee have no doubt that the Government were favourably impressed by the representations of the deputation last April in regard to the Trent Valley Canal and feel satisfied that the work will be pushed forward to completion at an early date.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. PEARCE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy shipped on Saturday four carloads of stockers to the American markets. The average price paid for steers was 2½ to 2¾c. and 2c for heifers—but heifers are slow sale even at that price. Prospects for steers continue about the same.

On Monday he made another shipment of export cattle. Prices are weaker—from 3¼ to 4c for choice stock.

Fat sheep are beginning to offer and prices will range from 2¼ to 2¼c. Spring lambs choice are bringing from $2.80 to $3.

There has been an advance in the price of live hogs, and selects will bring readily $5.25 per cwt. for immediate delivery.

S. S. SMITH, Souris, Man.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

Biliousness and liver complaint, headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE!

The epidemic of enthusiasm has struck the town! It came just as our citizens were lamenting the laxity on the part of some persons, and animadverting on the chances of allowing the Queen's Jubilee to pass uncelebrated in Peterborough—the Hub of Ontario.

We knew it would come, because we felt sure that it had to come. Faith in Peterborough's citizens and Civic authorities was strong enough to believe that, on every occasion, "when duty calls there you'll find them."

We congratulate the Council, the Board of Trade and the public spirited citizens of Peterborough, upon the bonfire of loyalty which has been lighted, for the enthusiasm they have aroused and for the spirit which now animates the masses.

THE GOLDEN LION, for the last quarter of a century of Her Majesty's reign, has never been more alive with the spirit of business preparation for any important function. BARNATO IS DEAD.

One Report Says He Committed Suicide,

ANOTHER THAT IT WAS ACCIDENTAL

London Streets in the Route of the Jubilee Procession Look Like a Circus Amphitheatre—The Indian Earthquake—Masonic Gathering in Albert Hall—Cable News.

London, June 14.—(Midnight.)—A special despatch from Funchal, Island of Madeira, off the west coast of Morocco, says that on the arrival there to-day of the British steamship Scot, which left Table Bay (Capetown) on June 2, for Southampton, it was announced that Barney Barnato, the South Africa "Kaffir King," who was among the passengers, had committed suicide by leaping overboard. His body was recovered.

A couple of weeks ago the cable despatches reported that Mr. Barnato was ill—one report said he suffered from fever, another that he had become subject to dementia, and had to be taken care of by friends. He was placed on board steamer for England, and the above despatch tells the rest.

FELL OVERBOARD.

A Later Report Indicates That It Was Not a Case of Suicide.

London, June 15.—The Daily Telegraph, which announces the death of Barney Barnato, says on the authority of a news agency that he fell overboard.

The late Barney Barnato was in many respects the most remarkable speculator of the century. Of all the Englishmen who have taken part in the development of South Africa, two only have secured a world-wide reputation. These have been Cecil Rhodes and Barnett Isaacs, more often and less respectfully styled Barney Barnato. Barnato was an assumed name, a sort of stage name, for he began life in South Africa by exhibiting a trick donkey about 25 years ago. He was then about 20 years old. Barnato was an English Jew, and illustrated in an extraordinary way the financial genius of his race.

Barnato was born in London. But little is known as to his early life, except that he received his instruction from a private tutor instead of attending the Public schools. He was a younger son, and at the age of 20 went to South Africa, then a much more savage territory than it is now, and but scantily populated by Englishmen or persons of English descent, to seek his fortune. The Kimberley diamond mines were just beginning to be productive. With his few pounds of capital he began dealing in diamonds in a small way. He was clever and pushing. Everything he touched he made successful. In five years he had earned enough in the retail sale of diamonds to purchase shares in the mines, from which his merchandise had come.

Before another five years had elapsed his holdings at Kimberley had become very large, and when the Transvaal gold fields were discovered, he had profits to invest in them.

In 1886 Barnato was a definite money power in South Africa and began to be spoken of as the rival of Cecil Rhodes. Unlike in temperament and even more unlike in personal ambition, the two men started in to be hot opponents. But in 1888 they reached the conclusion simultaneously that their respective interests could be best promoted by combining forces and the De Beers consolidated mines were the result, one of the most valuable pieces of property of its kind in the world. While in Africa Barnato married and had three children, two sons and a daughter.

LIKE A BIG CIRCUS.

London Streets Have the Appearance of a Great Amphitheatre.

London, June 14.—Six miles of London streets to-day resemble the amphitheatre of a circus. From Buckingham Palace up Constitution Hill to Piccadilly on Piccadilly to St. James-street, once by way of Pall Mall, the Strand and Fleet-street to St. Paul's Cathedral, and after that across the Thames by way of Cheapside, King William-street and London Bridge, and back to the Palace, around through Borough, High-street, Borough Road, Westminster Bridge, Parliament-street, Whitehall and the Mall, the shops, hotels, residences, churches, parks and public buildings are hidden from view behind miles and miles of pine board seats.

Not one foot of available space along the entire route for the Jubilee procession is left unoccupied. The sloping roofs of the churches, the tops of the lower houses, the gaps between buildings—every conceivable place where there is a possibility of seating a human being, has its row of seats. Every carpenter in London is working along the route of the procession, and the permanent building trade is at a standstill, while the artisans of the hammer and saw are getting the unprecedented wages of $5 and $6 a day.

Some of the stands which are wholly or partly finished have been temporarily decorated by owners, so as to see how they will look on Jubilee Day. Some of them are most attractive sights, and if the other owners show the same decorative capacity, this part of London will soon look like a fairy town. Real flowers are to be used in the decorations profusely. At one or two stands, the box office has been opened, gaily decorated and lit with electricity at night. In the windows as a rule is a model of the particular stand as it will appear on Jubilee Day.

At present the sale of seats is very slack. People are waiting for the inevitable slump in prices. If stand owners only get a couple of guineas a seat the profits will not be large. As it looks now, there will be plenty of seats for sale Jubilee Day at a guinea, five shillings and one shilling.

There are people in London unfeeling enough to generate glee over the circumstance that landlords all along the route of the procession, who have evicted their tenants under the impression that prices of windows Jubilee Day would more than make up a year's rental, will probably lose not only on rents, but money paid for the erection of stands.

THE ATTACK ON FAURE.

Some People Fear That a Fanatic or a Madman May Attempt to Kill the Queen.

London, June 14.—The English papers briefly comment on the attempt on President Faure's life, but do not give it political importance.

The event produced great uneasiness in the public mind, enhanced by the approach of the Jubilee, since it is recognized that there is always the possibility that some fanatic or madman may make an attempt on the life of the Queen during her progress through the city on the 22nd.

All sorts of sensational rumors are circulating, one being that the police intend to take some action with respect to certain individuals now in Soho, the foreign quarter of this city. This would probably mean that the authorities are about to make arrests on quite a wholesale scale and that suspects being brought to Bow-street would be remanded for a week to enable the police to make enquiries.

At the expiration of that period and when the Jubilee would be over, the police would offer no evidence and they would be released. Improbable as this may sound, savoring so much of German and French police tactics, there is no doubt that many foreigners believed it and left London.

I fancy, moreover, many others will be closely watched by detectives on Jubilee Day.

Some newspapers and their correspondents profess to trace the hand of an anarchist in this latest affair, but the majority see only the act of some madman and express general sympathy with President Faure and the French people and remark that it is devoutly to be hoped that the perpetrator of the outrage be speedily captured and severely dealt with, for the sake of the example as well as for punishment.

STARTLING NEWS.

Bechuanaland Natives Surprise a British Camp and Kill Six Men.

Vryburg, Bechuanaland, June 14.—The startling intelligence has been received here that the police camp at Mashowing has been attacked by a body of natives 500 strong, and that six of the police have been killed. The camp is situated in the heart of the district where the rebellion broke out last January, and the supposition is that the natives came by stealth from Langberg and took the camp by surprise. A body of 100 volunteers have started for the scene of the outbreak.

VICTORIA'S DESCENDANTS

Will in Time Rule Germany, Russia, Greece and Roumania.

London, June 15.—The Times publishes this morning a table showing that in the ordinary course of nature the future rulers of Germany, Russia, Greece and Roumania will be the immediate descendants of Victoria. Commenting editorially on this fact The Times observes:

"The British monarchy to-day has more definite recognition among the courts of Europe than even a century ago, when the King of Great Britain was also the sovereign of Hanover. Such dynastic considerations are perhaps of less importance now than they were formerly, but they tend to develop friendly intercourse."

THE INDIAN EARTHQUAKE.

It Was Worse Than Reported—Lives Lost and Houses Destroyed.

Calcutta, June 14.—Later reports increase the gravity of the earthquake shocks of Saturday last in this city and its vicinity. An extensive area was affected and has caused much misery among many of the poor Eurasians and natives.

The shocks were felt at Simla, Agra, Bombay, Manipur and at many places far down the Central Provinces. An immense amount of damage was done at Hooghley, Burdwan and Dace, where several persons were killed, and at Gopalpoor, Patha, Ranagani, Bankipoor, Balasor, Muaffarpoor and Monghyr. A terrific shock was experienced at Darjilling and many houses were destroyed. Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railroad is interrupted. Bridges have been damaged and a train was overturned on the Assam-Bengal line. The ground opened at Manipur and the town of Kohima, north of Manipur, was severely shaken up and damaged. The heat prevailing is the highest on record, 126 degrees in the shade having been registered at Jacobabad, on the frontier of Baluchistan.

TEN THOUSAND MASONS

Were Congregated in Albert Hall, London, All in Gorgeous Regalia.

London, June 14.—The Masonic meeting at the Royal Albert Hall this afternoon, in commemoration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, was a notable function. The hall was packed by over 10,000 Masons in gorgeous regalia. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught arrived at 4 o'clock, preceded by trumpeters, sounding fanfares. The grand officers lined the aisle to the dais. The Prince of Wales, as Grand Master of England, followed by an imposing staff, composed of grand officers, moved to the sound of the majestic music, to his throne, where, surrounded by a brilliant phalanx of officers, he was received and greeted in the usual form of salutation reserved for his high station. The Prince then addressed the audience and announced that the admission fees for the ceremony amount to £7000, half of which would go to the Prince of Wales Hospital fund and the other half to different Masonic charities. The Duke of Connaught moved an address to the Queen in behalf of the Masons, and it was carried with loud applause, after which the whole assemblage joined in singing the National Anthem to the accompaniment of the organ.

Honored at Oxford.

London, June 14. Among the recipients of honorary degrees from the University of Oxford are Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of the Dominion of Canada; Sir William F. Whiteway, Premier of Newfoundland, and E. L. Godkin, editor of The New York Evening Post.

Closer Imperial Relations.

London, June 14.—All the afternoon newspapers discuss the speeches which the Duke of Devonshire, as President of the British Empire League, and the Premier of Canada, the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, made at Liverpool on Saturday. They generally warmly approve of the references made to the necessity for closer Imperial relations. The free trade criticisms of the Duke of Devonshire are coldly treated by the Liberal newspapers.

Frank Butler on Trial.

Sydney, N. S. W., June 14. The trial of Frank Butler, the Australian, who is suspected of killing 14 men and perhaps many more, began to-day on the charge of murdering Capt. Weller, while gold prospecting with him last September near Sydney.

A Second Bomb Found.

Paris, June 14.—This afternoon the police found a second tube filled with powder and scrap iron near the scene of yesterday's explosion. They are of the opinion the miscreant is probably the man who placed explosive tubes of a similar character in the Place de la Concorde during the recent visit of the Emperor Nicholas.

Statue to Mrs. Siddons.

London, June 14.—Sir Henry Irving to-day unveiled the memorial statue of Mrs. Sarah Siddons, the famous English actress, erected on Paddington Green, close to Paddington Old Cemetery, where her remains were interred 66 years ago.

Nobody Was Badly Hurt

Paris, June 14. A dynamite cartridge was exploded yesterday evening, in front of a cafe at La Grande Combe, 36 miles northwest of Nimes, in the Department of Gard, where serious labor troubles have been in progress for some time past. Many of the occupants of the cafe were thrown to the ground, but nobody was seriously injured.

AND NOW PEACE IS ASSURED.

The Final Ratification of the Boundary Treaty Between Great Britain and Venezuela Exchanged.

Washington, June 14.—The final ratification of the boundary treaty between Great Britain and Venezuela was exchanged at the State Department today. There were present Sir Julian Pauncefote, Senor Andrade, the Venezuelan Minister and his secretary of Legation, Acting Secretary of State William S. Day and Assistant Secretary Thomas W. Cridler, who has been instrumental in framing the various treaties, protocols and other writings connected with the treaty. What remained to be done to-day was to exchange the copies of the treaties held by each party and to sign what is known as the exchange protocols. For this purpose Senor Andrade brought along the same magnificent gold penholder with its eagle quill and diamond-studded heart, that had been used last February to sign the original drafts of the treaty. This pen is the property of the brother of the Minister, and was made for this particular purpose. It will be sent to Venezuela, now that it has fulfilled its functions, not to be used again, but to be preserved as a relic. When the signing was over and each of the parties held the exchange copies of the treaties there was a mutual exchange of congratulations.

BISHOP FALLOWS IN CHARGE.

Will Have Jurisdiction Over the Reformed Episcopal Church in Canada

New York, June 14.—Bishop Fallows, the presiding bishop of the General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church, was given episcopal charge by the council to-day over the synodical jurisdiction of Canada in the place of Bishop Campbell, resigned, until a new bishop is elected by the synod. It was decided also to devote the money from the December collection for church extension for the Canadian churches in need.

Bishop Cheeney of Chicago again made a request that his resignation of Friday be at once accepted. He said that it would be impossible for him to remain on any of the committees unless he could "stand unchallenged on the foundation of the Christian liberty upon which I came into the church in 1873." His resignation was accepted.

The whole matter of the change in constitution and canons was left over until the General Council of 1900 in Baltimore, as were some proposed changes in the prayer book. The only change made was the adding of an "amen" after the Gloria Patri in the evening service. The council adjourned.

The Enthusiastic Shopman.

A shopman was showing a lady some parasols. He had a good command of the language, and knew how to expatiate on the good qualities and show the best points of the goods. As he picked up a parasol from the lot on the counter and opened it he struck an attitude of admiration, and, holding it up, said:

"Now, there, isn't it lovely? Look at that silk. Particularly observe the quality, the finish, the general effect. Pass your hand over it," he said, as he handed it to the lady. "Isn't it a beauty?"

"Yes," said the lady; "that's my old one. I just laid it down there."—Tid-Bits.

THE SUPPLY OF GRAIN.

Decrease in Wheat But Increases in Corn and Oats Over Last Year.

New York, June 14.—The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada east of the Rocky Mountains and changes for the week are as follows:

June 14, 1897—22,086,000 bushels wheat, 16,621,000 bushels corn, 9,756,000 bushels oats; decrease, 1,704,000 bushels wheat; increases, 2,621,000 bushels corn, 327,000 bushels oats.

The visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada and the amount of wheat and flour now in transit to Europe is equivalent to 40,326,000 bushels, against 80,206,000 bushels one year ago, and of corn, 24,861,000 bushels, against 17,086,000 bushels.

THEY WANT THE CABLE.

Governor Lamington of Queensland Hopes the Pacific Cable Will Go.

Brisbane, Queensland, June 14.—In his speech at the opening of Parliament to-morrow, Lord Lamington, the Governor of Queensland, will express the hope that the Pacific cable scheme will be carried into effect at a very early date. He will emphasize the importance of this undertaking to Australian development.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 15.

The Fans are by no means tiring of the runaway games Toronto is making with their guests from across the line. They all knew that Springfield was down for another defeat and a record Monday crowd was in attendance yesterday afternoon. The final score was 16 to 4. Although very one-sided, the game was marked with very many of the features dear to the baseball rooters. There was hitting galore, some fine base-running, team playing and fielding by the Torontos.

GREAT PROGRAM MAPPED OUT

For the Colonial Premiers and Those Who Will Accompany Them—A Round of Festivity From Now Well on Into July—The Premiers at Edinburgh.

London, June 14.—(Special to The World.)—A wide program has been arranged for the entertainment of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and party and the other colonial Premiers who are now visiting Great Britain. The program consists of banquets and receptions galore, and when the Canadian Premier returns home he will not only be a tired and titled man, but he will have done a great deal to advance Canada in this country. Mr. Laurier has many speeches to make. His receptions are cordial everywhere he goes.

To-morrow Mr. Laurier goes to Glasgow, where the colonial Premiers will be entertained by the Lord Provost.

On Wednesday the Lord Mayor of Manchester takes charge of the party, and the Canadian dignitaries will be shown over the works of the great ship canal. They will be dined in the evening, and a reception follows the dinner.

Thursday Mr. Laurier will take in the Ascot races, special arrangements having been made for the reception of the party.

On Friday the banquet at the Imperial Institute will follow an afternoon reception. This promises to be a brilliant affair.

Next day Prince and Princess Christian will receive the colonial Premiers at a garden party at Holloway Cottage, Egham, Surrey.

The party will rest on Sunday at the Hotel Cecil.

On Monday, June 21, Mr. Laurier and party will go to Birmingham, where the Premier will be entertained by the Lord Mayor.

They then return to London for the great day—Tuesday—when the Canadian Premier and Canada's corps will take a prominent part in the royal procession.

The following day (Wednesday) they will attend the garden party at Buckingham Palace, which promises to eclipse all former events of this character.

Thursday and Friday the party will rest before going to Spithead on Saturday to witness the greatest naval demonstration ever made by British warships.

Sunday, June 27, will be spent in London, Mr. Laurier and party making Hotel Cecil their headquarters.

On Monday, June 28, the Duke of Devonshire will tender a garden party in honor of the visiting colonial Premiers at Devonshire House.

Tuesday following the British Empire League will conduct a water party up the historic Thames. In the evening the Dominion Day dinner will take place at Hotel Cecil, Sir Donald Smith presiding.

On Wednesday, June 30, the Colonial Secretary, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, will entertain the Premiers of Her Majesty's colonies at dinner, followed by a reception.

The Lord Mayor of London will banquet Mr. Laurier and his fellow-guests at Guildhall on the evening of July 1. This event promises to be a very grand affair.

The evening following, July 2, the royal colonial banquet will take place, at which Canada will take the leading position.

On Saturday, July 3, the Earl of Jersey, who visited Canada a couple of years ago to attend the Colonial Conference as the representative of Her Majesty's Government, will entertain Mr. Laurier and fellow-guests at Osterley Park.

Sunday the visitors will rest at Hotel Cecil.

On Monday, July 5, a reception will be given to the colonial Premiers by the City of London in Merchant Taylors' Hall.

On the day following, Tuesday, July 6, the Middle Temple will banquet the visiting premiers.

On Wednesday, July 7, the Fishmongers' Company will also tender them a banquet.

On Thursday, July 8, the Cordwainers' Company will also tender a banquet.

The London Chamber of Commerce banquet to the colonial Premiers takes place on Friday, July 9. At this event Mr. Laurier will be lionized.

On Saturday, July 10, St. George's Club will banquet the visitors.

The foregoing is the accurate program as fixed to-day. Mr. Laurier has accepted invitations to all these receptions.

Mr. Laurier in Edinburgh.

Edinburgh, June 14.—The Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of the Dominion of Canada; the Hon. George Turner, Premier of Victoria; the Hon. Richard J. Seddon, Premier of New Zealand; Sir Hugh Muir Nelson, Premier of Queensland, and the Hon. C. C. Kingston, Premier of South Australia, arrived here today, and were received at the railroad station by Lord Provost McDonald and the municipality of Edinburgh. Later the visiting Premiers were presented with an address of welcome by the Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce.

The visiting Premiers later were entertained at a luncheon, presided over by the Lord Provost. There were 200 prominent people present, including Lord Balfour of Burleigh, the Earl of Rosslyn and the Marquis of Lothian. Lord Balfour toasted "The Colonies," to which Premier Laurier replied, saying, among other things, that the relations between the colonies and the Motherland were satisfactory, and that the colonies were all ready to stand by the Parent Country.

The Monsoon Has Arrived.

London, June, 14.—A despatch to The Times from Simla, India, says that the Monsoon has started in with full force on the west coast. Rain, varying in fall from three inches at Bombay proper to seven inches at Calicut, district of Madras, has been continuous for the last 24 hours. The winds are normal and there is every prospect of a favorable advance of the rain northward.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

A GOOD DEAL BETTER

THE FAST STEAMSHIP RESOLUTIONS

Moved by Sir Richard Cartwright in the House Yesterday and the Details Explained Sir Charles Tupper Offers Criticism Other Doings in the House of Commons.

Ottawa, June 14. (Special.)—No one can assert of the present Government that it is following in the rut made by its predecessors. It is launching out boldly in ways of its own and is prepared to accept the responsibility for them. As someone remarked to-day, between the double-barrelled tariff and the bottle-necked fast line we are making history of a peculiarly seductive sort. The debate on the proposed subsidy for a fast Atlantic service this morning brought out a great many points that were decidedly novel to the members of the House. It has been supposed that the fast steamers to be supplied under the contract of Petersen, Tate & Co. were of the usual type of ocean liners, such as the Lucania and Campania. From the explanations made by Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Dobell, it is evident that the Government propose as great a departure in ocean navigation as in tariff legislation. The vessels of the fast line, as approved by the Admiralty, are of a novel type, commonly but erroneously known as turret ships. The chief difference between them and the common type is that, while the latter come up straight above the water line, or with a convex side turned to the water, the turret ships at a point perhaps ten feet above the water line take a sharp sweep inward toward the centre.

In moving the resolutions confirming the fast Atlantic steamship service contract with Peterson, Tait & Co., Sir Richard Cartwright explained that the total subsidies in the Allan contract were to have been $1,125,000, of which Canada was to contribute $750,000 and Great Britain $375,000. Under the Peterson contract a better service was to be obtained with a Canadian subsidy of $500,000 and an Imperial subsidy of $250,000, or a total of $750,000. The Peterson ships were to be larger and faster than the Allans and of a higher standard. In place of ships of 8500 tons they were to have ships of 10,000 tons. In place of a speed of 20 knots they were to have nearly 21 knots. They were also to have a larger space for merchandise, from 1500 to 2000 tons, a considerable portion of which would be devoted to cold storage. The type of vessel was improved and equal to the Campania and Lucania of the Cunard Line. They also had the right to send across 150 immigrants on an outward trip at $15 a head. There remained only the question of the ability of the contractors to execute their contract, and the Government had every reason to believe they were able to do so. Her Majesty's Government had given their concurrence. The scheme will not involve an addition of $500,000 to Canada's annual expenditure. Between the saving of the present mail subsidy of $125,000 now going to the Allans and of certain other subsidies which may well be discontinued, the total additional cost to Canada will not exceed $300,000.

Sir Richard concluded by alluding to the disadvantage under which Canada labored as compared with the port of New York with respect to an Atlantic service. We had the advantage of a much shorter route from land to land, and there was ground for hoping that a large amount of traffic from Canada and a fair amount from the Western States would be diverted to the Canadian route. He thought he could fairly recommend the contract to the favorable consideration of the House.

Sir Charles Tupper said that he had listened with the very greatest pleasure to the statement of Sir Richard Cartwright. He had always attached the very greatest importance to the proposal to establish a line of fast steamships between Canada and Great Britain. The route between Canada and the Old Country was the shortest. His fear was, however, that it would not be possible to obtain the service at the amount named in the contract. His reason for his belief was that, though Mr. Huddart and Lord Brassey had made every endeavor to float a similar enterprise they had failed. He mentioned that he had obtained from the Secretary of State for the Colonies a promise that the British Government would make it an Imperial as well as a colonial service, and contribute a subsidy equal to half the subsidy of the Dominion of Canada. If the new vessels were to be turret ships it might detract from their advantages over the White Star and some of the lines running between Great Britain and New York. He drew attention to an important qualification between the tender of Peterson, Tate & Co. and that of the Messrs. Allan and Huddart. The Allan and Huddart tender provided for a weekly service at the outset, while the Peterson-Tate tender provided only for a fortnightly service during the first year of the contract. The competitive value of the line would be enhanced by making as good a beginning as possible, and the fact that a fortnightly service was to be given at first instead of a weekly service might minimize its attractiveness. He thought there would have been a great advantage in having the service in the hands of the Messrs. Allan, whose experience and resources would be a guarantee of its success. He was afraid that the security that the Government had exacted—£20,000—was quite insufficient unless the contract were awarded to a firm whose ability to perform it was beyond question. He had been advised that it was very doubtful if ships of the tonnage required, when fully loaded, would be able on account of their draught to reach Montreal. It was important, he said, that the improvements to navigation be made at once between Quebec and Montreal, in order to facilitate the passage of vessels of such deep draught as the stipulated tonnage would require. In conclusion, he thought that under the contract it might pay the contractors to forfeit the penalty for not performing a weekly service in winter, when traffic was light. The contractors might also, he said, take refuge in the clause of the contracts which exempts them from penalties for cause beyond their control, such as strikes, etc.

Sir Richard Cartwright: We have power to determine the contract if they fail to perform it, and undoubtedly that power would be used if they attempted the proceedings that my hon. friend alludes to.

Sir Charles Tupper, continuing, said that the company was exempted from the penalties for not having their ships ready in the stipulated time if they were delayed by "strikes of shipworkers or engineers, or other cause beyond the control of the contractors." If the contractors were not able to finance the scheme they might under the exception set that up as a cause beyond their control.

Mr. Davies said that "other causes beyond the control of the contractors" must be causes of a character similar to those mentioned.

Sir Richard Cartwright stated that the words were copied from the provisional contract made by the late Government with the Messrs. Allan.

Sir Charles admitted the high character of the authority to which Sir Richard had appealed, but the cases were not on a common ground. The late Government proposed to make a contract with a firm of immense resources and great experience. He said no one would be more ready than himself to congratulate the Government if they succeeded in providing such a service as was contemplated. Sir Charles raised the legal point that Parliament having passed an act authorizing the Government to make a weekly service, they had no authority to make any contract for a fortnightly service.

Mr. Davies replied that the act did call for a weekly service, but it did not state when the weekly service was to commence. He asked Sir Richard Cartwright to state the cost of the proposed new vessels as compared with that of the Campania and Lucania of the Cunard Line and the Teutonic and Majestic of the White Star Line. He would be satisfied with vessels equal to the Majestic.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that he believed the men whose experience entitled them to speak wit hauthority entertained a high opinion of the typ of ship that was depicted on the plan laid before the House. He thought it was a misnomer to speak of these as turret ships. These vessels were expected to be built for £500,000 sterling each, the total cost for the four being £4,000,000 sterling. Of course there would be a rivalry as to the methods of ship-building on the Clyde and on the east coast of England, where these vessels would be constructed, but the contractors, he believed, were determined to produce as fine a class of vessels as could be built. These ships could now be built at a cheaper rate than ships of a similar quality could be built for a year or two ago on account of the fall in the price of iron and steel. He thought there was no doubt that Peterson, Tait & Co. would receive substantial financial backing. They would be able to produce a class of vessels that would be quite equal to the types that had been mentioned. The accommodation and convenience of passengers had been very fully provided for in the plans. An unusual amount of pains had been taken to see that steerage passengers were well provided for. He thought the Government had reserved sufficient authority to deal with the points raised by Sir Charles Tupper. He thought that Petersen, Tate & Co. had every possible inducement to give a good service. He had formed a good opinion of Mr. Petersen, with whom he had had a conversation.

Mr. Dobell praised the new type of steamer highly.

Mr. Wood of Hamilton opposed the project as a matter of policy. He protested against the expenditure of such a large sum because the service was unnecessary, too expensive and over an undesirable and dangerous route for a fast service. This contract had been signed, sealed and delivered without the Government consulting its supporters, or the House as a whole; based on a resolution or statute passed by a defunct and discredited Parliament, which had been condemned by the people at the polls. On behalf of Hamilton and a large portion of Ontario he declared this contract was not in the interests of the country.

At 1 o'clock Mr. Wood moved the adjournment, and the House adjourned till 3 o'clock.

When the House met in the afternoon Mr. Casey secured the passage of a resolution authorizing he printing of the evidence taken by the select committee appointed to consider the bills of Mr. Casey and Mr. Maclean to better secure the safety of railway employes and passengers.

Then followed another discussion on the dismissal of officials.

Sir Charles Tupper read an alarming telegram regarding the Indians in the Northwest, but Mr. Sifton assured him there was nothing serious reported by Mr. Herchmer, Commissioner of Mounted Police at Regina.

After recess the consideration of the immigration votes was resumed and the sending of Mr. Devlin to Ireland was criticised.

Replying to Dr. Sproule, Mr. Sifton stated that the immigrants from Galacia, Austria, were of an agricultural class sent here by agents of the Government. Out of 1800 or 2000 arrived at Winnipeg, only 100 or 150 had given any trouble in providing for them. Finally the item carried.

Replying to a question by Mr. Foster, the Minister of the Interior said that it was proposed to spend $7000 in continuing the borings near Athabaska Landing for oil. Up to date no satisfactory result had been obtained.

Mr. Davin made a vigorous protest against the proposition to cut down the vote for the Northwest Mounted Police by $145,000. The appropriation is $285,000, as against $[illegible] last year. Mr. Sifton stated, in reply to a question by Dr. Sproule, that the force at present consists of 742 officers and men.

Mr. Oliver regarded the reduction of the force at the present time as a mistake. The item as proposed passed. Upon the vote of $60,000 for surveys, etc., Mr. Casey expressed the hope that the Minister was taking steps to have the boundary between British Columbia and the Northwest Territories delimited.

Mr. Sifton explained that he had discussed the question with the Attorney-General of British Columbia and the Surveyor-General of Canada, but he was not yet in a position to report any progress.

The House rose at midnight.

THE "BIG" FOUR

A Quartette of Remedies that are Effecting Wonderful Cures.

Dr. Chase's four great remedies are: Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, Dr. Chase's Ointment, Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, his latest and greatest discovery for all throat and lung affections.

"I was sick for three years," says James Simpson, of Newcomb Mills. "I tried various alleged patent cures and several boxes of a certain pill which has been greatly cracked up. I got no relief. Then I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since, I have been able to work every day and feel like a new man. Your pills alone cured me at a cost of 25c."

"I have been subject to severe colds every fall and spring," says Miss Hattie Delaney, of 174 Crawford street, Toronto. "I used many cough medicines, but none cured me until at a cost of 25 cents I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine."

"My husband was troubled with the worst kind of piles," writes Mrs. Jane Potts, of Meyersburg. "He was often unable to work. Since using your Chase's Ointment he is completely cured. It is truly worth its weight in gold instead of the price you charge, only 60 cents."

"I bought a box of your Catarrh Cure for 25 cents at Mr. Boyle's drug store here," says Henry R. Nicholls of 176 Rectory street, London, Ont. "I am thankful to say it cured me."

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My

A full attendance is, of course expected.

New Invention in Photography.

Mr. A. E. Ford, photographer, Charlotte street, has introduced into Peterborough the new "Bas Relief" photography, which is becoming very popular in the large cities. Mr. Ford has some excellent samples of the new process, developed in his own photograph studio, on exhibition in his art window, which are being greatly admired. The special attractiveness of the "Bas Relief" consists in developing the usual flat photograph into fine statuesque effects. The features and figures are made to stand out prominently from the background, and give a more life-like outline of the subject. When skilfully taken and moulded into artistic mats and frames, a very novel effect is produced. The pictures can be taken in all sizes from the "cabinet" size up. Residences, animals, etc., can also be reproduced by this new process, and there is scarcely any limit to its effectiveness in its application to photography. Mr. Ford has secured the exclusive rights in Peterborough for this new process and extends a cordial invitation to the public to call at the studio and inspect the new photography now on exhibition. Ladies, especially will be pleased as well as surprised at the striking improvement which the "Bas Relief" affords. Mr. Ford is prepared to produce the best results attainable, and will cheerfully afford every inspection desired. 3d

OBITUARY.

The Late James Armstrong, of Allandale.

James Armstrong, of Allandale, died on Friday morning in the 78th year of his age. He was a native of Ireland and came to Canada in early life. He was an uncle of Messrs. Eddie and George Armstrong, town. The services at the funeral, which took place on Sunday afternoon, were conducted by Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed.

The Late Archibald Yetts, Smith.

Sunday Archibald Yetts, of Smith township, died from the effects of a cancerous growth, with which he has been suffering for twenty or twenty-five years. He was a native of Scotland, coming to Canada in 1851. He first settled in Asphodel, where he remained until twenty years ago, when he moved to Smith, lot 14 in the 5th concession. He was a Presbyterian and a member of the congregation of St. Andrew's, town. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Potter conducting the services.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse team had a good practice last night. Phelan is again out and is as neat a stick handler as ever and just as accurate a shot. Wasson and Adams both turned out last night for the first time this year.

Cobourg wants a game with the juniors on the first of July, as does Tweed. If suitable arrangements can be made the boys will accept either one of the invitations.

BASEBALL.

The Park Nine went over to Lindsay yesterday and were beaten by the following score:

	R.	H.	E.
Lindsay	20	24	5
Park Nine	12	12	8

The Lindsay battery was O'Neil, Reeves and Lytle, whilst Peterborough had in the pointe Dolan, Parnelle and Graham.

As will be noticed the local team went up without their star pitcher, Connors, and so the boys think that they will be able to win the return match which will be played on the P. A. A. A. Grounds on Jubilee Day.

The local nine complain of rather unsportsmanlike treatment in Lindsay, as they were not allowed to practice on the grounds, had an umpire who was against them and did not receive their expenses as promised. Lindsay's name as a sporting town will degenerate if visiting teams are treated in this manner.

THE WHEEL.

The members of the Victoria Bicycle Club will hold a "hard times" parade on Wednesday evening next. The boys are thinking out some great costumes for the evening. The worst looking one will be awarded a handsome prize. Twenty-five members are competing.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Peterborough's Busiest Store.

Again and again Gough Bros. have emphasised the possibilities of the benefits to be derived by customers of their store. Every now and then they come across some surprised customer who never dreamed the business was so large, so comprehensive, so able to substantiate their claims for the lowest prices. To see the clothing store at present is to be convinced, as well as to be inspired with new interest in modern retailing. The addition of the gigantic new stock of fine clothing purchased so advantageously in Montreal is a study in merchandise buying. The enterprise of the firm in putting their money into a $40,000 stock is an achievement at which the wide-awake Gough Bros. are past-masters. Everyone likes to think of Peterborough as progressive—reaching out after advantages for the common weal of its citizens. Gough Bros. accept no excuse for not keeping sharp step with the community—even to the addition of gigantic stocks as fast as opportunity presents itself. The big store is the busiest store in town. The clothing was never better, quantities never so large, assortments never so complete, values never so good as at this time. It was a lucky stroke of good fortune to secure the choicest selections of the Montreal millionaire clothiers, Messrs. A. E. Small & Co., manufacturers, who have earned an enviable standing for the high-class character of their clothing. But the prices are what causes the most wonder! The figures accepted from Gough Bros. for the stock actually would not cover the making in many instances. The merest novice in purchasing clothing at this sale will recognise the ridiculously low prices. And so, is it any wonder that the crowds keep streaming in? Is it any wonder that our men, young men and boys are to be found eager to capture unprecedented bargains that Gough Bros., the busiest men in Peterborough, so freely offer them? dw

AN ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT.

IN ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LAST EVENING.

Addresses were Delivered by a Number of the Ministers of Town and a Musical Programme was Also Furnished—The Ladies Provided Tea Earlier in the Evening.

The congregation of St. Andrew's church held their annual anniversary tea and entertainment last evening.

The tea was served between the hours of half-past five and half-past seven by the ladies in the Sunday school, after which an adjournment was made to the church where a most entertaining programme was furnished.

The chair was occupied by Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor, and after the singing of "All hail the power of Jesus name" and the opening prayer, Rev. O. C. Elliott, the new pastor of the Park street Baptist church was called upon for a few words. Mr. Elliott expressed his pleasure at meeting the congregation and in referring to the anniversary, spoke of it as being a time of thanksgiving. A time in which to look backward and see the turns in the road and the rough places God had helped them over as a church and as individuals, and to allow their hearts to be filled with gratitude when remembering the strong arm which had helped them

THROUGH THEIR DIFFICULTIES.

He had no doubt the pastor's heart was cheered on looking backward over the year's work, but it was not only a time to look backward, but also to look forward, and endeavour to so direct our footsteps as to avoid evil, which never in the world's history had assumed so pleasant a form as in the present century. Satan no longer appeared as a roaring lion, but the glamour of evil had been cast over so many things that the Christian had to cede many of his lawful rights for whilst the doing of a thing might be lawful, it was not always expedient, and the world never had more need of the old time trust in God.

The choir then sang the anthem "Angels from the realm of Glory," after which Rev. W. R. Young was asked for a few remarks. He spoke of the pleasure he had experienced in his associations with the ministers of the town since his residence here, and dwelt upon his removal from town. He also bore testimony especially to the kindness and cordiality with which he had always been received by the congregations of the Presbyterian churches, and stated he sometimes wondered why he was not a Presbyterian himself. Rev. Dr. Torrance interjected the remark that "it is never too late to mend at this point." Mr. Young congratulated the congregation on the very beautiful floral display and rejoiced to hear that their prospects for the next year were so bright. It was pleasing to hear that the crisis caused by a had been successfully passed over.

Dr. Bell, chairman of the Board of Managers, in a few remarks reminded the congregation that the 10th anniversary of the re-opening of the church was being observed and thought the congregation should congratulate each other on the occasion. He welcomed those present from the other churches, who had joined so heartily in the anniversary entertainment. The doctor thought it would be a pleasing act on the anniversary if the congregation would come forward voluntarily and subscribe a sufficient amount to clear off the expense incurred in putting in the new incandescent system. The church, he stated, had had its ups and downs, as all knew, but today it was in a more prosperous condition numerically and spiritually than it had been in for the last twenty years.

Rev. Dr. Torrance was suffering from the effects of a very severe cold and excused himself from making any very extended remarks. He offered his congratulations in connection with the most interesting anniversary entertainment and rejoiced with the congregation in its prosperity, asserting that he had always believed in a grand future for St. Andrew's, knowing that under favourable circumstances it would become strong and influential. He was glad to see that his prediction was being fulfilled.

Rev. J. J. Rae stated that it was a pleasure to meet in sympathetic relation with a Presbyterian congregation. He was not a Presbyterian himself, but had a deep respect for them, realizing that he had owed much to the denomination, his family being of that persuasion. It was he had noticed the growth of the friendly feeling between the different churches during his residence in Peterborough, and he hoped he would find the same feeling in existence in his new charge. He congratulated Mr. Potter on the success of his work during the year and expressed the hope that he would continue to be rewarded by the same results. In referring to the anniversary, he spoke of it as being a time preeminently suited for a quiet moment's thought. If time was only taken to think, he urged, ideals would be formed, and to attain them it would soon be realized that God would have to be taken into partnership.

During the evening Miss Maggie Falconer of Tweed, who is visiting relatives in town, sang several Scotch songs with an accent so true as to bring a flush of pleasure to the many sons and daughters of Auld Scotia present, to whom the tongue of the Motherland is so dear. Together with Mr. Mulligan, Miss Faulker also sang "When Angels Watch."

Miss Mary Grant's organ solo was her own beautiful arrangement of that exquisite piano number, "The Sicilian Mariners' Hymn." It was rendered so perfectly as to charm all who had the pleasure of listening to it.

The audience was dismissed by the benediction pronounced by Rev. W. R. Young.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed took the services at St. Luke's Sunday in the absence of the rector. Mr. Reed's services were taken by Mr. Archbold.

The work of decorating the chancel of St. Luke's is well under way, and the church will be ready for occupation on Sunday next.

The services next Sunday will all partake of a Jubilee character. At a quarter to eleven the flag will be run up the new flagstaff and the choir will sing the National Anthem. In the morning the rector will preach on "The Church of England during the reign of Queen Victoria," and in the evening on "Religious Ideas and Philanthropic Movements during the Queen's reign.

Buy your Boy's Suits from Grafton & Co., the direct manufacturer of all their Clothing, and save from 15 to 25 per cent.

THE McCALL MISSION.

THE QUARTERLY MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Local Branch is Doing a Good Work and has Already Raised Quite a Sum of Money—A Paper on the Objects of the Mission.

A meeting of the McCall Mission was held yesterday afternoon in the old Y.M.C.A. parlour. The chair was occupied by Mrs. J. W. Garvin, president.

When the question of raising money came up the following paper on the work was read:

While the purpose of every Auxiliary is to disseminate knowledge and information in regard to the work, the ultimate object, after all, is the raising or collection of money—the life-blood without which the blessed organization cannot live. Now there are ways of raising money and there are ways of not doing so. The first and best way is to give it. "Oh! I cannot give any more!" is the thoughtless ejaculation. Can you not? The hymner sings:

"Oh! whisper but the name of God
Down in your heart of hearts,
And see how from the world at once
All tempting light departs."

Whisper down in your heart of hearts what Jesus did for you, and as the temptation departs some new self denial, which in the end may be sweet may come to you. The other way is to solicit it from others. "Oh! I cannot beg." "To beg I am ashamed!" "Anything but asking money of people." Well, it is not pleasant work, but a little quiet remembrance for whom you are doing it, of the fact that you are asking for the Lord's work only an atom of that which is His, but entrusted by Him to the keeping of man, will smooth the way and quiet the fears. It is well to be methodical. In a church it is better to go in rotation. It is the small gifts that count in the end, although they may cost more time and strength. Otherwise choose your man or woman, then prayerfully, believingly, use your common sense. A marksman aims at the bull's-eye of the target if he wishes to take the prize. Random shots some times strike, but it is the steady persistent aim that carries the day.

Then there are ways of not raising money. One is, when thrilled with the presentation of an object you sit with tear-dimmed vision and folded hands and sigh "I wish I could get some money!" and then do nothing. Do you really wish it? Then leave no stone unturned until procured. If a woman wants a new bonnet or dress, does she sit mown and sigh and roll up her eyes, and ejaculate "I wish I had them!" No! She looks at her cash balance, or ought to do so, examines her supply, flies around, and is foolish if she don't make everyone's life miserable until she gets it. A little of this worldly wisdom, of this hard common sense, of this method where one is in earnest, brought into the collection of funds for the support of our churches, charities and missions, would amaze even those who are so deliberately constituted that they cannot "beg,"—so situated that they do not know whom to ask.

Lay it down as a foregone conclusion, your appeal may be declined. Supposing it is? Said a very sweet woman calling for a subscription book, upon receiving rudeness from a butler—"It is work for your Master and mine." You may be rebuffed; the Master has suffered much more. Some get off with, "I don't believe in sending money to foreign countries when we have such needs at home." I don't either, if there is not money enough for all. It is clearly in the bounds of truth to say there is money enough in the hands of professing Christians in this country to run our churches, charities and educational efforts, and the whole foreign missionary work besides, if only behind and beneath it were a vivid personal realization that we "are not our own, we are bought with a price," and a humble grateful heartfelt consciousness that a LIFE ("all that a man hath will he give for his life") has been laid down for us. Earnestness is behind all successful work. It was the secret of dear Dr. McCall's efforts, and in the end it may bring to even the humblest of us the dear words of Him we profess to love: "Well, done good and faithful servant," followed by the glad, "Enter into the JOY."

The local branch of the McCall Mission Helpers was organized in January, since when they have held three meetings and raised $21. The next meeting will be held in October.

The Suffering and Crushed in Spirit.

Need Words of Cheer.

Their Only Avenue of Escape is Through Paine's Celery Compound.

True words of encouragement, hope and cheer are generally welcomed by suffering humanity—at least by that part of it with crushed spirits and despondent hearts.

To those who are martyrs from rheumatism and neuralgia we have a few words of honest advice, which, if followed, will certainly lead to that coveted goal—perfect health—that many are so earnestly praying to reach.

Up to the present you have failed to banish your rheumatism. The medicines you are using have not removed the floating acid poison from your joints and muscles. You are as bad to-day—perhaps worse—than when you commenced to doctor, and some of you are pronounced incurable.

Cheer up, sad souls! There is hope, yes, more than hope; there is a new life for you and freedom from all pain and agony if you give that heaven-sent remedy, Paine's Celery Compound, a fair and honest trial. It has completely cured the worst forms of rheumatism in the past, and its great and precious virtues will do the same good work for you to-day.

To those who suffer from that merciless tormentor, neuralgia, we say, with all candor, use Paine's Celery Compound, and your future will soon be happy and bright. This disease always indicates a low or depressed vitality, and is the most agonizing and exhausting that can afflict the nervous system. The ablest physicians now freely prescribe Paine's Celery Compound for neuralgia, and affirm that no other medicine can so completely eradicate the cause of this terrible disease.

One bottle of the great health-giving medicine will produce cheering results and will prove that our advice is golden. May heaven give you sufficient faith to make a trial.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars.—G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

From the boyhood days of persons advanced in life to the verge of three score and ten, the Bank of Montreal has been a synonym for stability and financial soundness, and the report of the 79th annual meeting, printed on another page of this issue serves to maintain the integrity of the standard. The report shows that while the business of the past year has not been of the average prosperity, yet the results of the operations of the Bank are on the whole satisfactory, a circumstance, which, in view of the world wide prevalence of business depression, reflects the highest credit upon the management of this great financial concern. Great as is the influence of the Bank of Montreal, it is continually extending that influence. It is now firmly established in New foundland and in British Columbia, the gold mining boom has led to the establishment of four new branches of the bank. But it is not as a mere money making machine that the Bank of Montreal can account for the influence it wields. The close watch of the ebb and flow of the financial tide by its officials, for which its intimate relations with every phase of the commercial life of this country, and in fact of this continent, eminently fit them, constitute their deliverances, based upon the report at the annual meeting, as financial reviews worthy of the dignity and importance of a budget speech. The remarks this year of the general manager, Mr. Clouston, and of the vice-president, Mr. Drummond, are worthy of not only of careful perusal but of close study, as exhaustive and well-considered presentments of the financial situation and outlook, as well as warnings of dangers to be provided against and of improper courses to be avoided. The greatness of the Bank of Montreal as a financial concern is impressed anew by the last annual report, and the great confidence of the public in its soundness and stability is confirmed.

THE MARQUIS ITO.

The Japanese Representative to the Queen's Jubilee in Canada.

On Queen's Birthday Marquis Ito, ex-Premier of Japan, and representative of that country to the Queen's Jubilee, arrived at Ottawa en route to England. He was received at the station by a guard of honor from the Guards. Messrs. Scott, Dobell, Fisher and Joly were present as representing the Dominion Government, while Captain Erskine represented His Excellency. The distinguished visitor was driven to Rideau Hall and paid his respects to Lord Aberdeen. He then made a flying visit to the Parliament Buildings, saw Parliament in session, and at 6 o'clock took train again.

Marquis Ito is without doubt the greatest of the statesmen in the isle of chrysanthemums. He goes to London as the special representative of the Emperor. Marquis Ito for 25 years has been a close adviser of the Emperor, and for fully that time he has been in almost every cabinet of the Government. He has represented the progressive party in Japanese politics, and to his efforts is largely due the advancement that enabled Japan to easily whip the giant China in the late war. He believes in the elevation of the masses, and he was instrumental in making the people as free in Japan as they are under any monarchical form of government in the world. When the war with China was being prosecuted Ito followed a popular policy and won the enmity of many eminent and powerful politicians. These schemers, desiring to humble him, persuaded the Emperor to confer upon him the title of Marquis and to decorate him with a noble order that had never been worn by anyone outside of the imperial family. Ito was amazed when the Emperor offered him these extraordinary honors and said not a word in reply. He silently left the Emperor, and, resigning his position as premier, he sent the Emperor a courteous letter thanking him for his kindness, but declining the title and the decoration. Then he retired to a distant part of the country. His enemies had temporarily triumphed, but Ito's day was to come. When the Emperor learned of the despicable trick by which his Premier had been shamed he promptly sent for Ito, restored him to power and insisted on his accepting the title and the order. Ito finally complied, and there is no more successful or eminent man in Japan to-day. He has the love and the esteem of his monarch, to whom he has ever been a most disinterested friend, and he is personally deserving of the great honors which enemies have unwittingly bestowed upon him.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 33; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 41; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

A Vegetarian Under Fire.

Some men have an idea that their views should be obtruded whenever there is an opening. There was an illustration of this want of tact given on a Woodward avenue car the other evening. After a thin, pale man and a big, florid man had been engaged in a warm discussion for a time, the smaller and more peppery of the two made it apparent that he wanted all those present for an audience. He was averse to hiding his light under a bushel.

"I am a vegetarian," he shouted. "I never saw one of your beef-eaters yet that could think clearly or reason intelligently." Then some of the indignant passengers that did not agree with him and resented his sweeping assertions came in with their voluntaries.

"Hair's just the color of a carrot," chuckled the fat man with a wheeze.

"Nose is a little 'reddish,'" said the young man in a box overcoat and evening dress.

"And something of a 'turnup,'" tittered the pretty girl hanging to the same strap.

"Bet he's a 'beat,'" snorted the butcher.

"Regular 'punkin' 'end,'" growled the Englishman who had eaten many an ox, and everybody expected a fight.

When the vanquished vegetarian raised a parsnip-shaped finger to the conductor the parson in the corner murmured: "Lettuce have peas," and the tittering girl ended the fusilade by requesting the little man not to "squash" her as he wedged his way to the rear platform.—Detroit Free Press.

POINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

An Artist in Meats Tells How to Understand Marketing

"What should a young housekeeper learn in order to understand marketing?" said Mr. Simmons. "Well, I think the best thing she could do would be to take a cook book which has a chart of the different animals and study it. The parts are numbered and explained, and she will learn all she wishes to know. Those books are very accurate. I have been surprised to see how much there is in them."

Mr. Simmons is J. Simmons of Brooklyn, and he is an artist in meat, says The New York Times. To understand what an artist in meat is one must see it cut scientifically, and unscientifically, and there will be no difficulty in understanding the difference.

"There is a great difference of opinion about meats," he continued. "What one person considers good another person will not have. There should be an understanding between the housekeeper and the butcher. Some people order meat, and you do not know what they want. You have to become accustomed to them before you can understand them.

"As for the best meat, it comes from the centre of the animal, and it is the same with any quadruped. The best steak is in the centre of the loin, the best chops from the centre of the loin of lamb, and it is the same with veal and pork. In each the very centre contains the most tender meat, and going either way from it the meat deteriorates.

"The reason for this is easily understood if you know anything about the muscles. They concentrate in the hip and the shoulder, and spread out from those points; there are fewer in the centre, and therefore the meat there is more tender. Anyone who understands meat can tell those special pieces by seeing them. How to tell is difficult. It is a knowledge that comes with experience.

"To understand poultry and game you must have experience. A man comes in to pick out a fowl at this time of year; if he has experience he knows immediately what is what we call soft meat. He has that delicacy of touch that can distinguish it immediately. That touch may be in a rough, hard-working hand, but it is sure. Take a young man, and put him into the business, and he will learn the difference very quickly. All young people learn quickly. An older person may try a thousand times before he learns to distinguish.

"There is not much to say about tidbits. Of sweetbreads, those from calves are always the best. They must be taken from a half-grown calf that has been milk-fed, and killed without much drifting. It must not have been long away from the dam.

"You will understand the difference between the meat of animals that have traveled around and those that have not, if you go into the country and eat spring lamb that has been killed near where it was raised, and then come in to the city and eat lamb that you get there. There is as much difference as there is in vegetables that are taken directly from the garden and those that are pickled and carried into the city.

"Yes, that's about right; to have the very best meat you must eat it where it is raised. Animals that are carried some distance are not as good as those that are not. Still, it is better to have the animals transported than the meat. It becomes mussy with handling, and deteriorates."

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

CREWS OF YANKEE WHALING SHIPS

Have Been a Little Careless as to Whether They Respected Canadian Laws or Not, and the Old Flag Is Expected to Give Them a Hint—Ottawa News.

Ottawa, June 13. (Special.)—It is a moot point whether or not the Government hereafter will have to send a cruiser to Hudson Bay each year. The instructions to the commanding officer of the Diana to run up the British flag on the territory north of Hudson Straits are not intended to imply a weakness of title to the territory, but simply as a guarantee against international complications. But something more seems to be needed. It is well known that for some years whaling vessels from the United States have been visiting Hudson Bay, and have made very successful catches. Lieut.-Governor Patterson, in a report to the Interior Department, says that in past years a considerable traffic in intoxicating liquors was indulged in by American whaling vessels which wintered on the shores of the northern part of Hudson Bay. Moreover, these vessels have for some time carried on a considerable trade in these Canadian waters, and their crews, it is stated, have shown but little respect for Canadian law or the regulations regarding the aborigines of the country, while they were not contributors in any way to the revenues of the Dominion. The feeling is now growing in official circles that the time has arrived for the assertion of British sovereignty in these waters.

Prof. Robertson, Agricultural Commissioner, leaves for England next Saturday week. He will be accompanied by Mr. Crandle of Picton, who has been appointed by the Minister of Agriculture to act as Government agent in Great Britain for finding markets for Canadian butter, cheese, eggs, poultry and fruits. The idea is that Mr. Crandle shall not dispose of shipments of Canadian produce of this character, but shall interview retailers in leading cities and ascertain the special tastes of consumers in the matter of color, flavoring, packages, etc. These points will be reported weekly to the department and published.

The Admiralty has cabled instructions to the British warship Comus, now at Victoria, to hold herself in readiness to proceed to Clipperton Rock, about 700 miles southwest of Acapulco, Mexico, to endeavor to rescue the crew of a British merchantman. Nothing is known as to the identity of the ship or the exact trouble. The Victoria schooner Aurora is thought to be somewhere in the locality in question.

The Department of Inland Revenue has just issued a bulletin, giving the results of an examination by Mr. McFarlane, chief analyst, of 183 samples of honey. He says: "The number of adulterated samples is very small, not exceeding 12 in the whole 180, or 6 2-3 per cent., and were reported for prosecution on May 19. The chief adulterant is starch syrup, of which some of the samples appear to consist almost exclusively, some genuine honey having been merely incorporated to flavor the product. It is not possible to characterize this admixture as injurious to health."

An Order-in-Council has been passed setting forth the regulations governing placer mining on the Yukon River and its tributaries in the Northwest Territories. The chief point of interest in them lies in the fact that all claims must be filed with the resident Gold Commissioner, a new office just created by the Interior Department. In the past the Minister was supposed to receive all claims.

THE OLD RAIL FENCE.

The old rail fence of my childhood,
How picturesque it seems;
Formed with trees from the wildwood,
To keep out the cattle and teams
From the hay and harvest golden,
Inclosed within its shades;
That its absence would embolden
To frequent demolishing raids.

It was the home of the hornet,
The bee and the chipmunk, too;
And the vines that did adorn it
Bore flowers of every hue.
'Twas also the home of trouble—
The little unseen knot'
That protruded like the stubble
In a recently mowed lot.

It tore the seat of our trousers
Whenever we climbed its height,
And made some rents that were rousers,
Till we longed for the shades of night;
Then unseen we oped the kitchen,
And crawled upstairs and hid,
For our mother did the stitching,
But the busting—father did.

The old rail fence has passed away
Our parents with it, too;
And soon, my friend, there'll be a day
When the same will be said of you.
May there be no sins to fetter
Your soul, nor dark its shade;
May you enjoy Heav'n better
For the scars those knots have made.

Wrecked by Magnetism

The tale of the great magnetic mountain that, acting as a huge loadstone, drew Sindbad's ship to destruction, which is one of the most delightful of the "Arabian Nights" narratives, would seem to have some basis in fact if those saved from the wreck of the British transport Warren Hastings are to be believed. This steamship was wrecked on the Isle of Reunion, at a time when the Reunion volcano was very active, and it is claimed the eruption caused the atmosphere "to be heavily charged with magnetism," so that the compass was deflected and the ship consequently wrecked. As this has never been noticed before in connection with a vessel's nearness to active volcanoes, the British admiralty has been asked to examine into so important a question. Electricity, it is known, is abundantly developed during an eruption, and magnetization may be possible.

Scott's Emulsion is Cod-liver Oil prepared as a food. At the same time, it is a blood maker, a nerve tonic and an up-builder. But principally it is a food for tired and weak digestions; for those who are not getting the fat they should from their ordinary food; for children whom nothing seems to nourish; for all who are fat-starved and thin.

It is pleasant to take; at least, it is not unpleasant. Children like it and ask for more.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD
Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world engaging exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Nerve is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. What should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

An utter collapse

The man who has always been a model of business method and dignity—who would as soon think of putting his feet on the piano at home as on the desk at his office—finally goes to pieces all at once. Bankruptcy—with it has come an utter loss of ambition, dignity, and health. Ill-health is at the bottom of it all. Bankruptcy stares in the face every business man who neglects his health. A man cannot work on forever if he is suffering from brain fag, nervous exhaustion, and debility. All these can come to the man who neglects to keep his digestion perfect, his bowels regular and his blood pure.

Business men everywhere have come to recognize Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as an invaluable remedy. It makes the digestion perfect, invigorates the liver, restores the appetite, regulates the bowels, purifies and builds up the blood, makes the flesh and muscles firm, and tones up the nerves. It is a business man's medicine.

Thos. J. Torbert, Sr., of Old Springhill, Marengo Co., Ala., writes: "I want to tell you the good the 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done me. I had erysipelas and eczema. Had suffered for eight years. I tried all remedies and several doctors, but could get no relief. I bought a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and tried it. I used four bottles and a half. It completely cured me. I have had no symptoms of its return. It has been three years since my cure."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser has had a larger sale than any other book of this class ever offered the public. This book of 1,008 pages with 300 illustrations, is full, from cover to cover, of practical advice on health matters. This great book, in heavy manilla covers, is now offered FREE to whoever will send 21 one-cent stamps to pay for customs and mailing only. If an elegant French cloth binding is desired, send 50 stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

QUEEN AND EMPRESS.

The Author of "The Light of the World" Writes His Study of Victoria.

His Earliest Recollection the Queen's Proclamation of Accession on the Demise of King William IV.—An Article That Is as Comprehensive as the Reign of the Sovereign and Keenly Appreciative of Its Benefits.

By SIR EDWIN ARNOLD.

[CONCLUDED FROM YESTERDAY.]

It is round the royal home that the progress and accumulation of power, wealth and intellect of which I have spoken steadfastly grew throughout all these great and fortunate years. Home love and home joys—nay, indeed—home sorrows also have fed the Queen's heart with the forces and the faith necessary to enable her to bear her majestic load of care and toil for England. In all her words and deeds and thoughts the sacredness of these sentiments and of simple human love shines within the precincts of her sovereignty like a golden lamp in a palace of marble.

Her Love of Her People.

I am so privileged as to possess from the gracious hands of the Queen herself, and enriched with her own beautiful handwriting, the two well-known volumes from her pen, entitled "Leaves from the Journal of our Life in the Highlands" and "More Leaves From a Journal of a Life in the Highlands." It is almost impossible to open these books anywhere without finding playful but solid manifestations of those two feelings forever governing Her Majesty's great and generous heart—the love of home, and the love of the people. There befalls no disaster to the mining or industrial classes; no dreadful wrecks at sea; no sad railway accident on land: no striking sorrow; no sudden public loss—but the motherly love of the Queen is promptly shown in tender and graceful words of pity and sympathy which she knows so well how to employ; and many a sorrowful soul has been thus comforted. For her army and her navy, whenever and wherever they serve herself and her country, her solicitude is, and has ever been, intense and vigilant. A thousand instances might be adduced of this, which needs indeed no other proof than the ardent loyalty of those who—from the barrack to the field marshal's tent, from the forecastle to the admiral's cabin—wear "the Widow's Uniform." Is it thought that such an influence must be sentimental only? In truth it is a force, and has been a force, like that of a great military leader's personal presence. When, in 1853, Her Majesty's heart was weighed down with anxiety for her soldiers in the Crimea, who were severely suffering, it was her own hand which wrote again and again to headquarters directing or suggesting ameliorations. And when Lord Raglan was leaving Windsor to return to his command in the Crimean camp, it is reported that one of the little Princesses said to him: "You must hurry back to Sebastopol, please, Lord Raglan, and take it, or mamma will die of her anxiety." Not merely in name has our Sovereign Lady been commander-in-chief of the naval and military forces of the realm. I have watched with amusement and admiration before now, at a levee in the Palace, some general officer of proud renown and superb warlike achievements crumpling up his white gloves into a ball, and nervously fidgeting from head to foot, with a tremor never felt in the presence of the enemy, as his turn came to pass the barrier and be announced by the Lord Chamberlain to his military superior, Her Majesty the Queen.

AT 27

A Positive Personal Example.

I doubt if a better proof could be furnished of this wide and comprehensive royal interest in all her subjects than the fact—slight but significant—that the Queen should have set herself to learn Hindostani, the language of her Indian people, and should have so mastered it as to be able to read and write, as well as to converse in, this lingua franca of the Oriental Peninsula.

There would be risk of being suspected of exaggeration if I attempted to say—as I might speak from my own knowledge—how widely this mark of sincere sympathy and concern has affected the Princes and the people of India. The Mohammedans especially, of whom the Queen rules more than sixty millions, and to whom Hindostani as a tongue particularly belongs, have heard with delight and pride of the Diary which Her Majesty keeps in Urdu, and at this day the Maharani, the Kaiser-i-Hind, the Adhirajni,—"Victoria the Empress,"—is for the mass of her subjects in India a power, and influence, absolutely immeasurable for service of peace and obedience, almost touching, among the reverential and susceptible Hindoos, the region of the gods.

Not Beyond the Fair Regions of Flattery.

If these appear to any republican or democratic critic to be appreciations which go beyond fair regions of flattery, I would tell him that both he and I should equally fail in estimating the national and historical values of such a life and such a personality as Queen Victoria's. He may object on principle to the immense and probably the enduring reindication which the reign has given to the monarchial principle. He may feel it almost fatal to his collectivism and to those doctrines of equality which Nature so universally repudiates, to see illustrated by this unparalleled reign how national and international history may be modified and controlled by the love, the purity, the dutifulness and the piety of one woman's heart and soul, because a diadem sate upon her brow, and because her shining, sweet, and august example was set like a city upon a hill. But, in proportion as he is intelligent and reasonable, he must accept facts; and if he knows something of the science of dynamics in the physical world, he will be the reader to confess the prodigious social, moral and political results which cannot but flow from the concentration, upon one's object so near the ideal as this one has grown to appear, of the love, loyalty and gratitude of the whole Anglo-Saxon race. There are accomplished mathematicians who can compute so nicely the celestial and cosmic forces which, on this side and that, hold planets in their place, that new worlds have been discovered; not by searching the sky, but by manipulating the calculations. But who shall give us the calculus by which God's blessing to England through this good Queen can be worked out in all its human ramifications and far social effects? In abdicating actual power—because in our crowned republic the sovereign rules but does not govern—Victoria found and annexed a whole new empire for the occupants of the English throne, that of Influence. "Let me make the songs of a people," said a shrewd statesman, "and any one who will may make the laws." So might a monarch say: "Let me reign in the hearts of a people, and anybody may be Ministers of the Government!" Looking back along the vista of these past six decades, and noting what convulsions, what bloodshed, what loss of life and growth and national resources have befallen from pushing too far the theories of democracy, it does not seem so much a thought of courtiership as a common gratitude toward heaven to recall that solemn passage from the Persian of Sadi. "When the Lord of the World is pleased with the hearts of a people, He gives them a Sovereign wise and just."

THE PERSONAL QUEEN.

"Heart of Gold" "Will of Iron," "Royal Temper of Steel" and "Deep Piety" Enshrined.

I should deem it disrespectful to offer too particular an analysis of the character, too close a picture of the person, of this beloved Mistress, whose Imperial individuality is besides as well-known from her life, her acts, her books, and the "fierce light which beats upon a throne." The heart of gold, the will of iron, the royal temper of steel, the pride, the patriotism, and the deep piety of Victoria have been enshrined in a small but vigorous frame, the mignonne aspect of which especially strikes those who behold her for the first time in these her "chair-days." It was reported how, when Prince Albert was dying, he roused himself from a period of wandering to turn with ineffable love to his spouse and Sovereign, saying to her with a kiss, "Good little wife!" And when the Prince Consort was actually passing away, after those twenty-one years of wedded happiness, it was told how the Queen bent over him and whispered: "It is your little wife," at which last words the Angel of Death stayed his hand while once again the dear eyes opened and the dying lips smiled. But though this be so, no one who has been honored by near approach to Her Majesty, or has ever tarried in her presence, will fail to testify to the extreme majesty of her bearing, mingle always with the most perfect grace and gentleness. Her voice has, moreover, always been pleasant and musical to hear, and is so now. The hand which holds the sceptre of the seas is the softest that can be touched; the eyes which have grown dim with labors of state for England, and with too frequent tears, are the kindest that can be seen. Not for a day nor for an hour did the Queen ever suspend the performance of her royal and imperial duties during the many sorrows which have fallen upon her, nor in the comparative seclusion which she has sometimes kept. The Duke of Argyll truly wrote once:

AT 30

"It ought to be known to all people of this country that during all the years of the Queen's affliction, and those when she has lived necessarily in much retirement, she has omitted no part or portion of that public duty which constantly concerns her as sovereign of this country; that on no occasion during her grief has she discontinued work in those royal labors which belong to her exalted position."

How great and experienced a statesman she shows herself, every competent British Minister has testified. She is, in fact, the highest living authority upon the practical politics of Europe, and knows and understands constitutional problems with an intellectual grasp which has never been relaxed. It is from a radical and republican source that the subjoined tribute has been called:

"Broadly speaking, it may be said by all her Ministers, Liberal and Conservative, that she has more knowledge of the business of governing nations than any of her Prime Ministers; more experience of the mysteries and intricacies of foreign affairs than any of her Foreign Secretaries; as loyal and willing a subservience to the declared will of the nation as any Democrat in Parliament; and as keen and passionate an Imperial patriotism as ever beat in any human breast."

Such, and so great, so useful, so benign, so faithful—sketched in these most imperfect outlines—has been and is the Sovereign Lady upon whom sixty years ago the vast burden of the British Empire was laid, and to whom, amid trials and losses as great as could be borne, Sorrow and Death and Destiny have constantly cried:

Break not, O woman's heart; but still endure;
Break not, for thou art Royal, but endure!

The noble heart has not broken, because the Faith which made Victoria begin this reign upon her knees has sustained the Queen; because the fervent love of the people, given in exchange for her love, has brought her daily strength; and because a mighty and majestic charge, not yet completed—an Imperial charge involving for her nation immense blessings, and entailing for herself eternal rewards—was committed by the Almighty God to her chosen and most competent hands, for divine purposes, and with destined ends.

BANK OF MONTREAL.

What was Said and Done at the Annual Meeting.

YEAR'S TRADE REVIEWED.

Matters That Have Affected Commercial Enterprise -The Outlook Discussed—A Tribute to the Queen.

The seventy-ninth annual meeting of the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal was held in the Board Room at 1 o'clock yesterday.

There were present Hon. George A. Drummond, Vice-President; Messrs. Hugh McLennan, W. C. McDonald, E. B. Greenshields, Hector Mackenzie, Hon. James O'Brien, Donald Macmaster, W. W. Ogilvie, F. T. Judah, Angus W. Hooper, J. W. Howard, Richard White, James Wilson, jr., W. J. Buchanan, M. Burke, H. Mason, Alex. Mitchell, H. Drummond, W. Wallace, E. Rawlings, F. H. Simms, John Molson and J. McCarthy.

On the motion of Mr. John Crawford, seconded by Mr. John Morrison, Hon. George A. Drummond, Vice-President, was unanimously voted to the chair, in the absence of the President, Sir Donald A. Smith.

On the motion of Hon. James O'Brien, seconded by Mr. Donald Macmaster, it was agreed: "That the following gentlemen be appointed to act as scrutineers: Messrs. W. J. Buchanan and Angus W. Hooper; and that Mr. James Aird be the Secretary of the meeting."

The Report.

The report of the Directors to the Shareholders at their 79th annual general meeting was read by Mr. Clouston, the General Manager, as follows:

The Directors have pleasure in presenting the 79th annual report, showing the result of the Bank's business of the year ended 30th April, 1897:

Balance of Profit and Loss Account 30th April, 1896	$ 856 348 19

Dividend 5 per cent., paid 1st December, 1896	$800,000
Dividend 5 per cent., payable 1st June, 1897	600,000
	1,200,000 00
Balance of Profit and Loss account carried forward	$ 886,909 98

A branch of the Bank has been opened at New Denver, B.C.

The Directors decided to erect a building for the Bank's use at Victoria, B.C., and it is now approaching completion.

All the offices of the Bank, including the Head Office, have been inspected during the past year.

DONALD A. SMITH,
President.

E. S. CLOUSTON,
General Manager.

Bank of Montreal, Montreal, 30th April, 1897.

The General Manager.

Mr. Clouston, said: Referring to the balance sheet submitted to you at this meeting, there are several important changes which it may be as well to give some explanation of. In fact, the figures without an explanation would convey a wrong impression. The first change of any importance is an increase of $3,791,000 in deposits not bearing interest. This is nearly all of a temporary character, caused chiefly by Government deposits, and will probably disappear before long. In deposits bearing interest there is a large increase of $3,916,000. Aside from the steady increase in our Saving Bank Deposits, there are some special amounts here which also lack permanency. I cannot say that bankers at present regard with any great degree of pleasure the increase in this item, particularly when they, like ourselves, are obliged to lend it abroad at a nominal rate. Our cash reserves have increased $411,000, a small amount proportionately for the increase in liabilities, but as we are so strong in immediately available resources elsewhere, it is a matter of little moment. There is an increase of $2,610,000 in the amount due us by agents in Great Britain, which is an immediately available asset, though not a very paying one at present rates. The appearance of the item in the statement, of Dominion and Provincial Government Securities, is due chiefly to an operation in the bonds of this province and will very likely not remain there long. Our United States Railway Bonds have increased $887,000. This item constantly changes, as we are active dealers in them, and frequent participators with other banks in bond issues. Our loans have increased $1,956,009, principally from a desire on the part of the business community to pay duties in anticipation of a prospective change in the tariff, partly also from a general expansion in our business. Our debts secured and unsecured have increased $126,236, not a very large sum considering the trying year we have just completed. The same remark applies to our profits, which show a falling off of $10,635.

Altogether you will admit we are in exceptionally strong financial position, but not one in which we can make much profit with the present low value of money in foreign markets. In fact, each succeeding year seems to increase the difficulty of maintaining our profits, and when, in addition, we are obliged to provide for the shrinkage in values naturally resulting from the prolonged depression in business, it is almost a matter of surprise that we are able to appear before you with so good a statement as the present.

It has been said that, like Joseph's kine, bankers have seven fat years and seven lean ones; and it ought to be about time for the lean ones to cease, for, since the Baring crisis in 1890, the world has experienced a succession of financial shocks and disasters without parallel in its history, partly the natural result in business depression through over-trading, over-manufacturing and other causes, but part of it forced on the financial world by those who have been the buttresses between it and harm. Whether we are through with them time only can tell. With the settlement of the European question, which seems probable, at least temporarily, and the adjournment of the legislative bodies here and in the United States, the business community may have a chance of taking breath and commencing another struggle to attain prosperity. In the United States there are signs of the sunshine breaking through the clouds, and a particularly bright gleam was Secretary Gage's statement the other day that the present administration was determined, once the tariff was out of the way, to take up the question of placing the currency of the country on a sound basis. With our large interests in the United States we naturally give them our heartiest sympathies to any effort in that direction.

Canada has fortunately been comparatively free from financial heresies, and to that we owe in a large measure our comparative immunity from the troubles which have agitated the neighbouring country during the last few years.

In Canada the future is still shrouded in uncertainty. The past year has been very disappointing, a year of increasing business depression, full of unsettling incidents, and there have been a considerable number of failures. More will have to follow, unless some improvement takes place this year. The position, so far as I can read it, is this, and it seems to me a very delicate one: Any further depression, coming on a community already weakened by a long fight against adverse circumstances, will precipitate a very serious state of affairs, worse than anything we have yet had to encounter. On the other hand a settlement of the tariff with a due regard to established interests, a good crop with fair prices, lenient treatment and judicious assistance meantime to those in business, may yet make this year the beginning of a prosperous cycle. The position is not by any means hopeless. Crop prospects are good in the Northwest, fair in Ontario, though backward in Quebec. Mineral development still continues in the West and is adding daily to the wealth of the country. Though our lumber trade with the United States is not in a satisfactory position, our trade with England is good. The manufacture of pulp promises to grow into a most important and valuable industry, for in this country we have unlimited quantities of the finest raw material in the world, with magnificent water power and reasonable labour. The cheese and butter trade promises to be a large one, and we seem to on the eve of a large development in our bacon and ham trade. Negotiations, judging from the newspapers, are practically completed to build a railway into the British Columbia mining region. This of itself will be almost sufficient to start the hands of the commercial barometer towards fair weather. The position is not by any means hopeless, but requires careful treatment and all the encouragement that can be given.

If there are any questions from the Shareholders, I will have much pleasure in replying to them.

The Vice-President.

Honourable George A. Drummond, said:—I trust that the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal will agree with the Directors in considering the results of the year's business as satisfactory, and in view of the times as eminently creditable to the General Manager and staff. The stagnation due to the prevailing distrust and uncertainty which we have had to chronicle for several years past still prevails. Doubts as to the character of impending tariff legislation produced an unsatisfactory state of business during the winter months, and anxieties on this score still exist. The victory of the sound money contest in the United States failed to re-establish confidence, as the successful side set itself to a readjustment of the tariff before dealing with the currency. On both sides of the line, therefore, similar causes of an unsettling character exist, and it may without dispute be asserted that no more potent influence is to be found to retard the investment of capital and delay the progress of the country than frequent changes in its fiscal policy.

The battle of sound money against heresies of various kinds in the United States which late events would appear to have settled, we are assured is only postponed. We are even promised a transier of its malign influence to our own country. Should these prognostications have any solid foundation, the end of our bad times can scarcely be said to be in sight. Every reflective man must, I think, have arrived at the conclusion that we and our neighbours to the south have too much law making constantly going on, and the conviction is forced upon me that men of business are far too much disposed to abandon the political duties of every citizen, to those less occupied with affairs than themselves, with the result which might be expected, that they only awake to a feverish period of indignant and anxious remonstrance when they find their interests imperilled by legislation which might have been prevented at an earlier stage. Statesmen of all parties deplore the absence of men of weight and experience in finance, commerce and trade from the ranks of those available as originators of the commercial legislation of the country. It is a matter of common experience that a sense of relief is felt in the great centres of the country during the brief intervals when no active law-making is going on. If these things be so, it follows that the business of legislation is every man's business, and that it is false economy to shirk a painstaking participation in the work of legislation.

No law of importance affecting this institution, or banks generally, has been passed, or as far as I am able to judge, is likely to pass this session. One act concerning interest was introduced, which most certainly would have brought about far reaching consequences and most inconvenient results, but it has been withdrawn, and another bill substituted, to which little objection can be offered. I am bound to say that the original bill was an honest attempt to deal with the gross evils of usury by individuals, but its withdrawal is just another example of the difficulty of striking those without disturbing the wholly beneficial operations of regulated banking.

While the Bank of Montreal conducts its affairs with a weighty sense of its responsibility as an institution with which the credit and financial stability of the country is intimately bound up, it at the same time fully recognizes the fact that any policy of finality or lack of enterprise is inseparably and surely one of decay and decadence, and the Shareholders will, I trust, approve the progress made in the extensions of the year. The branch of St. John's, Newfoundland, is solidly established there, and while a valuable branch to the Bank, has received a large measure of popular support and confidence, and is, I trust, of use both to the Government and the commercial community of that province. The great mining district of British Columbia has also received the attention of the Bank, and agencies have been opened at New Denver, Nelson, Rossland and Vernon.

The great mineral wealth of British Columbia has been proved by the discovery and development of many valuable mines. The abundance of fuel, labour and water, and the facilities for transport in that province, should enable this portion of the Dominion to compete in the economical production of the precious metals on favourable terms compared with any other known mining district in the world, but I would deprecate in the strongest terms the reckless spirit of gambling which prompts investment in unproved properties. Such properties should not be taken on any other basis of valuation than the chance that they may turn out of no value whatever. Fortunately, the number of proved and valuable properties is already sufficiently great to place the enormous mineral wealth of the Province beyond all question, and the fact must be matter of congratulation to every one.

Last season crops were expected to be only fair. It was known that in Manitoba and Northwest Territories, the area sown was less than in 1895, but the crop was harvested in good condition, and owing to the advance in the price of wheat, probably realized as much as the crop of the preceeding year. In Ontario, on the contrary, drought prevailed to the serious detriment of the crops of all kinds. In Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, coarse grains and hay were a good crop. For the present year it may be said that in Manitoba and the Northwest things never looked better, and the area under wheat is large. In Ontario everything looks well, though reports of injury to fruit from local frosts come from various quarters, but are evidently not important. In Quebec the scarcity of snow last winter unquestionably killed some pasture, but the copious rains, which appear to retard vegetation now, will unquestionably, if good weather now comes, go far to secure a good yield of the staple productions, hay and coarse grains.

The prospects of the shipping trade are generally fair. Over five million bushels of grain were cleared from this port in May, and freight engagements up to August and September are reported, which is almost unprecedented. It is reported also that rates are as good as last year. In lumber, trade with Great Britain has been in actual shipments and engagements fully 50 per cent. in excess of last year, while the dread of advanced customs duty by the United States has stimulated shipments to that country by rail and water.

The facilities for handling butter and other products by cold storage, both on land and sea, promise to revolutionize the trade, and may, if due care be taken to secure a uniform and good quality in our staple products, be of immense service to this country.

I trust I may be absolved from blame if I make a departure from the strictly business character of our annual meetings. If somewhat exceptional, the circumstances are not less so. I consider my duty would be imperfectly performed if no reference were made to the approaching celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Her Majesty's accession to the throne. It seems to be a matter of congratulation that Canada will, on this occasion, be represented in London by a gentleman so intimately connected with this Bank, and so well qualified to do justice to the interests of Canada, as Sir Donald Smith, the High Commissioner. Every member of both political parties will gladly agree that in Mr. Laurier the representation of Canada will not suffer in comparison with any other portion of the Empire, either in character or great qualities. The occasion is one which in the very nature of things is extremely unlikely ever to recur, and may well be celebrated with enthusiasm and rejoicing wherever the name of England is known. Sentiment has no place in the administration of a bank, but sentiment, nevertheless, on occasion given, brushes aside all personal interests, and rules with overpowering force the individual and the nation alike. It sets fleets and armies in motion, and sways the destinies of whole races of men and the mightiest of empires. Glorying as we do in the achievements of the great people of which we form a part, and in their history, which is our history, we can approach our beloved sovereign with heartfelt congratulations undimished by distance in intensity or sincerity. We can recall with just pride, that during Her Majesty's reign the population of the British Isles has increased nearly one-half, and the Empire, in area and population, more than doubled, while its commerce has more than trebled. These salient facts can escape the observation of no one, but it may not be unfitting to recall features not less important, but like the victories of peace often less regarded. During her benificent reign, the advances in all that make for the well-being of every class of her subjects have been beyond all precedent in the past. Cruel and unjust laws have been repealed, freedom of speech has disarmed and banished sedition, and the products of every clime have been laid under tribute to minister to the comfort and material enjoyment of the masses. The sick and the wounded poor are systematically tended with zeal and loving care, which is armed against disease and pain and death by scientific discoveries mightier than all previous ages of the world can parallel. Preventible disease has been grappled with and the span of human life prolonged. The bonds of the slave the world over have fallen, and wherever the British flag flies, their is proclaimed the reign of liberty, of law and settled right. Mighty forces of nature have been impressed into the service of man. Steam and electricity have annihilated time and space, the ocean has been bridged, the desert smoothed, and the dark places of the earth are daily growing less. Can we, therefore, hesitate to give our heartfelt and loyal congratulations to our beloved sovereign, with loving admiration for her life and work, for her unwavering devotion to the onerous duties of her station, for her unflinching courage, her steadfast adherence to constitutional rule, her unrivalled personal influence among the sovereigns of Europe, above all for a life given to all that is noble and just and good. God Save the Queen.

The Discussion.

Mr. John Morrison, in rising to speak on the report, referred to the death of Mr. J. H. R. Molson, whom he spoke of as a man of a quiet and retiring disposition, who did not take the part in civic or political life that his abilities eminently fitted him for. They must all feel, even those who were only slightly acquainted with him, that they had lost, in his death, a personal friend.

The chairman moved, seconded by Mr. Hugh McLennan, "That the report of the Directors now read be adopted and printed for distribution among the Shareholders."

Mr. John Crawford spoke in favour of the Shareholders being made acquainted with the gross profits and gross losses, and stated that the banks in England and some other portions of the British Empire, were obliged by their constitution to give the gross receipts. He suggested two ways of increasing the dividends, 1, by economy in the internal management of the Bank, if that were possible; 2, by paying smaller interest on the enormous deposits. He advocated the payment of quarterly dividends, and considered that the Banking Act should be amended in regard to the election of bank directors, who should hold office by rotation for a stated term. He desired that the Directors would consider this, and went on to say that the failure of many of our institutions would not have taken place if there had been rotation on the part of the Directors. When gentlemen were elected year after year, they were apt to get into a groove from which it was almost impossible for them to extricate themselves. The rotation system would obviate this, and would be a stimulus to each Director to thoroughly qualify himself for the position of President.

The Chairman—On behalf of the Board, I would reply to two or three points on which Mr. Crawford touched. As to our not stating the gross profits and enabling every shareholder to estimate what the losses have been and how they came about, that has been threshed out pretty fully previously, and I do not think that I need touch upon it. I have not changed my views on the matter, and I see that he has not changed his. With regard to the last point on which he touched, the compulsory retirement of a portion of the Board and rotation of management, I think there is a great distinction to be drawn between the management of such an institution as the Bank of Montreal and some other institutions in which the service is of a more perfunctory character. I admit that in some institutions it has been absolutely requisite to make changes, and I myself have advocated the matter most strenuously, because the institutions, under the continuous control of one class of minds, had got into a condition of dry rot. In some institutions in this city, the principle of rotation was introduced to the greatest possible advantage. But in the Bank of Montreal I can certify that the Directors give a pains-taking attention to their duties, and after a while the experience they gain makes them more valuable to the Bank and more valuable to the remainder of the Board. This would be lost if their connection with the institution were abruptly terminated at a certain period. In the management of a bank you must have men who are actively engaged in business. If you want really valuable opinion upon current events in the business world you must have men not only of past experience, but of contact with business. If you look over the business community in this city you will see that the number of men eligible to the post of management of the Bank of Montreal, and who are at the same time Shareholders, is vastly limited. Nearly every one that possesses the requisite capacity is engaged in some other bank, and it is a delicate matter to invite a Director of another bank to abandon that Bank and come to us. The choice is, therefore extremely limited, and the suggestion would have to be very carefully considered before it was adopted, at least heartily by myself, for one. I do not know that Mr. Crawford is absolutely right with regard to any large majority of the English Banks declaring their gross profits and losses in their annual statements. On the contrary, I am inclined to think that some of the largest do not. However, that may be, it would be in the highest degree inconvenient for this institution, which possesses over forty agencies between the Atlantic and the Pacific. If such a system were adopted, a large proportion of the results would have to be taken by guesswork, for it takes the great part of a month to receive the reports from the various agencies, and in the final adjustment of accounts for the year, and the declaration of a dividend, the last month has to be taken by estimate. This has to be done for two reasons: 1, our dividend is declared some time in advance; 2, the final examination of the accounts from the various agencies is not to hand. Therefore if you had quarterly dividends, they would be true as regarded two months out of the three; they would be guessed in the third. I think, apart from any other cause, that it would be a dangerous, if not an impolitic thing to consider quarterly dividends. I can say that the directors have strained every effort to conduct the bank with due regard to economy, and I am satisfied that it is so conducted.

The General Manager, in reply to Mr. Crawford's remark that the English banks gave a statement of their working expenses, said he thought the Bank of England did not do so.

Mr. Crawford said that all the banks did of which he had any account.

The motion for the adoption of the report was then agreed to unanimously.

Votes of Thanks.

Mr. Hector Mackenzie moved:

That the thanks of the meeting be presented to the President, Vice-President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Bank.

This was seconded by Mr. F. T. Judah, and adopted.

Mr. W. W. Ogilvie moved.

That the thanks of the meeting be given to the General Manager, the Inspector, the Managers, and other officers of the Bank, for their services during the past year.

In supplementing the motion, Mr. Ogilvie remarked that he had occasion to meet the officers of the Bank frequently, and he had always admired their loyalty to the institution. He thought that the Bank had reason to be proud of its officers.

Mr. E. B. Greenshields seconded the motion, and added his testimony to what Mr. Ogilvie had said as to the loyalty and ability of the officers of the Bank.

The motion was unanimously concurred in.

The General Manager—I have to thank you, on behalf of the officers, for the very kind way in which you have spoken of their services to the Bank. I have to regret the loss this year of two good men, Mr. Brough, of Toronto, and Mr. Plummer, of Stratford, both very valuable men, whose loss I feel very severely.

Mr. Alex. Mitchell moved:

That the ballot now open for the election of directors be kept open until three o'clock, unless fifteen minutes elapse without a vote being cast, when it shall be closed, and until that time, and for that purpose only, this meeting be continued.

This was seconded by Mr. F. H. Simms, and unanimously carried.

On the motion of Mr. John Morrison, seconded by Mr. John Crawford, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Chairman.

The Directors.

The ballot resulted in the election of the following gentlemen:

R. B. ANGUS, Esq.
HON. G. A. DRUMMOND.
A. F. GAULT, Esq.
E. B. GREENSHIELDS, Esq.
W. C. MCDONALD, Esq.

EAGER MULTITUDES

Attend the Monster $40,000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them

MR. HARDY DOWN EAST

The Premier and Mr. Dryden at Lancaster.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE OF ELECTORS

Mr. Dryden Replied to the Criticisms of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Matheson—Mr. Hardy Acknowledged the Kind Reception and Ably Upheld the Local Government.

Lancaster, June 15.—(Special.)—The Young Liberal Clubs of Glengarry honored Mr. Hardy, the Premier of this Province, and his colleague, Mr. Dryden, by turning out in large numbers to attend the opening meeting of the Ministers' tour. The streets were profusely decorated with hunting and banners and the town looked its best. The Premier and his colleague arrived in town by the noon train, and were immediately driven to the scene of the meeting, escorted by the Cornwall Brass Band, which provided excellent music during the afternoon. Despite the facts that the farmers are now exceedingly busy and that there were other strong attractions in the country, the attendance was very large, every one of the temporary seats being occupied, while hundreds of people were compelled to stand throughout the proceedings. On the platform and in the audience were many prominent Liberals from the County of Glengarry, who were most cordial in their reception of the Ministers.

Mr. D. M. McPherson, M.P.P., the standard-bearer for Glengarry, who presided, opened the meeting, congratulating the audience upon having before them two of the leading men of the country, the Premier of Ontario and the Hon. John Dryden. To-day they had an opportunity of hearing these men and learning from them what had been done in the past, and to judge of what would be done in the future by the Government of the Province.

Mr. A. G. McBean said that he felt that he voiced the opinion of the people of Glengarry when he extended to the Ministers a hearty welcome to the county. Turning to Mr. Hardy, he congratulated him upon his appointment to the Premiership, saying that he was a worthy son of a worthy father, Sir Oliver Mowat, and that Ontario was fortunate in having such a worthy successor to Sir Oliver as he was.

Mr. McPherson, in introducing Hon. Mr. Dryden, said that much of the improvement in agriculture in Ontario was due to his practical and thorough work.

MR. DRYDEN.

Mr. Dryden, who was given a most cordial reception, referred to his first visit to Glengarry, 10 years ago, in company with Mr. James Rayside, the late member for the county. Mr. Dryden said that he was glad that the people of Glengarry would have an opportunity of seeing and hearing Hon. Mr. Hardy. We who had known him for years were proud of him. We knew of his influence in the Legislature, of his power as a leader, his strength in debate and his ability as a leader. We knew also his progressive spirit; but beside all this we knew his integrity of character, his defence of the interests of the people against all comers, whether within or without his party. His 20 years of service was well merited and would be justified by the people at the first opportunity.

Mr. Dryden took up Mr. Matheson's criticism of the Government, that they had spent $4,000,000 more than they received and there must therefore be a deficit. This was inconsistent with his claim that there was a balance of four millions when they assumed office. It was not fair to say that Mr. Macdonald left four millions. He left that much cash on hand, but, as Mr. Gibson of Huron had pointed out, Mr. Macdonald had voted $1,500,000, of that for railways, had purchased the Rockwood Asylum for $100,000, and in this and other ways had promised $2,500,000 of this, leaving a real balance of $1,500,000. Mr. Drydenu also took up the question of railway certificates, pointing out that it would be ridiculous to put their present value down as liabilities unless the revenue to be received concurrently with their payment was put down as an asset. The Government did not come to them, like Mr. Whitney, to boast of their honesty; they came to lay their record before the people and to ask them to judge them by it. "By their works ye shall know them." They asked the people to look at what they had done and to judge them by their record.

ADDRESS TO THE PREMIER.

Mr. T. J. Wilkinson, in presenting an address to Mr. Hardy, spoke of the activity and zeal of the Young Liberal Clubs of Glengarry, predicting that they would play an important part in sending to Toronto a staunch Liberal from old Glengarry.

Miss McPherson, daughter of the Chairman, presented Mrs. Hardy with a magnificent bouquet of roses.

MR. HARDY'S REPLY.

The Premier was given a magnificent reception upon rising to speak. After gracefully acknowledging the kindness of the address and the eloquence with which Mr. Wilkinson had presented it, he corrected the impression that might be caused by his visit that an election was impending. The presence of his colleague and himself at Lancaster might perhaps, he said, be taken to indicate an early election. They had not come with any such intent, and no feeling of that kind should be raised by their visit. Many invitations had been given to himself and his colleagues to visit this district, and it had even been said that the east had been neglected in the past by the western members of the Government. They heard that the Young Liberals were organizing, and the clubs were good enough to invite them to be present and take part in the proceedings to-day, and they gladly accepted the invitation.

Mr. Hardy referred to the downfall of the Conservative party. The influence of Sir John Macdonald had passed away. Tupperism was dead—we witnessed its funeral very recently—and great a man as Sir Charles Tupper was, great as he was in physical strength and mental ability, the people had at last found him out or had grown tired of him. The Conservative regime in Quebec had come to an end. The Government of Ontario had nought to fear. In our own Province the Conservatives told us that because Sir Oliver Mowat had gone to Ottawa, therefore Mr. Whitney, or Mr. Marter, or whoever their leader might be, must come into power. What reason had they for supposing so? What had been seen since Sir Oliver Mowat went to Ottawa? His own county returned a Liberal member with a larger majority than Sir Oliver himself received. Essex returned a Liberal with a majority of 1000. Mr. Davis, the new Minister, was elected by acclamation. In every place where they pitted themselves against their opponents the Reformers had been true, and had rolled up their majorities even larger than in the old days. Then what about the House? In 1894 they reduced the Liberal majority on a vote to 7 or 8, in 1895 to 8 or 9, but in 1897 the lowest was 13, and that only once. The next lowest was 15, and so on up to 32, and once near the close of the session to 52, and if the House had lasted a little longer he had no doubt the Government would have had the whole 91. (Laughter.)

Why was this? Because there was no lack of confidence in the Government as reconstituted. Next the policy of the Government commended itself to the independent members more and more, and instead of majorities of seven and eight they increased their majorities to nineteen, twenty and thirty. There was no reason why Mr. Marter and Mr. Whitney and the other gentlemen should stand any better before the country than they did formerly. For years the only policy of the Opposition had been to decry the Government; but now they had a second string to their bow, to decry the Government and also to praise themselves.

Mr. Hardy, in the course of his speech, made some facetious references to Mr. Whitney and his band. Personally, he esteemed the Opposition leader and his colleagues now on a tour in Western Ontario, but saw no reason why the reins of Government should be handed over to them.

The Premier concluded as follows:

The reason the Liberals had so long held power was that their Administration had been on business lines. They did not claim any great ability, as did their opponents, but they did claim watchfulness, fidelity and vigilance in their administration of the affairs of the Province. They believed in a wise liberality in the Administration, rather than a parsimonious spirit. The Opposition held up the bugaboo of direct taxation, but if Mr. Whitney could not see his way to administer the affairs of the Province without direct taxation he should not be entrusted with the Government. As to the Macdonald surplus, Mr. Hardy showed that it was all disposed of before Sir Oliver Mowat assumed office, and, further stated that Mr. Macdonald would have done as they did in regard to expenditure for the advancement of the country. Mr. Hardy briefly reviewed the improvements in agriculture, education, etc., during the Liberal Administration, and the advancement of the country, particularly of New Ontario, to its present condition of prosperity and growth. Mr. Hardy closed his address with an eloquent reference to the Jubilee celebration, dwelling upon the significance of the great procession with its representatives of 100 colonies, with Canada marching to the front, behind the crowned heads of Europe and the Ambassadors of the great foreign nations. "And Mr. Laurier, the leader of the Liberals of this country," he said in conclusion, "is the man who bears the Canadian flag. He comes first in this mighty procession, and only first because he represents this mighty half of this great continent and represents the British ideal under which it is our privilege and our happiness to live."

The meeting closed with the national anthem and hearty cheers for the Queen, Mr. Hardy, Mr. Dryden and Mr. McPherson.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Government Policy in Regard to Coal

ANNOUNCED BY HON. MR. FIELDING

Bituminous Coal Imported Must Pay a Duty of 54 Cents a Ton—Anthracite Coal Comes in Free—Hardware Schedule Considered—Reciprocal Clause Passed.

Ottawa, June 15. (Special.)—When the House met this morning at 11 o'clock, Mr. McNeill read the cabled report of Mr. Laurier's utterances in England on trade policy, and asked for a statement from the Government that Mr. Laurier had not been authorized to encourage preferential trade within the Empire. That was Mr. Chamberlain's policy, and it was evident from the speech of the Duke of Devonshire that was the direction in which the Imperial Government was moving.

Sir Richard Cartwright was promptly on his feet, and disclaimed any responsibility for what might turn out to be incorrect newspaper reports. It was absurd to place any confidence on cable reports, often emanating from prejudiced persons. He had every confidence in Mr. Laurier that he would do what was right.

Sir Charles Tupper concurred in the statement of the leader of the House. It was not fair to assume that the cable reports were correct. He was glad to know, however, that no member of the Government had repudiated the preferential trade idea. Mr. Laurier repeatedly declared himself in favor of preferential trade.

The Government bill giving increased powers to the Government of the Northwest Territories was read the first time. Mr. Bergeron wanted the Territories to be given full and complete autonomy.

Mr. Davin warmly supported the bill.

Sir Richard Cartwright told Sir Charles Tupper that the Pacific cable question would be discussed by the colonial premiers after the Jubilee celebrations were over.

A resolution authorizing repayment of superannuation moneys to civil servants who may be dismissed was adopted and a bill founded thereon introduced.

At the afternoon sitting Mr. Davies moved the House into committee to consider the resolution respecting the salary and position of the Controllers of Customs and Inland Revenue. He proposed an amendment, which provided that the salaries of the Ministers of Customs and Inland Revenue should remain at $5000 a year until such time as the heads of departments were reduced to 13, when the salary should be $7000 per annum.

Mr. W. F. Maclean contended that the number of Ministers should be reduced to 10, with a salary of $10,000 each.

Mr. Foster facetiously commended the Government for continuing to pay hard-working Ministers, like the Secretary of State, $7000, while men with sinecures like the Controller of Customs were given but $5000.

Sir Charles Tupper said he desired seriously to support the proposition which Mr. Foster had put forward in the lighter way. Mr. Paterson and Sir Henri Joly were two hard-worked men, and they ought to have the same pay as other Ministers.

Sir Richard Cartwright reminded the leader of the Opposition that the Controllers only got $5000, although he had admitted them to the Cabinet.

Sir Charles admitted this was true, but pointed out that while he led the Government he never had the power to change any salaries. But he certainly would have made changes if he had been allowed the opportunity.

Mr. Henderson agreed that Mr. Paterson should have $7000 a year, but the Secretary of State should not draw a salary higher than $5000 a year, which was also good enough pay for the Minister of Justice while that gentleman sat in the Senate.

The resolution was then passed.

In committee of ways and means the tariff discussion was resumed by taking up the question of rice.

Mr. Fielding submitted an amendment. Uncleaned rice under the Conservative tariff was taxed 30 cents per hundred pounds. Mr. Fielding had raised this to 75 cents. In a previous debate Mr. Clarke Wallace had contended this duty would destroy the rice-cleaning industry, the duty on cleaned rice remaining, as before, $1.25 per hundred pounds. Mr. Fielding, having looked into the matter, compromised by reducing the duty on uncleaned rice to 50 cents per hundred pounds.

The Finance Minister also proposed to restore the old duty on pears, instead of the proposed rate of one cent per pound.

An hour's discussion ensued on the item of "Files," Mr. Craig protesting that the duty should be restored to 25 per cent. He also took occasion to read a score or two of testimonials as to the excellence of the product of the Globe File Company of Port Hope, whose files had been spoken badly of by Mr. Wood (Hamilton) recently.

Mr. Wood reiterated his strictures, and was taken to task by Messrs. Cargill, Kendry, Ratz and others, who were large users of files.

Mr. Maclean observed that he was sorry to hear so good a Liberal as Mr. Wood pass such strictures upon Globe files. When he next met the editor of that paper he would tell him of it. [Laughter.]

Mr. Fielding declined to alter the duty.

The item of wire fencing, 20 per cent., was changed to read: "Buckthorn and ship fencing, woven wire fencing and fencing of iron or steel, N.E.S., 15 per cent."

In this connection Mr. Foster drew attention to the fact that a few nights ago Mr. McGregor, strangely enough, was anxious that certain grades of wire should be free, so that farmers could

LAURIER, CANADA AND THE EMPIRE.

Canadians may well be proud of the high favour with which the representative of Canada, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, is being received in England on the occasion of the Jubilee. While it is a tribute to the personal worth, polished oratory, great ability, courtly bearing, and undoubted loyalty of of Mr. Laurier to British institutions and to the British ideal of constitutional government, upon which he has founded his political convictions, it is again a tribute to the great Canadian federation which has, at the leading of Mr. Laurier, been the first to show a practical respect, in the way of commercial relations to the Mother Country. While in the past the representatives of this country have been preaching loyalty, Mr. Laurier has practised it without very much preaching. And the British are very quick to appreciate the distinction between empty mouthings, however effusive and eloquent, and the loyalty that is implemented by acts of favour gracefully done. The good achieved by Mr. Laurier in placing Canada in such pleasant, but, after all, perfectly natural, relations with the Mother Country, cannot be rapidly estimated. More than ever before has been done to bring Canada into the prominence, in the minds of British statesmen and British capitalists, that alone is needed to insure their co-operation and substantial assistance in developing the magnificent natural resources of this country: and when that development is under process of accomplishment, we shall be advancing on the highway to the goal, to which destiny points the way, of being a great nation.

More than ever has been done to knit closer the bonds of Empire, and to advance toward realization the magnificent ideal of an Imperial Federation, which, until later developments changed its aspect, has been largely regarded as a splendid dream.

No country, no part of the Empire, has larger reason than Canada to unite heartily in the jubilations over the accomplishment of sixty years of wonderfully great and beneficent rule; both on account of the share in its benefits she has enjoyed, and on account of the happy auspices and favouring circumstances under which she contributes her share to the imperial note of rejoicing that rises from the isles of the sea and remotest corners of the earth, to centre in and blend with the hymnings of rejoicing that rise from the heart of the Empire, the "tight little isle" of Britain.

CHANDOS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Minutes of the Court of Revision for the township of Chandos for the year 1897. The following appeals were disposed of:—

From Chas. Prouty, asking for reduction of twenty acres from assessment on lot 18, con 7, this portion of said lot being covered by water of Loon Lake.—Appeal sustained.

From Carlton S. Prouty, asking for reduction of ten acres from assessment of lot 19, con. 7. This portion of lot being under water also.—Appeal sustained.

From Nathaniel Hawley, asking reduction of 62 acres from assessment on lot 23, con. 10, this portion of lot being covered by water of Loon Lake.—Appeal sustained.

From H S Prouty, for reduction of assessment on lot 24, con 6, but for lack of evidence as to shortage in measurement of lot the assessment was confirmed.

From Thos Bullied, for reduction of 16 acres from assessment on lot 1, con 5, this amount being assessed as cleared land, while there was no clearing on said lot.—Reduction granted.

From Wm Snelgrove, asking to be assessed for lot 30, con 3, instead of Thos Snelgrove.—Request not granted.

On motion of W J Rosebush and D S Campbell, the roll as this day revised for the year 1897 was accepted. Court was dismissed.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Chas. Carroll, agent for Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, visited the Point this week.

Mr. Thomas McHenry arrived here on Tuesday in the interests of the Rathbun Co. He is overhauling the sawmill which the Rathbun Company has rented from Mr. Young for the summer.

Mr. Ambrose Hoolihan of Buffalo is home on an extended visit to his parents in Selwyn.

Mr. Harry Kearney has returned home from an extended visit to Chicago.

Mrs. Wm. McFarlane is spending a couple of weeks in Peterborough.

It has been raining steadily here all week, and we are looking forward to fine weather now.

The Majestic is kept busy these days towing wood from Deer Bay to Lakefield for Mr. W. J. Young. Capt. Scollard says the passenger season will commence about the 17th inst.

Miss Minnie Young is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. T. McMahon, of Rochester, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. D. Costello, of Peterborough, visited the Point Sunday.

The steamboats start to run their regular trips here on Monday the 21st, and will connect with the morning and evening evening trains at Lakefield. They expect to carry more passengers this summer than ever, as Young's Point and Stony Lake are becoming so popular.

The fishing season starts on Wednesday, the 16th, so we can catch the finny tribe now without interfering with the law.

The following guests are registered at J. E. Kearney's hotel: Mr. Joseph Schliesenger, Mr. John Spies, Mr. H. H. Love, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Zoller, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McKelvey, all of Rochester, N.Y., Mr. W. H. Duval, of New York City, Mrs. F. McCarthy, of Montreal.

GALWAY & CAVENDISH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Court of Revision on the assessment roll of the township of Galway & Cavendish for 1897 met on Monday, 31st ult. All the members present. After the necessary statutory declaration of office had been made and subscribed, appeals were heard and disposed of.

Mrs Ogeistone's assessment reduced $30 and Robt Hamphries assessment reduced $50.

David Conroy requested to be assessed for lots 4 and 6, con 17, Galway, and Andrew Waters for lots 19 and 20, con 13. On motion request was granted.

John and James Mages requested to be assessed for lots 16 and 17, con 14 and 15, Cavendish. No action taken.

John and Joseph Blanchard requested to be assessed for lots 14 and 15, con 13, Cavendish. No action taken.

M Mansfield requested to have lot 9, con 18, transferred to Jos Russell. Request granted. Also to have Richard Mansfield assessed as tenants for lots 41 and 42, con A, Galway. No action.

With these amendments the assessment roll was passed and finally accepted as the revised assessment roll of the municipality for the year 1897.

Court then dissolved and went into council for the transaction of general business of the township.

The minutes of last meeting were read and signed.

On motion the clerk was instructed to notify the county treasurer to remove all arrears on lot 4, con 10, Galway, previous to the year 1894, date of its first location.

On motion John Craig was paid $5 for coffin for John Mintz, and Frederick Duttman $3 for digging grave.

On motion the council and clerk were paid up to date and orders drawn on treasurer for the same:—Charles Coben, $3.75; John Gilmore, $3.75; James Allen, $3.75; Michael Collins, $3.75; Geo Martin, $3 75; P Collins, clerk, salary, $28.00; postage, $8.00.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday, 30th of August, unless sooner called by the reeve.

Belleville People Speak Freely About the New Conqueror of Heart and Nerve Troubles.

Perhaps Some of Them are Neighbours of Yours—they Speak with Emphasis.

Mrs. E. McConnell, says: "For the last 8 or 10 years I have suffered greatly from heart trouble and nervousness. The pains across my chest and over the heart were very severe. My heart seemed to jump and throb until I could hardly stand it. I often felt as if it would jump out of my body.

I grew so weak that I could not work, and was tired at the slightest exertion. Nervousness also afflicted me so much that I was startled at the least noise or alarm.

Naturally this effected me mentally, and I grew very morbid and despondent. The medicines I took did me no good, and I was almost despairing of a cure when I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at McKeown's Drug Store.

I experienced prompt relief from the first box, and now am like another woman. My whole system is toned up. All my distressing symptoms have been removed, and I cannot feel to thankful to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for the great good they have done me."

An Auto-Car Wedding.

The first wedding which can be described as an autocar wedding took place recently at St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church, Solihull, England. The contracting parties were Albert Edward Day and Miss Irma L'Hollier. The bridegroom is assistant manager to the Anglo-French Motor Carriage Company, Limited, of Birmingham, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. Leon L'Hollier, who was among the first to recognize the renaissance of the motor-car, and to introduce modern automobiles into England. The ceremony was attended by a large number of people, three parties, including the bridal pair, attending in motor cars, one of the cars being driven by Mr. Edward Gascoine, the manager of the Anglo-French Motor Carriage Company.

Delay Means Death

One Dose Relieves—A Few Bottles Always Cure.

"For ten years I have suffered greatly from heart disease. Fluttering of the heart, palpitations and smothering spells have made my life miserable. When dropsy set in my physician said I must prepare my family for the worst. All this time I had seen Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure advertised. As a last resort I tried it and think of my joy when I received great relief from one dose. One bottle cured my dropsy, and brought me out of bed, and five bottles have completely cured my heart. If you are troubled with any heart affection, and are in despair, as I was, use this remedy, for I know it will cure you."—MRS. MES ADAMS Syracuse, N. Y. Sold by H. S. McDonald make their own woven wire fencing, while he favored protection on woven wire fencing itself. Then Mr. Foster read from the "Wire Fencing Gem," the advertisement of a little machine, costing $5 each, wherewith the farmer could weave his own fence. The makers of the machine were McGregor, Banwell & Company of Windsor. Was this Mr. McGregor the member for Essex?

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. McGregor believed he was. But the little machine was a good thing and only cost $5. He did not care for any duty on woven wire fencing at all.

Mr. Clancy pointed out that it was evident Mr. McGregor was an N. P. man after all. He wanted this fencing taxed so the manufacturing could be done here.

Subsequently, discussing the wire duty and the duty on skates, Messrs. Quinn and Borden warned the Government that the tariff changes would throw many men out of employment in Montreal and Halifax.

On the item of "Agricultural machinery, 20 per cent.," Mr. Richardson (Liberal, Lisgar) arose and moved an amendment, that the item be reduced to 10 per cent., having at the very outset of his remarks, however, assured the Government that he would not vote against them, no matter whether they adopted his suggestion or not.

Rev. Mr. Douglas and Mr. Rogers supported the amendment.

Mr. Bennett, the first thing after recess, brought up the question of the export duty on saw logs. He read from The Midland Free Press the announcement that Collector of Customs Parkhill has been instructed by the Dominion Government not to give clearance papers for rafts of logs from Canada to the United States until he has received the order of the Government. Mr. Bennett asked:

1. Is the statement correct that such instructions have been given?

2. If such instructions were given, upon what principle of law or practice were the same given?

3. What are the further instructions referred to as being intended to be given?

Mr. Paterson replied that the Commissioner of Customs had informed him that a circular had been issued to officers on the north shore. It had been the practice since Confederation that supervision would be exercised before the logs were towed, and that they should not be towed until the dues were paid to the Ontario Government. The Commissioner was now enquiring into the whole matter.

Mr. Davin then proceeded to criticise Mr. Richardson's position, he having voted recently against Mr. Davin's resolution for free agricultural implements, albeit in his paper he declared it would be impossible to defend the Government unless they put implements on the free list. Mr. Davin would, however, vote for Mr. Richardson's amendment.

Mr. Richardson replied by quoting from The Regina Leader of 1883, to show inconsistencies in Mr. Davin's course.

In reply to a question by Rev. Mr. Douglas, the Controller said the value for duty would be the value of the implement in the country of manufacture, the law being the same as before.

The question was then put and Mr. Richardson's amendment was declared lost on division, the mover not demanding a vote.

The item as it stood was adopted.

On the item of watch cases, 30 per cent., Mr. Foster urged that the duty be put back to 35 per cent. on behalf of a sound Canadian industry. All he asked was that the watch case makers of Ontario and Quebec be treated as well as the coal mine owners of Nova Scotia.

The item, however, went through without change.

On the item, axes, scythes, etc., from 35 to 30 per cent., Mr. Monk said that at Cote St. Paul, last Saturday, over 60 men employed in the ax works had been discharged because of the loss of protection to that industry. Why? he asked, should the ax makers be treated differently from the manufacturers of hammers, of shovels, of adzes and of saws, who all had 35 per cent.?

After further discussion the item passed.

The following new item was inserted: "White cotton embroideries 25 per cent."

On the item shirts 35 per cent., Mr. Henderson set the House in a roar by suggesting that the shirt-makers be compelled to make longer shirts for tall men.

Mr. Fielding moved to strike out 35%, "cotton fabrics, fronting linens, etc., 15 per cent.," or in other words the raw material for shirt-makers. The change would make this material dutiable at 35 per cent.

Mr. Foster strongly urged Mr. Fielding to retain the item in order to give shirt-makers a chance. He predicted that it would mean almost ruin to shirt-makers if they were hit so hard.

Mr. Fielding thought Mr. Foster was taking too pessimistic a view of the trade. He thought with a duty of 35 per cent. the shirt-makers could worry along.

Mr. Foster said time would tell.

The item passed.

Mr. Henderson urged more protection to manufacturers of "socks and stockings," 35 per cent., and Mr. Rosamond, on yarns when imported by manufacturers of woolen goods, 20 per cent., but their efforts were unavailing.

Then came the Government announcement in reference to the coal duties. Mr. Fielding said the item regarding coal had stood to enable the Government to consider circumstances as they might arise regarding this duty in the United States. He was glad to say that what had occurred recently in Congress was in the right direction. In the Dingley bill the coal duty was increased to 75c per ton. The duty now stood the same, except that it would be 60c per ton when imported from any country which imposed a duty of no higher rate. The Canadian duty was levied on the short ton and the American on the long ton. He therefore proposed that the duty on bituminous coal should be 57c per ton of 2000 pounds, being the equivalent of 60c on the ton of 2240 pounds. When the United States reduced the duty on bituminous coal to 40c for 2000 pounds the Governor-in-Council would be authorized to reduce the duty to a similar figure. He was not without hope that our American friends, now they had started in the right direction, would go lower than 60c. Bituminous slack coal, he suggested, should remain at 24 per cent., but not to exceed 13c per ton of 2000 pounds, being the equivalent of 15c on the long ton.

Mr. Clarke (Toronto): What about the duty on anthracite?

Mr. Fielding said inasmuch as the Americans had not proceeded with the duty on anthracite the Government did not propose to touch it. Rather, they preferred to encourage the Americans in the right direction.

Mr. Clarke: So that it the meantime there will be no duty on anthracite?

Mr. Fielding: For the present there will be no duty on anthracite.

Mr. Foster said Parliament would adjourn within a week. How did the Government know that American coal duties would not be increased again? Such a contingency was quite possible, and the result would be to give American coal producers access to our markets at 54c a ton, while our producers might have to pay 75c. If the Government wanted reciprocity in coal let them put on a maximum duty as well as a minimum one.

Mr. Fielding replied that in all the information the Government could obtain they had taken great pains to ascertain the facts, and these led them to believe that 60c per ton would be the maximum duty imposed by the United States. If they were disappointed in that respect and the duties were increased, then Parliament would have to deal with the matter next session.

Mr. Bell (Picton) supported the view submitted by Mr. Foster. He held that the duty on bituminous coal was low enough.

Mr. Ellis urged that coal be made entirely free.

The item as amended carried.

On the item "foreign raw leaf tobacco, 10 and 14c per pound, respectively," Mr. Fielding added the words "to be computed on the weight when ex-warehoused."

Schedule D passed without opposition.

The committee rose and reported.

Mr. Blair presented papers relating to the arrangement with the Grand Trunk Railway for the extension of the Intercolonial Railway.

The House adjourned at 11.45 p.m.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

Astounding Possibilities.

The statement is made by Prof. William Crookes of London that to count the molecules in a pin-head space at the rate of 10,000,000 per second, would require 250,000 years. The smallest particle that the human eye can detect measures about on hundred thousandth of an inch on a side, and such a particle is composed of from sixty millions to one hundred millions of molecules; one one hundredth of a cubic inch of gas contains 19,000,000,000,000,000,000 to 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 molecules. Probably no microscope will ever be constructed of such high power that these high particles can be seen by its aid, and as to the measurement of their actual size, this is a problem that taxes to the utmost the resources of investigators, the chief reliance at present being on the method which employs very fine films, these being made of soap solution, as in bubbles, of deposits of metals by electroplating, or of olive oil on water—the latter a favorite process; the thickness of the films is measured in various ways, and the approximate size of the molecules then calculated. In one case the film was found to be ten millionth of an inch thick, and as, presumably, there were at least five layers of molecules, the individual molecules could be no more than one fifty millionth inch in diameter.

ASTONISHED?

Of course you were—could hardly believe that we were making such a big break in prices. Well, we like to astonish buyers, and now we're going to outdo it and "go one better" this week.

SUITS TO ORDER—

The Tweeds and Scotches and Worsteds will now go at a lively gait. Think of making up Suits to your measure, in TWEED, for $12, $13 and $14; in SCOTCH TWEED for $15, $16 and $17; in SERGE, for $14, $15 and $16; in WORSTEDS, for $16, $17 and $19—in latest styles of the tailoring art.

TROUSERS DOWN—

Another honest all wool offer which will give a hint of what we are doing. A superb stock of Trouserings will be made-to-order as low as $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00—1897 designs and all fashionable patterns. Your coat and vest may look a little dingy, but if you are not very particular, they may be made to do, provided you have a new pair of Trousers to brighten up the suit.

See our Fine Worsted Trousers for $2.50—excellent value.

FANCY CAMBRIC SHIRTS—

Here is where we have some extra special values to talk about. Young men and stylish dressers of different tastes can easily select from our assortment of Fancy English and French Cambric Shirts. They possess all the qualities of style that the season demands. Price run from 40c to $1.50, according to quality.

MEN'S UNDERWEAR—

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. Hard Times Procession.

The members of the Victoria Bicycle Club who propose taking part in the "hard times procession" on their wheels this evening will assemble in the yards at the rear of the Oriental Hotel.

Garden Party.

The Girls' Guild and Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church will give a garden party in the grounds of Mr. R. B. Rogers, on Wednesday, June 16th. Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Tickets 10c. A good programme. 3d

Jubilee Procession.

It is requested on behalf of the Diamond Jubilee Demonstration Committee that the societies taking part in the Jubilee procession on Tuesday next appoint marshalls for their respective contingents; and that each society have a representative present at the meeting in the council chamber on Saturday night, when the order of procession will be arranged.

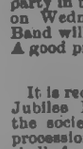
New Stony Lake Cottage.

Mr. John Kincaid has the contract from Mr. Judge Hudspeth, of Jersey City, U.S., for the erection of a large and elaborate summer cottage on Island 71, Stony Lake, in the vicinity of Boschink Narrows. The cottage will consist of a main building and two wings and will be surrounded by a verandah. It is expected that this cottage will be furnished in about a month. It looks as though we were annexing the United States in sections.

G.T.R. Diamond Jubilee Souvenir.

The Grand Trunk Railway system will shortly have ready for distribution a handsome Diamond Jubilee Souvenir. The design is one of the finest productions of the lithographer's art, and is emblematical of the glory of the British Empire, Canada the premier colony, and Canada's great railway. It contains pictures of the Queen, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and Prince Albert Edward. At the top of the design is a radiant star, in the centre of which are the letters "L.X.," and on either side of this is a Union Jack suitably draped. Beneath is the Coat of Arms of Canada, and minature views of the new Victoria Jubilee Bridge, Montreal, and the new single arch steel bridge, Niagara Falls. Between the two bridges is a small trade mark of the system. The demand for the Souvenirs will undoubtedly be greater than the supply, and it has been decided to distribute them to the company's patrons in the order in which applications are received. Information will be cheerfully given by Mr. W. Bunton, G. T. R. up-town agent, George street.

Sturrock at the Jubilee Concert.



At the Jubilee concert on Waterloo day, Friday, June 18th, in the opera house, one great attraction will be the singing of patriotic songs by Mr. Alf. Sturrock, baritone soloist of the Dominion Methodist church, Ottawa, and formerly of St. James Cathedral, Toronto. Mr. Sturrock has sung before in Peterborough and all who have heard his delightful singing will be glad to hear him again. His voice is a robust, well trained, clear, musical baritone. He sings with great fire as well as finish and the three entirely new patriotic jubilee songs especially imported from England for the occasion will be a most rare treat. Sturrock can do such songs full justice and all who possibly can should hear him. Besides the patriotic choruses by the children in their picturesque red, white and blue—Union Jack—setting, Miss Alma McCollum's, patriotic recitale and the bayonet exhibits by the 57th sergeants make a programme that will be unique and unexcelled in local concert annals. Friday night, opera house, 25 and 35 cents. Seat plan, rapidly filling, at Sailsburys.

THE GARDEN PARTY AT CASTLEKNOCK.

It Was Liberally Patronized Last Evening and Proved a Great Success.

The beautiful grounds surrounding Castleknock, the residence of Mrs. Dennistoun, looked especially charming last evening, being profusely decorated with Chinese lanterns for illumination purposes, the occasion being the holding of a garden party for the benefit of the new Y.W.C.A. home.

As the moon rose the scene was transformed into fairyland, the trees throwing long shadows over the closely cut grass and creating an effect indescribably pretty. The grounds are beautiful at all times, but last evening their attractiveness appeared to be even more accentuated, and consequently hundreds of passers by dropped in to have ice cream and cake at the little tables which were scattered around the lawn. A great many were out wheeling in the north end during the evening and few passed the gates of Castleknock without contributing to the Young Women's funds.

The Fire Brigade band was present in the evening and excelled themselves in the pleasing selections which were rendered. In the intervals Mrs. R. M. Dennistonn, Miss Vina Belleghem, Miss Alice Roger and Miss Code contributed piano numbers to the programme.

It is pleasing to be able to state that the garden party was a great success financially and doubtless through it many have become interested in the work of the Home, who perhaps would not otherwise have had their sympathy aroused, as the time and place seemed especially fitted for explanations concerning the need of providing a home for young girls, who come as strangers to the town.

RESOLUTION OF CONFIDENCE AND ESTEEM.

Passed by the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte Street Church Last Evening.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church last evening it was moved by Dr. M. A. Morrison, recording steward, seconded by Mr. Wm. Forster:

That the members of the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church assembled in this adjourned and last meeting under the administration of the Rev. Mr. Rae, wish to express and place on record our high esteem for and confidence in, our pastor. His excellent abilities in the pulpit and his affability in the ocial life have endeared him to our people and it is with regret that we must sever a connection as pastor and people that has been so helpful and harmonious.

And our prayer now is that the work to which he has been called and is so eminently qualified to perform may prosper under his fostering care, that he and his estimable family may continue to have the favour of God in the fullness of his promise and in bidding them adieu we do so regretting our loss but wishing them prosperity in their new charge.

The motion was carried unanimously by a standing vote of the members.

The warm tribute which is paid the pastor in the resolution is but the official reflection of the feeling of the congregation and the public at large, in whose esteem Mr. Rae, during his residence in town has won for himself an enviable place.

DOURO WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. F. J. Hines and Miss Maggie Moloney.

Yesterday at St. Joseph's church, Douro, Rev. Father Phelan was celebrant of the ceremony that united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Mr. F. J. Hines, of Chandos, and Miss Maggie Ellen Moloney, daughter of Mr. John Moloney, of Douro. The brode was attended by her sister, Miss Moloney, and Mr. Michael Hines, brother of the groom, performed the duties of "best man."

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public orts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Peterborough's Busiest Store.

Again and again Gough Bros. have emphasized the possibilities of the benefits to be derived by customers of their store. Every now and then they come across some surprised customer who never dreamed the business was so large, so comprehensive, so able to substantiate their claims for the lowest prices. To see the clothing store at present is to be convinced, as well as to be inspired with new interest in modern retailing. The addition of the gigantic new stock of fine clothing purchased so advantageously in Montreal is a study in merchandise buying. The enterprise of the firm in putting their money into a $40,000 stock is an achievement at which the wide-awake Gough Bros. are past-masters. Everyone likes to think of Peterborough as progressive—reaching out after advantages for the common weal of its citizens. Gough Bros. accept no excuse for not keeping sharp step with the community—even to the addition of gigantic stocks as fast as opportunity presents itself. The big store is the busiest store in town. The clothing was never better, quantities never so large, assortments never so complete, values never so good as at this time. It was a lucky stroke of good fortune to secure the choicest selections of the Montreal millionaire clothiers, Messrs. A. E. Small & Co., manufacturers, who have earned an enviable standing for the high-class character of their clothing. But the prices are what causes the most wonder! The figures accepted from Gough Bros. for the stock actually would not cover the making in many instances. The merest novice in purchasing clothing at this sale will recognize the ridiculously low prices. And so, is it any wonder that the crowds keep streaming in? Is it any wonder that our men, young men and boys are to be found eager to capture unprecedented bargains that Gough Bros., the busiest men in Peterborough, so freely offer them? dw

GRAYS WANT A NEW TRIAL.

An Echo of the Alleged Murder Case.

Thomas and Hessie Gray of Peterborough, are appealing to the Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, to-day for a new trial in their action for slander brought against John Graham Weir of Peterborough.

The alleged slander was in connection with the murder of David Scollie, the old man who was said to have been killed about two years ago, and the house burnt over his head. The Grays kept house for Scollie, and they were arrested and tried on a charge of murdering him. The charge was dismissed, the Judge taking the case from the jury before all the evidence had been put in.

The Grays then sued John Graham Weir, one of the Crown's principal witnesses, for slander, but the case was dismissed. To-day they are asking for a new trial through their solicitor, Mr. D. O'Connel of Peterborough.

JUBILEE DAY NOTES.

A Few Items of Interest Concerning the Peeterborough Demonstration.

As announced in the programme for the Jubilee Day celebration special prizes are being offered for the business houses and residences which are the most prettily decorated and illuminated for the occasion. The business portion of the town is supposed to be bounded by Charlotte, Brock, Water and Aylmer streets, and those outside of this area decorating their residences are requested to leave their addresses with S. R. Armstrong, town clerk, in order that the Prize Committee may know where to go when judging.

The Central Jubilee Committee meets to-night in the council chamber. Every member is requested to be present.

The Fire Brigade intends turning out in full regalia in the procession and the many friends of the fire laddies will have an opportunity of showing their admiration in a substantial way by giving them flowers wherewith to decorate the hose and hook and ladder wagons. Those desiring to do so will kindly forward the same to the fire hall on Monday.

The space in which the lacrosse match is to be played will be roped off in order to keep the crowd back and give those in the grand stand an opportunity of witnessing the match.

One of the most attractive feature of the parade will be the presence of Capt Johnston and his squadron of fifty cavalry troopers.

It has been suggested that one of the best advertisements the day could have would be obtained if the decorating would begin on Saturday, or even Friday, in order to attract attention from the marketers on Saturday.

JUBILEE SUNDAY.

A Mass Meeting of the Sunday School Children.

There will be a mass meeting of all the Sunday school children in the Victoria (Court House) Park at 3 p.m.

The children will assemble at their respective schools and march to the Park. There they will be ranged in order around the band stand, the little ones nearest the stand and the elder ones behind these. The schools will probably turn out as follows:

St John's	200
George street	650
Grace church	100
Auburn	100
Mark street	120
Charlotte street	250
St Andrew's	280
St Paul's	350
Murray street Baptist	120
Bethany Mission	85
Salvation Army	100
Other schools	100
Total	2,455

Such a sight has never before been seen in Peterborough, and as a demonstration in honour of our Queen by Christian children of Peterborough, will be an event they will ever remember.

There will be eight-minute addresses with suitable patriotic and religious songs.

A Cavan Case.

Several months ago, John Wilson, sr., and John Wilson, jr., of Cavan, were committed for trial at Millbrook on the charge of stealing hay from Clare D. Winslow. At Cobourg this week the grand jury returned "no bill," and Mr. Wilson, sr., has now issued a writ through R. M. Ruddy, of Millbrook, for damages against Mr. Winslow.

Free Gift to all on Saturday.

Every purchaser at Miss Rudkins' store on Saturday will be presented with a pretty souvenir of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. It will not be necessary to buy a large parcel of goods amounting to a certain sum to get the gift. Every purchaser, whether it be a large or small amount, will receive the souvenir free. Miss Rudkins will be pleased to see her store full all day.

Fishing at Keene.

There is fairly good lunge fishing in Indian River, Keene. But the anxiety of the fish to be caught is rather erratic. Some days the sportive lunge is quite spooney, but other days he seems to prefer something more digestible than silvered copper. Mr. Gilchrist, the new inspector, is reported to be enforcing the fishery regulations, and he is much assisted by the general desire to observance on the part of the public.

New Invention in Photography.

Mr. A. E. Ford, photographer, Charlotte street, has introduced into Peterborough the new "Bas Relief" photography, which is becoming very popular in the large cities. Mr. Ford has some excellent samples of the new process, developed in his own photograph studio, on exhibition in his art window, which are being greatly admired. The special attractiveness of the "Bas Relief" consists in developing the usual flat photograph into fine statuesque effects. The features and figures are made to stand out prominently from the background, and give a more life-like outline of the subject. When skilfully taken and moulded into artistic mats and frames, a very novel effect is produced. The pictures can be taken in all sizes from the "cabinet" size up. Residences, animals, etc., can als be reproduced by this new process, and there is scarcely any limit to its effectiveness in its application to photography. Mr. Ford has secured the exclusive right in Peterborough for this new process and extends a cordial invitation to the public to call at the studio and inspect the new photography now on exhibition. Ladies, especially will be pleased as well as surprised at the striking improvement which the "Bas Relief" affords. Mr. Ford is prepared to produce the best results attainable, and will cheerfully afford every inspection desired. 31

ITEMS FROM CAMP

How the 3rd Dragoons Are Faring Down at Kingston.

The appended items of local interest are taken from the reports of the Kingston camps, where the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons are drilling:—

Sunday at the military camp grounds was a quiet and most orderly day. It is doubtful if the Sabbath was ever kept better at a military camp in Kingston than was the case yesterday. The different corps are apparently composed of gentlemen who know how to conduct themselves properly. The officers in camp and especially the brigade staff, cannot understand how Major Ross, of the 16th battalion could have made such a statement on Saturday regarding order. Commandant Cotton stated last night he never saw a more orderly set of men under canvass.

The church parade yesterday morning was probably the best that has taken place in any camp here. The members of the different denominations turned out in good force. The Episcopalians mustered 650 strong, the Roman Catholics 100, the Methodists 400, and the Presbyterians 200.

The Anglican service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Symonds, 3rd Dragoons, rector of Ashburnham church, Peterborough. His text was "Put on the whole armour of God," and the clergyman gave a fine oration on the calling of a soldier. He pointed out the different lines a soldier ought to try and live up to. Honour should be his watchword, and chivalry and bravery came next. In his dealings with men he would place the soldier next to the clergyman. The Bible did not object to war under certain circumstances. War had rid the world of many evils and might do so still.

Trooper Carey, of "C" squadron, 3rd dragoons, has been laid up for a couple of days, suffering from the effects of the sun. His face is badly swollen, so much so that both his eyes have been totally closed.

Sunstoke is of frequent occurrence in camp, but the cases are all of a very mild nature. Deputy-surgeon-general Neilson, P.M.O., attributes this to the fact that the majority of men in camp are farmers who are used to working in loose clothing, light, wide-rimmed straw hats, etc., who cannot stand the closely buttoned tunic and the Glengarry caps.

FISHING NOTES.

The Disciples of Isaak Walton Having Their Innings.

Everyone who is interested in fishing is making arrangements to take a few days off this week or next and indulge themselves in their favourite pastime.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Dave Elliott went out to Buckhorn on Monday evening.

A party composed of Messrs. R. J. and Fred. Winch, T. E. Bradburn and T. H. G. Denne left at daylight this morning for Buckhorn and expect to return to-morrow.

Another party which left this morning for the back lakes is composed of Messrs. H. LeBrun, R. B. McKee and Ed. Brown.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The exterior of Oak Hall is being grained in a shade of oak.

—Large numbers patronize the bicycle track at the Nicholls Park in the evenings.

—The Gun Club will hold a shoot to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Riverside Park.

—Court Forest Queen holds its regular meeting to-night. The question of what part the Court will take in the Jubilee demonstration will be discussed.

—The party who took the parasol from the Misses Cahill's millinery store on Saturday morning last will please return same to above store and save further trouble, as they are known. 1dlw —Oshawa is beginning to feel the benefit resulting from the tariff changes. The Malleable Iron Co. propose to start up their great works again in that town providing exemption from ordinary taxes is granted.

—A cold day is in store for the grog-drinkers of East Simcoe. The License Holders' Association of that district at a recent meeting held in Orillia decided to raise the price of whiskey, brandy, gin and rum, to 10 per glass after July 1st, and to sell the liquors pure. The wholesale men will refuse to supply any retailer who sells liquor at 5c.

—The people of Canada are not surprised that the Jubilee portrait of the Queen, gotten out by the Montreal Star, and the Star Jubilee Medal, of solid aluminum, are carrying everything before them. But the people of England are now admiring both of these souvenirs, and cablegrams say the Star Souvenirs are the best out, either in England or any of the colonies beside Canada.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Father Phelan was in from Douro to-day.

Mr. James Lynch is in New York on a business trip.

Miss Vida Gladman is visiting friends in Enniskillen.

Mrs. Allan Huffman has gone to Madoc to visit her mother.

Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan took the noon train to-day for Kingston where she will visit friends.

Miss M. Landry left for Lindsay on Monday to spend her summer vacation with her parents.

Mrs. A. G. Dickson left last evening to visit friends it Toronto. Mr. Dickson will go up to the city in the morning.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor returned yesterday from Lindsay, where he consecrated and opened the new Roman Catholic Cemetery on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and family have returned to town after spending four or five days at their pretty Stony lake cottage.

The Belleville Intelligencer says: Mrs. Geo. J. Horkins, of Peterborough, has come to this city to reside with her brother Mr. W. Smith, Station Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Myles Henry have returned from their wedding trip and have taken up their residence at Chemong. Mr. Henry rides in to business on his wheel each morning.

LACROSSE.

Practice to-night.

All Juniors intending to play this season are urged to turn out at once, as a schedule of games is being arranged for them.

An endeavour is being made to have the Orillias down for a game on July 1st. The Juniors will probably go to Tweed on that day.

CRICKET.

In a match with Belleville against Picton the other day, Dr. Perry Goldsmith made a stand for 45 runs.

The return match between the bankers and the town will be played on the oval at the Nicholls Park to-morrow afternoon at half past three o'clock. All players are requested to be on the grounds promptly on time.

The single men challenge the benedicts to a return match, agreeing to play eleven men against fifteen.

THE WHEEL.

One of these bright summer's evenings a sad accident will be recorded as occuring at the new Nicholls Park bicycle track on account of the number of ladies who ride on it—not singly or in pairs, but in bevies through which the racing men whirl like cyclones, picking their way in and out as best they can. If the ladies would only adopt some system in regard to their riding and go in pairs on the extreme inside or outside edge of the track there would be room for all, but if a dozen lady riders come to the track they are almost sure to ride abreast or scattered all over the track. Last evening one young lady calmly took her life in her hand and rode the opposite way to the rest of the riders. If a racing man had happened to come suddenly around a turn in the track nothing could have prevented a collision which would necessarily have been attended with serious results.

It is said that the bicycle races which will be held here on Jubilee Day, will not be sanctioned by the C.W.A. If the races are to be a success the sanction must be obtained, as unless this is done any rider participating would be outlawed for the rest of the season. This is a matter which the wheelmen think should not be neglected.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

Yesterday we published the annual report of one of our banks doing business in this town, and to-day is presented the report of another, the Ontario Bank.

This report is a very gratifying one, as a perusal of it will show. It will be observed that in the past year the bank paid two dividends at the rate of five per cent. per annum on its capital of one million and has, besides, strengthened its position by adding $15,000 to its rest account, which now totals $65,000. During the year the bank has also brought its profit and loss balance up to $17,595, reduced its bank premises account by $2,001, and set apart $5,000 as the nucleus of a guarantee fund for the officers of the bank. The assets now total $6,573,651. The result of the year, as indicating gratifying progress, is most satisfactory, and reflects great credit upon the excellent management that has contributed to such results. And a very large share of this credit is doubtless due to the energetic general manager, Mr. Charles McGill. Since he has occupied that position, the affairs of the Ontario Bank have shown a steady improvement, indicating that the right man is at the helm. Another Peterborough gentleman on the Board of Directors, Mr. Dalton Ullyott, has contributed the fruits of his ripe experience and good judgment in promoting the prosperity of this well established financial institution.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.
It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 80; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.
MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.80. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

CROWDS IN LONDON.

Streets Already Thronged by Jubilee Visitors.

CABS AND OMNIBUSES RUN SHORT

Mr. Laurier and Other Colonial Premiers at Glasgow—Details of the Death of Barney Barnato—Efforts to Save Him—General News by Cable.

London, June 15.—The influx of visitors to attend the Jubilee ceremonies was noticeable for the first time to-day. The streets, especially those through which the royal procession will pass, were thronged all day and until late at night with crowds of sightseers. Progress through these streets was difficult. The supply of omnibuses and cabs is inadequate to meet the demand that is being made for their services.

The official preparations are still incomplete. It is more and more apparent that the great features of the celebrations will be the public and official honors that will be paid to the colonial visitors. The welcome extended to them in all quarters is enthusiastic. The press and the Government are giving every encouragement to make the Jubilee a great demonstration of the inaugural of the new Imperial policy of a closer union of the colonies and the Mother Country.

MR. LAURIER AT GLASGOW.

Entertained With Other Colonial Premiers by the City Corporation.

Glasgow, June 15.—The visiting colonial premiers were tendered a banquet to-night by the municipality. A large and distinguished company were present. Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, replying to the toast "Our Colonial Empire," said: "Proud as I am to be a citizen of the great province on the banks of the St. Lawrence, I value still more the privilege of being a citizen of the British Empire. To-day we are colonials, but we aspire to be more, and to see removed whatever disparity exists between the people of the Home country and the colonial subjects of Her Majesty."

THE CANADIAN TWO HUNDRED

Have Arrived in the Old Land All Right and They Had a Warm Reception at Liverpool.

London, June 15.—The Canadian contingent for the Royal Jubilee arrived at Liverpool to-day on board the mail steamer Vancouver, all well, although a dozen or more suffered from mal de mer for a few days of the voyage. Their reception on landing was a most flattering one, a large crowd being in attendance. Col. Aylmer and his officers were welcomed by the military authorities and War Office representatives. The men were duly inspected before taking the train for London, which they will reach to-night. Quarters have been prepared for them in Chelsea Barracks.

Premier Laurier will arrive in London on Thursday morning, and will proceed thence to Cambridge, where, with others, he will be honored by the ancient University with the degree of LL.D.

Arrival in London.

London, June 15.—The Canadian troops reached London shortly before midnight and were received by Major General Methuen, Sir Donald A. Smith, High Commissioner, and other officers and officials. General Methuen inspected the contingent and expressed pleasure at the smart appearance made by the men.

As they marched from the railway station to the Chelsea Barracks they were loudly cheered by large crowds.

BARNATO IS SURELY DEAD.

Details of the Leap of the Man Overboard—Effort to Save Him.

London, June 15.—The officials of the Union Steamship Company, to which the steamer Scot belongs, confirm the announcement made last night in a special despatch from Funchal, Island of Madeira, that Barney Barnato, the South African "Diamond King," committed suicide by jumping overboard while that vessel was on her way from Cape Town, which port she left on June 2, for Southampton, via Funchal.

The African market, as a result of the death of Barnato, was depressed to-day. Barnato Consolidated was 3-8 lower, Johannesburg Investment went down 1-4, Chartered Company's securities fell 1-8, De Beers Mines went down 5-16 and Rand Mines were 3-8 lower.

The Pall Mall Gazette, this afternoon, commenting on the death of Barney Barnato, says he has been mentally unwell for about three months past, and that he has been under constant restraint.

Although the stock exchange was excited by the news of Barnato's death, there was no panic. The Barnato companies were not allowed to fall much before they found buyers.

The opinion is expressed that the death of the great South African speculator cannot have much effect upon the market, as Barnato recently has paid little direct attention to business.

The Details.

Funchal, Island of Madeira, June 15. The following details have been obtained of the suicide of Barney Barnato: Barnato, who had been in ill-health for some months past, seemed to improve after leaving Cape Town, but he was never left alone and someone was continually detailed to watch him. Yesterday, after lunch, between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, he seemed to be in very good spirits and was walking up and down the deck on a passenger's arm. Suddenly Barnato asked his companion to tell him the time. Before he received a reply he wrenched his arm away and jumped overboard. The fourth officer jumped overboard after him immediately, but he failed to save the life of the South African speculator, as heavy seas were running and the Scott was steaming at the rate of 17 knots an hour. As soon as possible the steamer was stopped, a life boat was lowered and pulled to the spot where the two men were last seen. The fourth officer was rescued in an exhausted condition, and later the body of Barnato was recovered, floating head downward. His remains have been embalmed and will be taken to England on board the Scott.

Cape Parliament Adjourned.

Cape Town, June 15. The Cape Parliament has adjourned out of respect for the late Barney Barnato.

THE MARKETS.

Flour—The flour trade is quiet, and prices generally unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.35 to $3.45.

Bran—Trade quiet, with bran quoted at $7.50 to $8 west, and shorts $9 to $9.50.

Wheat—The local market is dull, with demand light and offerings small. Red winter is quoted at 69c west and white at 69c west. No. 1 Manitoba hard steady at 72c Fort William and at 76c Midland. No. 2 hard is quoted at 74c Midland.

Buckwheat—The demand is limited, and prices nominal.

Barley—The market is quiet, with limited demand. No. 1 is quoted at 32c, No. 2 at 25c and No. 3 extra at 23c to 24c. Feed barley dull at 21c to 22c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Sales of white at 21c west, and of mixed at 20c high freights.

Peas—The market is firm, with sales north and west at 40c.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices steady at $2.80 to $2.90 for car lots.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were 41 cars of live stock on the market yesterday, made up as follows: Cattle 750, sheep 300, lambs 125, calves 95, milk cows 15 and hogs 1600.

There was a good market for all kinds of stock and prices were in advance of last week. Good export cattle sold as high as $4.60, and we heard that one lot of picked cattle brought $4.70. Choice butchers' brought $3.75 to $3.90, and one picked lot sold for $4. Stockers were in demand, and sold at $3. Mr. Roundtree bought 150 for Buffalo market at that price; he has been shipping about 200 per week to that place.

Sheep and lambs were in good demand. Sheep sold at 3c to 3½c per lb. and lambs at $2.50 to $3.75 each.

Good calves wanted at former quotations at $3 to $8 each.

Hogs in good demand and firm; those weighing from 180 to 200 lbs. sold as high as $5.62½ per cwt. Farmers are foolish to kill their hogs when they can get the above price live weight; $5.62½ per cwt. is equal to $7.70 when killed, and during the warm weather it would be better to sell them alive.

The shipments per C.P.R. were: S. Halligan 5 cars, N. Vincent 4 cars, A. Montrell 1 car, all for Montreal market, and R. Ironsides 4 cars, W. Levack 3 cars, all export cattle, and A. Shortriy 1 car for St. John, N. B.

The following per G.T.R.: W. Levack 2 cars, Williams & Hall 2 cars, all export; H. R. Rees 2 cars for Kingston and R. Hunter 1 load butchers' cattle for London, Ont.

A GREAT INVENTOR.

How a Domestic Incident Affected the Wizard of Menlo Park.

A Blue Line train, says The New York Sun, was making a blue streak through the New Jersey air, with the cowcatcher of the locomotive pointed toward New York city, and a drummer was talking right along ahead of it as easy as a bird flies.

"I want to say to you, gentlemen," he was saying, "that Thomas Edison is the greatest inventor in the world, not only in the quantity of his inventions but in the quality of them, and every new thing he turns out he gets a patent on it before it is dry. Sensible man is Tom, and a great snap is a patent when the monopoly in it is yours, gentlemen. I know what I'm talking about, for I had one once that was a loo-loo, only it wasn't big enough. But I'm getting away from my tale, as the dog remarked when he barely got his hind legs from under the car wheels. I was in Edison's town the other day, and heard a new story on him. New to me, anyhow. Man over there that I sell goods to, and won't lie except when the fishing season is on, told me, as an illustration how absorbed Edison is in his business, that one day Mrs. Edison came to her husband in great glee and announced that the baby had a tooth.

"'Very well, my dear,' replied her husband, never stopping a minute from his work. 'I haven't got time to bother with your affairs. You just run along and get a patent on it, and have it charged to my account.'"

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

The happiest moment in a woman's life is when she feels for the first time the clinging caress of her own baby's fingers. How many thousands of women miss this greatest, most manifest happiness and live out dreary babeless, loveless lives, because of ill health. Every woman should realize the supreme importance of healthy vigor and strength of the organs distinctly feminine. Unless a woman is willing to be that least envied of her sex, a childless woman, she cannot afford to neglect this feature of her health.

The best known and most successful medicine for the cure of all diseases and weaknesses of the female reproductive organs is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Hundreds of homes that for years remained childless now ring with childish laughter as a result of the beneficial effects of the "Favorite Prescription." It is the preparation of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce. For years it has been used by Dr. Pierce in his daily practice in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., the greatest institution of the kind in the world. It has relieved thousands of women from suffering and pain and prepared thousands for the successful performance of the duties of maternity.

W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay County, Arkansas, writes: "Since I last wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us. My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to no notion. A stouter, heartier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic. It is a fact, sir, and we have not had to be up with her as often as twice at night since her birth. My wife had not even a fever for the two or three days after the child was born, although the attending physician told us that such would be the case. Our neighbors remarked to me that they thought my wife the stoutest little woman they ever knew. We think our good health due to the use of your family medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

A NIGHT'S EVENTS.

"Good-bye, then, Kate, if you will not repent at this last moment and go with me. I heartily wish you would. I do not feel at all comfortable about leaving you alone, even for a single night." So said my aunt, as she stood ready for her journey to her country home.

My trunks were standing strapped and packed with hers, but I had insisted upon remaining until the next day to attend to the last things necessary, and she had given consent very reluctantly, and, even at this late moment, seemed repenting. But I laughed as I kissed her again and again, and said:

"You forget, aunt, Claude is to spend the evening with me, so I will not have time to feel lonely; and as for fear, it would be a sensation so novel that I think I would quite fancy an experience. Besides you have left two or three of the servants, and I do not know that your absolute presence would scare away any intruders." But she shook her head with rather an unbelieving air, and the last look I had, as she leaned from the carriage window to wave her hand in adieu, was one of loving anxiety. But on my own face was no shadow of care, as I glanced for a moment with a little pardonable pride at its reflection in the long mirror in the drawing room. A glad delight was dancing in the bright blue eyes at thought of the evening's anticipated pleasure, for was not Claude coming, and was not that name synonymous with all life and concentrated sweetness? Had not the thought of one evening more spent with him lent weight to the entreaty that I might remain another day under plea of usefulness? What practical test had I ever given that I could be useful?

When Claude came I laughingly recounted to him my aunt's foolish fears and how near, through them, we came to losing these few precious hours; but somehow, for the first time, his laugh failed to echo mine, and when the clock upon the mantle chimed eleven silvery strokes, and he rose to go, he said, very earnestly:

"I half believe, Kate, your aunt was right, and almost wish you had gone with her."

"That is all very well to say now," I answered, "when the time has come really to say good-by. If you had let me know your wishes this morning, I should have endeavored to comply with them."

"My selfishness forbade my giving them room, and, besides, it is a mere temporary infection. (This with a half laugh). Your aunt, as you say, is no formidable protection, and, after all, Kate (growing serious), I leave my darling in the good God's hands. Only, dear, I shall be very glad when the time comes that I can offer her a husband's protecting love."

Then, kissing the cheeks into which the scarlet blood had rushed at his words, he held me for one moment with a new earnestness clasped to his heart, uttered a last good-night and left me.
